U.S.-British Dispute on K Notes Denied

Rumor England Feels JFK Reply Was Too Tough

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Saturday dispatched a note to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev firmly resisting the Kremlin leader's persistent efforts to meet at the summit in March.

U. S. sources also took backstage steps to discount reports that American-British differences have flared up over Allied strategy to deal with Khrushchev's summit bid.

• • • •

KENNEDY'S message marked the second time in two weeks he had rebuffed Khrushchev's demand that an 18-nation summit conference open the Geneva disarmament conference when it begins March 14.

As he did before, the President told Khrushchev that it would be better for the foreign ministers of the major nations to open the Geneva talks and if they could make progress, a summit meeting might then be useful.

The text of Kennedy's note was not made public. But it was described as having been discussed with and thoroughly approved by the British government.

The British and Americans were asserted to be in complete agreement on Kennedy's handling of Khrushchev's summit demands despite the reports from some sources that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was urging a more "flexible approach." Nevertheless speculation continued that agreement was not as complete as claimed.

• • • •

SOME OBSERVERS noted that a 12-hour delay in sending the U. S. note to Moscow may have signified more than mere mechanical problems of transmission.

Authorities said the United States plans to make public Kennedy's latest reply as soon as it is delivered to the Moscow foreign office by U. S. Ambassador Llewelyn E. Thompson to whom it was dispatched soon after noon.

The President approved the message at his weekend vacation quarters in Palm Beach Friday night. Officials at first said it was relayed by the

Troubled Liner Acapulco Pulls Into Mazatlan

By LOU JOBST
LP-T Staff Writer

MAZATLAN, Mexico — The ocean liner, SS Acapulco, made an unexpected appearance here Saturday two days overdue at her scheduled destination in Acapulco nearly 1,000 miles away.

The 24,000 ton ship is carrying 170 American passengers including cowboy star, Roy Rogers and wife, Dale Evans, and 300 Italian and Mexican crewmen.

WHICH WAY?

• • • •

BOILER TROUBLE was blamed for the delay and the fitful 5½-day voyage from Los Angeles Harbor at speeds ranging from 5 to 8 knots.

At one point the Acapulco anchored overnight in Santa Maria Bay on the barren, uninhabited western coast of Baja California.

At another point the ship radio shack was closed down and passengers told there was not sufficient power for communication. Radiograms reporting the trouble and sent earlier by newsmen aboard, mysteriously did not reach their destinations.

Naumex Lines officials announced the change in destinations in a meeting with worried passengers Thursday and tempers flared when it was revealed the ship had departed from Los Angeles with boiler trouble.

• • • •

THE GRUMBLING abated when the officials said passengers would be flown to Mexico City and after Roy Rogers made a speech imploring his companions to "lean back and relax."

One of the shipowners said the decision to leave Los Angeles with engine trouble was made so the

Police Raid Benefit for Ailing Child

Signal Hill Games Halted, 5 Booked, 50 Sent Home

By GEORGE ROBESON

A mammoth gambling party in the rear of a Signal Hill office-maintenance firm was raided by a squad of police Saturday night — and the big game turned out to be a charitable affair for a sick child.

Signal Hill police said at least 50 persons were playing blackjack and craps on professional-looking tables in the rear of the B&G Maintenance Service Co., 869 Walton St.

• • • •

THE RAIDERS — Sgt. Arthur Le Blanc and Officers Larry Hooker, Don Anderson and Robert Deeley — confiscated a craps table, three blackjack tables, dice, cards, chips and liquor.

Five persons were booked on gambling charges. Police said the five had been serving as dealers and cashiers.

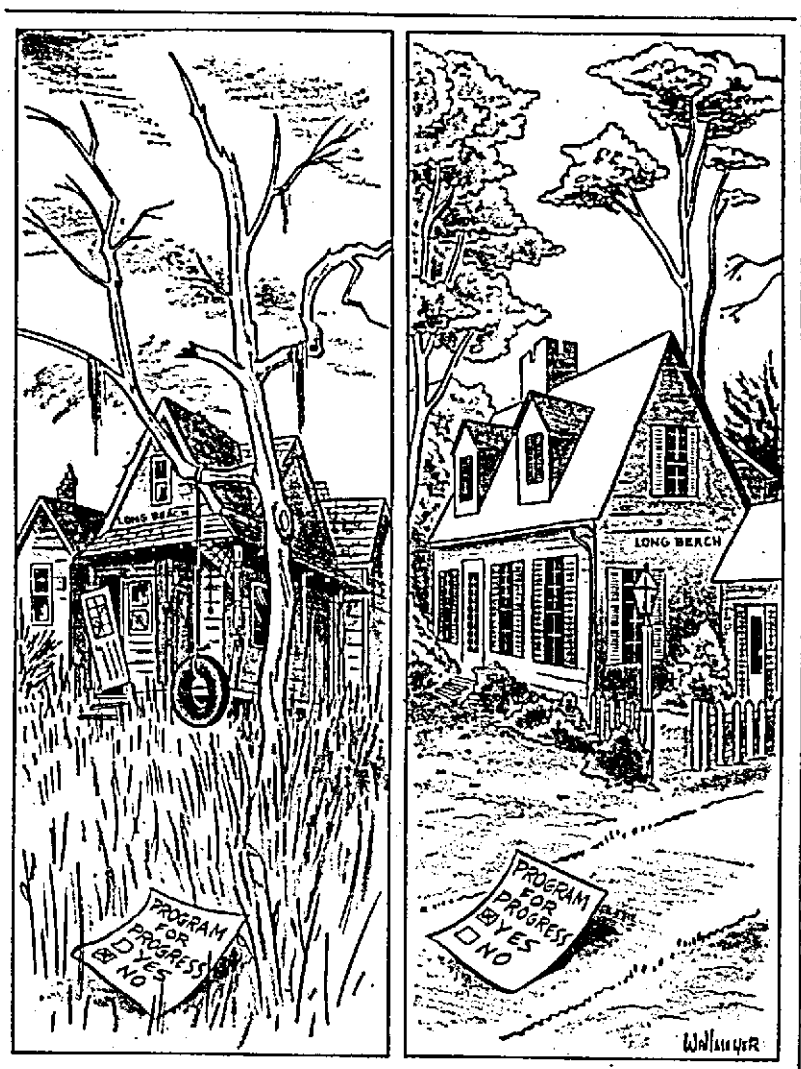

But the players were sent home.

Officers said the proceeds of the game were to have paid medical expenses of a 6-year-old girl, in Memorial Hospital suffering from a serious tumor.

• • • •

THE GAMES were organized by a national sorority with which the mother of the little girl is connected, officers said.

"It looked real big when we went in," said one officer. "Actually, we found there was no more than $50 involved in play when we arrived. The chips sold for a nickel, a dime and a quarter."

Many Areas Get Winter's Worst Storm

Drifts 6 Feet Deep Stall Traffic in Buffalo Suburbs

By United Press International

A new storm dumped up to a foot of snow from North Dakota to New York Saturday, with towering drifts clogging traffic and hitting many areas with the worst weather of the winter.

Drifts piled six feet high in western New York. Four inches of new snow fell on southeastern North Dakota and the mercury dropped to 23 below at Beach and Parshall, N.D.

The Greater Buffalo (N.Y.), International Airport was closed for 10 hours. Crews worked to open the Rochester (N.Y.) Airport, and Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., canceled a speaking engagement because of poor flying conditions.

• • • •

POLICE IN the honeymoon capital of Niagara Falls were called to take a young bride to the church when she was stranded at home by the storm.

Three deaths were blamed on the weather in Indiana, which was struck by a major winter storm for the third year in a row during the same three-day February period. However, the basketball-happy state's 148-game tournament schedule was run off with only a few delays.

• • • •

THE WIND-DRIVEN snow blocked roads and pulled down power lines. The Detroit Department of Public Works used up the last of its $700,000 appropriation for snow removal as the storm swept the city.

Western New York had snow up to a foot deep and four inches more was expected in some areas. Heavy-snow warnings of four to eight inches were up in most of New Hampshire and Maine. Weathermen posted hazardous-driving warnings for parts of Vermont, Massachusetts and New York.

Other parts of the country were afflicted with subzero cold, floods, raking winds and more snow.

The temperature went to 19 below zero at Cut Bank

Tear Gas Quells San Quentin Riot

SAN QUENTIN (AP)—Tear gas snuffed out a potential riot in San Quentin Prison Saturday.

Thirteen of the prison's most troublesome inmates almost touched off a general rebellion in an hour and a half of shouting and cursing at the guards.

They staged their demonstration in the exercise yard of the adjustment center, where 83 of San Quentin's most troublesome convicts are locked up.

• • • •

THEIR DEFIANCE "was building up to something big," said Capt. C. C. Hocker, officer of the day.

So he ordered guards to throw tear gas grenades at the demonstrators. They quieted immediately and were herded back to their cells.

The troublemakers have been isolated from the rest of the prisoners since a series of knife murders last December.

Forecasts Say Rain Today

More of the showers which have drenched the Southland in the wake of last year's drought were forecast for today.

Local rainfall for this season (starting July 1) is 14.89 inches, compared with 2.86 at this time in 1961.

In addition to showers, forecasters noted a possibility of thunderstorms today. Clearing skies were expected tonight and Monday.

3 Girls Missing in Bell Gardens

BELL GARDENS (CNS) — More than 30 East Los Angeles deputy sheriffs late Saturday pressed a search for three missing little Bell Gardens girls aged 7, 10 and 11.

Deputies said the girls had not returned to their homes since they left at 12:45 p.m. Saturday to play. The girls were identified as Barbara Lee Adsit, 7, and her sister, Margaret Ann, 10, 5763 Fostoria St., and Joyce Marie Ballard, 11, 5721 Shull St.

Huge Heroin Store Seized in New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — Narcotics detectives arrested a 31-year-old longshoreman at his Bronx home Saturday night and confiscated heroin valued at $25 million on the illicit market.

"This was the largest narcotics seizure ever made in any city," said Edward F. Carey, narcotics squad chief.

The suspect was identified as Anthony Fuca. Five detectives had been on stakeout at Fuca's home since the suspect was released on bail last Friday to await court proceedings on another narcotics charge.

The detectives said Fuca resisted arrest but was subdued quickly in the basement of his home where 40 kilos of heroin was found in 67 waterproof packages locked in a trunk.

Wade Says Vote Is 'Momentous'

By GEORGE WEEKS

Long Beach voters—50,000 or more of them—will mark ballots Tuesday in a special election described by Mayor Edwin W. Wade as "one of the momentous events in our city's progress."

At stake are an ordinance opening the way for offshore oil drilling estimated to yield as much as $1.7 billion; four bond issues for a total face value of $13,550,000; two propositions for the freeing of tideland oil money for shoreline improvements; and five charter amendments.

The estimate of a minimum vote total of 50,000 came from City Clerk Margaret Heartwell.

But she added that if the interest demonstrated by volunteer campaign groups and civic organizations continues, and if the rains stop, a turnout of 50 per cent of the eligible voters would not be unexpected. The tally of registered voters shows 161,874.

• • • •

IN THE special election of February 1956, when bond propositions totaling $29,219,000 were given huge majorities, a surprising 83,742 votes were cast. In that year 139,364 persons were eligible to vote.

One hundred and thirty voters have applied for absentee ballots for Tuesday's poll. In 1956 there were 271 applications.

"Many people have worked hard and unselfishly for these proposals," said Jerry Jacobs, chairman of the Citizens for Progress Committee. "We feel quite hopeful about the whole thing. We believe the voters have been made aware of the importance of these measures and will respond accordingly."

Said Mayor Wade:

"This is an opportunity for the citizens to express their confidence in the future of Long Beach. Either we take a step forward or a step backward. I am absolutely convinced after a great deal of study that these propositions are necessary. The City Council submits them on their merits."

Two persons — a man and a young boy — were killed in a three-car collision in Huntington Beach Saturday.

In another three-car collision in Wilmington, a woman was killed.

Dead were Richard Douglas Barker, 23, of 2543 Santa Ana St., Costa Mesa; Thomas Edward Mearns, 8, of 1003 Georgia St., Apt. D, Huntington Beach, and Evelyn Picklesimer, 36, of 23321 Catskill Ave., Wilmington.

The injured were Hazel Della Mearns, 47, mother of the dead boy, critical condition in Hoag Memorial Hospital, Newport Beach; Oris Odell Williams, 22, of 968 W. 17th St., Costa Mesa, and Michael Dee Ford, 24, 20651 Goshawk St., Huntington Beach.

• • • •

MRS. PICKLESIMER was dead on arrival at Harbor General Hospital and five other persons were reported injured in the collision of three cars at Sepulveda Boulevard and Rohan Avenue in a light rain, the California Highway Patrol said.

Officers booked John Marion Cooper, 38, of 11911 E. 160th St., Norwalk on suspicion of manslaughter and felony drunk driving. They said his car rammed Mrs. Picklesimer's car from the rear.

Good-Will Tours by Astronaut at Home, Abroad Considered

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy was reported Saturday to have discussed with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson the possibility of sending astronaut John H. Glenn on a good-will tour of the nation.

There were signs, too, that Glenn might be tapped for a tour abroad in order to cash in for the United States on his feat and fame.

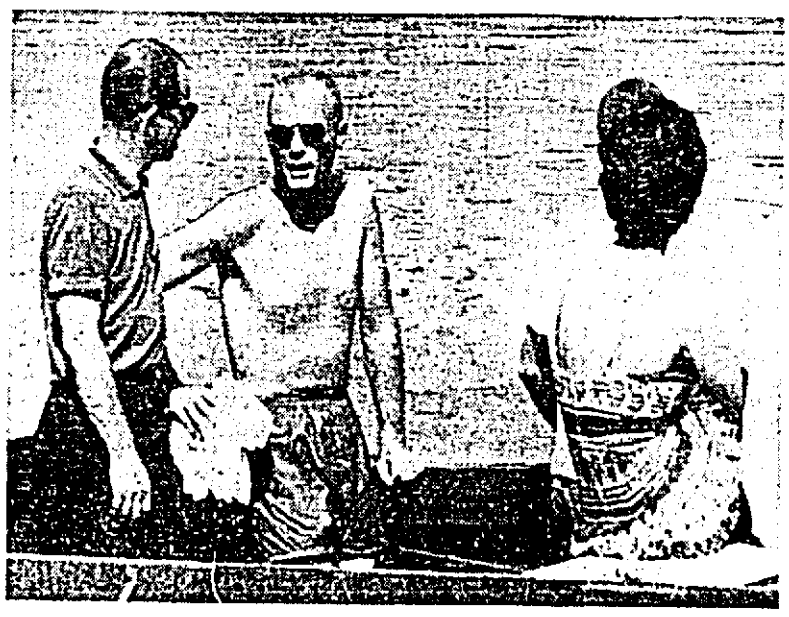

But the assistant White House press secretary, Andrew T. Hatcher, said nothing has been settled yet on sending the space conqueror out around the country. He told a news conference there might be something Monday on a trip overseas.

L.A.C. Says: Why the Urgency?

We have been asked why it is urgent that the special election be held next Tuesday—when there will be a general primary election next June. The answer is that taxpayers can be saved an estimated $555,000 next year which otherwise they would have to pay from taxes. Two propositions, A and B, are the key reasons for the special election. If the voters approve these two propositions it will provide tideland oil money to complete the new auditorium—and to pay for beach maintenance from these funds.

When the propositions are approved the state legislature must validate them to be effective. Since this is not a regular legislative year, it considers only special legislation placed on the agenda. If we waited until the June election the legislature would not be in session—we would therefore have to wait a year for its action. Cost of the election will be about $60,000. But the saving to the taxpayers will be an estimated $555,000.

The auditorium is being built with tideland oil money. This money cannot be used for any purposes away from the tidelands. There have been many legal delays in its construction which have increased the costs. It will be completed this year—but unless the voters approve Prop. A the tideland money—which is available cannot be used to provide necessary seats and other equipment for the auditorium. If we do not complete it we will lose millions of dollars of convention and other income—and we will be the laughing stock of the nation. It therefore must be completed. It can be with tideland funds—or from general funds provided from taxes.

Prop. 1—is necessary to give the city the right to drill for oil from four islands 2,000 feet or further offshore. It is estimated this is the largest untapped oil reserve in the nation. If it is not produced under city and state control it will almost certainly be produced by the state. From these islands wells will reach back several blocks north of the tidelands. In this area the city owns some 84 acres known as uplands. It is estimated the city will receive royalties and other benefits amounting to $34 million from these developments—plus a part of the estimated $1.2 billion net income from the tideland portion of the field.

It may seem fantastic—but it is no more so than what we have had for development of our harbor and marina. It is from this oil and gas income the city can pay for the cost of the new downtown library—new city hall, fire department and senior citizen building. These are needed projects which will encourage new apartment houses and office buildings and stores in the business section. In turn, this will add millions of dollars to the tax rolls. In doing so, homeowners will be relieved of taxes they otherwise must pay.

It is an important election. It means the voters must approve these measures now—or later when the costs will be much higher. A city cannot afford to deteriorate any more than a private property owner can afford to permit his property to deteriorate. We are a fortunate people that we have this oil wealth. On the whole it has been wisely used. We can now assure the use of this new oil wealth wisely if we will do so.

The 12 propositions on the ballot have been fully and fairly covered in these newspapers. This writer recommends a Yes vote on each of them. Above all, we hope our readers will discharge their responsibilities as good citizens by going to the polls at Tuesday's election.—L.A.C.

Acapulco Pulls Into Mazatlan

Acapulco could keep intact its ten-year record of never missing a bi-monthly sailing and because experts assured them there was no danger.

The official said that a crew of boilermakers from Bethlehem Steel Co. was put aboard to clean and service the boilers at sea. During portions of the voyage the ship limped along on three of its seven boilers, power barely adequate to maintain its electrical and plumbing needs. Sometimes the forward motion was so slow its seemed the ship was dead in the water.

* * * *

PASSENGERS' SPIRITS were high and an elaborate schedule of entertainment and recreation kept them occupied. A special dinner was held after the ship received the electrifying news that the astronaut John Glenn had orbited the earth. No other news reached the passengers during the voyage.

The orbital flight, broadcast over the ship's loudspeakers via transistor radio, set off a flurry of shipboard jokes, unfavorably comparing the vessel's snail-like pace to the spatial speed.

The Acapulco, previously had made two successful Los Angeles to Acapulco cruises after a bad start in New York when U.S. authorities refused to allow 400 American passengers to sail with her to Mexico because that country had not ratified an international sea safety treaty.

negative votes. Some will come from local sectional interests unconvinced of the merits of a downtown civic center or opposed to one or more of the shoreline improvements. Others may be generated by last-minute campaigning on irrevalent issues, the echoes of old conflicts at City Hall.

Voting will take place at 366 polling places from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Returns will be tabulated at the city clerk's office in the city hall after the counts are completed by precinct election workers.

For the first time in a local election, absentee ballots will be counted along with regular ballots Tuesday night. A recent amendment to the State Election Code set up a procedure for tabulating the absentee ballots by a special canvass board.

The issues:

Proposition 1 — An ordinance to permit city-controlled oil drilling from not more than four islands in the ocean. This will clear the way for city and state sharing of proceeds from an estimated $1.7 billion in oil and gas reserves.

Proposition 2 — Library bonds, $5,750,000. Provides for constructing and equipping new main library in civic center.

Proposition 3 — City Hall bonds, $6,065,000. This new structure also will be in the civic center, making possible the consolidation of numerous city functions.

Proposition 4—Senior citizens center, $200,000. This bond issues will be used for adapting the Municipal Utilities Building for Recreation Department headquarters and for senior citizens activities.

Proposition 5—Fire Department bonds, $1,535,000. Proposal includes a new training building, two new fire stations, replacement of three old ones, an improved alarm system and a hydrant system at Municipal Airport.

Proposition 6—Long Beach Marina area projects. Included are seven improvements along Alamitos Bay and Marine Stadium to be financed from tideland oil funds without bonds or tax money.

Proposition 7 — Belmont Plaza Beach Center. Authorizes use of tideland oil funds for parks, beach change stations and related facilities adjacent to Belmont Pier.

Proposition A — Charter amendment allowing the City Council to spend up to $500,000 tideland oil funds yearly, with state approval, for minor projects on tidelands. The present limit, $250,000, was set many years ago.

Proposition B — Charter amendment removing $500,000 annual ceiling on tideland oil funds that may be spent for maintenance of shoreline projects and for such purposes as lifeguard and beach cleaning services.

Proposition C — Changes five charter sections by setting up modern budget procedures.

Proposition D — Charter amendment increasing to 60 years the maximum term of leases the city may grant on public lands so major improvements may be financed by private investors.

Proposition E — Eliminates obsolete charter amendments describing city boundaries as they existed many years ago.

Of the 12 proposals, only four—library, city hall, senior citizens center and Fire Department improvements — involve bond obligations. These four require approval of two-thirds of those voting to carry. The offshore oil ordinance, the tideland improvements and the charter amendments require a simple majority.

GOP Chief Reprimands Defeatists

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman William E. Miller urged party leaders Saturday to snap out of any defeatist attitude lest it hurt rank-and-file morale for the coming elections.

Miller, a member of the House from New York, said he and other touring GOP congressmen have found enthusiasm at a high pitch.

"But much more of this defeatism from on high is going to kill off this enthusiasm," he said. "Then we will be in trouble."

In a report prepared for a closed meeting of the party's national executive committee, Miller said Republican fortunes are on the upgrade and party leaders should not succumb to what he termed the "psychological warfare of the Democrats which seeks to infect the GOP with pessimism."

The party chairman also evidently had some members of his own party in mind when he said continued stress on adverse public-opinion polls and criticism of the party "image" will undermine spirits buoyed by election gains since November 1960.

Miller mentioned no names, but recent Republican speeches commemorating Abraham Lincoln's birthday included a couple that aimed verbal darts at the Republicans as well as the Democrats.

Robt. Taylor Girl Held as Intoxicated

SANTA MONICA (UPI)—Manuela Theiss, 18-year-old daughter of German actress Ursula Thiess and stepdaughter of actor Robert Taylor, was arrested early Saturday on an intoxication charge and several hours later her mother posted $105 bail for her release.

A hearing was set for March 3 on the charge of violating a municipal intoxication law which police said covered "alcohol, drugs and other substances."

Miss Thiess was examined by a physician but police declined to announce his findings.

TAYLOR commented, "We've had this trouble before . . on three occasions. We assume it was alcohol."

Police Sgt. Robert Morgan said Miss Thiess "had no odor of alcohol."

Morgan said the girl was arrested shortly before dawn sitting in a parked car with a Negro identified as Robert Green, 24, of Venice.

Hunt for Slayer Fails at Babysitter Burial

LANCASTER (AP)—Sheriff's detectives carefully studied mourners and bystanders Saturday as services were conducted for murdered Donna Marie Frislie, 14.

Officers said the funeral produced no significant clues to her slayer. Two hundred mourners, including many of her teen-age friends, attended services at the Lutheran Church of the Master in Lancaster.

The girl's maternal grandfather, the Rev. J. F. Saarinen, of Dassell, Minn., assisted in the services.

The girl disappeared from a Lancaster home where she was babysitting earlier this month. Her body was found in a desert grave Tuesday. An autopsy indicated she had been raped, stabbed and bludgeoned.

"Evil is always wrong," said the Rev. Roger Magnuson at the services, "but we must pray for those caught up in evil, even for the murderer."

L.A.C. Says:
Why the Urgency?

We have been asked why it is urgent that the special election be held next Tuesday—when there will be a general primary election next June. The answer is that taxpayers can be saved an estimated $555,000 next year which otherwise they would have to pay from taxes. Two propositions, A and B, are the key reasons for the special election. If the voters approve these two propositions it will provide tideland oil money to complete the new auditorium—and to pay for beach maintenance from these funds.

When the propositions are approved the state legislature must validate them to be effective. Since this is not a regular legislative year, it considers only special legislation placed on the agenda. If we waited until the June election the legislature would not be in session—we would therefore have to wait a year for its action. Cost of the election will be about $60,000. But the saving to the taxpayers will be an estimated $555,000.

The auditorium is being built with tideland oil money. This money cannot be used for any purposes away from the tidelands. There have been many legal delays in its construction which have increased the costs. It will be completed this year—but unless the voters approve Prop. A the tideland money—which is available cannot be used to provide necessary seats and other equipment for the auditorium. If we do not complete it we will lose millions of dollars of convention and other income—and we will be the laughing stock of the nation. It therefore must be completed. It can be with tideland funds—or from general funds provided from taxes.

Prop. 1—is necessary to give the city the right to drill for oil from four islands 2,000 feet or further offshore. It is estimated this is the largest untapped oil reserve in the nation. If it is not produced under city and state control it will almost certainly be produced by the state. From these islands wells will reach back several blocks north of the tidelands. In this area the city owns some 84 acres known as uplands. It is estimated the city will receive royalties and other benefits amounting to $34 million from these developments—plus a part of the estimated $1.2 billion net income from the tideland portion of the field.

It may seem fantastic—but it is no more so than what we have had for development of our harbor and marina. It is from this oil and gas income the city can pay for the cost of the new downtown library—new city hall, fire department and senior citizen building. These are needed projects which will encourage new apartment houses and office buildings and stores in the business section. In turn, this will add millions of dollars to the tax rolls. In doing so, homeowners will be relieved of taxes they otherwise must pay.

It is an important election. It means the voters must approve these measures now—or later when the costs will be much higher. A city cannot afford to deteriorate any more than a private property owner can afford to permit his property to deteriorate. We are a fortunate people that we have this oil wealth. On the whole it has been wisely used. We can now assure the use of this new oil wealth wisely if we will do so.

Soviet Eying Propaganda via Satellites

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate staff report said Saturday there is every reason to believe that Russia hopes to use space communications as a mighty weapon to influence men's minds.

The report, by the staff of the Aeronautical and Space Sciences Committee, said Russian leaders have been carefully silent for the most part about their propaganda ambitions for message-sending earth satellites. But the strategic value of controlling a communications system could not have escaped Soviet planners, the 158-page document said.

* * * *

THE STAFF assessment of Soviet ambitions set the stage for committee hearings starting Tuesday.

Chairman Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., has introduced legislation to creat a satellite communications corporation owned by U.S. common carriers such as American Telephone & Telegram Co. and Radio Corp. of America.

The committee also will take testimony about White House-sponsored legislation to set up a government-regulated corporation in which any American could buy $1,000 shares of stock. No single company could own more than 25 per cent.

* * * *

SEN. RUSSELL B. Long, D-La., said that voting stock in any privately-owned satellite corporation should be limited to individuals. He said the profit-making potential of space communications was fantastic.

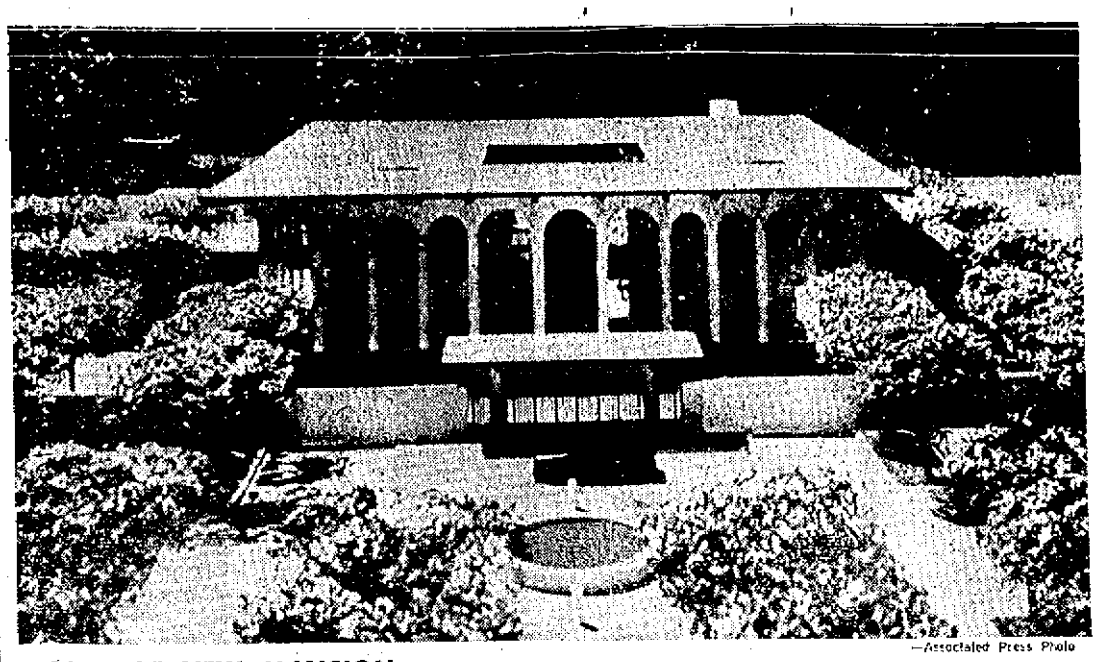

The staff experts said the U.S. could launch a workable system by 1965 or earlier.

Technical problems rule out the prospects of a Russian-American propaganda war in the early years of space communications, according to the experts.

* * * *

WHEN RESEARCH to develop more power is successful Washington and Moscow undoubtedly would become tremendously interested in transmitting propaganda, they said.

"When this occurs the full impact of the ideological conflict between the East and West may be expected to make itself felt with regard to communications satellites," they added.

Sen. Humphrey Urges Expediter for Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., urged President Kennedy Saturday to establish an "economic expediter" in the White House to deal with chronic unemployment.

Humphrey, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, said in an interview he regards the continued high level of joblessness as "the major domestic problem confronting this administration."

"I have written the President urging him to establish priorities for defense and other contracts for areas of chronic unemployment," Humphrey said.

* * * *

"I THINK the President should bring an economic expediter into the White House to coordinate government efforts in this and the field of general unemployment. As matters stand, everybody's business is nobody's business. It seems to me there has to be a greater sense of urgency than now prevails."

Humphrey recalled that Harry S. Truman when he was President used John Steelman in the White House as an economic trouble-shooter.

Demand Gallagher Inquiry

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Federation of Teachers has urged a legislative investigation of the recent resignation of Chancellor Buell Gallagher of the state colleges.

In a telegram to Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, President Maurice Englander of the teachers' union said:

"It should be now clear that what is needed is not the mere naming of a chancellor, but an unambiguous definition of the chancellor's office.

* * * *

"A QUALIFIED man has just left an apparently untenable office. Before the new system hardens beyond repair there should be a definition of the chancellor's position and of his relations with the trustees and the faculties of the colleges."

Gallagher, 58, resigned the $32,000-a-year chancellorship to return to his former post as President of City College of New York.

Independent Voting Urged on Taxpayers

"Taxpaying voters" were cautioned to reach their own independent conclusions on ballot propositions in a talk on the Tuesday election given by Paul Wilcox before the Woman's City Club.

Wilcox, long-time manager of the Associated Property Owners and now retired, remarked about the "convenient omission" of all opposition arguments in the literature of the "Program for Progress" group. This committee is working for adoption of the measures on the ballot.

The speaker also noted limited space for "con" arguments in the press, and complained that city officials, in explaining the issues, seasoned their presentations with "pro" arguments.

* * * *

WILCOX said he favors some of the measures on the ballot but is opposed to the library and city hall bonds. He insisted his reason for this position was as genuinely for the benefit of the city as those offered by the pro side. "Improper and one-sided tactics," he said, "make it difficult to get the negative arguments across."

Speaking again Saturday at the University by the Sea, Wilcox said that while he favors Prop. 1, the offshore-oil measure, he feels that city officials have been over-optimistic in their statements that income from the oil program will offset costs of the city hall and library.

He said that much time will be consumed in getting the oil program under way, whereas the library and city hall bonds would be sold in the near future to get that construction started. Construction of the first island for oil drilling, he said, will take a year.

* * * *

WHATEVER oil money flows into the bond-redemption fund, he said, will be subject to prior obligations in the city's present bonded debt of $26 million.

Wilcox's reference was to City Auditor Murray Courson's estimates that, over a 25-year-period the city's income to the bond redemption fund, for general purposes, and in gas savings to its citizens, would exceed by millions of dollars the costs of bond-financed items on Tuesday's ballot. Courson's estimates were over and above huge income the city will receive for tidelands purposes from the oil field.

Nixon Asks Restraint by Oilmen

FRESNO (UPI) — Gubernatorial candidate Richard M. Nixon Saturday called for producer-distributor oil firms to use restraint in competition to avoid the government stepping in and changing the taxes.

Nixon told a luncheon meeting of the California Marketers Council the depletion provision was needed to encourage and give incentive to the entire mineral industry. But, the former vice president warned major oil firms, the government might step in if the companies used the allowance to finance loss-leader programs which would be disastrous to those solely in distribution.

* * * *

"IF THE FREE competitive enterprise system is to work," Nixon said, "it must have competition on a fair basis."

At times, he said, the government on both the state and national levels may have to step in to "lay down the rules of the game." However, he said, the "greatest mistake would be to put more power in governments to control monopolistic practices.

"Here in California we have all the laws we need—both antitrust and fair practice," he added. "But what we need lots more of is vigorous enforcement.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Algerian Terror Leaves 40 Dead

ALGIERS (AP)—The French government poured 20,000 troops into jittery Algiers Saturday following a terrorist bloodbath that left 20 Moselms dead in the populous European quarter of Bab-el Qued.

Eleven or more Europeans were killed throughout the city and the overall Algerian death toll was set at 40.

Authorities described the bloody afternoon in Bab-el Qued as "organized murder." They said the killings were part of a rightist secret army plan to dash peace hopes in a racial war.

The Moslems, many walking through Bab-el Oued to their homes in nearby Moslem quarters, were shot down by pistol-firing Europeans. Shots came from the street, doorways and balconies.

Dr. Hu Shih, 71, eminent Chinese scholar and former ambassador to the United States collapsed and died Saturday after a heart attack in Taipei, Formosa. He was head of Academia Sinica, Nationalist China's highest research institute.

Castro Rumors Fly

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)— Exile leaders maintaining contact with Cuban underground sources believe they have the answer to a question currently on many lips—where is Fidel Castro?

"Castro is in Cuba, but closely guarded by Communists," said a Cuban revolutionary council source. "If he tries to get away, they'll kill him."

Another group, which declined use of its name, said its "intelligence agents" in Cuba reported that the prime minister is at a country estate near the Havana Airport.

Brown Gets Summons

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—A process server Saturday handed Gov. Edmund G. Brown a summons in connection with a $250,000 lawsuit for return of secret files seized from a National Guard armory.

The summons was handed to Brown by the unidentified server as the governor stepped from a private twin-engine plane which brought him here to look into growing layoffs at the Convair plant. Brown said he expected to receive Monday a report from state officials on the files. He said he had no direct knowledge of the contents of the files.

Barbara Crosby Loses Baby

BURBANK (UPI)—Barbara Diane Crosby, wife of Bing Crosby's son, Lindsay, was reported in good condition Saturday after her prematurely born baby died Friday night.

Mrs. Crosby, 23, will have to remain in St. Joseph Hospital for about a week, a spokesman said.

Mrs. Crosby, a former Las Vegas, Nev., showgirl, was taken ill Feb. 11 and brought to the hospital in a coma. She was in critical condition for three days.

Red China Claims Security Threat

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China declared Saturday its security is seriously affected by an "undeclared war" being waged by the United States in South Viet Nam and said U.S. military aid to that southeast Asian country cannot be allowed to continue.

The statement by the Red Chinese foreign ministry, broadcast by Peiping Radio, demanded immediate international consultations "to eliminate the serious danger of war in southern Viet Nam by peaceful means."

JFK Yacht Leaves Boys Behind

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Three kids in a paddle boat paddled like mad to get into the procession of boats behind the President's yacht on Lake Worth Saturday.

But even with each boy plying a paddle they had to drop out, grinning as the other boats went past. President and Mrs. Kennedy and two other couples cruised for 2½ hours aboard the Honey Fitz down the inky, breeze-swept waters of Lake Worth in bright sunshine. The temperature was 83 degrees.

State Department during the early hours Saturday. However, it apparently was held up a few hours for a final review by top officials here.

This gave rise to reports that the British were objecting to the toughness of Kennedy's position and trying to get him to hold out greater hope for an early summit.

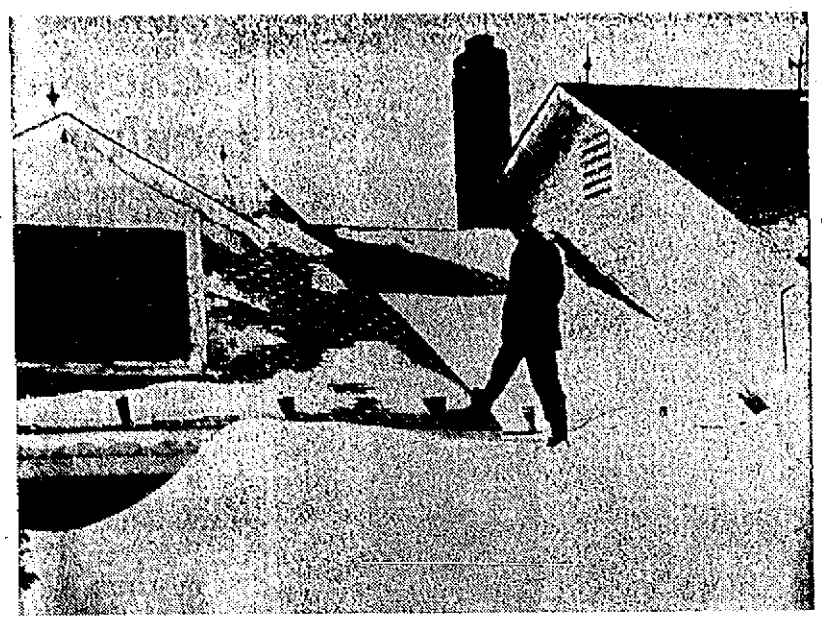

These reports were categorically denied and it was asserted that there have been no differences whatsoever between Macmillan and Kennedy on the subject for several months.

Responsible quarters flatly denied reports that Kennedy and Macmillan had conferred by telephone last night just before the President approved his reply to Khrushchev.

* * * *

THEY ALSO denied a London report that Macmillan had sent Kennedy a letter on the subject of Anglo-American differences over the approach to a summit conference.

British Ambassador Sir David Ormsby Gore conferred at the State Department with Secretary of State Dean Rusk shortly before the Kennedy reply was dispatched to Moscow. Authorities said, however, that they did not discuss the reply but talked of future strategy.

TENNESSEE mopped up from wind-driven rains which brought traffic practically to a standstill in Nashville, tore down power lines in the city, and blocked highways with mudslides. Water surged up to the floorboards of cars parked in low-lying parts of the city.

On the West Coast, roads were ice-covered and driving hazardous in the wake of a storm which plastered higher elevations near Portland, Ore., with a half foot of snow. Cascade Mountains passes were clogged by snow, and a highway south of Salem, Ore., was blocked for two hours by a mammoth traffic jam.

IN ILLINOIS, a truck driver burned to death and another was seriously injured when two semitrailers collided in a snowstorm near Watseka.

The most bitter wintry fury concentrated on the Northeast. The snow in western New York cut visibility to zero. Cars and trucks were stranded by the score by towering drifts in the Buffalo suburbs of Grand Island and in Niagara County to the north.

* * * *

MICHIGAN snow depth ranged to eight inches in Detroit suburbs and was a record-breaking 8.5 inches at Windsor, Ont., just across the river. Most side streets in Detroit were impassable early in the day and at Jackson and Battle Creek, union ratification of a new contract with the Clark Equipment Co. was delayed by the storm.

Northeast Ohio measured seven inches of snow and three-foot drifts which closed roads in at least 15 spots. In the southern part of the state, power lines snapped and sagged under a burden of ice. Power flickered off and on about the state and the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. estimated overtime pay to emergency-repair crew would come to at least $50,000.

Students Confess $20,000 Robberies

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two University of Nevada students, arrested last Sunday attempting to commit the "perfect crime," Saturday confessed to a year-long robbery spree that netted about $20,000.

The pair, David G. Osborne, 24, and Cornelius James Murphy, 30, both of Reno, told police they committed nine robberies in Sacramento and two in Reno. They said the money was used for high living and school financing, according to officers.

$1,025 Traffic Fine

Sen. Humphrey Urges Expediter for Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., urged President Kennedy Saturday to establish an "economic expediter" in the White House to deal with chronic unemployment.

Humphrey, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, said in an interview he regards the continued high level of joblessness as "the major domestic problem confronting this administration."

"I have written the President urging him to establish priorities for defense and other contracts for areas of chronic unemployment," Humphrey said.

• • • •

"I THINK the President should bring an economic expediter into the White House to coordinate government efforts in this and the field of general unemployment. As matters stand, everybody's business is nobody's business. It seems to me there has to be a greater sense of urgency than now prevails."

Humphrey recalled that Harry S. Truman when he was President used John Steelman in the White House as an economic troubleshooter.

Demand Gallagher Inquiry

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The California Federation of Teachers has urged a legislative investigation of the recent resignation of Chancellor Buell Gallagher of the state colleges.

In a telegram to Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles, President Maurice Englander of the teachers' union said:

"It should be now clear that what is needed is not the mere naming of a chancellor, but an unambiguous definition of the chancellor's office.

• • • •

"A QUALIFIED man has just left an apparently untenable office. Before the new system hardens beyond repair there should be a definition of the chancellor's position and of his relations with the trustees and the faculties of the colleges."

Gallagher, 58, resigned the $32,000-a-year chancellorship to return to his former post as President of City College of New York.

Independent Voting Urged on Taxpayers

"Taxpaying voters" were cautioned to reach their own independent conclusions on ballot propositions in a talk on the Tuesday election given by Paul Wilcox before the Woman's City Club.

Wilcox, long-time manager of the Associated Property Owners and now retired, remarked about the "convenient omission" of all opposition arguments in the literature of the "Program for Progress" group. This committee is working for adoption of the measures on the ballot.

The speaker also noted limited space for "con" arguments in the press, and complained that city officials, in explaining the issues, seasoned their presentations with "pro" arguments.

• • • •

WILCOX said he favors some of the measures on the ballot but is opposed to the library and city hall bonds. He insisted his reason for this position was as genuinely for the benefit of the city as those offered by the pro side. "Improper and one-sided tactics," he said, "make it difficult to get the negative arguments across."

Speaking again Saturday at the University by the Sea, Wilcox said that while he favors Prop. 1, the offshore-oil measure, he feels that city officials have been over-optimistic in their statements that income from the oil program will offset costs of the city hall and library.

He said that much time will be consumed in getting the oil program under way, whereas the library and city hall bonds would be sold in the near future to get that construction started. Construction of the first island for oil drilling, he said, will take a year.

• • • •

WHATEVER oil money flows into the bond-redemption fund, he said, will be subject to prior obligations in the city's present bonded debt of $26 million.

Wilcox's reference was to City Auditor Murray Courson's estimates that, over a 25-year-period the city's income to the bond redemption fund, for general purposes, and in gas savings to its citizens, would exceed by millions of dollars the costs of bond-financed items on Tuesday's ballot. Courson's estimates were over and above huge income the city will receive for tidelands purposes from the oil field.

Nixon Asks Restraint by Oilmen

FRESNO (UPI) — Gubernatorial candidate Richard M. Nixon Saturday called for producer-distributor oil firms to use restraint in competition to avoid the government stepping in and changing the taxes.

Nixon told a luncheon meeting of the California Marketers Council the depletion provision was needed to encourage and give incentive to the entire mineral industry. But, the former vice president warned major oil firms, the government might step in if the companies used the allowance to finance loss-leader programs which would be disastrous to those solely in distribution.

• • • •

"IF THE FREE competitive enterprise system is to work," Nixon said, "It must have competition on a fair basis."

At times, he said, the government on both the state and national levels may have to step in to "lay down the rules of the game." However, he said, the "greatest mistake would be to put more power in governments to control monopolistic practices.

"Here in California we have all the laws we need—both antitrust and fair practice," he added. "But what we need lots more of is vigorous enforcement.

WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

Algerian Terror Leaves 40 Dead

ALGIERS (AP)—The French government poured 20,000 troops into jittery Algiers Saturday following a terrorist bloodbath that left 20 Moslems dead in the populous European quarter of Bab-el Qued.

Eleven or more Europeans were killed throughout the city and the overall Algerian death toll was set at 40.

Authorities described the bloody afternoon in Bab-el Qued as "organized murder." They said the killings were part of a rightist secret army plan to dash peace hopes in a racial war.

The Moslems, many walking through Bab-el Oued to their homes in nearby Moslem quarters, were shot down by pistol-firing Europeans. Shots came from the street, doorways and balconies.

SCHOLAR DIES

Dr. Hu Shih, 71, eminent Chinese scholar and former ambassador to the United States collapsed and died Saturday after a heart attack in Taipei, Formosa. He was head of Academia Sinica, Nationalist China's highest research institute.

Castro Rumors Fly

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Exile leaders maintaining contact with Cuban underground sources believe they have the answer to a question currently on many lips—where is Fidel Castro?

"Castro is in Cuba, but closely guarded by Communists," said a Cuban revolutionary council source. "If he tries to get away, they'll kill him."

Another group, which declined use of its name, said its "intelligence agents" in Cuba reported that the prime minister is at a country estate near the Havana Airport.

Brown Gets Summons

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—A process server Saturday handed Gov. Edmund G. Brown a summons in connection with a $250,000 lawsuit for return of secret files seized from a National Guard armory.

The summons was handed to Brown by the unidentified server as the governor stepped from a private twin-engine plane which brought him here to look into growing layoffs at the Convair plant. Brown said he expected to receive Monday a report from state officials on the files. He said he had no direct knowledge of the contents of the files.

Barbara Crosby Loses Baby

BURBANK (UPI)—Barbara Diane Crosby, wife of Bing Crosby's son, Lindsay, was reported in good condition Saturday after her prematurely born baby died Friday night.

Mrs. Crosby, 23, will have to remain in St. Joseph Hospital for about a week, a spokesman said.

Mrs. Crosby, a former Las Vegas, Nev., showgirl, was taken ill Feb. 11 and brought to the hospital in a coma. She was in critical condition for three days.

Red China Claims Security Threat

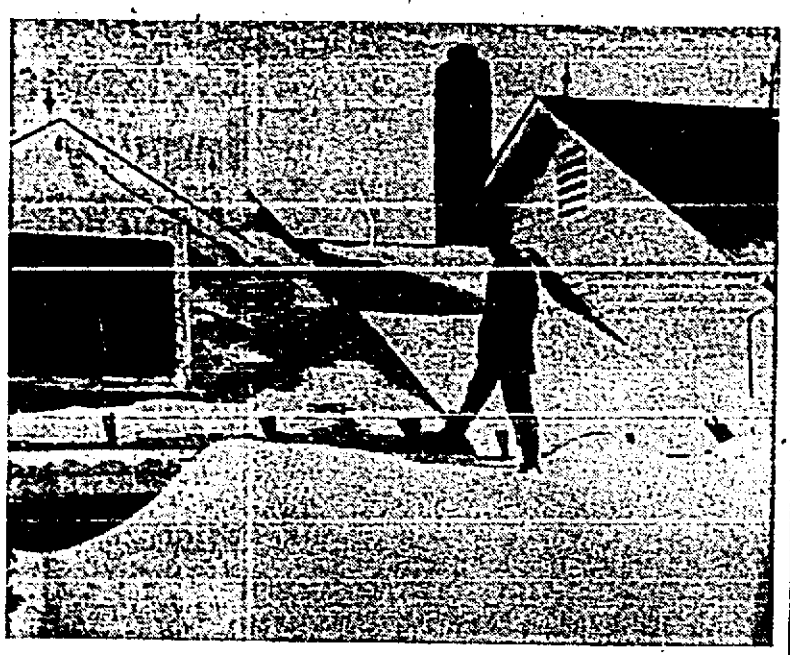

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China declared Saturday its security is seriously affected by an "undeclared war" being waged by the United States in South Viet Nam and said U.S. military aid to that southeast Asian country cannot be allowed to continue.

The statement by the Red Chinese foreign ministry, broadcast by Peiping Radio, demanded immediate international consultations "to eliminate the serious danger of war in southern Viet Nam by peaceful means.

JFK Yacht Leaves Boys Behind

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Three kids in a paddle boat paddled like mad to get into the procession of boats behind the President's yacht on Lake Worth Saturday.

But even with each boy plying a paddle they had to drop out, grinning as the other boats went past. President and Mrs. Kennedy and two other couples cruised for 2½ hours aboard the Honey Fitz down the inky, breeze-swept waters of Lake Worth in bright sunshine. The temperature was 83 degrees.

and Havre, Mont., and was below zero in the midlands as far south as western Nebraska.

• • • •

TENNESSEE mopped up from wind-driven rains which brought traffic practically to a standstill in Nashville, tore down power lines in the city, and blocked highways with mudslides. Water surged up to the floorboards of cars parked in low-lying parts of the city.

On the West Coast, roads were ice-covered and driving hazardous in the wake of a storm which plastered higher elevations near Portland, Ore., with a half foot of snow. Cascade Mountains passes were clogged by snow, and a highway south of Salem, Ore., was blocked for two hours by a mammoth traffic jam.

• • • •

IN ILLINOIS, a truck driver burned to death and another was seriously injured when two semitrailers collided in a snowstorm near Watseka.

The most bitter wintry fury concentrated on the Northeast. The snow in western New York cut visibility to zero. Cars and trucks were stranded by the score by towering drifts in the Buffalo suburbs of Grand Island and in Niagara County to the north.

• • • •

MICHIGAN snow depth ranged to eight inches in Detroit suburbs and was a record-breaking 8.5 inches at Windsor, Ont., just across the river. Most side streets in Detroit were impassable early in the day and at Jackson and Battle Creek, union ratification of a new contract with the Clark Equipment Co. was delayed by the storm.

Northeast Ohio measured seven inches of snow and three-foot drifts which closed roads in at least 15 spots. In the southern part of the state, power lines snapped and sagged under a burden of ice. Power flickered off and on about the state and the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. estimated overtime pay to emergency-repair crew would come to at least $50,000.

Students Confess $20,000 Robberies

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Two University of Nevada students, arrested last Sunday attempting to commit the "perfect crime," Saturday confessed to a year-long robbery spree that netted about $20,000.

The pair, David G. Osborne, 24, and Cornelius James Murphy, 30, both of Reno, told police they committed nine robberies in Sacramento and two in Reno. They said the money was used for high living and school financing, according to officers.

$1,025 Traffic Fine

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (UPI)—Kent Coyne, 22, Moline, Ill., who was arrested on 16 traffic charges, was fined $1,025 and given a 10-day jail sentence in police court Saturday.

State Department during the early hours Saturday. However, it apparently was held up a few hours for a final review by top officials here.

This gave rise to reports that the British were objecting to the toughness of Kennedy's position and trying to get him to hold out greater hope for an early summit.

These reports were categorically denied and it was asserted that there have been no differences whatsoever between Macmillan and Kennedy on the subject for several months.

Responsible quarters flatly denied reports that Kennedy and Macmillan had conferred by telephone last night just before the President approved his reply to Khrushchev.

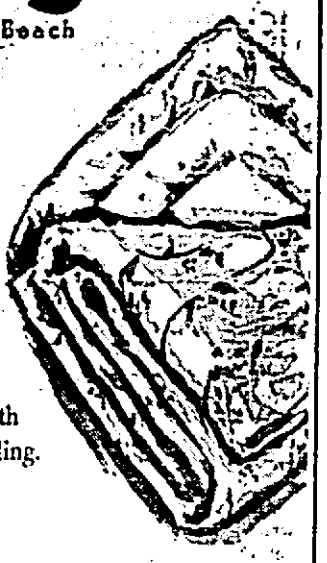

• • • •

THEY ALSO denied a London report that Macmillan had sent Kennedy a letter on the subject of Anglo-American differences over the approach to a summit conference.

British Ambassador Sir David Ormsby Gore conferred at the State Department with Secretary of State Dean Rusk shortly before the Kennedy reply was dispatched to Moscow. Authorities said, however, that they did not discuss the reply but talked of future strategy.

Tax Proposal Would Jolt JFK Budget

By VINCENT BURKE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A tax bill that would cut Treasury revenues enough to knock President Kennedy's new federal budget out of balance is nearing final approval in the House Ways and Means Committee.

The measure—a sharply revised diversion of President Kennedy's tax program—embodies the biggest revision of income tax rules since the 900-page tax code was overhauled by a Republican congress in 1954.

* * * *

THE ONLY big decision on which the committee has not yet reached final agreement is how to deal with foreign income of American business. The committee has voted tentatively to permit U.S.-owned subsidiaries abroad to continue postponement indefinitely of the payment of taxes on their foreign earnings, provided they are plowed back into businesses abroad.

The AFL-CIO threatened Friday to join in a battle to defeat the measure on the House floor unless tighter tax moves are included for foreign earnings of American business, as proposed by the Kennedy administration.

* * * *

THE LABOR organization said the committee-approved provision would encourage continued export of U.S. jobs by spurring U.S. investment in foreign factories.

The bill's major provision earmarks $1.8 billion in tax concessions to corporations, business proprietors and farmers to spur modernization of production plants and tools in this country.

It also would directly affect tens of millions of individuals by imposing tax-withholding for the first time on income from dividends and interest.

BELLS TOLL FOR VOTERS

Cooperating in a campaign to get out the vote Tuesday, many Long Beach churches will remind voters to go to polls by playing chimes and ringing church bells. Joe Bransby (left), chairman of the Church Cooperating Committe, discusses bell ringing plans with Rev. Francis B. Baldwin of East Long Beach Methodist Church.

Wife, Youth Held in Doctor Slaying

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 35-year-old widow and her 19-year-old boy friend were arrested Saturday on a murder charge in the mysterious slaying of her heavily insured physician husband last December.

Red-haired Mrs. Jean D'Fede, whose husband of 18 years was found bludgeoned and stabbed to death in their home here Dec. 7, was booked for homicide along with Armando Cossentino, 19, a tailor.

Police said Cosentino, "in conspiracy" with Mrs. D'Fede, entered the doctor's home through the front door, which had been left open. He attacked D'Fede in the latter's separate bedroom while Mrs. D'Fede and two sons were in another section of the house, police said.

Deputy Chief Inspector James E. Knott said the case was solved after what he termed the "cracking" of a key witness. He did not name the witness, who reportedly testified he saw Cossentino attack the doctor and then join Mrs. D'Fede briefly in the kitchen before fleeing.

Dr. D'Fede had been insured for $75,000, police said. The arrests climaxed a three-month investigation that hinged on certain "discrepancies" in Mrs. D'Fede's story.

At the time of the slaying she told police she and a son, Stephen, 13, were in a separate bedroom of the house and were unaware that her husband had been attacked. Another son, Michael, 17, was asleep in a room on the second floor.

The doctor's body, clad in pajamas, lay face up on the floor. He had been bludgeoned and stabbed.

Boys Pitch 'Dollars' Over River

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Seven strong-armed Boy Scouts proved here Saturday that they were physically fit.

In a dollar-throwing contest emulating the legendary pitch by George Washington of a Spanish silver dollar across the Rappahannock River, the seven scouts each managed to throw from shore to shore.

The Scouts, however, were not tossing silver dollars—only metal washers with holes in them.

They were part of a field of 20 Scouts who attempted to hurl washers across the narrow river in the annual two-day George Washington birthday festival.

CONTRARY to popular belief, Washington's legendary throw was actually across the Rappahannock, not the Potomac.

The festival was kicked off at noon Saturday with a luncheon honoring Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, who was marshal of an afternoon parade through Washington's hometown which featured the Old Guard marching unit. This unit, stationed at Ft. Myer, Va., furnishes honor guards for the President and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Exhibited later at the National Guard armory were a Mercury space capsule of the type which astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. rode in orbit, another demonstration on space from NASA, and a third space exhibit from the Navy's space surveillance system, at Dahlgren, Va.

Wilmington YMCA to Install March 15

WILMINGTON — Henry Blythe will be installed as new president of the Wilmington YMCA in a program March 15. Blythe will succeed John Bertram.

Other new officers will be Robert Doran, vice president, and Dr. George Bergman, secretary-treasurer.

Filipinos Threaten Boycott

MANILA (UPI)—The Philippine Association of Flour Millers threatened Saturday to boycott American wheat should Rep. Harold Cooley, D-N.C., "impair" prospects of the $73-million war-damage bill in favor of this Southeast Asian country.

The flour millers issued what they called a "declaration of intent" to show the "unity" of the Filipino people on the issue.

Cooley was reported here spearheading a move to block passage of the war-damage bill because of the Philippine government's refusal to release a $7-million U.S. tobacco shipment. The tobacco has been impounded here since last January after President Diosdado Macapagal declared its importers had no valid permit.

* * * *

THE FLOUR millers charged the American lawmaker with using the war damage bill "as a weapon to coerce Philippine economic policy."

"Rep. Cooley's actions," they said, "are destructive to the spirit of friendship that exists between the American and Filipino government and people."

They pointed out that 80 per cent of the Philippines' annual wheat imports come from the United States.

Should the acts of Rep. Cooley impair the prospects of passage of the war-damage bill or result in the reduction of the Philippine sugar quota, they said, "the association shall find itself forced to negotiate the importation of their wheat requirements with suppliers in countries other than the United States.

Death Day Set After 10 Years in Prison

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—The Illinois Supreme Court Saturday set March 23 as the execution date for Vincent Ciucci, the Chicago grocer who has been in the death row for almost 10 years.

Ciucci, then 28, was accused of murdering his wife and three children in 1953, by shooting them and setting their house on fire.

NEAR NEIGHBORS HAVE MOST CAUSE TO WORRY

Expect Red China A-Bomb by 1970

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—When Red China begins making her own atomic arms, perhaps in a few years, neighboring nations, including Russia, may have more initial cause for concern than the United States.

Some military men believe it likely the first nuclear weapons in the Chinese arsenal might be for tactical use to boost firepower of her huge ground forces rather than for strategic strikes against distant targets.

This is based, in part, on the assumption that Communist China initially at least would lack the delivery systems of ICBM rockets and long-range bombers needed for strategic attack on targets thousands of miles away.

But shorter-range, tactical missiles and fighter-bomber aircraft would be easier to come by.

The growing coolness between Moscow and Peiping resulted in the withdrawal about a year ago of many if not most of the Soviet technicians who had been helping the Red axis partner develop industry and war-making capabilities.

At a recent news conference, President Kennedy was asked what the prospects might be for bringing Communist China into a nuclear-control agreement.

Kennedy replied this obviously would be difficult, then added, "There is really no use in having an inspection (of nuclear armament) system agreed upon between say, the Soviet Union and the United States and some other countries, and then have another country—large—carrying on intensive armaments preparation."

Some estimates by experts in this country are that Communist China probably will begin making nuclear weapons within this decade.

At present, China has little capacity for production of big aircraft or large missiles, although there is some limited manufacture of light liaison-type planes and small transports.

On the other hand, China can assemble planes from parts bought abroad. She also has been buying some transport-type aircraft from British manufacturers. But the belief is that for the next few years, at least, China's capability for building big bombers and missiles will be limited.

Red China has succeeded in modernizing her large tactical forces substantially in the last decade, in large part through Soviet aid.

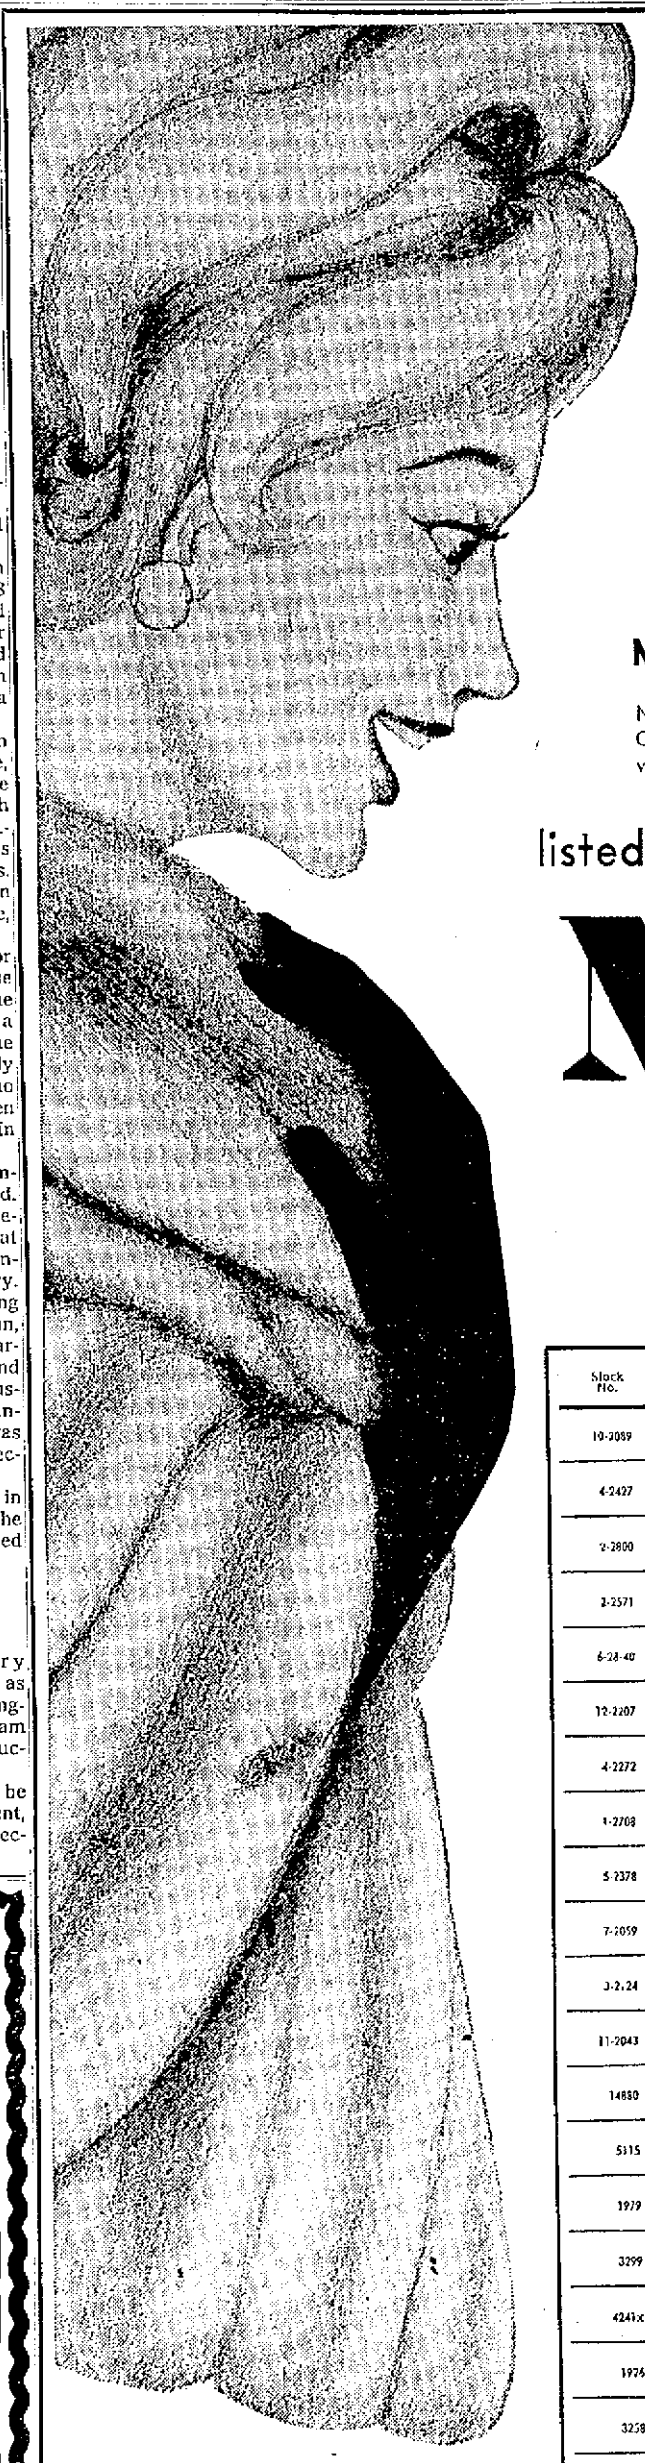

Quiz 3 GIs in Killing at Darmstadt

DARMSTADT, Germany (UPI)—Three American soldiers have been arrested on suspicion of killing a 53-year-old German woman, German police announced Saturday.

No charges have been filed against the men, who were absent without leave from their unit at nearby Mannheim.

The woman, Barbara Hummel, was found in her room Friday. She had been beaten and her throat was cut.

'Lindbergh Thing' Haunts Trial

FLEMINGTON, N. J. (UPI)—"The Lindbergh thing" still haunts Hunterdon County.

Thirty years ago this March 1, a kidnaping rocked the nation. It brought into being a new federal law, changed scores of lives, sent a man to his death in the electric chair and a family fleeing from fame, and left an indelible memory in the Sourland Mountains country around this county seat.

The crime occurred near Hopewell, a quiet village, not much changed from the day "Lucky Lindy" selected a homesite nearby.

* * * *

THE TRIAL was in Flemington—"the trial of the century" it was called—and so far the tag has stuck. There hasn't been one to match it since.

On trial was German-born carpenter Bruno Richard Hauptmann. Kidnaped and slain was Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., son of the "Lone Eagle" who flew the Atlantic and became America's hero.

The crime resulted in the federal "Lindbergh" kidnap law which provides a death penalty, even if the kidnaping victim survives.

* * * *

THE HUNT for the kidnaper, his capture, trial and execution after dramatic, last-minute stays were avidly followed by all of America.

The press threw its full forces into coverage of the trial. Wires were strung all over town. Union Hotel, across the street from the courthouse, became famous. Private households took in boarders at the then extravagant rate of $15 a week. A man with a car could become rich taxiing the press around at a flat $5 a ride.

More than 700 reporters came from all over the world. Millions of words flowed out during the trial's 43 days.

The prosecution convinced the jury Hauptmann was guilty, although it couldn't find a witness and offered only circumstantial evidence. The prosecution contended Hauptmann made a ladder from floor boards in his attic, used it to climb to the window of the Lindbergh mansion, took the child, killed him and later received $50,000 ransom through schoolteacher James F. Condon of the Bronx, the famous "Jafsie."

CHARLES A. LINDBERGH
Kidnap Still Remembered

* * * *

THE REV. Henry Charlton Beck, writing in a book 11 years ago, seemed to sigh in resignation: "clearly it becomes a little annoying when even if you are hundreds of miles from home, a stranger spots the Flemington tag enterprising automobile men put on your car and asks the obvious next question . . ."

Most of the principals of the case who are alive still flee from publicity.

The kidnaped baby's famous father tried finding obscurity in a remote corner of the British Isles. He now lives with his wife, the former Anne Morrow, at Scott's Cove in Darien, Conn.

The wife of the kidnaper, later remarried, was last reported living with her son, Manfried, in the Philadelphia area.

Manfried refused to change his name, sure that one day his father's name will be cleared.

* * * *

DAVID T. WILENTZ, then a dashing young man who as attorney general of New Jersey prosecuted Hauptmann, is one of New Jersey's most prominent Democratic politicians. He has refused to comment further on the case.

Charles Walton, 78, of High Bridge, N. J., foreman of the jury which doomed Hauptmann, also resists publicity. A telephone call to his home brought the reply from his wife that he does not wish to discuss the case.

Ten years ago, he spoke his last public words on the subject: "Hauptmann was guilty. He got a fair trial. I have no regrets over my part in the case. My conscience is clear."

* * * *

BETTY GOW, the baby's nurse, was last heard from in 1936 in Glasgow, Scotland, at her mother's home. A sister said then: "she's sick of the whole case . . . she wants peace and quiet and to carry on a normal life . . ."

Arthur Koehler, a wood expert who traced the wood in the ladder to Hauptmann, is retired, living in Southern California.

But many of those who became known all over the world world because of their roles in the case are dead.

Condon, a central figure from the moment he published a letter-to-the-editor in the Bronx Home News and received a reply from the kidnaper, died Jan. 2, 1945.

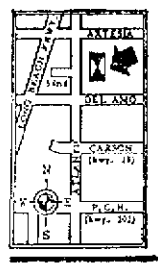

* * * *

HE CARRIED the $50,000 from Lindbergh to a man known to him as "John" and later identified "John" as Hauptmann. But he never convinced some people that he didn't know more than he told.

Tax Proposal Would Jolt JFK Budget

By VINCENT BURKE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A tax bill that would cut Treasury revenues enough to knock President Kennedy's new federal budget out of balance is nearing final approval in the House Ways and Means Committee.

The measure—a sharply revised diversion of President Kennedy's tax program—embodies the biggest revision of income tax rules since the 900-page tax code was overhauled by a Republican congress in 1954.

* * * *

THE ONLY big decision on which the committee has not yet reached final agreement is how to deal with foreign income of American business. The committee has voted tentatively to permit U.S.-owned subsidiaries abroad to continue postponement indefinitely of the payment of taxes on their foreign earnings, provided they are plowed back into businesses abroad.

The AFL-CIO threatened Friday to join in a battle to defeat the measure on the House floor unless tighter tax moves are included for foreign earnings of American business, as proposed by the Kennedy administration.

* * * *

THE LABOR organization said the committee-approved provision would encourage continued export of U.S. jobs by spurring U.S. investment in foreign factories.

The bill's major provision earmarks $1.8 billion in tax concessions to corporations, business proprietors and farmers to spur modernization of production plants and tools in this country.

It also would directly affect tens of millions of individuals by imposing tax-withholding for the first time on income from dividends and interest.

BELLS TOLL FOR VOTERS

Cooperating in a campaign to get out the vote Tuesday, many Long Beach churches will remind voters to go to polls by playing chimes and ringing church bells. Joe Bransby (left), chairman of the Church Cooperating Committe, discusses bell ringing plans with Rev. Francis B. Baldwin of East Long Beach Methodist Church.

Filipinos Threaten Boycott

MANILA (UPI)—The Philippine Association of Flour Millers threatened Saturday to boycott American wheat should Rep. Harold Cooley, D-N.C., "impair" prospects of the $73-million war-damage bill in favor of this Southeast Asian country.

The flour millers issued what they called a "declaration of intent" to show the "unity" of the Filipino people on the issue.

Cooley was reported here spearheading a move to block passage of the war-damage bill because of the Philippine government's refusal to release a $7-million U.S. tobacco shipment. The tobacco has been impounded here since last January after President Diosdado Macapagal declared its importers had no valid permit.

* * * *

THE FLOUR millers charged the American lawmaker with using the war damage bill "as a weapon to coerce Philippine economic policy."

"Rep. Cooley's actions," they said, "are destructive to the spirit of friendship that exists between the American and Filipino government and people."

They pointed out that 80 per cent of the Philippines' annual wheat imports come from the United States.

Should the acts of Rep. Cooley impair the prospects of passage of the war-damage bill or result in the reduction of the Philippine sugar quota, they said, "the association shall find itself forced to negotiate the importation of their wheat requirements with suppliers in countries other than the United States.

Death Day Set After 10 Years in Prison

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—The Illinois Supreme Court Saturday set March 23 as the execution date for Vincent Ciucci, the Chicago grocer who has been in the death row for almost 10 years.

Ciucci, then 28, was accused of murdering his wife and three children in 1953, by shooting them and setting their house on fire.

Wife, Youth Held in Doctor Slaying

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 35-year-old widow and her 19-year-old boy friend were arrested Saturday on a murder charge in the mysterious slaying of her heavily insured physician husband last December.

Red-haired Mrs. Jean D'Fede, whose husband of 18 years was found bludgeoned and stabbed to death in their home here Dec. 7, was booked for homicide along with Armando Cossentino, 19, a tailor.

Police said Cosentino, "in conspiracy" with Mrs. D'Fede, entered the doctor's home through the front door, which had been left open. He attacked D'Fede in the latter's separate bedroom while Mrs. D'Fede and two sons were in another section of the house, police said.

Deputy Chief Inspector James E. Knott said the case was solved after what he termed the "cracking" of a key witness. He did not name the witness, who reportedly testified he saw Cossentino attack the doctor and then join Mrs. D'Fede briefly in the kitchen before fleeing.

Dr. D'Fede had been insured for $75,000, police said. The arrests climaxed a three-month investigation that hinged on certain "discrepancies" in Mrs. D'Fede's story.

At the time of the slaying she told police she and a son, Stephen, 13, were in a separate bedroom of the house and were unaware that her husband had been attacked. Another son, Michael, 17, was asleep in a room on the second floor.

The doctor's body, clad in pajamas, lay face up on the floor. He had been bludgeoned and stabbed.

Boys Pitch 'Dollars' Over River

FREDERICKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Seven strong-armed Boy Scouts proved here Saturday that they were physically fit.

In a dollar-throwing contest emulating the legendary pitch by George Washington of a Spanish silver dollar across the Rappahannock River, the seven scouts each managed to throw from shore to shore.

The Scouts, however, were not tossing silver dollars—only metal washers with holes in them.

They were part of a field of 20 Scouts who attempted to hurl washers across the narrow river in the annual two-day George Washington birthday festival.

CONTRARY to popular belief, Washington's legendary, throw was actually across the Rappahannock, not the Potomac.

The festival was kicked off at noon Saturday with a luncheon honoring Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, who was marshal of an afternoon parade through Washington's hometown which featured the Old Guard marching unit. This unit, stationed at Ft. Myer, Va., furnishes honor guards for the President and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Exhibited later at the National Guard armory were a Mercury space capsule of the type which astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. rode in orbit, another demonstration on space from NASA, and a third space exhibit from the Navy's space surveillance system, at Dahlgren, Va.

NEAR NEIGHBORS HAVE MOST CAUSE TO WORRY

Expect Red China A-Bomb by 1970

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—When Red China begins making her own atomic arms, perhaps in a few years, neighboring nations, including Russia, may have more initial cause for concern than the United States.

Some military men believe it likely the first nuclear weapons in the Chinese arsenal might be for tactical use to boost firepower of her huge ground forces rather than for strategic strikes against distant targets.

This is based, in part, on the assumption that Communist China initially at least would lack the delivery systems of ICBM rockets and long-range bombers needed for strategic attack on targets thousands of miles away.

But shorter-range, tactical missiles and fighter-bomber aircraft would be easier to come by.

The growing coolness between Moscow and Peiping resulted in the withdrawal about a year ago of many if not most of the Soviet technicians who had been helping the Red axis partner develop industry and war-making capabilities.

At a recent news conference, President Kennedy was asked what the prospects might be for bringing Communist China into a nuclear-control agreement.

Kennedy replied this obviously would be difficult, then added, "There is really no use in having an inspection (of nuclear armament) system agreed upon between say, the Soviet Union and the United States and some other countries, and then have another country—large—carrying on intensive armaments preparation."

Some estimates by experts in this country are that Communist China probably will begin making nuclear weapons within this decade.

At present, China has little capacity for production of big aircraft or large missiles, although there is some limited manufacture of light liaison-type planes and small transports.

On the other hand, China can assemble planes from parts bought abroad. She also has been buying some transport-type aircraft from British manufacturers. But the belief is that for the next few years, at least, China's capability for building big bombers and missiles will be limited.

Red China has succeeded in modernizing her large tactical forces substantially in the last decade, in large part through Soviet aid.

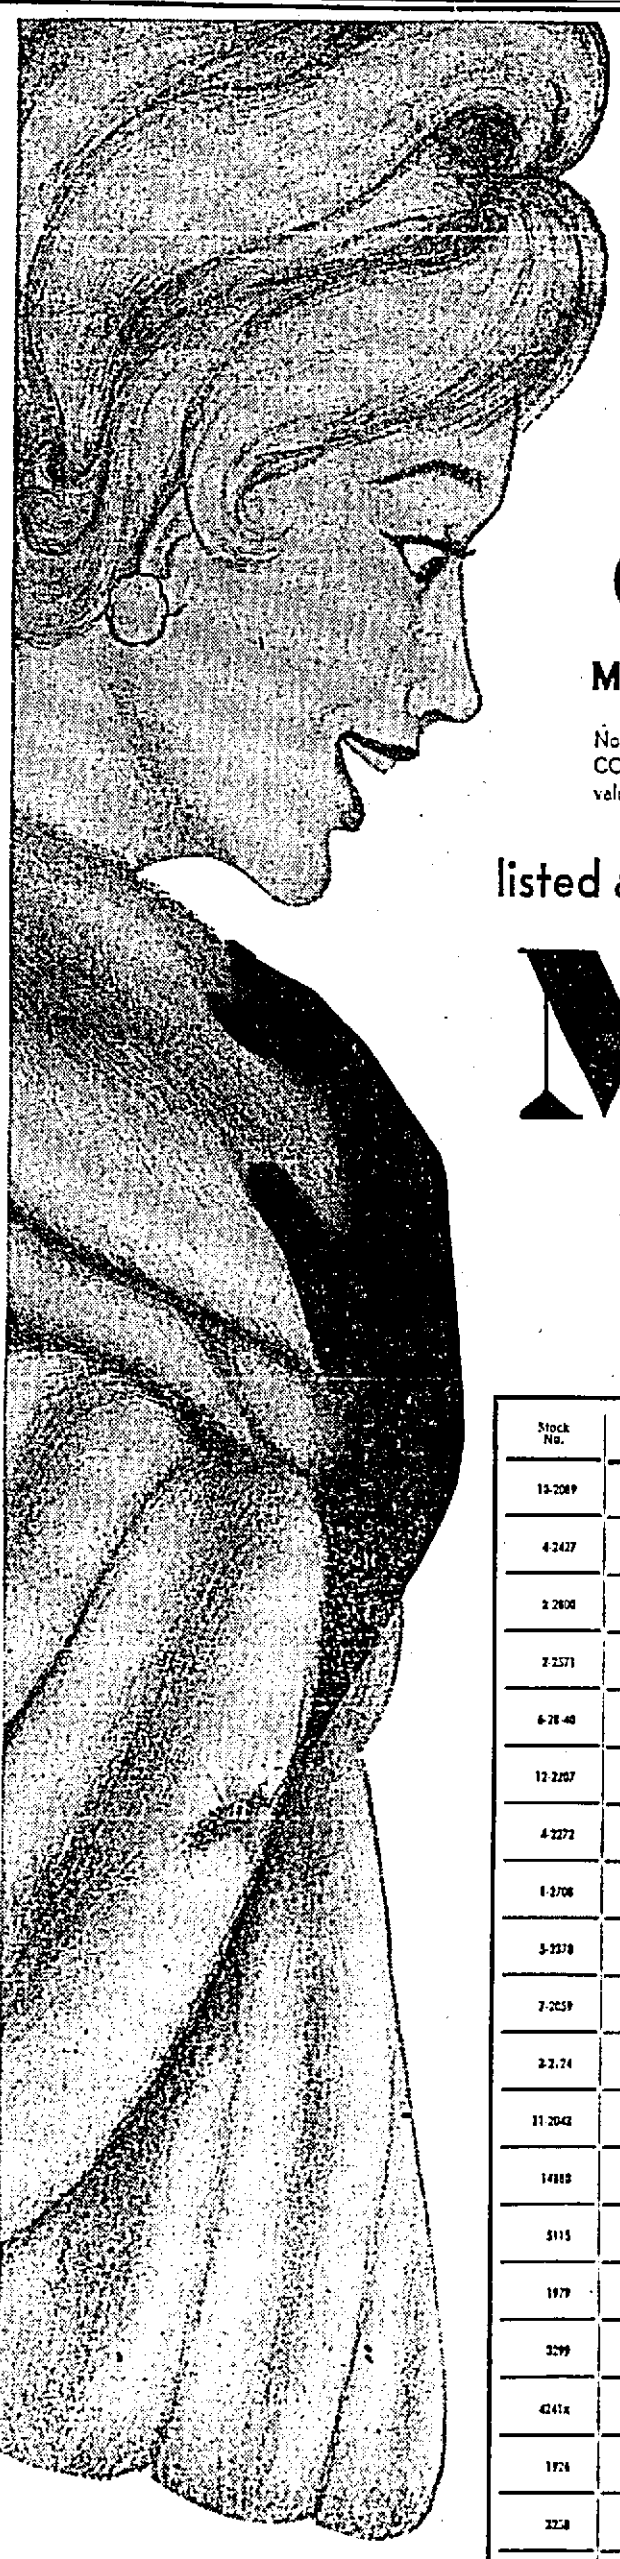

Quiz 3 GIs in Killing at Darmstadt

DARMSTADT, Germany (UPI)—Three American soldiers have been arrested on suspicion of killing a 53-year-old German woman, German police announced Saturday.

No charges have been filed against the men, who were absent without leave from their unit at nearby Mannheim.

The woman, Barbara Hummel, was found in her room Friday. She had been beaten and her throat was cut.

Secrecy Hampers Probe of Red Trade

By BILL SUMNER
I-P-T Capitol Bureau

WASHINGTON — Commerce Department files have been declared off limits for a House committee studying trade with Communist countries.

The chairman and the ranking minority member of the committee said the executive clampdown has hampered their study of the administration, operation and inforcement of the Export Control Act of 1949 and the Mutual Defense Assistance Control Act of 1951.

Both acts lay down an embargo on shipment of arms or strategic materials to Red bloc countries, the last known as the Battle Act, calling for an end to all forms of aid to other nation's which make such shipments.

A. PAUL Kitchin, D-N.C., chairman of this select committee, said that despite the restrictions put on the investigation, he had reached the conclusions that "our controls exercised under the Export Control Act and the Battle Act have eroded along with the steady erosion of the controls established by the voluntary international organization known as the Consultative Group."

The Consultative Group was formed in 1950 and is composed of 15 nations — all the NATO countries with the exception of Iceland.

Glenard P. Lipscomb, R-Calif., the ranking minority member of the committee agreed.

* * * *

"U.S. TRADE policies," he said, "seem to be based on the minimum restrictions member nations are to impose on trade with the Soviet Bloc. To a considerable degree . . . our domestic export control policies are based not on what we ourselves may consider to be advisable or inadvisable trade, but hinge to a large degree on what sort of general agreements can be reached in conjunction with the various nations (of the consultative group)."

He said entire textile manufacturing plants had been sent to Russia from this country and Britain, machine tools and automotive manufacturing machinery from Germany.

Kitchin said that of major concern to him were applications approved in this country recently to "ship vast quantities of scrap copper, steel and iron scrap, borates and other seemingly strategic commodities to Communist Yugoslavia."

DOLLAR total of exports to Russia and the Sino-Soviet bloc from the United States and five other NATO nations (Canada, France, West Germany, Italy and Great Britain) were some $2.4 billion in 1960, according to information given the committee by the Commerce Department.

Figures supplied for the first two quarters of 1961 (excepting Canada) showed a total of $1.2 billion in exports to the Red bloc nations.

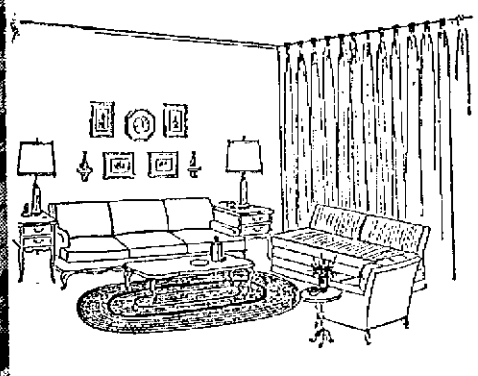

Kitchin said licenses to ship strategic materials to these countries were being approved here in consideration of a "week-kneed position" of the Western powers and on the theory that it was impossible to effect unilateral controls effectively.

HE SAID subsidiaries of American firms located abroad could export "under laws of the state of incorporation" commidities to the Soviet bloc that may be on this nation's list of controlled items.

He has called for a total embargo on shipments to all Communist dominated countries.

Glenn May Take Good-Will Tours

gigantic welcome for Glenn at Cape Canaveral, the take-off spot for his triple orbit of the globe last Tuesday.

In a manner that indicated he had no doubts at all, Hatcher told reporters:

"I think possibly the future of Col. Glenn domestically was discussed at the luncheon yesterday with Vice President Johnson.

"They discussed the whole space program and, I think, the subject of what Col. Glenn could do within the United States, at least, and the great demand for his appearances in cities."

* * * *

KENNEDY is flying Glenn and Glenn's family to Washington Monday for another big reception which includes an appearance for the spaceman at a Senate-House session. Hatcher said he was unable to say whether the speech Glenn will make to members of Congress may shed light on travel plans.

The Glenn schedule was left open at the astronaut's news conference in Cape Canaveral Friday.

Glenn was asked whether he had any plans to go outside this country or any objections to being utilized as was Soviet astronaut Yuri Gagarin — who was sent on trips to other nations.

Glenn replied that he didn't think he was qualified to comment on this but added:

"We may have to discuss some things like this in the future."

And James Webb, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, said that "obviously, this program has many implications for the total foreign policy image of the United States abroad," but that Glenn is "going to decide himself what he wants to do."

Congress to Honor Col. Glenn

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's capital got set Saturday to pay proud tribute to space hero John H. Glenn Jr., on Monday, with ceremonies usually reserved for visiting foreign rulers and victorious military leaders.

The Marine lieutenant colonel will be welcomed by thousands during a parade from the White House to the Capitol and honored by a joint meeting of Congress where he will speak briefly.

It will mark the second round of tribute accorded Glenn for his feat of being the first American to orbit the earth in a space capsule. President Kennedy personally greeted and decorated him at Cape Canaveral, Fla., Friday.

Polaris Sub Leaves Ways on East Coast

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — The submarine Thomas Jefferson, soon to be armed with 16 Polaris missiles, was launched Saturday as a "symbol of independence and self-reliance."

Mrs. Robert S. McNamara, wife of the secretary of defense, christened the vessel. Her daughter Kathleen served as maid of honor.

The submarine, named for the nation's third president and author of the Declaration of Independence, will serve as a warning to the enemies of freedom, said Dr. Edgar F. Shannon Jr., president of the University of Virginia. Jefferson founded the university.

"She will be a symbol of independence and self-reliance," he said.

The Thomas Jefferson is the fourth Polaris submarine built at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. Two others are under construction and four more are under contract.

The missile submarine will be commanded by Cmdr. Leon H. Rathburn, head of the Blue crew, and Cmdr. Charles Priest Jr., head of the Gold crew.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI)—A scientific information center which eventually is to house the free world's largest collection of missile, rocket and space literature will open here in a few months.

GUARDED BY NASA

Space Conqueror, Family on Cruise

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTH FLORIDA (AP)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., stripped to the waist in the bright south Florida sunshine, went for a boat ride with his family Saturday.

Even during his weekend of relaxation, however, the triumphant conqueror of space was attended closely by representatives of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

With him on the boat trip, along with his wife and son and daughter, were security officer Charles Buckley, public information officer John A. Powers, and Dr. William Douglas, all of NASA.

Glenn leaves his weekend retreat Monday for Washington and more honors from a nation overjoyed by his three trips around the world.

He went aboard the boat bareheaded but wore sunglasses for the trip. His daughter, 14-year-old Lyn, was in a bathing suit. David, his 16-year-ol dson who was hoping to go skin diving with his dad over the weekend, was in swim trunks. Mrs. Glenn also wore beach attire.

The astronaut slept late Saturday morning and then went for a haircut. A few people, delighted to discover his identity, got autographs while Glenn was in the vicinity of the barber shop.

Officials have requested secrecy as to the whereabouts of the Glenns to give them an opportunity to rest in private after last week's whirl of events.

Red Airliner Lands in Field; 82 Unhurt

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A Communist Romanian airliner carrying 82 persons ran into engine trouble over western Cyprus Saturday and made an emergency landing in a field at Panhos, 60 miles southwest of Nicosia.

The Ilyushin turboprop plane was damaged heavily but there were no injuries. The plane was en route from Bucharest to Nicosia. Most of the passengers were Romanians bound for Israel.

Villagers Plan for Big Day

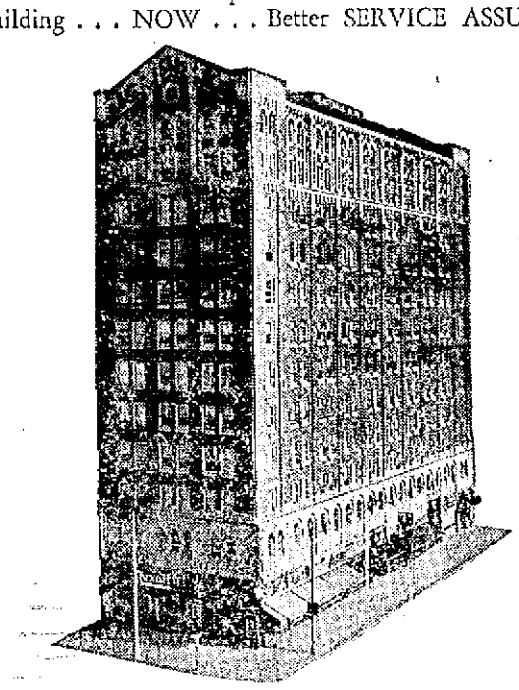

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP) —Villagers, receiving word Saturday that Lt. Col. John Glenn Jr. would visit them for four and a half hours next Saturday, planned a celebration of "John Glenn Jr. Day."

Mayor James K. Taylor said although the astronaut's hometown folk have not been told when the astronaut will arrive in New Concord, he received word from the National Aeronautics and Space Agency that Glenn will be available for the homecoming activities from noon until 4:30 p.m. Saturday, March 3.

"We are going to start with an informal luncheon at noon, just for some 65 state and local officials," the mayor said following an all-morning session with members of the village council.

A parade, which in most other towns would travel down the main street, will have to be somewhat diverted in New Concord. Its main street is also U.S. 40, main artery between Columbus and Wheeling, W. Va.

Secrecy Hampers Probe of Red Trade

By BILL SUMNER
L. P-T Capital Bureau

WASHINGTON — Commerce Department files have been declared off limits for a House committee studying trade with Communist countries.

The chairman and the ranking minority member of the committee said the executive clampdown has hampered their study of the administration, operation and inforcement of the Export Control Act of 1949 and the Mutual Defense Assistance Control Act of 1951.

Both acts lay down an embargo on shipment of arms or strategic materials to Red bloc countries, the last known as the Battle Act, calling for an end to all forms of aid to other nation's which make such shipments.

• • • •

A. PAUL Kitchin, D-N.C., chairman of this select committee, said that despite the restrictions put on the investigation, he had reached the conclusions that "our controls exercised under the Export Control Act and the Battle Act have eroded along with the steady erosion of the controls established by the voluntary international organization known as the Consultative Group."

LAUNCHING ATOM SUB

Mrs. Robert S. McNamara, defense secretary's wife, christens nuclear submarine Thomas Jefferson Saturday at Newport News, Va. At left is W. E. Blewett Jr., shipyard president.

Polaris Sub Leaves Ways on East Coast

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — The submarine Thomas Jefferson, soon to be armed with 16 Polaris missiles, was launched Saturday as a "symbol of independence and self-reliance."

Mrs. Robert S. McNamara, wife of the secretary of defense, christened the vessel. Her daughter Kathleen served as maid of honor.

The submarine, named for the nation's third president and author of the Declaration of Independence, will serve as a warning to the enemies of freedom, said Dr. Edgar F. Shannon Jr., president of the University of Virginia. Jefferson founded the university.

"She will be a symbol of independence and self-reliance," he said.

The Thomas Jefferson is the fourth Polaris submarine built at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. Two others are under construction and four more are under contract.

The missile submarine will be commanded by Cmdr. Leon H. Rathburn, head of the Blue crew, and Cmdr. Charles Priest Jr., head of the Gold crew.

Reno Surgeon Plans Clinic for Saigon

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—A Reno surgeon will give up six weeks of his practice to establish an orthopedic program in Saigon.

Dr. T. Clair Harper will leave San Francisco March 5. Once in Saigon, capital of Vietnam, he will care for injured civilians hurt in guerrilla warfare in that country.

Space Library

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI)—A scientific information center which eventually is to house the free world's largest collection of missile, rocket and space literature will open here in a few months.

GUARDED BY NASA

Space Conqueror, Family on Cruise

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTH FLORIDA (AP)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., stripped to the waist in the bright south Florida sunshine, went for a boat ride with his family Saturday.

Even during his weekend of relaxation, however, the triumphant conqueror of space was attended closely by representatives of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

With him on the boat trip, along with his wife and son and daughter, were security officer Charles Buckley, public information officer John A. Powers, and Dr. William Douglas, all of NASA.

Glenn leaves his weekend retreat Monday for Washington and more honors from a nation overjoyed by his three trips around the world.

He went aboard the boat bareheaded but wore sunglasses for the trip. His daughter, 14-year-old Lyn, was in a bathing suit. David, his 16-year-ol dson who was hoping to go skin diving with his dad over the weekend, was in swim trunks. Mrs. Glenn also wore beach attire.

The astronaut slept late Saturday morning and then went for a haircut. A few people, delighted to discover his identity, got autographs while Glenn was in the vicinity of the barber shop.

Officials have requested secrecy as to the whereabouts of the Glenns to give them an opportunity to rest in private after last week's whirl of events.

Red Airliner Lands in Field; 82 Unhurt

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A Communist Romanian airliner carrying 82 persons ran into engine trouble over western Cyprus Saturday and made an emergency landing in a field at Panhos, 60 miles southwest of Nicosia.

The Ilyushin turboprop plane was damaged heavily but there were no injuries. The plane was en route from Bucharest to Nicosia. Most of the passengers were Romanians bound for Israel.

Villagers Plan for Big Day

NEW CONCORD, Ohio (AP) —Villagers, receiving word Saturday that Lt. Col. John Glenn Jr. would visit them for four and a half hours next Saturday, planned a celebration of "John Glenn Jr. Day."

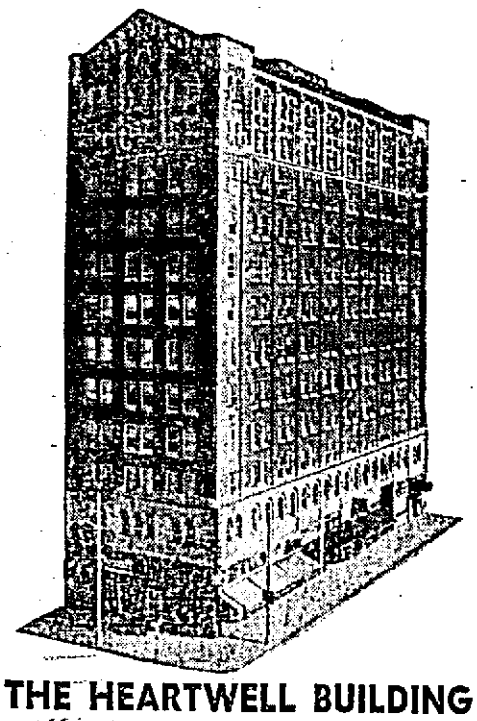

Mayor James K. Taylor said although the astronaut's hometown folk have not been told when the astronaut will arrive in New Concord, he received word from the National Aeronautics and Space Agency that Glenn will be available for the homecoming activities from noon until 4:30 p.m. Saturday, March 3.

"We are going to start with an informal luncheon at noon, just for some 65 state and local officials," the mayor said following an all-morning session with members of the village council.

A parade, which in most other towns would travel down the main street, will have to be somewhat diverted in New Concord. Its main street is also U.S. 40, main artery between Columbus and Wheeling, W. Va.

Rooms Are Spacious in 'Showcase Home'

Lightly-scaled American and Scandinavian furniture will emphasize spaciousness in "Showcase Home" which will be a feature of the Long Beach Home-O-Rama, Feb. 28 through March 4.

CONTESTANT

Pat Ballard, 20, a free-lance model, will compete for the queen's crown at the Home-O-Rama when it opens Wednesday, in Long Beach Municipal Auditorium. Pat, who was a semi-finalist in the Miss Welcome to Long Beach contest, has blue eyes, blonde hair and is 5 ft. 4½ in. tall.

Stan Young and Charles Drawbolt, decorators of the home for Frank Bros. of Long Beach, said the Scandinavian pieces have a warmth in material and structure, contrasted by the more severe lines of the American designs which makes a pleasant contrast between the severe and the soft lines of both styles.

The decorators said color was kept at a minimum in "Showcase Home" to emphasize the architecture and spaciousness of the room.

* * * *

TEXTURES will go from a loosely woven casement to a hand-made rug with an extremely deep pile. For emphasis, strong colors ranging from light to dark and in varying quantities were utilized to give spark and life to the entire home.

Frank Bros., for 30 years a leader in contemporary home furnishings, is one of several Long Beach area firms which have made "Showcase Home" possible, according to Phil Wiedrick, Home-O-Rama chairman for the sponsoring Long Beach Builders Exchange.

"Showcase Home" will be set up in Long Beach Municipal Auditorium where persons attending the Home-O-Rama may tour it at their leisure and with no charge.

"Showcase Home" was designed and furnished to show an ideal blending of materials, furnishings and other household items.

Destroyer Tows Disabled Craft

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Navy destroyer escort Coates took in tow the stricken Liberian motor vessel Corinto 25 miles off the eastern coast of Cuba Saturday.

The Coast Guard at Miami said the Coates reported putting emergency pumps into the Corinto to control the engine-room flooding. Four feet of water was reported in the Corinto, a 193-foot vessel with a crew of 13. The vessel had said earlier it was leaking badly.

The Coates began towing the Corinto toward Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, for repair.

Albania Buys Wheat From West Germany

BONN (UPI) — Albania recently purchased $500,000 in wheat from a West German company and paid cash, the seller said.

The Albanians, closing their first deal with West Germany since Tirana's political breach with Moscow, paid in American dollars.

Apparently they used most of their dollar reserve. The Albanians were understood to be trying to buy more wheat from West Germany, this time on credit.

KOREAN SCOUTS VISIT LONG BEACH

Researcher Explodes Irish Myth

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dr. Arnold Schrier, a scholarly researcher, had a message to shock all true sons of Erin.

He said he found those warm nostalgic songs of Ireland have been largely the product of lively Irish-American imagination, instead of based on fact.

He said it seems Irish eyes don't really smile so often, nor is Irish laughter so lilting as merited in song.

He said, in fact, that the Irish in Ireland are still somewhat dismayed about such events as St. Patrick's Day as it occurs in America.

"They feel Americans are really out of touch," he said. "St. Patrick's Day in Ireland is a much more sober and religious event. Dublin on St. Patrick's Day is really a tomb.

"The pubs are all closed."

Rooms Are Spacious in 'Showcase Home'

Lightly-scaled American and Scandinavian furniture will emphasize spaciousness in "Showcase Home" which will be a feature of the Long Beach Home-O-Rama, Feb. 28 through March 4.

Stan Young and Charles Drawbolt, decorators of the home for Frank Bros. of Long Beach, said the Scandinavian pieces have a warmth in material and structure, contrasted by the more severe lines of the American designs which makes a pleasant contrast between the severe and the soft lines of both styles.

The decorators said color was kept at a minimum in "Showcase Home" to emphasize the architecture and spaciousness of the room.

* * * *

TEXTURES will go from a loosely woven casement to a hand-made rug with an extremely deep pile. For emphasis, strong colors ranging from light to dark and in varying quantities were utilized to give spark and life to the entire home.

Frank Bros., for 30 years a leader in contemporary home furnishings, is one of several Long Beach area firms which have made "Showcase Home" possible, according to Phil Wiedrick, Home-O-Rama chairman for the sponsoring Long Beach Builders Exchange.

"Showcase Home" will be set up in Long Beach Municipal Auditorium where persons attending the Home-O-Rama may tour it at their leisure and with no charge.

"Showcase Home" was designed and furnished to show an ideal blending of materials, furnishings and other household items.

CONTESTANT

Pat Ballard, 20, a free-lance model, will compete for the queen's crown at the Home-O-Rama when it opens Wednesday, in Long Beach Municipal Auditorium. Pat, who was a semi-finalist in the Miss Welcome to Long Beach contest, has blue eyes, blonde hair and is 5 ft. 4½ in. tall.

Destroyer Tows Disabled Craft

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Navy destroyer escort Coates took in tow the stricken Liberian motor vessel Corinto 25 miles off the eastern coast of Cuba Saturday.

The Coast Guard at Miami said the Coates reported putting emergency pumps into the Corinto to control the engine-room flooding. Four feet of water was reported in the Corinto, a 193-foot vessel with a crew of 13. The vessel had said earlier it was leaking badly.

The Coates began towing the Corinto toward Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, for repair.

Albania Buys Wheat From West Germany

BONN (UPI) — Albania recently purchased $500,000 in wheat from a West German company and paid cash, the seller said.

The Albanians, closing their first deal with West Germany since Tirana's political breach with Moscow, paid in American dollars.

Apparently they used most of their dollar reserve. The Albanians were understood to be trying to buy more wheat from West Germany, this time on credit.

KOREAN SCOUTS VISIT LONG BEACH

Researcher Explodes Irish Myth

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dr. Arnold Schrier, a scholarly researcher, had a message to shock all true sons of Erin.

He said he found those warm nostalgic songs of Ireland have been largely the product of lively Irish-American imagination, instead of based on fact.

He said it seems Irish eyes don't really smile so often, nor is Irish laughter so lilting as merited in song.

He said, in fact, that the Irish in Ireland are still somewhat dismayed about such events as St. Patrick's Day as it occurs in America.

"They feel Americans are really out of touch," he said. "St. Patrick's Day in Ireland is a much more sober and religious event. Dublin on St. Patrick's Day is really a tomb.

"The pubs are all closed."

WORLD WAR II—20 YEARS LATER

The Galloping Ghost of the Java Coast

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles recalling people and places, campaigns and catastrophies of World War II. Subsequent articles will appear at intervals of approximately two weeks.)

No ship ever faced greater odds than the incredible cruiser Houston, sent to the bottom of the Java Sea Feb. 28, 1942.

The cruiser and her captain, Albert H. Rooks, are legendary in the annals of the American Navy. Only 292 members of her crew survived the war; 736 of them died or vanished.

* * * *

THE HOUSTON was the spearhead of America's first counter-offensive of World War II. After the debacle of Pearl Harbor, the Houston was all over the South Pacific, guarding merchant ships and convoys.

The Japanese conquerors caught up to her soon enough. In early February they had reached Borneo, and the Houston went into action Feb. 4 against the Japs.

* * * *

SHE WAS in company with the Marblehead, two Dutch cruisers named DeRuyter and Tromp, four American and three Dutch destroyers. A pitifully small task force, but the strongest the Allies could muster.

As this force raced past Bali, seeking to intercept an invasion convoy, it was plastered by 54 enemy planes. The Marblehead, ravaged by the attack, limped back to the United States.

The Houston took a direct hit in turret three. Forty-eight men were killed, many wounded. The dead were buried at a Javanese port curiously named Tjilatjap, the turret was never to be repaired.

* * * *

THE HOUSTON was bombed by 45 planes Feb. 16, in the Timor Sea; and Feb. 25 in Soerabaya Harbor, suffering no further damage or losses. By now the enemy had claimed three times to have sunk her, so her crew christened the ship "The Galloping Ghost of the Java Coast."

On Feb. 27 the allies gathered the last handful of their Java forces and put to sea. The Houston, the Dutch cruisers Java and DeRuyter and the British ships Exeter and Perth; plus nine destroyers from the three commands.

* * * *

THIS WAS the thin allied force assembled for the Battle of the Java Sea. Confronted by a Japanese task force, the allies were quick prey. The Exeter was quickly hit, quickly exploded in fire. A Dutch destroyer went down in minutes. The Houston took two direct hits. Four more ships went down, then the four American destroyers ran out of ammunition, and were sent back to Soerabaya.

Dutch Admiral Doorman, aboard his sinking flagship DeRuyter, messaged the last ships of his "force"—the Houston and the Perth:

"Do not stand by for survivors; proceed to Batavia."

* * * *

THE HOUSTON and Perth fled the losing battle, back to Tjilatjap for makeshift repairs and, on Feb. 28, took to sea in an attempt to slip the Japanese blockade.

Cautiously the Perth led the crippled Houston to the Sunda Strait, in the darkening night. But at 11 p.m. dark hulls were sighted—on all sides and in unbelieving depth. The two cruisers had steered a course squarely into the middle of a huge Jap task force.

* * * *

NO MATTER where Capt. Rooks sighted, there was the enemy. Fifty major ships surrounded the Houston and the Perth.

The fight was a barroom brawl. No matter where one pointed a gun, there was a target. The appearance of the allied cruisers stirred the Japs to a frenzy. They, too, fired in all directions. Survivors of the Houston said the Japs did more damage to themselves than did the Americans. A shell could not leave a barrel without hitting a target.

At 12:35 a.m., her skipper on the bridge, the Perth went under, riddled by shellfire and blasted by torpedoes.

* * * *

AN UNBELIEVABLE—and unbelieving—enemy crowded about the Houston. Torpedo boats darted all around her, destroyers roared at her on collision courses, cruisers encircled her.

The Houston had one brief advantage. Since the Perth was sunk, she knew every ship about her was enemy.

* * * *

THE HOUSTON'S luck was good for a while. A Jap destroyer was sunk, fires were seen to break out on several enemy ships. An enemy shell, however, started a fire in her paint locker at 11 p.m.; at midnight a torpedo entered the aft engine room; turret two was shot out at 12:20 a.m.; the end was in sight.

Still she battled an entire fleet. A large vessel, presumably a supply ship, was her next victim.

* * * *

THE HOUSTON was afire. With turret two flooded, the Houston continued to fire her five inch guns, often engaged destroyers in machine gun duels, Jap searchlights stabbed her, Jap guns raked her.

By 12:30 a.m. the Houston was a ghastly mess—twisted steel, blood and bodies—but she was still fighting. At point-blank range, she took three torpedoes, and a dozen direct salvos. Her decks were under rifle fire, so close was the enemy.

* * * *

AT 12:35 A.M. Capt. Rooks passed the word: abandon ship. They were his last words. A destroyer salvo then wrecked the bridge, and command passed to Cmdr. D. W. Roberts, executive officer.

To Roberts' surprise, he found the Houston still "had way on" so he rescinded Rooks' order. More gunfire, however, stopped the gallant cruiser dead in the water, and she began to list to starboard.

* * * *

A SEAMAN named Safford, standing on the fantail, sounded the abandon ship call on his bugle, and this time it was not rescinded.

At 12:45 a.m., after about 500 men had made it into the water, the Houston sank, bathed in searchlights and still being raked by small arms fire from torpedo boats and destroyers, who were now almost close enough to touch her.

The Navy estimates that about 150 of the crew died in the water, either by drowning or the result of enemy activity. Of the rest, the Japs counted 368 who made it to shore and became prisoners of war. This number was further reduced when 76 of them died in prison camps.

* * * *

CAPTAIN ROOKS won the Congressional Medal of Honor, posthumously, and his citation reads:

". . . Often damaged, but self-maintaining, the Houston kept the sea and went down, fighting gallantly to the last against overwhelming odds . . ."

* * * *

HER HEROIC stand inflicted costly blows to Japanese strength and prestige. The enemy lost four loaded transports, several other transports were damaged, a minesweeper was sunk and three Japanese destroyers were damaged.

Aboard one of the sunken transports was the Japanese general Imamura, who clung to a piece of driftwood for 20 minutes before he was picked up.

Samuel Eliot Morison, a World War II historian, bestowed upon the Houston her epitaph:

"The Houston's great fight, the last half hour of it waged against overwhelming odds, is one of the most gallant in American naval annals."

Young and Old Meet in City Marble Finals

CITY MARBLE CHAMPS were chosen Saturday in Lincoln Park after competition on the Roque court. At left, Mike Ellis, winner of Division I (grades 1-4) lags to see who gets to shoot first in a match game with William Morris, 70, of 330 Ocean Blvd., winner of the Senior Citizens Division. Mike, a fourth grade student at Buffum School, won. Morris, who is here for the winter from Fairbury, Ill., said, "I'm going to practice and next year I'll beat you, Mike." In the center picture, Chuck Martin, 8, concentrates on a shot and at right another contestant shoots. Jeff Burrows, a fifth grade student at Buffum, won first place in Division 2 (grades 5-6) and Peter Acquiningoc won first place in the Junior High division.

Grand Jury Record Outstanding

I. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Of 173 recommendations made by the 1961 County Grand Jury, 119 have been adopted, 27 were rejected "for convincing reasons" and only 27 still are pending, the Board of Supervisors will be advised Tuesday.

L. S. Hollinger, county chief administrative officer, will report to the board, as ordered Jan. 30, on compliance with the state law which requires that the Board of Supervisors "comment" on grand jury findings and recommendations which apply to functions under their jurisdiction.

Hollinger explained that the county works closely throughout the year with the audit committee of the Grand Jury and with its contract auditor. As reports to the audit committee are issued throughout the year, the affected county department is advised and, where believed appropriate, action is taken, Hollinger said.

The administrative officer's report singles out a recommendation of the Grand Jury that a study be made to determine necessary legislative steps in order that an additional special grand jury could be impaneled by the presiding judge at the request of the regular Grand Jury whenever the case load "interferes with committee work and other duties."

Hollinger's report recommends that the county counsel, chief administrative officer and district attorney, in cooperation with the Grand Jury and Superior Court, study the need for such a special grand jury and what steps would be required to establish it.

The county assessor, sheriff and district attorney, being elective officers, submit separate reports.

Lt. Gen. Cummings to Retire March 31

CHICAGO (UPI)—Lt. Gen. Emerson L. Cummings, commanding general of the U.S. Fifth Army, will retire March 31 after 37 years' service.

Cummings assumed command of the Fifth Army Feb. 1, 1961, after serving as deputy commanding general of the U.S. Eighth Army in Korea.

USS Los Angeles Due Back in Port

By LEE CRAIG
Military-Aviation Editor

The cruiser USS Los Angeles, flagship of the Pacific Fleet's Cruiser Division One, will return here Tuesday after seven months in the Western Pacific.

Aboard the cruiser will be Rear Adm. E. A. Ruckner, whose division will cease to exist April 1. In its place will be Cruiser-Destroyer Flotilla 11, formed under the new Pacific Cruiser-Destroyer Force flotilla concept.

Since leaving Long Beach last August, the 674-foot cruiser will have covered 42,000 nautical miles when she docks Tuesday at 10 a.m. at Pier E, Long Beach Harbor.

PORTS visited by the Los Angeles include Sasebo, Beppu, Kagoshima, Kobe and Yokosuka in Japan; Okinawa, Hong Kong and Subic Bay in the Philippines.

Members of the ship's 1,100-man crew contributed more than $1,500 in cash, clothing and toys to various orphanages throughout the Orient during their cruise.

In addition, tons of clothing and food were transported to needy areas as part of the "Operation Handclasp" and "Meals for Millions" programs.

In Kagoshima, Adm. Ruckner paid the Navy's respects at the tomb of Japan's famous naval hero, Adm. Heihachiro Togo, former commander in chief of the Imperial Japanese Navy and described by some historians as the "Lord Nelson of the East."

Rejection of Heliport Expected

I. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

The Board of Supervisors is expected Tuesday to reject a proposal by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce that a large-scale passenger terminal heliport be constructed on the county parking lot north of Temple Avenue between Hill and Grand Streets.

L. S. Hollinger, county chief administrative officer, urged the board to reject the proposed Los Angeles site, primarily on the grounds that it would eliminate vitally needed parking space.

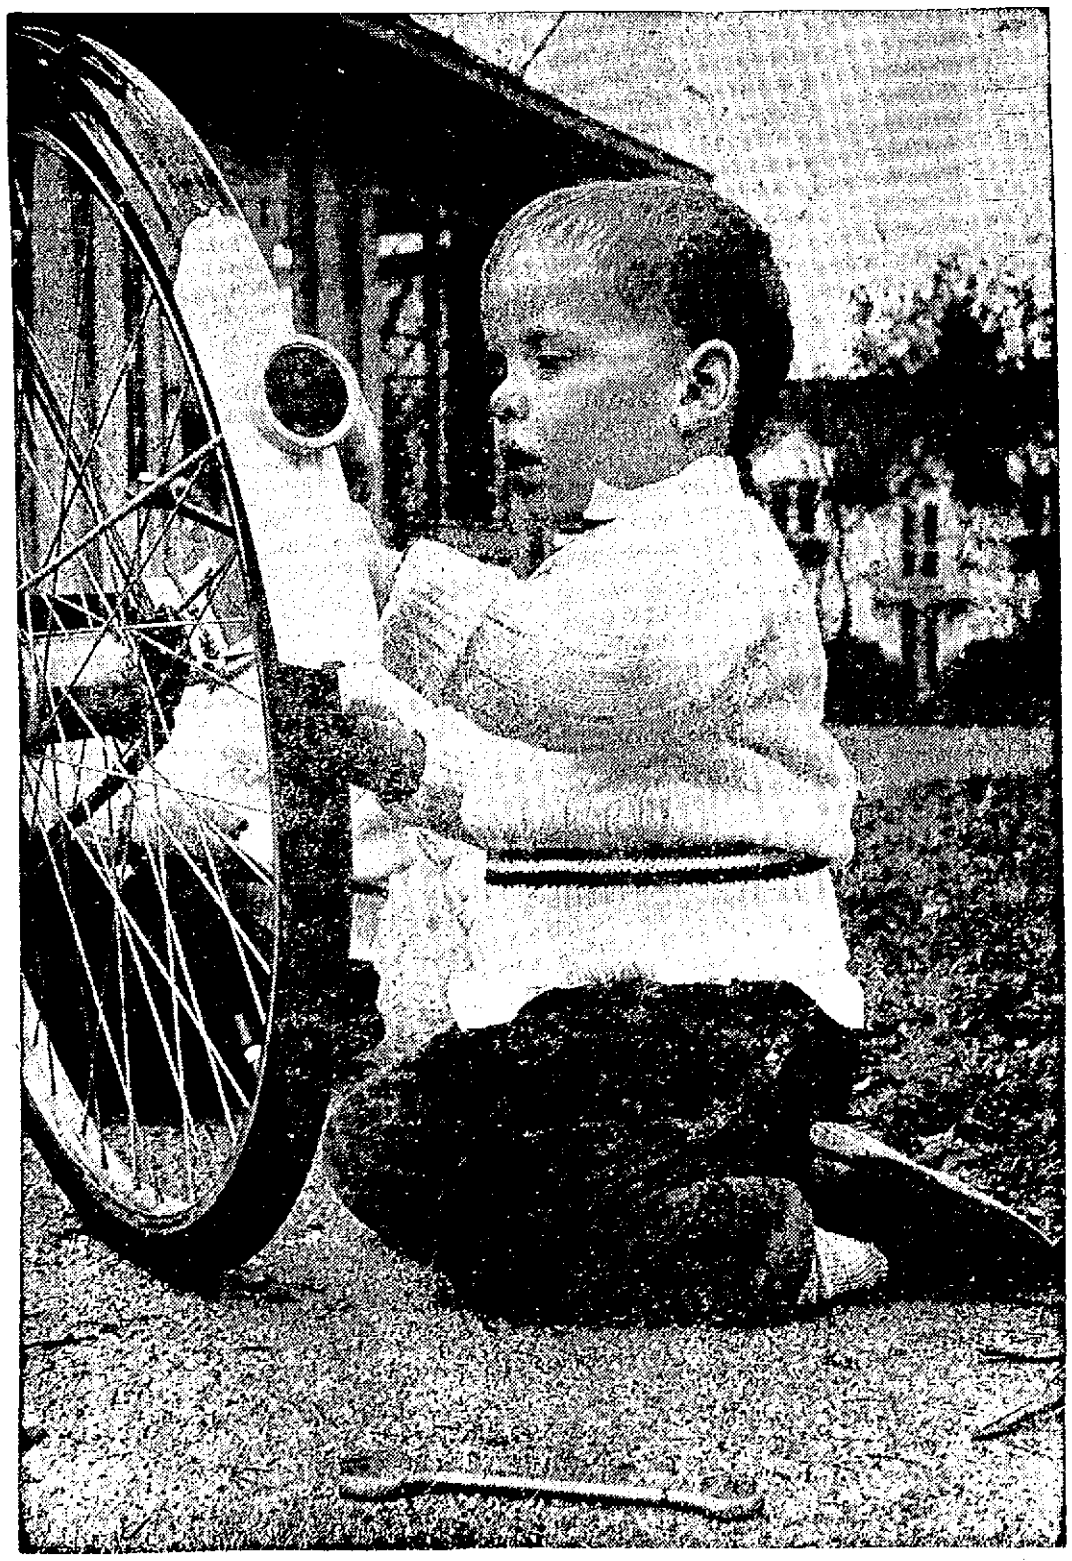

The chamber proposed a bare, fenced-in area of approximately 90,000 square feet on the Temple Avenue parking lot as the ports first stage.

"Although this initial facility would be used at the outset as a commercial heliport, the basic aim would be to study methods of operation, traffic potential, sound levels, creation of surface street traffic congestion in the vicinity, and overall value to the Civic Center and downtown business area," Hollinger said.

In 1963, according to plans of the chamber, a one-story building with parking inside and the landing field on top would be built on about one-half of the parking lot. In 1970, a two-story building covering the entire lot would be built, giving two stories of parking, plus the landing. The third stage would include a passenger terminal, restaurant and other facilities.

Hollinger's report also states that the City of Los Angeles proposes a test of helicopter transportation into the downtown area, but on a different plan that the Chamber of Commerce.

The city proposes a six to 48-month test period, using a 22,500-square-foot lot of city or county property in the Civic Center or downtown.

It's a small wonder!

How many times have you seen a little boy trying to repair something; a bike, his toy car, a pair of roller skates, an old clock? Most of us have, and, in most cases, to Daddy's dismay when he starts wondering about the whereabouts of his tools. We must agree however, the most amazing thing of all is the way this little fellow does the seemingly impossible for one his size.

This, too, applies to those of us who have experienced the many replies received from their last Independent, Press-Telegram Classified Ad. For those of you who have not tried a Classified Ad, you should, today! Then you will agree the results from Independent, Press-Telegram Classified Ads are truly "a small wonder"!

The Galloping Ghost of the Java Coast

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles recalling people and places, campaigns and catastrophies of World War II. Subsequent articles will appear at intervals of approximately two weeks.)

* * * *

No ship ever faced greater odds than the incredible cruiser Houston, sent to the bottom of the Java Sea Feb. 28, 1942.

The cruiser and her captain, Albert H. Rooks, are legendary in the annals of the American Navy. Only 292 members of her crew survived the war; 736 of them died or vanished.

* * * *

THE HOUSTON was the spearhead of America's first counter-offensive of World War II. After the debacle of Pearl Harbor, the Houston was all over the South Pacific, guarding merchant ships and convoys.

The Japanese conquerors caught up to her soon enough. In early February they had reached Borneo, and the Houston went into action Feb. 4 against the Japs.

* * * *

SHE WAS in company with the Marblehead, two Dutch cruisers named DeRuyter and Tromp, four American and three Dutch destroyers. A pitifully small task force, but the strongest the Allies could muster.

As this force raced past Bali, seeking to intercept an invasion convoy, it was plastered by 54 enemy planes. The Marblehead, ravaged by the attack, limped back to the United States.

The Houston took a direct hit in turret three. Forty-eight men were killed, many wounded. The dead were buried at a Javanese port curiously named Tjilatjap, the turret was never to be repaired.

* * * *

THE HOUSTON was bombed by 45 planes Feb. 16, in the Timor Sea; and Feb. 25 in Soerabaya Harbor, suffering no further damage or losses. By now the enemy had claimed three times to have sunk her, so her crew christened the ship "The Galloping Ghost of the Java Coast."

On Feb. 27 the allies gathered the last handful of their Java forces and put to sea. The Houston, the Dutch cruisers Java and DeRuyter and the British ships Exeter and Perth; plus nine destroyers from the three commands.

* * * *

THIS WAS the thin allied force assembled for the Battle of the Java Sea. Confronted by a Japanese task force, the allies were quick prey. The Exeter was quickly hit, quickly exploded in fire. A Dutch destroyer went down in minutes. The Houston took two direct hits. Four more ships went down, then the four American destroyers ran out of ammunition, and were sent back to Soerabaya.

Dutch Admiral Doorman, aboard his sinking flagship DeRuyter, messaged the last ships of his "force"—the Houston and the Perth:

"Do not stand by for survivors; proceed to Batavia."

* * * *

THE HOUSTON and Perth fled the losing battle, back to Tjilatjap for makeshift repairs and, on Feb. 28, took to sea in an attempt to slip the Japanese blockade.

Cautiously the Perth led the crippled Houston to the Sunda Strait, in the darkening night. But at 11 p.m. dark hulls were sighted—on all sides and in unbelieving depth. The two cruisers had steered a course squarely into the middle of a huge Jap task force.

* * * *

NO MATTER where Capt. Rooks sighted, there was the enemy. Fifty major ships surrounded the Houston and the Perth.

The fight was a barroom brawl. No matter where one pointed a gun, there was a target. The appearance of the allied cruisers stirred the Japs to a frenzy. They, too, fired in all directions. Survivors of the Houston said the Japs did more damage to themselves than did the Americans. A shell could not leave a barrel without hitting a target.

At 12:35 a.m., her skipper on the bridge, the Perth went under, riddled by shellfire and blasted by torpedoes.

* * * *

AN UNBELIEVABLE—and unbelieving—enemy crowded about the Houston. Torpedo boats darted all around her, destroyers roared at her on collision courses, cruisers encircled her.

The Houston had one brief advantage. Since the Perth was sunk, she knew every ship about her was enemy.

* * * *

THE HOUSTON'S luck was good for a while. A Jap destroyer was sunk, fires were seen to break out on several enemy ships. An enemy shell, however, started a fire in her paint locker at 11 p.m.; at midnight a torpedo entered the aft engine room; turret two was shot out at 12:20 a.m.; the end was in sight.

Still she battled an entire fleet. A large vessel, presumably a supply ship, was her next victim.

* * * *

THE HOUSTON was afire. With turret two flooded, the Houston continued to fire her five inch guns, often engaged destroyers in machine gun duels. Jap searchlights stabbed her, Jap guns raked her.

By 12:30 a.m. the Houston was a ghastly mess—twisted steel, blood and bodies—but she was still fighting. At point-blank range, she took three torpedoes, and a dozen direct salvos. Her decks were under rifle fire, so close was the enemy.

* * * *

AT 12:35 A.M., Capt. Rooks passed the word: abandon ship. They were his last words. A destroyer salvo then wrecked the bridge, and command passed to Cmdr. D. W. Roberts, executive officer.

To Roberts' surprise, he found the Houston still "had way on" so he rescinded Rooks' order. More gunfire, however, stopped the gallant cruiser dead in the water, and she began to list to starboard.

* * * *

A SEAMAN named Safford, standing on the fantail, sounded the abandon ship call on his bugle, and this time it was not rescinded.

At 12:45 a.m., after about 500 men had made it into the water, the Houston sank, bathed in searchlights and still being raked by small arms fire from torpedo boats and destroyers, who were now almost close enough to touch her.

The Navy estimates that about 150 of the crew died in the water, either by drowning or the result of enemy activity. Of the rest, the Japs counted 368 who made it to shore and became prisoners of war. This number was further reduced when 76 of them died in prison camps.

* * * *

CAPTAIN ROOKS won the Congressional Medal of Honor, posthumously, and his citation reads:

". . . Often damaged, but self-maintaining, the Houston kept the sea and went down, fighting gallantly to the last, against overwhelming odds . . ."

* * * *

HER HEROIC stand inflicted costly blows to Japanese strength and prestige. The enemy lost four loaded transports, several other transports were damaged, a minesweeper was sunk and three Japanese destroyers were damaged.

Aboard one of the sunken transports was the Japanese general Imamura, who clung to a piece of driftwood for 20 minutes before he was picked up.

Samuel Eliot Morison, a World War II historian, bestowed upon the Houston her epitaph:

"The Houston's great fight, the last half hour of it waged against overwhelming odds, is one of the most gallant in American naval annals."

Young and Old Meet in City Marble Finals

CITY MARBLE CHAMPS were chosen Saturday in Lincoln Park after competition on the Roque court. At left, Mike Ellis, winner of Division I (grades 1-4) lags to see who gets to shoot first in a match game with William Morris, 70, of 330 Ocean Blvd., winner of the Senior Citizens Division. Mike, a fourth grade student at Buffum School, won. Morris, who is here for the winter from Fairbury, Ill., said, "I'm going to practice and next year I'll beat you, Mike." In the center picture, Chuck Martin, 8, concentrates on a shot and at right another contestant shoots. Jeff Burrows, a fifth grade student at Buffum, won first place in Division 2 (grades 5-6) and Peter Acquiningoc won first place in the Junior High division.

L. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Of 173 recommendations made by the 1961 County Grand Jury, 119 have been adopted, 27 were rejected "for convincing reasons" and only 27 still are pending, the Board of Supervisors will be advised Tuesday.

L. S. Hollinger, county chief administrative officer, will report to the board, as ordered Jan. 30, on compliance with the state law which requires that the Board of Supervisors "comment" on grand jury findings and recommendations which apply to functions under their jurisdiction.

Hollinger explained that the county works closely throughout the year with the audit committee of the Grand Jury and with its contract auditor.

As reports to the audit committee are issued throughout the year, the affected county department is advised and, where believed appropriate, action is taken, Hollinger said.

The administrative officer's report singles out a recommendation of the Grand Jury that a study be made to determine necessary legislative steps in order that an additional special grand jury could be impaneled by the presiding judge at the request of the regular Grand Jury whenever the case load "interferes with committee work and other duties."

Hollinger's report recommends that the county counsel, chief administrative officer and district attorney, in cooperation with the Grand Jury and Superior Court, study the need for such a special grand jury and what steps would be required to establish it.

The county assessor, sheriff and district attorney, being elective officers, submit separate reports.

Lt. Gen. Cummings to Retire March 31

CHICAGO (UPI)—Lt. Gen. Emerson L. Cummings, commanding general of the U.S. Fifth Army, will retire March 31 after 37 years' service.

Cummings assumed command of the Fifth Army Feb. 1, 1961, after serving as deputy commanding general of the U.S. Eighth Army in Korea.

USS Los Angeles Due Back in Port

By LEE CRAIG
Military-Aviation Editor

The cruiser USS Los Angeles, flagship of the Pacific Fleet's Cruiser Division One, will return here Tuesday after seven months in the Western Pacific.

Aboard the cruiser will be Rear Adm. E. A. Ruckner, whose division will cease to exist April 1. In its place will be Cruiser-Destroyer Flotilla 11, formed under the new Pacific Cruiser-Destroyer Force flotilla concept.

Since leaving Long Beach last August, the 674-foot cruiser will have covered 42,000 nautical miles when she docks Tuesday at 10 a.m. at Pier E, Long Beach Harbor.

PORTS visited by the Los Angeles include Sasebo, Beppu, Kagoshima, Kobe and Yokosuka in Japan; Okinawa, Hong Kong and Subic Bay in the Philippines.

Members of the ship's 1,100-man crew contributed more than $1,500 in cash, clothing and toys to various orphanages throughout the Orient during their cruise.

In addition, tons of clothing and food were transported to needy areas as part of the "Operation Handclasp" and "Meals for Millions" programs.

In Kagoshima, Adm. Ruckner paid the Navy's respects at the tomb of Japan's famous naval hero, Adm. Heihachiro Togo, former commander in chief of the Imperial Japanese Navy and described by some historians as the "Lord Nelson of the East."

L. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

The Board of Supervisors is expected Tuesday to reject a proposal by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce that a large-scale passenger terminal heliport be constructed on the county parking lot north of Temple Avenue between Hill and Grand Streets.

L. S. Hollinger, county chief administrative officer, urged the board to reject the proposed Los Angeles site, primarily on the grounds that it would eliminate vitally needed parking space.

The chamber proposed a bare, fenced-in area of approximately 90,000 square feet on the Temple Avenue parking lot as the ports first stage.

"Although this initial facility would be used at the outset as a commercial heliport, the basic aim would be to study methods of operation, traffic potential, sound levels, creation of surface street traffic congestion in the vicinity, and overall value to the Civic Center and downtown business area," Hollinger said.

In 1963, according to plans of the chamber, a one-story building with parking inside and the landing field on top would be built on about one-half of the parking lot. In 1970, a two-story building covering the entire lot would be built, giving two stories of parking, plus the landing. The third stage would include a passenger terminal, restaurant and other facilities.

Hollinger's report also states that the City of Los Angeles proposes a test of helicopter transportation into the downtown area, but on a different plan that the Chamber of Commerce.

The city proposes a six to 48-month test period, using a 22,500-square-foot lot of city or county property in the Civic Center or downtown.

It's a small wonder!

How many times have you seen a little boy trying to repair something; a bike, his toy car, a pair of roller skates, an old clock? Most of us have, and, in most cases, to Daddy's dismay when he starts wondering about the whereabouts of his tools. We must agree however, the most amazing thing of all is the way this little fellow does the seemingly impossible for one his size.

This, too, applies to those of us who have experienced the many replies received from their last Independent, Press-Telegram Classified Ad. For those of you who have not tried a Classified Ad, you should, today! Then you will agree the results from Independent, Press-Telegram Classified Ads are truly "a small wonder"!

Suspect Tells Police About 200 Burglaries

LOS ANGELES (CNS)—A burglary suspect Saturday assertedly admitted looting about 200 homes in the Wilshire district.

Jack I. Wood, 43, was reportedly attempting to burglarize a home.

Police went to the suspect's home and found "thousands of dollars" worth of TV sets, which Wood reportedly took in the thefts.

The suspect, who was booked at Wilshire jail, said the burglaries took in the area bounded by Vermont and Western Avenues and Wilshire and Beverly Boulevards.

Wood was arrested by plainclothes officer A. E. Hogan, who was cruising and noticed the suspect reportedly trying to pry open a door.

The loot was piled eight feet high at the police station.

LITTLE PEOPLE OFF ON HONEYMOON

Billy Barty, 3-foot 11-inch character actor, and his bride, Shirley Bolingbroke, who is four inches shorter, wave goodbye as they leave on honeymoon after marriage Saturday in Studio City. The two met at convention of Little People of America in Las Vegas, Nev., in 1960.

Side Issue Blocks Vet Disability Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two million veterans looking for increased disability compensation payments are caught in a congressional crossfire which has blocked the raises since last summer.

Congressional committees and legislators concerned with the problem reported Saturday a steady flow of mail protesting the delay.

President Kennedy requested the cost-of-living increases in a message last April 27. Both House and Senate are enthusiastically for the compensation boosts, which would total about $88 million annually, and voted for them a total of four times in the 1961 session.

* * * *

BUT STILL NO final legislation was sent to the President because of Senate insistence on and House resistance to a provision dealing with another subject—reopening of National Service Life Insurance.

The battle between the Senate and House goes back to 1956, but it reached its most acrimonious stage last year.

The Senate six times has added the provision to House bills, several times by unanimous votes. Each time it was killed by the other branch.

The provision, sponsored by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., would permit World War II and Korean war veterans to take out $10,000 NSLI policies if they failed to do so while in service or permitted their policies to lapse.

* * * *

THESE POLICIES are considerably cheaper than comparable commercial insurance. veterans organizations have strongly urged the reopening. It was just as strongly opposed by the Eisenhower administration and President Kennedy has taken the same view.

Long and Senate sponsors of the provision contend it would not cost the government anything except perhaps some small administrative expense.

Suspect Tells Police About 200 Burglaries

LOS ANGELES (CNS)—A burglary suspect Saturday asserted admitted looting about 200 homes in the Wilshire district.

Jack L Wood, 43, was reportedly attempting to burglarize a home.

Police went to the suspect's home and found "thousands of dollars" worth of TV sets, which Wood reportedly took in the thefts.

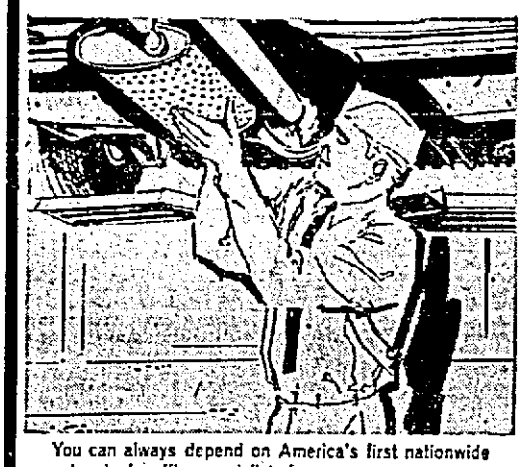

The suspect, who was booked at Wilshire jail, said the burglaries took in the area bounded by Vermont and Western Avenues and Wilshire and Beverly Boulevards.

Wood was arrested by plainclothes officer A. E. Hogan, who was cruising and noticed the suspect reportedly trying to pry open a door.

The loot was piled eight feet high at the police station.

LITTLE PEOPLE OFF ON HONEYMOON

Billy Barty, 3-foot 11-inch character actor, and his bride, Shirley Bolingbroke, who is four inches shorter, wave goodbye as they leave on honeymoon after marriage Saturday in Studio City. The two met at convention of Little People of America in Las Vegas, Nev., in 1960.

Side Issue Blocks Vet Disability Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two million veterans looking for increased disability compensation payments are caught in a congressional crossfire which has blocked the raises since last summer.

Congressional committees and legislators concerned with the problem reported Saturday a steady flow of mail protesting the delay.

President Kennedy requested the cost-of-living increases in a message last April 27. Both House and Senate are enthusiastically for the compensation boosts, which would total about $88 million annually, and voted for them a total of four times in the 1961 session.

• • • •

BUT STILL NO final legislation was sent to the President because of Senate insistence on and House resistance to a provision dealing with another subject—reopening of National Service Life Insurance.

The battle between the Senate and House goes back to 1956, but it reached its most acrimonious stage last year.

The Senate six times has added the provision to House bills, several times by unanimous votes. Each time it was killed by the other branch.

The provision, sponsored by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., would permit World War II and Korean war veterans to take out $10,000 NSLI policies if they failed to do so while in service or permitted their policies to lapse.

• • • •

THESE POLICIES are considerably cheaper than comparable commercial insurance. veterans organizations have strongly urged the reopening. It was just as strongly opposed by the Eisenhower administration and President Kennedy has taken the same view.

Long and Senate sponsors of the provision contend it would not cost the government anything except perhaps some small administrative expense.

Dulles Asks Protection of U.S. Secrets

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (AP)—Allen W. Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, urged Saturday that the federal government and the American press adopt a policy of self-discipline regarding information that threatens U. S. security.

Dulles said such a policy was needed to help prevent the Communist nations from learning as much as they have been about the military and political activities of this country.

* * * *

SPEAKING before more than 300 Wesleyan University students at a conference on "Secrecy in a Free Society" the former intelligence chief said, because secrecy is part of the policy of the Soviet Union but not a part of our own, the Soviets know more about our military strength than we know about theirs.

To illustrate his point Dulles read from several newspaper clippings that concerned U. S. missile strategy. He said that if he could have acquired that kind of information about the Soviet Union when he was with the CIA he would have been highly rewarded.

He said the government was more at fault than the press for releasing this kind of information.

MOST OF IT comes through careless leaks to the press and deliberate dissemination of information to the press by an agency seeking approval for some proposal, he said.

Dulles added, however, that Congress can be trusted to keep information secret if it is told the reason for the secrecy. If the government were to warn the press in advance that a certain subject was sensitive, he was confident the press would exercise self-censorship in reporting it to the public.

KENNEDY WAVES TO EAST GERMANS

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy waves to East German policeman Saturday at "Checkpoint Charlie" on the border of East-West Berlin. The checkpoint is the only place in the Communist wall where foreigners may enter and leave East Berlin. One of the Communists is taking a picture. With Kennedy are wife Ethel and U.S. Berlin commander Gen. Albert Watson II.

Georgians Crash N.Y. Bootlegging

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two self-styled Georgia "country boys" were held by federal authorities Saturday on charges of trying to bootleg 2,700 gallons of 100-proof home-still corn whiskey into the New York area.

The Southern-style "mountain dew" was seized Friday night by Treasury agents who stopped the two suspects as they drove a large tractor-trailer truck along a city expressway.

* * * *

THE DRIVER gave his name as Louis Wood, 36, of Alpharetta, Ga. His companion was identified as Leon Hughes, 41, of Atlanta.

JFK 'PT Pins' Given E. German Escapees

WALDBROEL, Germany (UPI)—Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy Saturday presented gold pins from President Kennedy to two families who recently fled to West Germany from Communist East Germany.

The pins showed a replica of the PT boat the President commanded in World War II that was rammed and sunk by a Japanese destroyer. The U.S. attorney general's wife described the pins as "symbols of courage."

"But," she added, "I don't have to tell you anything about courage."

Mrs. Kennedy visited the refugees at a camp in this village while her husband was keeping a busy schedule in Bonn. She was accompanied by the President's younger brother, Edward Kennedy, and by the wife of the U.S. ambassador to Germany, Mrs. Walter C. Dowling.

One of the refugees told Mrs. Kennedy: "We got out five days before the (East German) border closed. My mother and brother were to follow us in a few days but they were too late and I don't know when we will see them again."

Mrs. Kennedy said "We will do everything to make that day come soon."

Johnston Lauds Israel Progress

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Eric Johnston, former special ambassador to the Middle East, said Saturday night Israel is proving to other small nations they can progress "without compromising the principles of liberty and the rights of the individual."

"The emerging nations of Asia and Africa are paying close attention to this diminutive yet dynamic democracy," said Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America and special Middle Eastern ambassador for President Eisenhower in 1953.

His talk highlighted the annual Conference for Israel Bonds which launched a campaign to raise $66.5 million for economic development of the Jewish nation.

Spanish Land Offered Glenn

BARCELONA, Spain (AP)—A Barcelona building firm Saturday offered American astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., a 13,900-square-foot home site on the fashionable Costa Brava near here.

A company spokesman said the plot of land, overlooking the Mediterranean, is valued at $50,000.

He said the offer, to express appreciation of Glenn's successful space venture, was made through the U.S. Embassy in Madrid.

NO SALESMEN PLEASE

Mother Who Walked 23 Miles Admits Weak Point

The sign on the doors says "No salesman of any kind. We are a very lucky family. We have everything we need or want. Please don't waste my time or yours. Thank you!"

In a way, the sign is true today.

Inside the Stark Navy Housing apartment a baby chortles. Mrs. Mae Sharon Hayes, 20, is happy. Her baby is with her.

* * * *

MARGURITE Mary Hayes, 11 months, was driven home from White Memorial Hospital Saturday. Mrs. Hayes and her husband Roland brought their baby home in a neighbor's car paying for the gas with part of the $11.95 nurses at the hospital collected for the family last time Mrs. Hayes visited her daughter.

That time—Thursday—she walked the 23 miles from 1912 W. Burnett Ave. down the Long Beach Freeway to the hospital. A neighbor girl, Alice Fazon walked with her.

Mrs. Hayes hadn't seen her baby for two weeks. She missed her. She was down to her last 40 cents and had been able to afford but one phone call to check on the child's condition.

At 7 a.m. she shook her Navy husband — who was sound asleep after working the night watch. She said she wanted to see her daughter. "You're a nut," he mumbled groggily. That was when she started out on foot.

"Oh, everything's happened to us," Mrs. Hayes said Saturday.

* * * *

THEIR MONEY gulped away by doctors' bills, a lost wallet, repossessed furniture and loans taken out to repay other loans.

Hospital care for the baby was covered by their Navy Medical Insurance—but not visits to the hospital. The Hayes hadn't applied for Navy relief because they "didn't want to go through all that red tape."

Mrs. Hayes was determined to get to the hospital, but she didn't want to beg favors.

"I'll bet they thought I'd deserted that baby—and I just had to see her," she said. "But, no sir, I wouldn't take a ride with anyone."

"We walked right up the Long Beach Freeway. People stopped. We told them our car broke down a little way back and we were all right."

* * * *

A receptionist gave them a lift and nurses and attendants collected $11.85 to help out.

Things are looking up for the Hayes. The baby is at home. And that sign on the front door is going to help too.

Mrs. Hayes — who wouldn't hesitate to say "no" to the offered charity of a ride on the freeway, no matter how her feet hurt, admits she has one failing:

She "can't say no" to a salesman.

Put New Limit on Garb Cubans Can Take Out

HAVANA (AP)—Cubans leaving their country by air in the future will be allowed to take only three suits or dresses as well as a restricted list of accessories, under a new regulation circulated by foreign airlines.

The circular said the government will restrict Cuban men to the three suits, shirts, pairs of socks and sets of underwear, plus a topcoat, pajamas, and the shoes and hat they are wearing. Women would be restricted to three dresses, slips, pairs of stockings and sets of underwear, plus the girdle, hat and shoes they are wearing and one sweater, one coat, one handbag and the cosmetics actually in use.

Ruthless Bandits Mow Down 3 Men

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A trio of gunmen who police said "shoot for no reason" robbed five men early Saturday, then seriously wounded three of their victims with a shotgun blast.

The men, with handkerchiefs over their faces, burst into a house as the quintet sat around the table "socializing."

"Line up against that wall and hand over your wallets," snarled a bandit. "Give me all of it or I'll kill you where you stand."

As they left, the one armed with a sawed-off shotgun turned and fired, felling three of the victims.

Detectives said the trio is blamed for five such holdups in the 77th division, three in University division, three in Firestone and one in Compton.

"They have no regard for human life whatsoever," said an officer.

Hospitalized were Willie B. Kelley, 52, of 8829 Compton Ave.; William Payne, 33, 621 E. 46th St., and Benny Thompson, 30, 323 E. 127th St.

Mother, 3 Tots Killed by Fire

NORTON, Va. (AP) — A mother and her three children perished Saturday in a fire that destroyed their house trailer.

The victims, who apparently suffocated, were identified as Mrs. Phyllis Tomblin, 28, her daughters, Lauran Carol, 5, and Shirlan, 18 months, and a son, Stephen, 3.

The fire apparently originated in an oil furnace. Mrs. Tomblin's husband, Robert, is in the Navy, believed to be stationed aboard the USS Hanks.

Dulles Asks Protection of U.S. Secrets

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (AP)—Allen W. Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, urged Saturday that the federal government and the American press adopt a policy of self-discipline regarding information that threatens U. S. security.

Dulles said such a policy was needed to help prevent the Communist nations from learning as much as they have been about the military and political activities of this country.

• • • •

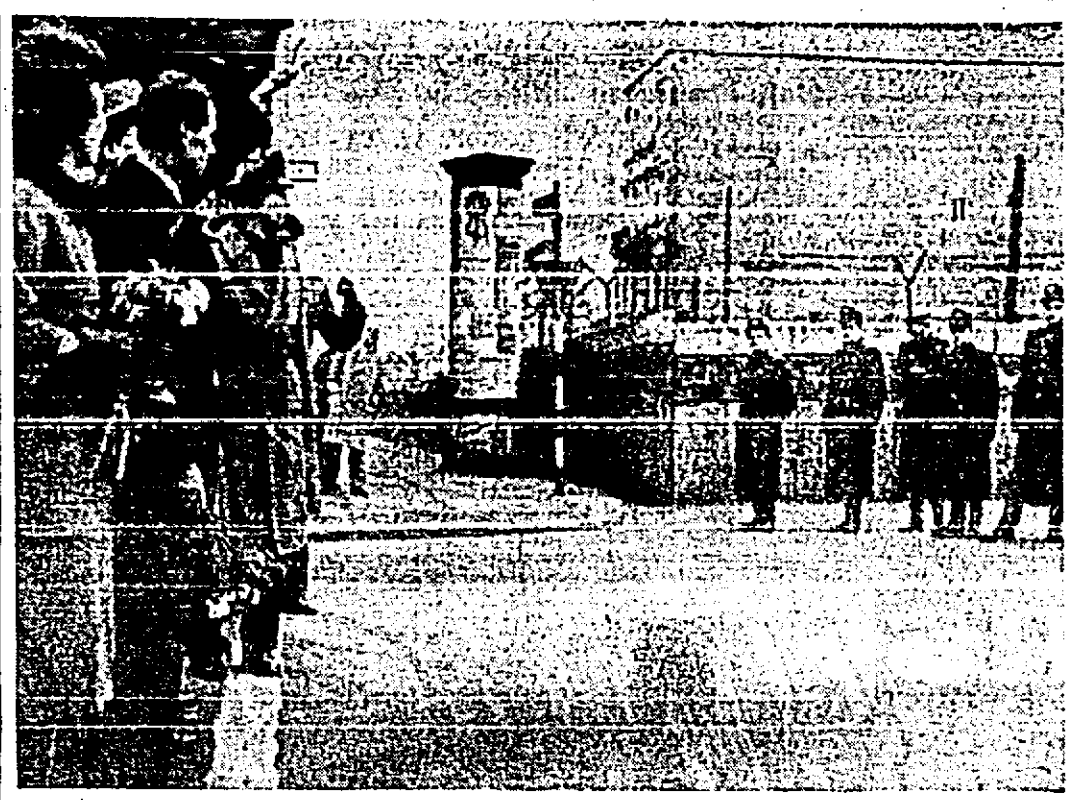

SPEAKING before more than 300 Wesleyan University students at a conference on "Secrecy in a Free Society" the former intelligence chief said, because secrecy is part of the policy of the Soviet Union but not a part of our own, the Soviets know more about our military strength than we know about theirs.

To illustrate his point Dulles read from several newspaper clippings that concerned U. S. missile strategy. He said that if he could have acquired that kind of information about the Soviet Union when he was with the CIA he would have been highly rewarded.

He said the government was more at fault than the press for releasing this kind of information.

MOST OF IT comes through careless leaks to the press and deliberate dissemination of information to the press by an agency seeking approval for some proposal, he said.

Dulles added, however, that Congress can be trusted to keep information secret if it is told the reason for the secrecy. If the government were to warn the press in advance that a certain subject was sensitive, he was confident the press would exercise self-censorship in reporting it to the public.

KENNEDY WAVES TO EAST GERMANS

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy waves to East German policeman Saturday at "Checkpoint Charlie" on the border of East-West Berlin. The checkpoint is the only place in the Communist wall where foreigners may enter and leave East Berlin. One of the Communists is taking a picture. With Kennedy are wife Ethel and U.S. Berlin commander Gen. Albert Watson II.

Georgians Crash N.Y. Bootlegging

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two self-styled Georgia "country boys" were held by federal authorities Saturday on charges of trying to bootleg 2,700 gallons of 100-proof home-still corn whiskey into the New York area.

The Southern-style "mountain dew" was seized Friday night by Treasury agents who stopped the two suspects as they drove a large tractor-trailer truck along a city expressway.

• • • •

THE DRIVER gave his name as Louis Wood, 36, of Alpharetta, Ga. His companion was identified as Leon Hughes, 41, of Atlanta.

JFK 'PT Pins' Given E. German Escapees

WALDBROEL, Germany (AP)—Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy Saturday presented gold pins from President Kennedy to two families who recently fled to West Germany from Communist East Germany.

The pins showed a replica of the PT boat the President commanded in World War II that was rammed and sunk by a Japanese destroyer. The U.S. attorney general's wife described the pins as "symbols of courage."

"But," she added, "I don't have to tell you anything about courage."

Mrs. Kennedy visited the refugees at a camp in this village while her husband was keeping a busy schedule in Bonn. She was accompanied by the President's younger brother, Edward Kennedy, and by the wife of the U.S. ambassador to Germany, Mrs. Walter C. Dowling.

One of the refugees told Mrs. Kennedy: "We got out five days before the (East German) border closed. My mother and brother were to follow us in a few days but they were too late and I don't know when we will see them again."

Mrs. Kennedy said "We will do everything to make that day come soon."

Johnston Lauds Israel Progress

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Eric Johnston, former special ambassador to the Middle East, said Saturday night Israel is proving to other small nations they can progress "without compromising the principles of liberty and the rights of the individual."

"The emerging nations of Asia and Africa are paying close attention to this diminutive yet dynamic democracy," said Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America and special Middle Eastern ambassador for President Eisenhower in 1953.

His talk highlighted the annual Conference for Israel Bonds which launched a campaign to raise $66.5 million for economic development of the Jewish nation.

NO SALESMEN PLEASE

Mother Who Walked 23 Miles Admits Weak Point

The sign on the doors says "No salesman of any kind. We are a very lucky family. We have everything we need or want. Please don't waste my time or yours. Thank you!"

In a way, the sign is true today.

• • • •

MARGURITE Mary Hayes, 11 months, was driven home from White Memorial Hospital Saturday. Mrs. Hayes and her husband Roland brought their baby home in a neighbor's car paying for the gas with part of the $11.95 nurses at the hospital collected for the family last time Mrs. Hayes visited her daughter.

That time—Thursday—she walked the 23 miles from 1912 W. Burnett Ave. down the Long Beach Freeway to the hospital. A neighbor girl, Alice Fazon walked with her.

Mrs. Hayes hadn't seen her baby for two weeks. She missed her. She was down to her last 40 cents and had been able to afford but one phone call to check on the child's condition.

At 7 a.m. she shook her Navy husband — who was sound asleep after working the night watch. She said she wanted to see her daughter. "You're a nut," he mumbled groggily. That was when she started out on foot.

"Oh, everything's happened to us," Mrs. Hayes said Saturday.

• • • •

THEIR MONEY gulped away by doctors' bills, a lost wallet, repossessed furniture and loans taken out to repay other loans.

Hospital care for the baby was covered by their Navy Medical Insurance—but not visits to the hospital. The Hayes hadn't applied for Navy relief because they "didn't want to go through all that red tape."

Mrs. Hayes was determined to get to the hospital, but she didn't want to beg favors.

"I'll bet they thought I'd deserted that baby—and I just had to see her," she said. "But, no sir, I wouldn't take a ride with anyone."

"We walked right up the Long Beach Freeway. People stopped. We told them our car broke down a little way back and we were all right."

• • • •

A receptionist gave them a lift and nurses and attendants collected $11.95 to help out.

Things are looking up for the Hayes. The baby is at home. And that sign on the front door is going to help too.

Mrs. Hayes — who wouldn't hesitate to say "no" to the offered charity of a ride on the freeway, no matter how her feet hurt, admits she has one failing:

She "can't say no" to a salesman.

Put New Limit on Garb Cubans Can Take Out

HAVANA (AP)—Cubans leaving their country by air in the future will be allowed to take only three suits or dresses as well as a restricted list of accessories, under a new regulation circulated by foreign airlines.

The circular said the government will restrict Cuban men to the three suits, shirts, pairs of socks and sets of underwear, plus a topcoat, pajamas, and the shoes and hat they are wearing. Women would be restricted to three dresses, slips, pairs of stockings and sets of underwear, plus the girdle, hat and shoes they are wearing and one sweater, one coat, one handbag and the cosmetics actually in use.

Spanish Land Offered Glenn

BARCELONA, Spain (AP)—A Barcelona building firm Saturday offered American astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., a 13,900-square-foot home site on the fashionable Costa Brava near here.

A company spokesman said the plot of land, overlooking the Mediterranean, is valued at $50,000.

He said the offer, to express appreciation of Glenn's successful space venture, was made through the U.S. Embassy in Madrid.

Ruthless Bandits Mow Down 3 Men

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A trio of gunmen who police said "shoot for no reason" robbed five men early Saturday, then seriously wounded three of their victims with a shotgun blast.

The men, with handkerchiefs over their faces, burst into a house as the quintet sat around the table "socializing."

"Line up against that wall and hand over your wallets," snarled a bandit. "Give me all of it or I'll kill you where you stand."

As they left, the one armed with a sawed-off shotgun turned and fired, felling three of the victims.

Detectives said the trio is blamed for five such holdups in the 77th division, three in University division, three in Firestone and one in Compton.

"They have no regard for human life whatsoever," said an officer.

Hospitalized were Willie B. Kelley, 52, of 8829 Compton Ave.; William Payne, 33, 621 E. 46th St., and Benny Thompson, 30, 323 E. 127th St.

Mother, 3 Tots Killed by Fire

NORTON, Va. (AP) — A mother and her three children perished Saturday in a fire that destroyed their house trailer.

The victims, who apparently suffocated, were identified as Mrs. Phyllis Tomblin, 28, her daughters, Lauran Carol, 5, and Shirlan, 18 months, and a son, Stephen, 3.

The fire apparently originated in an oil furnace. Mrs. Tomblin's husband, Robert, is in the Navy, believed to be stationed aboard the USS Hanks.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Boy Loses Foot in Train Mishap

A 13-year-old Torrance boy who lost his left leg below the knee when he slipped under a train Friday was reported in fair condition in Harbor General Hospital late Saturday.

Billy Piercy, 1731 Fern Ave., was trying to hop aboard a freight train with several other boys when he slipped. Police said the boys went to a restaurant near a rail crossing on Torrance Boulevard near Madrid Avenue after attending a basketball game.

When they heard a train whistel they ran to the crossing and several tried to get into an open freight car. When the boy slipped, another boy heard his screams and summoned help from the nearby office of the Goodhew Ambulance Service.

General Tel Pays City $402,792

General Telephone Co. paid its annual franchise tax to the City of Long Beach this week and it added up to $402,792.

Included in the sum was $352,200 representing 2 per cent of the company's business originating in Long Beach. The payment was the largest franchise tax ever collected by the city.

Grant Store Holdup Pair Hunted

Police are looking for two gunmen who walked into the employes' entrance of the W. T. Grant Co. store at 4450 Atlantic Ave. Saturday morning, rounded up the employes, then escaped with the store's cash.

The pair held employes at gunpoint until office manager Mildred Spargo entered at 8 a.m. She was forced to open the safe. The men put the money into two suitcases taken from a shelf, locked the clerks in a basement room, then escaped in a car belonging to assistant manager William E. Briece. The abandoned car was found later.

Kennedy Policies Hit by Labor as 'Timid'

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders rapped President Kennedy's economic policies as overly timid today, and asked his support for a yo-yo type work week adjustable to employment needs.

The federation's 29-man Executive Council issued a statement representing organized labor's sharpest criticism yet of the President's domestic program. It said recovery has hit a lull and has been the poorest following any recession since World War II.

"The situation," AFL-CIO President George Meany said, "is alarming and calls for urgent reexamination of the administration's policies and more effective remedial action by the government in the immediate period ahead.

"A more adequate and aggressive program is essential. President Kennedy's program as far as it has gone is fine, but the approach has been overly timid and will not meet the nation's needs."

The council also urged that the administration and Congress seriously consider a flexible work week under which job hours would rise or fall according to employment needs.

FROM CANADA TO MEXICO

50 Years a Printer, Ted DeNyse Retires

Ted DeNyse, 74, compositor for The Independent, Press-Telegram, retired Saturday after more than a half-century in the newspaper and printing business.

Management of the newspaper and his fellow members of the International Typographical Union honored DeNyse in a ceremony in the composing room at the end of his regular shift.

The quiet ceremony was in marked contrast to an episode early in his career.

* * * * *

IN 1918, after the Linotype operator at the Mexican newspaper, La Vanguardia was shot through the nose while at work, the presses smashed and windows broken, DeNyse went to work on the newspaper that replaced the La Vanguardia.

He helped install a Linotype for El Monitor, in Mexicali — a "new mouthpiece for Gov. Esteban Cantu." He organized the shop for the ITU and stayed on as a Linotype operator.

"I did well for a year," DeNyse recalls. "Then one night 1,500 Yaqui Indians marched in under General Abelardo Rodriguez.

Rodriguez, who later became president of Mexico, ousted the governor and DeNyse was out of a job.

PERHAPS WITH that in mind — he requested and got a shotgun on retirement instead of the traditional gold watch.

DeNyse worked on newspapers throughout Canada and the United States.

In one challenging job, he worked for a company that published English, German, Italian and Swedish newspapers. He set type for stories he couldn't read.

After a brief venture as owner of a trading post in the mountains near Jacumba, on the Mexican border, he moved to Long Beach in 1921. He worked on the Daily Telegram until it merged with the Press.

* * * *

HE WORKED briefly on Kellogg's Santa Ana News, which folded in eight months, then worked a year on the Anaheim Gazette under Henry Kuchel, late blind editor who was father of Sen. Thomas Kuchel.

He worked on the Long Beach Sun after it started, then joined the Press-Telegram when it purchased the Sun.

DeNyse said he is moving to 8600 Portola Rd., Atascadero for his retirement. "I am going to fish and hunt," he said.

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

Boy Loses Foot in Train Mishap

A 13-year-old Torrance boy who lost his left leg below the knee when he slipped under a train Friday was reported in fair condition in Harbor General Hospital late Saturday.

Billy Piercy, 1731 Fern Ave., was trying to hop aboard a freight train with several other boys when he slipped. Police said the boys went to a restaurant near a rail crossing on Torrance Boulevard near Madrid Avenue after attending a basketball game.

When they heard a train whistel they ran to the crossing and several tried to get into an open freight car. When the boy slipped, another boy heard his screams and summoned help from the nearby office of the Goodhew Ambulance Service.

General Tel Pays City $402,792

General Telephone Co. paid its annual franchise tax to the City of Long Beach this week and it added up to $402,792.

Included in the sum was $352,200 representing 2 per cent of the company's business originating in Long Beach. The payment was the largest franchise tax ever collected by the city.

Grant Store Holdup Pair Hunted

Police are looking for two gunmen who walked into the employes' entrance of the W. T. Grant Co. store at 4450 Atlantic Ave. Saturday morning, rounded up the employes, then escaped with the store's cash.

The pair held employes at gunpoint until office manager Mildred Spargo entered at 8 a.m. She was forced to open the safe. The men put the money into two suitcases taken from a shelf, locked the clerks in a basement room, then escaped in a car belonging to assistant manager William E. Briece. The abandoned car was found later.

TRADING HIS LAST galley of type for a shotgun is Ted DeNyse, left, who retired from The Independent, Press-Telegram Saturday after more than 50 years in the printing trade. Presenting the shotgun in behalf of the newspaper is Werner W. Sell, mechanical superintendent.

FROM CANADA TO MEXICO

50 Years a Printer, Ted DeNyse Retires

Ted DeNyse, 74, compositor for The Independent, Press-Telegram, retired Saturday after more than a half-century in the newspaper and printing business.

Management of the newspaper and his fellow members of the International Typographical Union honored DeNyse in a ceremony in the composing room at the end of his regular shift.

The quiet ceremony was in marked contrast to an episode early in his career.

* * * *

IN 1918, after the Linotype operator at the Mexican newspaper, La Vanguardia was shot through the nose while at work, the presses smashed and windows broken, DeNyse went to work on the newspaper that replaced the La Vanguardia.

He helped install a Linotype for El Monitor, in Mexicali — a "new mouthpiece for Gov. Esteban Cantu." He organized the shop for the ITU and stayed on as a Linotype operator.

"I did well for a year," DeNyse recalls. "Then one night 1,500 Yaqui Indians marched in under General Abelardo Rodriguez.

Rodriguez, who later became president of Mexico, ousted the governor and DeNyse was out of a job.

PERHAPS WITH that in mind — he requested and got a shotgun on retirement instead of the traditional gold watch.

DeNyse worked on newspapers throughout Canada and the United States.

In one challenging job, he worked for a company that published English, German, Italian and Swedish newspapers. He set type for stories he couldn't read.

After a brief venture as owner of a trading post in the mountains near Jacumba, on the Mexican border, he moved to Long Beach in 1921. He worked on the Daily Telegram until it merged with the Press.

* * * *

HE WORKED briefly on Kellogg's Santa Ana News, which folded in eight months, then worked a year on the Anaheim Gazette under Henry Kuchel, late blind editor who was father of Sen. Thomas Kuchel.

He worked on the Long Beach Sun after it started, then joined the Press-Telegram when it purchased the Sun.

DeNyse said he is moving to 8600 Portola Rd., Atascadero for his retirement. "I am going to fish and hunt," he said.

Kennedy Policies Hit by Labor as 'Timid'

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders rapped President Kennedy's economic policies as overly timid today, and asked his support for a yo-yo type work week adjustable to employment needs.

The federation's 29-man Executive Council issued a statement representing organized labor's sharpest criticism yet of the President's domestic program. It said recovery has hit a lull and has been the poorest following any recession since World War II.

"The situation," AFL-CIO President George Meany said, "is alarming and calls for urgent reexamination of the administration's policies and more effective remedial action by the government in the immediate period ahead."

"A more adequate and aggressive program is essential. President Kennedy's program as far as it has gone is fine, but the approach has been overly timid and will not meet the nation's needs."

The council also urged that the administration and Congress seriously consider a flexible work week under which job hours would rise or fall according to employment needs.

SONGSTRESS

Jaye P. Morgan, who before she became nationally prominent, sang in Long Beach with the Frank DeVol orchestra, will be featured with Russ Morgan and his orchestra for the Red Cross March 6 in Municipal Auditorium.

Girl Dies of Burns

A 14-month-old Long Beach girl, burned in a fire in her home Feb. 9, died Saturday at Los Angeles Children's Hospital. She was Catherine St. Clair of 2080 W. 20th St.

LINDA THOMAS
Miss Seal Beach

Seal Beach CC Names 1962 Queen

Linda Thomas, 19, Long Beach State College sophomore, has been selected Miss Seal Beach of 1962 by the Seal Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Thomas was a 1960 Homecoming Princess at State, has portrayed Alice-in-Wonderland at Disneyland and has appeared in State theatrical productions. She is majoring in elementary education.

Miss Thomas will be formally installed at the chamber's annual installation dinner-dance Saturday in the Long Beach Elks Club. She will represent the city at the Orange County Fair Pirate Queen Contest and other events.

Wilton's Sales Chief Appointed

Richard F. Tully, former Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce manager and ex-chief of the Sacramento Convention Bureau, has been appointed sales manager of the Wilton Hotel.

Tully also served for three years previously as sales manaegr of the Lafayette Hotel in Long Beach.

The Wilton also named Miss Linda Pepper, former Lafayette Hotel convention coordinator, as its assistant sales manager.

Rossmoor Gets Library Discs

Rossmoor B'Nai B'rith has donated 125 long play records to the new Rossmoor Library.

The records are intended to form the basis for a representative record library of classical music.

Barbara Fink, president of the women's chapter, and Harold Kalish, president of the men's chapter of Rossmoor B'nai B'rith, said the records were a joint contribution of the two groups made through the Friends of Rossmoor Library.

Battleship Veterans Planning Reunion

Former crew members of the battleship Pennsylvania are planning a reunion, according to J. G. (Duke) Hampton, ex-chief gunner's mate. Hampton asks ex-crew members to contact him at his home 25113 Oak St., Lomita.

Rep. Rousselot Adds Birch to His Record

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. John H. Rousselot, R-Calif., has revised his biography in the new issue of the Congressional Directory to list himself as a "member of the John Birch Society."

Rousselot and Rep. Edgar W. Hiestand, R-Calif., have said they belong to the society. Hiestand did not make the addition to his biography.

28 Students Win Top Awards for Art

Don Hardy of Newport Harbor High School in Newport Beach was among the top-honor winners in the 16th annual Scholastic Art Awards regional competition feted Saturday morning at ceremonies in the Los Angeles Biltmore.

Twenty-eight Long Beach area junior and senior high school students were among the 300 winning Gold Keys and 200 Blue Ribbons. Blue ribbon winners' works qualified for art scholarship competitions this spring in New York when more than $20,000 in cash prizes will be awarded.

Area winners follow. If student won more than one Gold Key or a Blue Ribbon, numbers of such awards follow names:

Torrance — Bishop Montgomery: Margaret Schaefer (BR), Irene Ryan, Paul Bouchard (BR).

Wilmington—Banning High: Robert Tuck (BR), Gary Taylor (BR); Wilmington Junior High: Mike Mears (BR).

Awards were made by James Seyster of Bullock's Downtown, Los Angeles, co-sponsor of the competition.

Honor Maid Hobbles on for Wedding

"I just knew you'd do something," said Barbara Boucher, 18, about a week ago, to her sister, Peggy 14.

Barbara was a little miffed.

* * * *

SHE WAS all set to be married to Richard N. Wingert, 21, of 640 W. 21st St., Saturday, and sister Peggy was the maid of honor.

About a week ago was when it happened.

Peggy dislocated something in her left leg and from above the knee to her ankle was put in a cast.

Being in a cast didn't disturb Peggy much. The family always said she was the ham of the Boucher household.

SHE SAID she was going to be maid of honor cast or no cast. Barbara forgave her.

Saturday in Holy Innocents Catholic Church, 20th Street and Pasadena Avenue, Barbara became Mrs. Richard Wingert. And hobbling along beside her as maid of honor was Peggy.

FCC to Probe Programming of Chicago TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission announced it will begin an inquiry March 19 into local television programming in Chicago.

The FCC said the inquiry, the first public probe of local television programming for a single large city, will be held by Commissioner Robert E. Lee to determine:

1. The efforts made by Chicago television stations to ascertain the need and interest of Chicago residents "in the area of local live programming."

2. The effectiveness with which Chicago stations have met the needs and interests.

3. The extent of public demand, if any, for additional or different types of local live TV programs.

Reject Diploma Law for Mich. Barbers

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—The state Senate has decided that an eighth grade education is sufficient for a barber in Michigan.

The legislative body rejected a proposal by Sen. Haskell Nichols, a Republican, that barbers be required to have a high school diploma. Under the present law, they must complete the eighth grade.

Eichmann Gets Dizzy Spells, but Health Is Good

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Adolph Eichmann is in good health, prison authorities said, but a nervous heart condition makes him slightly dizzy and they have to give him tranquilizers.

The prison doctor examining the former Gestapo officer daily has not found evidence of any serious heart trouble or other ailment, the informants said.

While the Israel Supreme Court is preparing a hearing on Eichmann's appeal from a death sentence, he whiles away the time reading and writing letters in his solitary cell at Ramleh prison, a lonely building outside Tel Aviv.

State Labor Aide to Give Church Talk

Sigmund Arywitz, chief of the division of labor-law enforcement, California Department of Industrial Relations, will be the chief speaker at the 51st annual Founders' Day banquet of the Grant Chapel A.M.E. Church in Morgan Hall at 7 p.m. Saturday.

The Rev. C. M. Austin Jr., pastor, said guests will include Judge Vaino Spencer, first Negro woman judge, Los Angeles Municipal Court; Assemblyman Joe Kennick and the Rt. Rev. H. Thomas Primm, bishop, 5th Episcopal District, A.M.E.

NEW DENTURES AT OLD PRICES

PENSIONERS WELCOMED
Ask your dentist about Dentures to which you may be entitled under expanded Medical Assistance program. Have an examination now.

HOW CAN THIS BE? It's very simple when you know facts. Every year we learn to USE OUR TIME BETTER. Since the cost of dentures is largely the cost of the dentist's time we have been able to KEEP PRICES DOWN. Dentists earn more now and materials cost more, but we save this by REDUCING WASTE in time.

Richard F. Tully, former Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce manager and ex-chief of the Sacramento Convention Bureau, has been appointed sales manager of the Wilton Hotel.

Tully also served for three years previously as sales manaegr of the Lafayette Hotel in Long Beach.

The Wilton also named Miss Linda Pepper, former Lafayette Hotel convention coordinator, as its assistant sales manager.

Rossmoor Gets Library Discs

Rossmoor B'Nai B'rith has donated 125 long play records to the new Rossmoor Library.

The records are intended to form the basis for a representative record library of classical music.

Barbara Fink, president of the women's chapter, and Harold Kalish, president of the men's chapter of Rossmoor B'nai B'rith, said the records were a joint contribution of the two groups made through the Friends of Rossmoor Library.

Awards were made by James Seyster of Bullock's Downtown, Los Angeles, co-sponsor of the competition.

Honor Maid Hobbles on for Wedding

"I just knew you'd do something," said Barbara Boucher, 18, about a week ago, to her sister, Peggy 14.

Barbara was a little miffed.

• • • •

SHE WAS all set to be married to Richard N. Wingert, 21, of 640 W. 21st St., Saturday, and sister Peggy was the maid of honor.

About a week ago was when it happened.

Peggy dislocated something in her left leg and from above the knee to her ankle was put in a cast.

Being in a cast didn't disturb Peggy much. The family always said she was the ham of the Boucher household.

SHE SAID she was going to be maid of honor cast or no cast. Barbara forgave her.

Saturday in Holy Innocents Catholic Church, 20th Street and Pasadena Avenue. Barbara became Mrs. Richard Wingert. And hobbling along beside her as maid of honor was Peggy.

FCC to Probe Programming of Chicago TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission announced it will begin an inquiry March 19 into local television programming in Chicago.

The FCC said the inquiry, the first public probe of local television programming for a single large city, will be held by Commissioner Robert E. Lee to determine:

1. The efforts made by Chicago television stations to ascertain the need and interest of Chicago residents "in the area of local live programming."

2. The effectiveness with which Chicago stations have met the needs and interests.

3. The extent of public demand, if any, for additional or different types of local live TV programs.

Reject Diploma Law for Mich. Barbers

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—The state Senate has decided that an eighth grade education is sufficient for a barber in Michigan.

The legislative body rejected a proposal by Sen. Haskell Nichols, a Republican, that barbers be required to have a high school diploma. Under the present law, they must complete the eighth grade.

Eichmann Gets Dizzy Spells, but Health Is Good

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Adolph Eichmann is in good health, prison authorities said, but a nervous heart condition makes him slightly dizzy and they have to give him tranquilizers.

The prison doctor examining the former Gestapo officer daily has not found evidence of any serious heart trouble or other ailment, the informants said.

While the Israel Supreme Court is preparing a hearing on Eichmann's appeal from a death sentence, he whiles away the time reading and writing letters in his solitary cell at Ramleh prison, a lonely building outside Tel Aviv.

PLAYGROUND PARENT PLAN PIONEERED IN LONG BEACH

By ROBERT WILCOX

When a group of rank amateurs took over from the school pros six years ago, there were some misgivings in educational circles.

Today the Long Beach "playground parent" plan—believed to be the first in the nation—has been widely adopted throughout the country.

Each school day in the Long Beach area, some 210 mothers leave their homes to supervise grade school play areas and cafeterias during the lunch period. They receive $2.43 to $2.70 for the hour's work.

* * * *

DISTRICT officials say that the plan has solved a problem which has heckled teachers and administrators throughout the history of the education system—noon playground duty.

A half-dozen years ago here, a teacher could look forward on many days to a noon period consisting of a sandwich in one hand, a whistle in the other and several hundred cavorting youngsters in the foreground.

Today while the teacher is free to eat her lunch and get ready to cope with the afternoon's problems, the mothers take over.

* * * *

MRS MARY ELLEN Barnes of 3751 Walnut Ave., one of three "mid-day moms" at Burroughs School and who has a round-trip of two miles for the one-hour chore, describes the feeling:

"Working with children is a constant challenge. Although the money means little, the noon hour work comes ahead of any of my other activities."

Mrs. Barnes, a PTA leader with two children in the school at the time, admits she approached the job with some apprehension in 1956 even though she, like the other amateur aids, had had orientation sessions.

* * * *

THE PLAYGROUND assistant must be a combination disciplinarian, practical psychologist, coach, referee, substitute mother and emergency nurse.

One third grader who was the subject of numerous complaints from his fellow players told Mrs. Barnes frankly: "I don't have to do what you say." She marched him into the office. "I called his bluff

KEEPING ORDER ON A SLIDE can be a problem to a teacher who is trying to choke down lunch while supervising children during the noon hour. But for Mrs. Mary Ellen Barnes, a PTA leader with two children, it is all a part of her task in the "playground parents" plan of freeing teachers during the lunch hour.

'PLAYGROUND PARENT' Mrs. Mary Ellen Barnes supervises Debbie Neal, 8, of 3415 Myrtle Ave. while Debbie drinks her milk during a lunch period at Burroughs School. Mrs. Barnes is one of some 210 mothers who help out by supervising grade school play areas and cafeterias during the noon hour.

BEACH Combing

With MALCOLM EPLEY

NEVER have the earth-bound felt so "creepy." Astronaut John Glenn's 17,500 - miles - an - hour spin around the earth does it to us when compared with some routine activity around here.

For example, he got around the globe three times and landed in about the time it takes, on a rough traffic day, to get around Recreation golf course.

One reader remarked that while Glenn was crossing Australia, he made it down Pine Ave., with a stop or two to talk to old acquaintances.

THE brief remarks here about people of Perth, Australia, giving Glenn some friendly light signals brought some interesting reports.

Mrs. Roland Blanchard of Lakewood was born in Perth and her parents are still there. "You can imagine my feelings when I heard the exchange between Col. Glenn and his monitoring officer about the lights," she writes. "The mingling of pride in being an American by choice and pride in the city of my birth was so great I cannot put it into words. To me the incident symbolizes the close bonds of friendship between the two countries."

Rev. Billie Adams, pastor of the Four Square church here, left just last week for Perth to conduct religious meetings there. People of Perth sent $1,200 to help defray the expenses of his trip.

Jean M. Pond of Long Beach wanted to express her personal appreciation to people of Perth she knows. She did it by sending along a clipping of the little comment here, and I'm pleased about that.

Long Beach, Calif., wants Perth to know that it thinks the Western Australian capital is just great.

IT IS hard to believe anybody would be helped much in reaching political decisions by the fragments of talk he might hear from a sound truck.

But every election campaign seems to close here with a lot of blaring in the streets. This time, a sort of sound truck battle has developed, with a disagreeing truck following one noisy advocate.

So it goes with freedom of expression, a principle I'm all for.

However, I think that a certain limitation could be imposed without infringing unfairly on anybody's right to be heard. I refer to sound truck political operations on election day.

In some states, public electioneering on that day is so restricted that partisan advertisements and editorials are not permitted in newspapers published while the polls are open. Here electioneering in the vicinity of the polls is prohibited. A sound truck blaring a partisan message, which can be heard at a polling place, is a violation of the spirit if not the letter of that ruling.

Would it not be wise for the council to consider a city ordinance prohibiting sound truck electioneering on the public streets on election day? I'd at least like to see a legal examination of that possibility.

AN interesting angle this time is that my old friend, Julian Campbell, the engineer, is loud-speaking through the streets with motives that are somewhat suspect.

Bro. Campbell gave notice awhile back that unless the city acceded to his demands that traffic islands be removed from Atlantic Ave.—an old sore spot with him—he would campaign the streets against every measure on Tuesday's ballot.

He got no satisfaction in what city officials regarded as a form of unreasonable coercion — some used a stronger word—so Campbell was out with a small fleet of sound machines, giving the election issues the business.

Seal Beach, Once Noisy Poker City, Is Staid Suburb

By GEORGE ERES

Seal Beach, once a whistle stop on Highway 101 where the electorate got its kicks noisily debating its legalized draw poker, today is a staid, booming bedroom community with a fast-growing population.

In 1950, the U.S. Census Bureau noted the 1.8 square mile community along the shore, just below Long Beach, had a population of 3,500.

Up to 1960, the size of the community was about the same, but last year with a building boom under way on Landing Hill, north of Highway 101 on the Hellman Ranch, the city got busy and through two annexations extended its boundaries to include another 5.4 square miles, part of which is the Navy Ammunition Depot.

* * * *

THE ESTIMATED population today is 7,500 (6,994 according to the 1960 Census), but in the next two years, according to City Manager Ernest Brashear, the population will be increased by 12,000 because of development of Leisure World, giant mile-square housing tract for "senior citizens."

When completed, Leisure World will change the population profile of Seal Beach, because it will be limited to people over 52 years of age.

A 1961 survey of the community population makeup, said Brashear, showed that 35 per cent of the residents were between 35 and 50 years old; 35 per cent were under 35 years and 30 per cent over 50.

Of the present population, only 16 per cent work in Seal Beach. The largest single group, 32 per cent, work in Long Beach; 8 per cent work in Los Angeles and 15 per cent are retired.

* * * *

GAMBLING is no longer an issue in Seal Beach. Even Al Leonard, councilman for 12 years and once an ardent supporter of draw poker in the city, today admits the city has prospered since gambling was outlawed. "There's no question, the people made the right decision in outlawing poker," he said.

But, the city has problems and the major one—water—will be voted upon at the April 10 election when a $750,000 Water Bond issue will go on the ballot with unanimous backing of the council.

Currently, the city gets along with two water wells. A third will be drilled for the Leisure World development.

MAYOR NORMA GIBBS, a part-time counsellor at Long Beach State College, came to the community four years ago and two years ago was elected mayor of the city. She and Councilman Dean Gemmill, vice mayor, have two more years to serve. Leonard and Glenn Jones are up for re-election. Fred Flanagan, fifth councilman, has decided not to run.

The mayor has brought a semblance of harmony to the once rowdy council meetings.

"They tell me that if I haven't done anything else," said Mayor Gibbs, "at least there's not as much fighting

Garrison in Race for GOP Assembly Choice in 39th

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

Charles M. Garrison, 4315 Faculty Ave., retired Navy captain and former city councilman, Saturday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Assembly in the 39th District (east Long Beach and Signal Hill).

Garrison said he entered the race at the urgent request of a group of influential Republicans of the district, "plus a large number of supporters in previous successful political campaigns, all of whom sincerely believe in a free and open primary."

Tax reduction was emphasized in Garrison's announcement, which said in part, "I sincerely believe that only by firmly supporting the principles for which our Republican party stands can we hope to keep our high standard of living and at the same time deter those who for one reason or another seem determined to tax and tax, spend and spend, until there is nothing left of what we earn to permit us to maintain our free enterprise system and our American way of life.

* * * *

"I HAVE THE experience and know-how of legislative and executive procedures. I have been through the mill, so to speak, and I do not have to acquire the legislative and executive experience that is so necessary . . . I also have had considerable experience budgeting which, God knows, one needs if we are ever going to reduce the burdensome tax load that hangs around our necks like millstones.

"Thirty-four cents out of every dollar you earn now goes for one tax or another. Deficiency spending cannot go on indefinitely. Juggling figures to balance a budget is all wrong. I believe in cutting costs, not raising taxes."

CHARLES M. GARRISON
Former Councilman

Garrison also advocates revision of our present "watered down" narcotics laws; laws, rather than additional judges, to solve court congestion; stronger laws against subversion and communism; development and maintenance of our free enterprise system, and encouragement of business to migrate to California.

* * * *

HIS SUPPORTERS noted his "impressive record of achievement both in Navy and civilian life," including four years on the City Council; he has served on the area council, Boy Scouts; committee of management of the YMCA; trustee of the Southeast Mosquito Abatement District; Community Chest; committee of management of the Galilee Navy Family Chapel; director of the Independent Business Men's Association of Greater Long Beach; member of Navy League of United States, Long Beach Council.

Garrison is an elected member of the Republican Central Committee, his term expiring next June 5.

The 39th District seat will be vacant at year's end due to the announced retirement of Assemblyman William S. Grant. Republicans already announced, in addition to Garrison, are Attorney George Deukmejian and Samuel J. Kuras, president of the Polish Club of Long Beach. Only Democrat announced is William Peake, copublisher and managing editor of The Democratic News of California.

$428 Tools Stolen

A burglar stole tools valued at $428 from a garage at the home of Max N. Zaetler, 137 Barclay St., police said Saturday.

Fast, Dean Lead L.B. 'Y' Drive

Two prominent businessmen, Earl Fast and Fred S. Dean, have accepted posts of leadership in the Long Beach YMCA's $1,196,430 "Buildings for Youth" fund drive which opens here in May.

Fast will be chairman of the campaign's Big Gifts Committee and Dean will head the important Pattern Gifts Committee, according to Harry J. Moore, president of the Metropolitan Board of the local Y.

"We are exceedingly happy that these men will direct the work of two very important committees," Moore said.

The "Buildings for Youth" drive here has been designed to meet the Long Beach YMCA's critical need for expanded facilities.

Four goals will be sought: (1) Construction of a $488,112 community center building for the fast-growing Los Altos and East Long Beach area. (2) Development of an all-purpose gymnasium type building for the Lakewood branch Y at an estimated cost of $90,558. (3) Completion of renovation and expansion work at the Downtown Y at a cost of $580,016, and (4) Expansion and renovation of the North Long Beach branch Y at a cost of $37,743.

H. H. Ridder Remains on Critical List

Publisher Herman H. Ridder of the Independent, Press-Telegram continues on the "critical list" at Long Beach Memorial Hospital following surgery for a ruptured vein.

Mrs. Ridder Saturday voiced warm appreciation for flowers and many other expressions from well-wishers. She said that because of limited space in the hospital room it would be best not to send more flowers at this time.

She added her appreciation to many who donated blood or offered to donate.

Ridder is allowed no visitors, she said.

EXPECTED NEXT MONTH

Outline of Dates for Grunion Runs

The first grunion run of 1962 is scheduled next month, the marine resources branch of the State Department of Fish and Game reported today.

Runs lasting about one hour are expected to begin about 11 p. m. March 8, 11:30 p. m. March 9, 12:30 a. m. March 11 and 1:30 a. m. March 12. Starting times for the spawning runs are only approximate and the fish may arrive "a bit later," the department said.

BEACHES WHERE good grunion runs most frequently occur include Corona del Mar, Newport Beach, Huntington Beach, Belmont Shore, Long Beach, Cabrillo Beach, Torrance, Hermosa Beach and Venice.

The department warned the grunion may be taken on the beach or in the surf by hand only. No appliance of any type may be used and it is unlawful to dig holes in the beach to trap the fish. An angling license is needed by all persons over 16.

INFORMATION

Phone Crew to Offer Data on Election

An "information squadron" from the League of Women Voters will work the telephones at the Independent, Press-Telegram Tuesday night to answer inquiries about municipal election returns.

Calls should be made to HEmlock 2-5959 (note this is not the general I-P.T. phone number).

League workers have provided this service for several elections, with excellent public response.

Council's Calendar

City Council agenda items for Tuesday—

Petition for two-hour parking regulation on Olive Avenue between Third and Fourth Streets.

Request from Long Beach Area Council of Girl Scouts that El Dorado Park be protected from attempts to divert its use to sports and "other usual recreational facilities."

Letter from Harbor Area Chapter, Building Contractors Association, expressing concern over proposal to expand authority of Planning Commission to include architectural and artistic aspects of buildings.

Petition for crosswalk midway between Hill and 21st Streets on Pacific Avenue.

Appeal from Planning Commission denial of permit for coin-operated laundry at 2031 E. Anaheim St. (Date of hearing to be set.)

Final tract maps for northwest and southeast corners of Second Street and Pacific Coast Highway.

City auditor's report on accounts of Bureau of Franchises.

Ordinances relating to traffic control; modifying fees for surface improvements of streets and alleys; relating to minimum rental requirements of airport land, exempting agricultural uses.

Continued hearing on notice of proceedings for annexation of territory east of Clark Avenue and south of Atherton Street.

Resolution authorizing purchase of $1 million U.S. Treasury securities for general city treasury.

Authorization to Southern California Edison Co. to relocate and install new overhead distribution facilities on Heartwell Park.

City manager's reports on status of Los Angeles County Flood Control District storm drain bond issue projects; on status of park and recreation bond issue improvements; on state highway division communication regarding Pacific Coast Freeway.

Supplemental lease agreement with Hertz System, Inc., authorizing additional uses of premises at Municipal Airport.

Authorization for Evar Peterson, assistant civil defense director, to attend Central California Civil Defense Conference March 12-13 in Fresno.

Music Teachers Honor Dr. Green

Dr. John E. Green, head of the Long Beach State College music department, has been elected president of the Western Division of the National Conference of Music Educators.

He will take office in April, 1963 for a two-year term. The national group has 40,000 members. More than 4,000 of them are in the western division.

EDITORIAL

Progress or Backwardness Issue on Tuesday

TWELVE QUESTIONS CONFRONT Long Beach voters at next Tuesday's special municipal election.

But there is really just one single issue:

Progress or Backwardness?

This newspaper favors community progress.

Each of the measures is designed to make Long Beach a better, happier, more progressive city.

Therefore we support them all and recommend their approval by our readers.

Readers obviously will decide for themselves. But as the community's daily newspaper, we have the responsibility of expressing a point of view. Our point of view is determined by what we consider to be good for Long Beach.

PROPOSITION 1 authorizes carefully-controlled production of oil from an off-shore field to yield an estimated $1.7 billion. If we do not develop this field the state, which shares our interest in it, will no doubt do so. The development will be conducted from small landscaped offshore islands and with full anti-subsidence operations. No. 1 is vital in relation to other ballot measures because the development will provide enough income to the bond redemption fund, general purpose fund and in savings to gas users to more than offset costs of other ballot proposals. Vote "Yes" on No. 1.

PROPOSITION 2 is a $5,750,000 bond issue for the construction of a badly-needed main library building in Long Beach's civic center. The present building was built in 1909 to serve a population of about 17,000. Long Beach today has 350,000 citizens. The construction of branch libraries has only heightened the need for a new main library; the branches of the system are served by the trunk. For the educational and cultural advancement of Long Beach we urge a "Yes" vote on Proposition 2.

PROPOSITION 3 authorizes a bond issue of $6,065,000 to buy land for and build and equip a new city hall. Long Beach, which publicizes itself as the "international city," now operates its government from a building constructed in 1923. That building has long been overcrowded. Because of the congestion, governmental operations that are closely related have been conducted at widely scattered points at the sacrifice of efficiency. Besides being cramped, the building fails to measure up to the city's own fire code. "Yes" on Proposition 3.

PROPOSITION 4 proposes a $200,000 bond issue to convert the present Public Utilities Building, near Lincoln Park, to a headquarters building for the community's senior citizens. Long Beach has a high percentage of elderly citizens who more than deserve this modest consideration. They have done their part for society; this is the least society can now do for them. "Yes" on Proposition 4.

PROPOSITION 5 is a bond issue to provide $1,535,000 to improve and add to Long Beach fire protection facilities. These timely improvements will help head off higher fire insurance rates in the community and enable the fire department to do a faster, better job of putting out fires and protecting life and property. "Yes" on Proposition 5.

PROPOSITION 6 authorizes the spending of $3,130,750 from the Tideland Oil Fund for public improvements in the Alamitos Bay-Marina area. The foresight of Long Beach voters has made the Marina one of the best marine recreation places in the state, generating multi-millions of dollars worth of private construction nearby. The record fully justifies a further modest investment of non-tax funds. "Yes" on Proposition 6.

PROPOSITION 7 authorizes spending $908,760 from the tideland oil fund to develop beach facilities —recreation building, swimming pool, parking, walkways—for public use just east of Belmont Pier. This is an important step in the development of our fine beach. "Yes" on Proposition 7.

PROPOSITION A will permit the city to spend a greater amount ($500,000 instead of the present $250,000) annually from the tideland oil fund without a public vote. The rising costs of construction have shown the present limitation impractical. To expedite projects and save election expenses on relatively small projects, we urge a "Yes" vote on Proposition A.

PROPOSITION B lifts restrictions on tideland oil money uses in order to make sure that operation and maintenance costs of tidelands areas and facilities are paid from oil money rather than from tax funds. "Yes" on Proposition B.

PROPOSITION C revises the city's budgeting methods to give the city manager and the council greater control over departmental budgets. It provides greater flexibility in budget administration. This is a measure for more efficient city government. "Yes" on Proposition C.

PROPOSITION D allows leases up to 60 years on city and tidelands property. The present lease limit is 25 years. The extension will help attract developers of major hotels, office buildings, and other structures. "D" repeals a section of the charter which has conflicting features; the people's voting controls as provided therein are fully protected elsewhere. "Yes" on D.

PROPOSITION E is a completely uncontroversial measure eliminating half dozen pages of obsolete boundary descriptions from the city charter. "Yes" on Proposition E.

Keep Yourself Lashed Tight, Ulysses

WALTER T. RIDDER

'All Hail to Glenn—It's Nice to Have National Hero Again'

WASHINGTON—In reflecting upon Lt. Col. John Glenn's flight into space, the thought occurred that it is good for a country to have a hero. Glenn's reign as the name on everyone's lips probably won't last long. Another man in another, improved, space vehicle will make a longer, although certainly no more heart-throbbing, trip to somewhere and back. Yet, for the moment the hero is Glenn and all Americans share to a greater or lesser degree satisfaction and personal participation in Glenn's achievment.

This reporter happened to be at Washington's National Airport at the moment of blast-off. Probably for the first time in its busy life, the airport was frozen into immobility. The countdown was piped through the public address system and everyone—passengers, sky caps, ticket agents — waited unmoving and tense for the great moment. When the rocket took off and it soon became apparent that the take-off had been successfully completed, the whole place breathed a sigh of relief, strangers smiled at each other, and a community sense of having successfully weathered a dangerous crises suffused the almosphere.

W. RIDDER

A little later that day, chatting with a New York taxi driver, I commented that Glenn probably would not get much sleep that night what with his busy day and all the nerve-wracking postponements which preceded his successful flight. "Naw," replied the hacker with pride in our astronaut, "he never lost no sleep, That guy is made of iron."

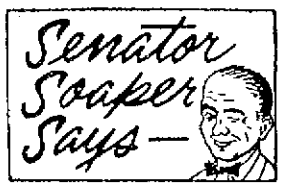

In a world growing increasingly more cynical, it is every now and then necessary to have a hero come along. The spirit of everyone is ennobled and prodded by demonstration that a man can do something which most of us merely dream about. A lot of people could have made the flight which Charles A. Lindbergh completed in 1927, but they didn't. It took a Lindbergh to do it. The world in general and aviation in particular got a boost from his extraordinary exploit.

If all the above is construed as a plea for the cult of personality, well, maybe it is. Personification of ideals is always useful and refreshing to the human spirit. We all have our Walter Mitty dreams and if we are too weak or too incompetent or too diverted to achieve them, at least we get a big bang out of seeing someone else make dreams reality.

* * * *

WE SEE A PART of ourselves, as did the New York taxi driver, riding along in the capsule and being as calm and strong nerved as was Glenn when his craft began to yaw a bit around the sky. We think that we too would respond as coolly and then when back on the ground have a good night's sleep.

So, we say: "All hail to Glenn"—it's awful nice to have a good solid non-controversial national hero.

Sun Oil Lobbyist Attempting to Block Air Pollution Study

WASHINGTON—Lobbyist for the Pew Sun Oil interests, Harry Davis, has been hopping around the Pennsylvania legislature blocking a resolution which could make health history for the entire U.S.A. It's a resolution calling for a thorough study of air pollution from automobile exhaust fumes.

State Sen. Charles Wiener has come up with the significant fact that during the 40 years between 1915 and 1955 lung cancer jumped from one death per 100,000 males to 25 deaths per 100,000 males. In the same 40-year period, American consumption of gasoline jumped from 2 billion gallons annually to 50 billion. Thus, both gasoline fumes and lung cancer increased 25-fold in 40 years.

PEARSON

Pointing to the tragic deaths in Donora, Pa., in 1948 from air pollution, and the death of 4,000 people in London on Dec. 5, 1952, as a result of an air-polluted fog, Wiener introduced a resolution providing for a thorough study of air pollution and automobile exhaust fumes.

This followed on the heels of an investigation by Sen. Maurine Neuberger, Oregon Democrat, which showed U.S. Public Health Service findings that "if air pollution continues to increase . . . the over-all effect on the economy, health and welfare of the people may become a disaster."

A national conference on air pollution also warned: "Although the public is more aware of the smoke and odors from diesel engine buses, trucks and trains, these are relatively minor sources as compared to auto exhausts."

However, the political lineup in the Pennsylvania Senate is 25 Republicans against 25 Democrats. Lobbyist Harry Davis has only to swing one vote to block the Wiener air pollution resolution. So far he has been successful.

Note—The Pew family has been the highest contributor to Republican campaigns in the state of Pennsylvania.

FLYING between Phoenix and Salt Lake City recently, Postmaster General J. Edward Day was awakened from a nap by a comely airline stewardess, who inquired if the passengers would like something to drink.

"We are not serving cocktails on this trip," she said, "but you may have your choice of coffee, tea or milk."

As she paused at Day's seat to take his order, the stewardess smiled and remarked: "Oh, I know who you are. You'll have milk, no doubt."

"How did you arrive at that deduction?" inquired Day.

"President Kennedy wants everyone to drink more milk," she replied brightly. "As a Cabinet member, I am sure you must agree with him."

Day drank the milk and liked it.

Wrong Twice in 30 Years, CRA May Risk Nixon Rebuff

TO CALCULATE the risk Richard Nixon has taken in shrugging off the worth of California Republican Assembly endorsement, it is well to look at CRA's record.

In 30 years of endorsing, only two of its picks have failed to be nominated. In 1950 Butch Powers upset CRA-endorsed Jim Silliman to get the lieutenant governor nomination. And in 1958, CRA's Cap Weinberger lost the primary race to nonendorsed Pat Hillings.

HOUSER

Nixon must be playing it like this: His advance indifference clears the way to brush off the CRA endorsement if it goes to Joe Shell. He can safely attack Democratic slate makers whether or not he gets CRA's nod. He may conclude, with some justification, that such endorsements are becoming passe in the face of growing independence of California voters.

Some risk remains however, and prominent CRA people in Los Angeles County are sore at Nixon's slight of them.

The CRA show unfolds a week from today in Berkeley's Claremont Hotel. You may need a program to detect a trend. The contenders:

For governor, it's Nixon, Shell and Powers; for lieutenant governor, Christopher and McCarthy; for attorney general, Dolwig and Allen; for U. S. Senate, Kuchel, Wright and Jarvis.

IF CRA SHOULD GO for a Nixon-oriented slate, it would probably be Nixon, Christopher, Dolwig and Kuchel. But several CRA people here think the party philosophic lines will not be tightly drawn in convention choices. Rather, it will be a "mixed-up" slate based on various parts of philosophy, reputation, electability and sentiment.

From this potpourri, said one observer, "It would not surprise me to see Shell get the governor endorsement and Kuchel to get the U. S. Senate nod.

Another CRA member, asked about chances for conservatives Loyd Wright and Howard Jarvis in the Senate race, remarked, "You can be sure 'Mr. McKinley' will not get the endorsement."

A member of the fact-finding committee which recommends choices to the full convention, said, "CRA people just won't forget what Dick Nixon did, and it was so damned unnecessary. He apparently still has his little palace guard and a complete unwillingness to deal with party people. I have never heard from him with regard to our endorsement and I can't get to him. On the other hand, Joe Shell has talked to me many times, and he's asked me for my vote."

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher leads State Sen. John McCarthy in the lieutenant governor polls but CRA people regard him as a maverick, whereas McCarthy has been active in CRA and has a good quantity of built-in support.

DOLWIG, SAY these CRA informants, is a better campaigner than Bruce Allen, although Allen "is a sweet guy' 'and currently ahead of Dolwig in the polls.

As in the recent Young Republican convention, CRA will be represented at the state level with a strong delegation from Los Angeles County—perhaps 30 per cent of voting strength with 100 or 110 delegates.

Also similar is a recent history of intramural dispute between moderate conservatives and right-wingers. While the right was victorious in the YR, it was set down decisively in the CRA when Harvey Mydland defeated a pro-Howard Jarvis candidate, Peter Marcus, for county president. Mydland commented, after his 42-11 (vote by units) win, that it represented a victory for "orderly Republicanism."

With this brand, the strong county vote may be decisive in picking between Nixon, an apparent certainty for the GOP primary nomination, and Joe Shell, a vigorous champion of a more conservative stripe.

Hall, living at 6229 Seaside Walk, is immediate past president of the county CRA. The state presidency traditionally shifts between Northern and Southern California and the current chief is northerner Bob Lindsay. No major opposition is yet at hand for Hall's bid.

EDITOR:

As a high school student, I visit the main library at least two or three times a week and never have I found the conditions to be as pressing as described in the campaign pamphlets and in your articles and editorials supporting the main library bond issue.

It is stressed that the present library, having been built in 1909, is too old to function properly. But aren't our greatest buildings, from the national monments in Washington to the great university libraries of Harvard and Yale, as well at the British Museum and the Bibliotheque, many years older than our main library? Can it be, perhaps, that age does not necessarily affect the performance of a building?

THE PRESENT main library building shuts people out rather than welcomes them. The stairs and narrow aisles are barriers that can't be surmounted by many people. Many senior citizens find the steps as high and difficult as the face of a cliff.

Students find that books are hard to find and that there is seldom a place to sit and study the book after it is found.

I am homeowner living far from downtown, but this new main library has my wholehearted support. I live near a branch library, but a branch library is simply a room off the main library.

Wants Dividends Taxed at Source

EDITOR:

I read in Feb. 13 issue a letter from one J. G. Beeler of Palos Verdes in which he protests the proposed law that will bring about taxing at the source, incomes derived from dividends on stocks and interest on bonds and other types of loans.

Those deriving their income from wages or salary are taxed at the source. The federal tax is taken out before the pay check is delivered. Why does Mr. Beeler feel that those whose incomes consist of dividends and interest are entitled to special treatment?

It is well known that many whose incomes are from such sources do not declare the full amount and thus escape paying the amount of tax they should, thus loading a greater share of the cost of government on others. This is one of the tax loopholes that the present administration is trying to plug by the proposed law of which Mr. Beeler complains.

Moscow has its supermarkets too. Instead of pushing shopping carts, however, the Moscow housewife carries a shopping bag, called a avoska (ah-VOHS-kah.) This word comes from the colloquial expression (ah-VOHS) meaning "perhaps." This means that perhaps she will find something to put into it.

One of the biggest stores in Moscow is the G.U.M., of which the initials stand for

In case you plan to do any shopping for food at the GUM, here is a sample conversation which you might have as you take your avoska to the food department, as well as the probable reply which you might receive.

PLAYGROUND PARENT PLAN PIONEERED IN LONG BEACH

By ROBERT WILCOX

When a group of rank amateurs took over from the school pros six years ago, there were some misgivings in educational circles.

Today the Long Beach "playground parent" plan—believed to be the first in the nation—has been widely adopted throughout the country.

Each school day in the Long Beach area, some 210 mothers leave their homes to supervise grade school play areas and cafeterias during the lunch period. They receive $2.43 to $2.70 for the hour's work.

* * * *

DISTRICT officials say that the plan has solved a problem which has heckled teachers and administrators throughout the history of the education system—noon playground duty.

A half-dozen years ago here, a teacher could look forward on many days to a noon period consisting of a sandwich in one hand, a whistle in the other and several hundred cavorting youngsters in the foreground.

Today while the teacher is free to eat her lunch and get ready to cope with the afternoon's problems, the mothers take over.

MRS MARY ELLEN Barnes of 3751 Walnut Ave., one of three "mid-day moms" at Burroughs School and who has a round-trip of two miles for the one-hour chore, describes the feeling:

"Working with children is a constant challenge. Although the money means little, the noon hour work comes ahead of any of my other activities."

Mrs. Barnes, a PTA leader with two children in the school at the time, admits she approached the job with some apprenhension in 1956 even though she, like the other amateur aids, had had orientation sessions.

THE PLAYGROUND assistant must be a combination disciplinarian, practical psychologist, coach, referee, substitute mother and emergency nurse.

One third grader who was the subject of numerous complaints from his fellow players told Mrs. Barnes frankly: "I don't have to do what you say." She marched him into the office. "I called his bluff

'PLAYGROUND PARENT' Mrs. Mary Ellen Barnes supervises Debbie Neal, 8, of 3415 Myrtle Ave. while Debbie drinks her milk during a lunch period at Burroughs School. Mrs. Barnes is one of some 210 mothers who help out by supervising grade school play areas and cafeterias during the noon hour.

NEVER have the earth-bound felt so "creepy." Astronaut John Glenn's 17,500-miles-an-hour spin around the earth does it to us when compared with some routine activity around here.

For example, he got around the globe three times and landed in about the time it takes, on a rough traffic day, to get around Recreation golf course.

One reader remarked that while Glenn was crossing Australia, he made it down Pine Ave., with a stop or two to talk to old acquaintances.

THE brief remarks here about people of Perth, Australia, giving Glenn some friendly light signals brought some interesting reports.

Mrs. Roland Blanchard of Lakewood was born in Perth and her parents are still there. "You can imagine my feelings when I heard the exchange between Col. Glenn and his monitoring officer about the lights," she writes. "The mingling of pride in being an American by choice and pride in the city of my birth was so great I cannot put it into words. To me the incident symbolizes the close bonds of friendship between the two countries."

Rev. Billie Adams, pastor of the Four Square church here, left just last week for Perth to conduct religious meetings there. People of Perth sent $1,200 to help defray the expenses of his trip.

Jean M. Pond of Long Beach wanted to express her personal appreciation to people of Perth she knows. She did it by sending along a clipping of the little comment here, and I'm pleased about that.

Long Beach, Calif., wants Perth to know that it thinks the Western Australian capital is just great.

IT IS hard to believe anybody would be helped much in reaching political decisions by the fragments of talk he might hear from a sound truck.

But every election campaign seems to close here with a lot of blaring in the streets. This time, a sort of sound truck battle has developed, with a disagreeing truck following one noisy advocate.

So it goes with freedom of expression, a principle I'm all for.

However, I think that a certain limitation could be imposed without infringing unfairly on anybody's right to be heard. I refer to sound truck political operations on election day.

In some states, public electioneering on that day is so restricted that partisan advertisements and editorials are not permitted in newspapers published while the polls are open. Here electioneering in the vicinity of the polls is prohibited. A sound truck blaring a partisan message, which can be heard at a polling place, is a violation of the spirit if not the letter of that ruling.

Would it not be wise for the council to consider a city ordinance prohibiting sound truck electioneering on the public streets on election day? I'd at least like to see a legal examination of that possibility.

AN interesting angle this time is that my old friend, Julian Campbell, the engineer, is loud-speaking through the streets with motives that are somewhat suspect.

Bro. Campbell gave notice awhile back that unless the city acceded to his demands that traffic islands be removed from Atlantic Ave.—an old sore spot with him—he would campaign the streets against every measure on Tuesday's ballot.

He got no satisfaction in what city officials regarded as a form of unreasonable coercion — some used a stronger word—so Campbell was out with a small fleet of sound machines, giving the election issues the business.

Garrison in Race for GOP Assembly Choice in 39th

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

Charles M. Garrison, 4315 Faculty Ave., retired Navy captain and former city councilman, Saturday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Assembly in the 39th District (east Long Beach and Signal Hill).

Garrison said he entered the race at the urgent request of a group of influential Republicans of the district, "plus a large number of supporters in previous successful political campaigns, all of whom sincerely believe in a free and open primary."

Tax reduction was emphasized in Garrison's announcement, which said in part, "I sincerely believe that only by firmly supporting the principles for which our Republican party stands can we hope to keep our high standard of living and at the same time deter those who for one reason or another seem determined to tax and tax, spend and spend, until there is nothing left of what we earn to permit us to maintain our free enterprise system and our American way of life.

* * * *

"I HAVE THE experience and know-how of legislative and executive procedures. I have been through the mill, so to speak, and I do not have to acquire the legislative and executive experience that is so necessary . . . I also have had considerable experience budgeting which, God knows, one needs if we are ever going to reduce the burdensome tax load that hangs around our necks like millstones.

"Thirty-four cents out of every dollar you earn now goes for one tax or another. Deficiency spending cannot go on indefinitely. Juggling figures to balance a budget is all wrong. I believe in cutting costs, not raising taxes."

CHARLES M. GARRISON
Former Councilman

Garrison also advocates revision of our present "watered down" narcotics laws; laws, rather than additional judges, to solve court congestion; stronger laws against subversion and communism; development and maintenance of our free enterprise system, and encouragement of business to migrate to California.

* * * *

HIS SUPPORTERS noted his "impressive record of achievement both in Navy and civilian life," including four years on the City Council; he has served on the area council, Boy Scouts; committee of management of the YMCA; trustee of the Southeast Mosquito Abatement District; Community Chest; committee of management of the Galilee Navy Family Chapel; director of the Independent Business Men's Association of Greater Long Beach; member of Navy League of United States, Long Beach Council.

Garrison is an elected member of the Republican Central Committee, his term expiring next June 5.

The 39th District seat will be vacant at year's end due to the announced retirement of Assemblyman William S. Grant. Republicans already announced, in addition to Garrison, are Attorney George Deukmejian and Samuel J. Kuras, president of the Polish Club of Long Beach. Only Democrat announced is William Peake, copublisher and managing editor of The Democratic News of California.

EXPECTED NEXT MONTH

Outline of Dates for Grunion Runs

The first grunion run of 1962 is scheduled next month, the marine resources branch of the State Department of Fish and Game reported today.

Runs lasting about one hour are expected to begin about 11 p.m. March 8, 11:30 p.m. March 9, 12:30 a.m. March 11 and 1:30 a.m. March 12. Starting times for the spawning runs are only approximate and the fish may arrive "a bit later," the department said.

BEACHES WHERE good grunion runs most frequently occur include Corona del Mar, Newport Beach, Huntington Beach, Belmont Shore, Long Beach, Cabrillo Beach, Torrance, Hermosa Beach and Venice.

The department warned the grunion may be taken on the beach or in the surf by hand only. No appliance of any type may be used and it is unlawful to dig holes in the beach to trap the fish. An angling license is needed by all persons over 16.

Seal Beach, Once Noisy Poker City, Is Staid Suburb

By GEORGE ERES

Seal Beach, once a whistle stop on Highway 101 where the electorate got its kicks noisily debating its legalized draw poker, today is a staid, booming bedroom community with a fast-growing population.

In 1950, the U.S. Census Bureau noted the 1.8 square mile community along the shore, just below Long Beach, had a population of 3,500.

Up to 1960, the size of the community was about the same, but last year with a building boom under way on Landing Hill, north of Highway 101 on the Hellman Ranch, the city got busy and through two annexations extended its boundaries to include another 5.4 square miles, part of which is the Navy Ammunition Depot.

* * * *

THE ESTIMATED population today is 7,500 (6,994 according to the 1960 Census), but in the next two years, according to City Manager Ernest Brashear, the population will be increased by 12,000 because of development of Leisure World, giant mile-square housing tract for "senior citizens."

When completed, Leisure World will change the population profile of Seal Beach, because it will be limited to people over 52 years of age.

A 1961 survey of the community population makeup, said Brashear, showed that 35 per cent of the residents were between 35 and 50 years old; 35 per cent were under 35 years and 30 per cent over 50.

Of the present population, only 16 per cent work in Seal Beach. The largest single group, 32 per cent, work in Long Beach; 8 per cent work in Los Angeles and 15 per cent are retired.

* * * *

GAMBLING is no longer an issue in Seal Beach. Even Al Leonard, councilman for 12 years and once an ardent supporter of draw poker in the city, today admits the city has prospered since gambling was outlawed. "There's no question, the people made the right decision in outlawing poker," he said.

But, the city has problems and the major one—water—will be voted upon at the April 10 election when a $750,000 Water Bond issue will go on the ballot with unanimous backing of the council.

Currently, the city gets along with two water wells. A third will be drilled for the Leisure World development.

MAYOR NORMA GIBBS, a part-time counsellor at Long Beach State College, came to the community four years ago and two years ago was elected mayor of the city. She and Councilman Dean Gemmill, vice mayor, have two more years to serve. Leonard and Glenn Jones are up for re-election. Fred Flanagan, fifth councilman, has decided not to run.

The mayor has brought a semblance of harmony to the once rowdy council meetings.

"They tell me that if I haven't done anything else," said Mayor Gibbs, "at least there's not as much fighting

Fast, Dean Lead L.B. 'Y' Drive

Two prominent businessmen, Earl Fast and Fred S. Dean, have accepted posts of leadership in the Long Beach YMCA's $1,196,430 "Buildings for Youth" fund drive which opens here in May.

Fast will be chairman of the campaign's Big Gifts Committee and Dean will head the important Pattern Gifts Committee, according to Harry J. Moore, president of the Metropolitan Board of the local Y.

"We are exceedingly happy that these men will direct the work of two very important committees," Moore said.

The "Buildings for Youth" drive here has been designed to meet the Long Beach YMCA's critical need for expanded facilities.

Four goals will be sought: (1) Construction of a $488,112 community center building for the fast-growing Los Altos and East Long Beach area. (2) Development of an all-purpose gymnasium type building for the Lakewood branch Y at an estimated cost of $90,558. (3) Completion of renovation and expansion work at the Downtown Y at a cost of $580,016, and (4) Expansion and renovation of the North Long Beach branch Y at a cost of $37,743.

H. H. Ridder Remains on Critical List

Publisher Herman H. Ridder of the Independent, Press-Telegram continues on the "critical list" at Long Beach Memorial Hospital following surgery for a ruptured vein.

Mrs. Ridder Saturday voiced warm appreciation for flowers and many other expressions from well-wishers. She said that because of limited space in the hospital room it would be best not to send more flowers at this time.

She added her appreciation to many who donated blood or offered to donate.

Ridder is allowed no visitors, she said.

INFORMATION

Phone Crew to Offer Data on Election

An "information squadron" from the League of Women Voters will work the telephones at the Independent, Press-Telegram Tuesday night to answer inquiries about municipal election returns.

Calls should be made to HEmlock 2-5959 (note this is not the general I-P.T. phone number).

League workers have provided this service for several elections, with excellent public response.

Progress or Backwardness Issue on Tuesday

TWELVE QUESTIONS CONFRONT Long Beach voters at next Tuesday's special municipal election.

But there is really just one single issue:

Progress or Backwardness?

This newspaper favors community progress.

Each of the measures is designed to make Long Beach a better, happier, more progressive city.

Therefore we support them all and recommend their approval by our readers.

Readers obviously will decide for themselves. But as the community's daily newspaper, we have the responsibility of expressing a point of view. Our point of view is determined by what we consider to be good for Long Beach.

PROPOSITION 1 authorizes carefully-controlled production of oil from an off-shore field to yield an estimated $1.7 billion. If we do not develop this field the state, which shares our interest in it, will no doubt do so. The development will be conducted from small landscaped offshore islands and with full anti-subsidence operations. No. 1 is vital in relation to other ballot measures because the development will provide enough income to the bond redemption fund, general purpose fund and in savings to gas users to more than offset costs of other ballot proposals. Vote "Yes" on No. 1.

PROPOSITION 2 is a $5,750,000 bond issue for the construction of a badly-needed main library building in Long Beach's civic center. The present building was built in 1909 to serve a population of about 17,000. Long Beach today has 350,000 citizens. The construction of branch libraries has only heightened the need for a new main library; the branches of the system are served by the trunk. For the educational and cultural advancement of Long Beach we urge a "Yes" vote on Proposition 2.

PROPOSITION 3 authorizes a bond issue of $6,065,000 to buy land for and build and equip a new city hall. Long Beach, which publicizes itself as the "international city," now operates its government from a building constructed in 1923. That building has long been overcrowded. Because of the congestion, governmental operations that are closely related have been conducted at widely scattered points at the sacrifice of efficiency. Besides being cramped, the building fails to measure up to the city's own fire code. "Yes" on Proposition 3.

PROPOSITION 4 proposes a $200,000 bond issue to convert the present Public Utilities Building, near Lincoln Park, to a headquarters building for the community's senior citizens. Long Beach has a high percentage of elderly citizens who more than deserve this modest consideration. They have done their part for society; this is the least society can now do for them. "Yes" on Proposition 4.

PROPOSITION 5 is a bond issue to provide $1,535,000 to improve and add to Long Beach fire protection facilities. These timely improvements will help head off higher fire insurance rates in the community and enable the fire department to do a faster, better job of putting out fires and protecting life and property. "Yes" on Proposition 5.

PROPOSITION 6 authorizes the spending of $3,130,750 from the Tideland Oil Fund for public improvements in the Alamitos Bay-Marina area. The foresight of Long Beach voters has made the Marina one of the best marine recreation places in the state, generating multi-millions of dollars worth of private construction nearby. The record fully justifies a further modest investment of non-tax funds. "Yes" on Proposition 6.

PROPOSITION 7 authorizes spending $908,760 from the tideland oil fund to develop beach facilities —recreation building, swimming pool, parking, walkways—for public use just east of Belmont Pier. This is an important step in the development of our fine beach. "Yes" on Proposition 7.

PROPOSITION A will permit the city to spend a greater amount ($500,000 instead of the present $250,000) annually from the tideland oil fund without a public vote. The rising costs of construction have shown the present limitation impractical. To expedite projects and save election expenses on relatively small projects, we urge a "Yes" vote on Proposition A.

PROPOSITION B lifts restrictions on tideland oil money uses in order to make sure that operation and maintenance costs of tidelands areas and facilities are paid from oil money rather than from tax funds. "Yes" on Proposition B.

PROPOSITION C revises the city's budgeting methods to give the city manager and the council greater control over departmental budgets. It provides greater flexibility in budget administration. This is a measure for more efficient city government. "Yes" on Proposition C.

PROPOSITION D allows leases up to 60 years on city and tidelands property. The present lease limit is 25 years. The extension will help attract developers of major hotels, office buildings, and other structures. "D" repeals a section of the charter which has conflicting features; the people's voting controls as provided therein are fully protected elsewhere. "Yes" on D.

PROPOSITION E is a completely uncontroversial measure eliminating half dozen pages of obsolete boundary descriptions from the city charter. "Yes" on Proposition E.

'All Hail to Glenn—It's Nice to Have National Hero Again'

WASHINGTON—In reflecting upon Lt. Col. John Glenn's flight into space, the thought occurred that it is good for a country to have a hero. Glenn's reign as the name on everyone's lips probably won't last long. Another man in another, improved, space vehicle will make a longer, although certainly no more heart-throbbing, trip to somewhere and back. Yet, for the moment the hero is Glenn and all Americans share to a greater or lesser degree satisfaction and personal participation in Glenn's achievment.

This reporter happened to be at Washington's National Airport at the moment of blast-off. Probably for the first time in its busy life, the airport was frozen into immobility. The countdown was piped through the public address system and everyone—passengers, sky caps, ticket agents — waited unmoving and tense for the great moment. When the rocket took off and it soon became apparent that the take-off had been successfully completed, the whole place breathed a sigh of relief, strangers smiled at each other, and a community sense of having successfully weathered a dangerous crises suffused the atmosphere.

W. RIDDER

A little later that day, chatting with a New York taxi driver, I commented that Glenn probably would not get much sleep that night what with his busy day and all the nerve-wracking postponements which preceded his successful flight. "Naw," replied the hacker with pride in our astronaut, "he never lost no sleep. That guy is made of iron."

In a world growing increasingly more cynical, it is every now and then necessary to have a hero come along. The spirit of everyone is ennobled and prodded by demonstration that a man can do something which most of us merely dream about. A lot of people could have made the flight which Charles A. Lindbergh completed in 1927, but they didn't. It took a Lindbergh to do it. The world in general and aviation in particular got a boost from his extraordinary exploit.

If all the above is construed as a plea for the cult of personality, well, maybe it is. Personification of ideals is always useful and refreshing to the human spirit. We all have our Walter Mitty dreams and if we are too weak or too incompetent or too diverted to achieve them, at least we get a big bang out of seeing someone else make dreams reality.

* * * *

WE SEE A PART of ourselves, as did the New York taxi driver, riding along in the capsule and being as calm and strong nerved as was Glenn when his craft began to yaw a bit around the sky. We think that we too would respond as coolly and then when back on the ground have a good night's sleep.

So, we say: "All hail to Glenn"—it's awful nice to have a good solid non-controversial national hero.

Wrong Twice in 30 Years; CRA May Risk Nixon Rebuff

TO CALCULATE the risk Richard Nixon has taken in shrugging off the worth of California Republican Assembly endorsement, it is well to look at CRA's record.

In 30 years of endorsing, only two of its picks have failed to be nominated. In 1950 Butch Powers upset CRA-endorsed Jim Silliman to get the lieutenant governor nomination. And in 1958, CRA's Cap Weinberger lost the primary race to nonendorsed Pat Hillings.

HOUSER

Nixon must be playing it like this: His advance indifference clears the way to brush off the CRA endorsement if it goes to Joe Shell. He can safely attack Democratic slate makers whether or not he gets CRA's nod. He may conclude, with some justification, that such endorsements are becoming passe in the face of growing independence of California voters.

Some risk remains however, and prominent CRA people in Los Angeles County are sore at Nixon's slight of them.

The CRA show unfolds a week from today in Berkeley's Claremont Hotel. You may need a program to detect a trend. The contenders:

For governor, it's Nixon, Shell and Powers; for lieutenant governor, Christopher and McCarthy; for attorney general, Dolwig and Allen; for U. S. Senate, Kuchel, Wright and Jarvis.

IF CRA SHOULD GO for a Nixon-oriented slate, it would probably be Nixon, Christopher, Dolwig and Kuchel. But several CRA people here think the party philosophic lines will not be tightly drawn in convention choices. Rather, it will be a "mixed-up" slate based on various parts of philosophy, reputation, electability and sentiment.

From this potpourri, said one observer, "It would not surprise me to see Shell get the governor endorsement and Kuchel to get the U. S. Senate nod.

Another CRA member, asked about chances for conservatives Loyd Wright and Howard Jarvis in the Senate race, remarked, "You can be sure 'Mr. McKinley' will not get the endorsement."

A member of the fact-finding committee which recommends choices to the full convention, said, "CRA people just won't forget what Dick Nixon did, and it was so damned unnecessary. He apparently still has his little palace guard and a complete unwillingness to deal with party people. I have never heard from him with regard to our endorsement and I can't get to him. On the other hand, Joe Shell has talked to me many times, and he's asked me for my vote."

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher leads State Sen. John McCarthy in the lieutenant governor polls but CRA people regard him as a maverick, whereas McCarthy has been active in CRA and has a good quantity of built-in support.

DOLWIG, SAY these CRA informants, is a better campaigner than Bruce Allen, although Allen "is a sweet guy' 'and currently ahead of Dolwig in the polls.

As in the recent Young Republican convention, CRA will be represented at the state level with a strong delegation from Los Angeles County—perhaps 30 per cent of voting strength with 100 or 110 delegates.

Also similar is a recent history of intramural dispute between moderate conservatives and right-wingers. While the right was victorious in the YR, it was set down decisively in the CRA when Harvey Mydland defeated a pro-Howard Jarvis candidate, Peter Marcus, for county president. Mydland commented, after his 42-11 (vote by units) win, that it represented a victory for "orderly Republicanism."

With this brand, the strong county vote may be decisive in picking between Nixon, an apparent certainty for the GOP primary nomination, and Joe Shell, a vigorous champion of a more conservative stripe.

Hall, living at 6229 Seaside Walk, is immediate past president of the county CRA. The state presidency traditionally shifts between Northern and Southern California and the current chief is northerner Bob Lindsay. No major opposition is yet at hand for Hall's bid.

Readers Discuss Election Issues

EDITOR:

As a high school student, I visit the main library at least two or three times a week and never have I found the conditions to be as pressing as described in the campaign pamphlets and in your articles and editorials supporting the main library bond issue.

It is stressed that the present library, having been built in 1909, is too old to function properly. But aren't our greatest buildings, from the national monments in Washington to the great university libraries of Harvard and Yale, as well at the British Museum and the Bibliotheque, many years older than our main library? Can it be, perhaps, that age does not necessarily affect the performance of a building?

THOMAS G. WALSH

THE PRESENT main library building shuts people out rather than welcomes them. The stairs and narrow aisles are barriers that can't be surmounted by many people. Many senior citizens find the steps as high and difficult as the face of a cliff.

Students find that books are hard to find and that there is seldom a place to sit and study the book after it is found.

I am homeowner living far from downtown, but this new main library has my wholehearted support. I live near a branch library, but a branch library is simply a room off the main library.

PROP. 5, a measure to provide fire protection facilities, makes good sense. Few people realize how high the costs of fire insurance have gone. Added rates for insurance give you receipts which have no value whatever unless you do have a fire. Prop. 5 gives you some tangible value.

Wants Dividends Taxed at Source

EDITOR:

I read in Feb. 13 issue a letter from one J. G. Beeler of Palos Verdes in which he protests the proposed law that will bring about taxing at the source, incomes derived from dividends on stocks and interest on bonds and other types of loans.

Those deriving their income from wages or salary are taxed at the source. The federal tax is taken out before the pay check is delivered. Why does Mr. Beeler feel that those whose incomes consist of dividends and interest are entitled to special treatment?

It is well known that many whose incomes are from such sources do not declare the full amount and thus escape paying the amount of tax they should, thus loading a greater share of the cost of government on others. This is one of the tax loopholes that the present administration is trying to plug by the proposed law of which Mr. Beeler complains.

Sun Oil Lobbyist Attempting to Block Air Pollution Study

WASHINGTON—Lobbyist for the Pew Sun Oil interests, Harry Davis, has been hopping around the Pennsylvania legislature blocking a resolution which could make health history for the entire U.S.A. It's a resolution calling for a thorough study of air pollution from automobile exhaust fumes.

State Sen. Charles Wiener has come up with the significant fact that during the 40 years between 1915 and 1955 lung cancer jumped from one death per 100,000 males to 25 deaths per 100,000 males. In the same 40-year period, American consumption of gasoline jumped from 2 billion gallons annually to 50 billion. Thus, both gasoline fumes and lung cancer increased 25-fold in 40 years.

PEARSON

Pointing to the tragic deaths in Donora, Pa., in 1948 from air pollution, and the death of 4,000 people in London on Dec. 5, 1952, as a result of an air-polluted fog, Wiener introduced a resolution providing for a thorough study of air pollution and automobile exhaust fumes.

This followed on the heels of an investigation by Sen. Maurine Neuberger, Oregon Democrat, which showed U.S. Public Health Service findings that "if air pollution continues to increase . . . the over-all effect on the economy, health and welfare of the people may become a disaster."

A national conference on air pollution also warned: "Although the public is more aware of the smoke and odors from diesel engine buses, trucks and trains, these are relatively minor sources as compared to auto exhausts."

However, the political lineup in the Pennsylvania Senate is 25 Republicans against 25 Democrats. Lobbyist Harry Davis has only to swing one vote to block the Wiener air pollution resolution. So far he has been successful.

Note—The Pew family has been the highest contributor to Republican campaigns in the state of Pennsylvania.

FLYING between Phoenix and Salt Lake City recently, Postmaster General J. Edward Day was awakened from a nap by a comely airline stewardess, who inquired if the passengers would like something to drink.

"We are not serving cocktails on this trip," she said, "but you may have your choice of coffee, tea or milk."

As she paused at Day's seat to take his order, the stewardess smiled and remarked: "Oh, I know who you are. You'll have milk, no doubt."

"How did you arrive at that deduction?" inquired Day.

"President Kennedy wants everyone to drink more milk," she replied brightly. "As a Cabinet member, I am sure you must agree with him."

Day drank the milk and liked it.

IT'S AN EASY life for today's child. The psychologists say he can behave just about as he pleases and the big new dictionary says he can talk the same way.

WE ARE TOLD that a cure for the common cold can be found if people really want it. We're not so sure we do. It's about the only way left to stay home sick without being sick.

* * * *

IT LOOKS LIKE an early spring. Usually we don't get the annual prediction of pastel hats for men until the middle of March.

* * * *

THE CLEOPATRA look is ballyhooed to advertise the Liz Taylor movie. It remains to be seen where women will go so far as to travel around rolled up in a rug.

IN THE antiseptic suburbs, little boys can't very well play knight errant as there are no garbage-can lids to use for shields.

Languages in the News

By Charles F. Boritz and Robert Stumpen-Darie

Moscow has its supermarkets too. Instead of pushing shopping carts, however, the Moscow housewife carries a shopping bag, called a avoska (ah-VOHS-kah.) This word comes from the colloquial expression (ah-VOHS) meaning "perhaps." This means that perhaps she will find something to put into it.

One of the biggest stores in Moscow is the G.U.M., of which the initials stand for

Gosudarstyenni Universalni Magazin — "Government Universal Store."

In case you plan to do any shopping for food at the GUM, here is a sample conversation which you might have as you take your avoska to the food department, as well as the probable reply which you might receive.

Oo vahs yest MAHS-loh seh-VOHD-n'yah? — ("Do you have any butter today?")

Seh-VOHD-n'yah oo nahs n'yet. — ("We have none today.") And then, as an alternate choice:—

N'yeh hoh-t'YEE-t'yeh lee ee-KREE? — ("Wouldn't you like some caviar?")

(Does some word in any language puzzle you? Put your question to "Languages in the News" in care of this newspaper).

Powers Still Must Face Public Query

By WALTER T. RIDDER
Chief, I, P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — According to President Kennedy at last week's press conference, the board of inquiry looking into the case of the U2 pilot, Francis Gary Powers will complete its investigation simetime in the middle of this coming week. The board, under the chairmanship of Judge E. J. Prettyman, a member of the Circuit Court of Appeals, is studying the knotty question of whether the U.S. owes anything to Powers on his contract or whether Powers owes something to the U.S.

The President hinted Wednesday that the board will probably rule that Powers had fulfilled his contract for high-level espionage and that he will be free to go his own way in the future.

Powers is currently still being held in some secret place where both the Prettyman board of inquiry and various intelligence agencies of the government are questioning him. Just how much information they are getting from him they alone know, but the word has been spread that he has not been enormously helpful. It has been leaked—deliberately or otherwise — that Powers could throw no light on the way in which his plane was brought down. He is said to have asserted that something happened, he didn't know what. He could have been hit by a rocket or a proximity shell or it could have been an internal explosion of some kind.

RIDDER

* * * *

SOME LIGHT might, but probably won't be shed upon the mystery when Powers faces the press, perhaps late this week or next week. Powers has had much to endure but his first public press conference is likely to be an unforgettable experience. After the press gets through with him, he'll be turned loose to congressional committees and when that's over, he will no doubt be ready for another rest in a secluded spot.

In both the cases of the press conference and the congressional committees, there will be political overtones to the Powers questioning. The Kennedy administration has come under some Republican criticism for having exchanged Powers for Col. Abel. These critics have maintained that in essence we swapped on even terms a not-too-bright airplane pilot and mercenary for a skilled and long-experienced master spy. It was, as some Republican said, much like trading "A Three Eye League busher for Mickey Mantle."

* * * *

DEMOCRATS defend the exchange on the ground that it was right and good for the American government to obtain the release of an American citizen who had been shot down in line of duty to his country. They also argue that no visable purpose would have been served in not making the trade as the effectiveness of Col. Abel has no doubt been impaired through the simple fact that he had been caught.

Whatever the arguments, it is clear that the public appearances of Powers, sometime within the next week or so, are likely to turn into public and political spectacles.

Deny S. Viet Nam Crop Destruction

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department said chemicals are being used in South Viet Nam only to strip foliage from jungle roadsides where Communist guerrillas hide.

The Pentagon denied Communist allegations that the "defoliating" chemical was being used to wipe out rice crops.

Communist Viet Cong agents have seized upon use of the defoliating material for propaganda purposes. They have charged the objective is destruction of farmers' rice paddies and that the chemical is dangerous to men and animals, as well as to foliage and crops.

Powers Still Must Face Public Query

By WALTER T. RIDDER
Chief, L P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — According to President Kennedy at last week's press conference, the board of inquiry looking into the case of the U2 pilot, Francis Gary Powers will complete its investigation sometime in the middle of this coming week. The board, under the chairmanship of Judge E. J. Prettyman, a member of the Circuit Court of Appeals, is studying the knotty question of whether the U.S. owes anything to Powers on his contract or whether Powers owes something to the U.S.

The President hinted Wednesday that the board will probably rule that Powers had fulfilled his contract for high-level espionage and that he will be free to go his own way in the future.

Powers is currently still being held in some secret place where both the Prettyman board of inquiry and various intelligence agencies of the government are questioning him. Just how much information they are getting from him they alone know, but the word has been spread that he has not been enormously helpful. It has been leaked—deliberately or otherwise — that Powers could throw no light on the way in which his plane was brought down. He is said to have asserted that something happened, he didn't know what. He could have been hit by a rocket or a proximity shell or it could have been an internal explosion of some kind.

• • • •

SOME LIGHT might, but probably won't be shed upon the mystery when Powers faces the press, perhaps late this week or next week. Powers has had much to endure but his first public press conference is likely to be an unforgettable experience. After the press gets through with him, he'll be turned loose to congressional committees and when that's over, he will no doubt be ready for another rest in a secluded spot.

In both the cases of the press conference and the congressional committees, there will be political overtones to the Powers questioning. The Kennedy administration has come under some Republican criticism for having exchanged Powers for Col. Abel. These critics have maintained that in essence we swapped on even terms a not-too-bright airplane pilot and mercenary for a skilled and long-experienced master spy. It was, as some Republican said, much like trading "A Three Eye League busher for Mickey Mantle."

• • • •

DEMOCRATS defend the exchange on the ground that it was right and good for the American government to obtain the release of an American citizen who had been shot down in line of duty to his country. They also argue that no visable purpose would have been served in not making the trade as the effectiveness of Col. Abel has no doubt been impaired through the simple fact that he had been caught.

Whatever the arguments, it is clear that the public appearances of Powers, sometime within the next week or so, are likely to turn into public and political spectacles.

Deny S. Viet Nam Crop Destruction

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department said chemicals are being used in South Viet Nam only to strip foliage from jungle roadsides where Communist guerrillas hide.

The Pentagon denied Communist allegations that the "defoliating" chemical was being used to wipe out rice crops.

Communist Viet Cong agents have seized upon use of the defoliating material for propaganda purposes. They have charged the objective is destruction of farmers' rice paddies and that the chemical is dangerous to men and animals, as well as to foliage and crops.

REASON TO GET CATTY

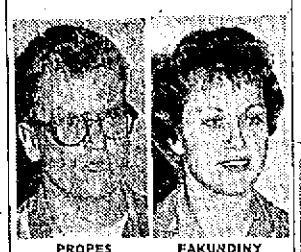

Yankee Doodle, 12-year-old half Manx and half Persian cat looks enviously at one of the big trophies to be presented during competition today between more than 400 of the nation's top cats. The event, in Municipal Auditorium, is the convention of the American Cat Fanciers Association. Yankee Doodle, owned by Sidney E. Ross of 554 W. Hamilton St., San Pedro, won a trophy for being the oldestc at in the show.

SIDEWALK SENATE

WHY DO YOU THINK LONG BEACH NEEDS A NEW MAIN PUBLIC LIBRARY?

(Asked in main public library.)

STEVE PROPES, 19, of 5338 Hanbury St., State College sophomore: For a population the size of Long Beach, the facilities of this library for holding books are wholly inadequate.

PROPES FAKUNDINY

JEANNE FAKUNDINY, 20, of 119 Covina Ave., State College sophomore: The parking facilities make it almost impossible to use this library.

JUDY DALLIN, 19, of 7233 Rosebay St., State College sophomore: This library obviously isn't large enough to house the facilities and the people who need to work here.

DALLIN ELLIOTT

RUTH ANN ELLIOTT, 20, of 3814 Pacific Ave., State College junior: In a tour of the library I was astonished at the lack of space — the overcrowded conditions under which people have to work.

JUDEE BUCKERFIELD, 21, of 776 Bennett Ave., State College junior: In this lack of space, periodicals and books have to be stored where it is hard to get to them, so they are almost lost to the public.

ABOARD THE NOA

Ship's Prize to Marine!

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) —The sailor of the month on the Navy destroyer Noa is astronaut John Glenn. He received the award and the $15 check that goes with it after his space capsule was recovered by the Noa Tuesday.

Glenn endorsed the check over to the Noa's recreation fund with this inscription:

"Please put this in the recreation fund for the ship's crew. A fine ship and a fine crew. I appreciate the lift home more than I can say."

It was signed John H. Glenn Jr.

BUCKERFIELD DEIBEL

RON DEIBEL, 22, of 435 Ultimo Ave., State College graduate student: Trying to find a seat in this library on Saturday is like trying to find a seat in the New York subway!

going on—they say its because there's a lady on the council.

"The city has a real good future," she said. "And development of the Long Beach Marina on one side and marina developments to the south of us have contributed greatly to our growth."

* * * *

THE CITY has no financial problems. With a $1.50 tax rate, the city has a budget today of $803,000 (including a carryover from last year). This year's expenditures are $588,168; receipts, $606,500.

Some indication of the change in the community may be seen from a comparison of income from property taxes. In 1954, the income was $155,106. The 1961 figure: $237,739.

"Assessed valuation of property today is $16 millions —and it should double to about $32 millions when the Leisure World development is completed," said Brashear.

* * * *

BRASHEAR SEES the city coming into a period of growth pains which will bring problems.

What is needed, he said, is a city council-city manager long-range program for handling problems—no such policy exists; the carrying out of day to day functions in an expanding community and planning for expansion and growth.

A master plan committee, currently is making studies and soon will report back to the Council.

* * * *

THE EXPANSION of the city has not materially changed its day-to-day operation thus far. The city had 45 full time employes, for example, in 1954; today it has 53 full time employes.

That doesn't include firemen.

Teachers Now Get Time to Eat Lunch

and after that there was no more trouble." Mrs. Barnes intimates that she may have learned as much out of the incident as the pupil.

With their own children in school, the Burroughs mothers had to work out a formula to combat any intimation of possible favoritism. "We tried to plan it so our own children would be under someone else's jurisdiction at all times."

MRS. BARNES also learned that the whistle is a sharp toned instrument to be played only on special occasions. "Otherwise it loses its meaning."

The three Burroughs playground parents divide their chores between two play areas and the cafeteria, where one of their duties is to try to see that the children eat properly. Like the military, they assume carefully prepared positions with plans to cover another's territory in case a "hot spot" (trouble area) requires the presence of two.

* * * *

DR. GEORGE L. GEIGER, assistant superintendent who has headed the revolutionary Long Beach program since its inception, describes some of its workings:

"We regard selection of the playground assistants as one of the most important factors. They all have 'roots in the community' with a background in P-T.A. or community civic work." They also must have a current Red Cross first aid certificate.

The selectivity system has imposing credentials. At six schools, there has been no change in personnel in six years. About 100 mothers — or slightly less than half — have stayed with it since its start.

* * * *

THE COST of the plan—slightly more than $100,000 per year here—has proved a stumbling block to its adoption by some large districts, such as the Los Angeles City Schools.

However, Geiger points out, that the cost is only $3 per pupil each year or 2 cents per day. He contends that the improvement in teacher morale and instruction more than justifies the expense.

The number of playground assistants varies from 2 to 6 per school. About 35,000 children are supervised in the program.

* * * *

THE SCHOOL district has received scores of requests for information on the plan, the Long Beach program has been adopted in its essentials at many of them.

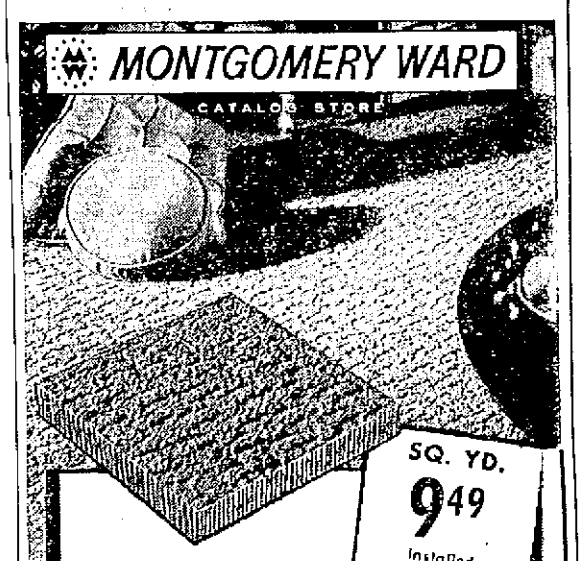

At the conclusion of the program's first full year, the Long Beach district had an even more impressive measure of its popularity.

Results of a questionnaire showed that 98 per cent of the teachers—some of whom had been dubious about turning their charges over to amateurs — liked the plan. More than 9 out of 10 noon directors called it very successful."

The parents' reaction can be gauged by a single statistic. In six years, says Geiger, only one has objected and his fears were dispelled at the school level.

REASON TO GET CATTY

Yankee Doodle, 12-year-old half Manx and half Persian cat looks enviously at one of the big trophies to be presented during competition today between more than 400 of the nation's top cats. The event, in Municipal Auditorium, is the convention of the American Cat Fanciers Association. Yankee Doodle, owned by Sidney E. Ross of 554 W. Hamilton St., San Pedro, won a trophy for being the oldestc at in the show.

WHY DO YOU THINK LONG BEACH NEEDS A NEW MAIN PUBLIC LIBRARY?

(Asked in main public library.)

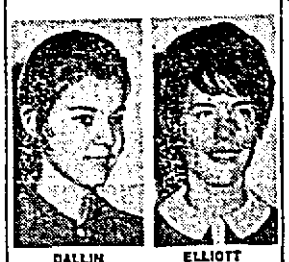

STEVE PROPES, 19, of 533S Hanbury St., State College sophomore: For a population the size of Long Beach, the facilities of this library for holding books are wholly inadequate.

PROPES FAKUNDINY

JEANNE FAKUNDINY, 20, of 119 Covina Ave., State College sophomore: The parking facilities make it almost impossible to use this library.

JUDY DALLIN, 19, of 7233 Rosebay St., State College sophomore: This library obviously isn't large enough to house the facilities and the people who need to work here.

DALLIN ELLIOTT

RUTH ANN ELLIOTT, 20, of 3814 Pacific Ave., State College junior: In a tour of the library I was astonished at the lack of space — the overcrowded conditions under which people have to work.

JUDEE BUCKERFIELD, 21, of 776 Bennett Ave., State College junior: In this lack of space, periodicals and books have to be stored where it is hard to get to them, so they are almost lost to the public.

ABOARD THE NOA

Ship's Prize to Marine!

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) —The sailor of the month on the Navy destroyer Noa is astronaut John Glenn. He received the award and the $15 check that goes with it after his space capsule was recovered by the Noa Tuesday.

Glenn endorsed the check over to the Noa's recreation fund with this inscription:

"Please put this in the recreation fund for the ship's crew. A fine ship and a fine crew. I appreciate the lift home more than I can say."

It was signed John H. Glenn Jr.

going on—they say its because there's a lady on the council.

"The city has a real good future," she said. "And development of the Long Beach Marina on one side and marina developments to the south of us have contributed greatly to our growth."

* * * *

THE CITY has no financial problems. With a $1.50 tax rate, the city has a budget today of $803,000 (including a carryover from last year). This year's expenditures are $588,168; receipts, $606,500.

Some indication of the change in the community may be seen from a comparison of income from property taxes. In 1954, the income was $155,106. The 1961 figure: $237,739.

"Assessed valuation of property today is $16 millions —and it should double to about $32 millions when the Leisure World development is completed," said Brashear.

* * * *

BRASHEAR SEES the city coming into a period of growth pains which will bring problems.

What is needed, he said, is a city council-city manager long-range program for handling problems—no such policy exists; the carrying out of day to day functions in an expanding community and planning for expansion and growth.

A master plan committee, currently is making studies and soon will report back to the Council.

THE EXPANSION of the city has not materially changed its day-to-day operation thus far. The city had 45 full time employes, for example, in 1954; today it has 53 full time employes.

That doesn't include firemen.

The number of playground assistants varies from 2 to 6 per school. About 35,000 children are supervised in the program.

THE SCHOOL district has received scores of requests for information on the plan, the Long Beach program has been adopted in its essentials at many of them.

At the conclusion of the program's first full year, the Long Beach district had an even more impressive measure of its popularity.

Results of a questionnaire showed that 98 per cent of the teachers—some of whom had been dubious about turning their charges over to amateurs — liked the plan. More than 9 out of 10 noon directors called it very successful."

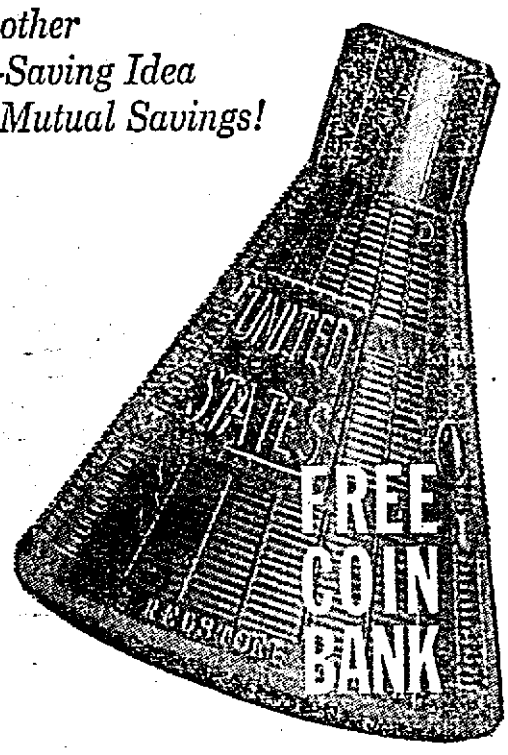

The parents' reaction can be gauged by a single statistic. In six years, says Geiger, only one has objected and his fears were dispelled at the school level.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Doubts Over Strength of Recovery Crop Up

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Doubts about the strength of the business recovery cropped up this week.

Some statistics showed that in January the economic pace fell off from the December rate.

This came as an unexpected disappointment. There had been general confidence that the economy was headed up a steady incline, at least for the first half of the year.

Business failures, totaling 1,447, were the highest for any January since 1939.

* * * *

THE CENSUS BUREAU reported that housing starts declined for the third consecutive month. Private housing starts were estimated at an annual rate 1,292,000 units, down 1 per cent from December and the lowest since last May.

Declines had been reported earlier in factory production, personal incomes and retail sales.

THE KENNEDY administration was inclined to blame bad weather for much of the slowdown and indicated confidence that its goal of a gross national product of $570 billion—up from $521.3 billion in 1961—would be attained.

The President's top economist, Walter Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said the January dip of business indicators "provides no cause for alarm."

"I BELIEVE I can safely answer January's question marks with a reaffirmation of our favorable forecast for 1962," he said.

Another economist, Martin R. Gainsbrugh of the National Industrial Conference Board, took a different view. He said there is little recent statistical information to indicate a boom or further unbroken growth this year. And he added that lull in production and retail trade may indicate a sharp downward revision of gross national product estimates.

But there were some bright spots. Orders received by durable goods manufacturers in January rose to a record $16.9 billion.

"Most major industries, except steel, contributed to the increased flow of new orders in January," the Commerce Department said. "Steel orders remained at the very high December rate."

* * * *

A SURVEY by the Federal Reserve Board indicated that consumers in January had a strong desire to buy new cars in the next six months. The percentage was the highest for a January since the poll was begun in 1959.

This was reflected in the first third of February, when dealers sold 154,755 new American-made cars, compared with 118,685 in the comparable week of 1961.

Automobile production held steady this week at an estimated 135,000 cars. Output last week was 135,220 and a year ago 100,457.

Negotiations to reach an early contract in the steel industry continued at a stepped-up pace. Reports circulated that the producers and the United Steelworkers were on the verge of agreement. But negotiators said "such widespread optimism is somewhat premature in the light of the facts. We have just gotten into the difficult matters in the area of economic settlement."

STEEL production inched higher last week but indications were that mills will hold output steady until the labor situation is clearer. The mills turned out 2,454,000 tons, a rise of 0.3 per cent over the previous week. The unofficial operating rate reached 81.5 per cent of capacity.

Walter J. Campbell, editor of Steel Magazine, forecast a record year for steel users no matter what results from the contract negotiations. He predicted the metalworking industry's gross sales would total $160 billion, a 7 per cent increase over last year.

President Kennedy asked Congress to grant standby spending authority to combat future threats of recession. The legislation would allow up to $2 billion to be committed when unemployment rose sharply and stayed up several months. It wasn't given much chance of enactment.

THE SECURITIES and Exchange Commission extended its investigation of the securities industry to the New York Stock Exchange. It sent 16-page questionnaires to 350 specialists, asking details of their activities.

Specialists have the responsibility of maintaining orderly markets in the stocks assigned to them. The SEC wants to find out if its rules and those of the exchange are adequate to protect investors.

Briefly around the business scene: American Telephone & Telegraph Co. earned $1,284,586,000 in 1961, the highest ever for a U. S. corporation . . . The S. H. Kress & Co. variety store chain plans to enter the discount field next month . . . The U. S. balance-of-payments deficit in the fourth quarter of 1961 rose to $1.45 billion from $1.434 billion in the like 1960 period . . . Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co. has developed a push-button autopilot for light aircraft.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Doubts Over Strength of Recovery Crop Up

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Doubts about the strength of the business recovery cropped up this week.

Some statistics showed that in January the economic pace fell off from the December rate.

This came as an unexpected disappointment. There had been general confidence that the economy was headed up a steady incline, at least for the first half of the year.

Business failures, totaling 1,447, were the highest for any January since 1939.

* * * *

THE CENSUS BUREAU reported that housing starts declined for the third consecutive month. Private housing starts were estimated at an annual rate 1,292,000 units, down 1 per cent from December and the lowest since last May.

Declines had been reported earlier in factory production, personal incomes and retail sales.

THE KENNEDY administration was inclined to blame bad weather for much of the slowdown and indicated confidence that its goal of a gross national product of $570 billion—up from $521.3 billion in 1961—would be attained.

The President's top economist, Walter Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said the January dip of business indicators "provides no cause for alarm."

"I BELIEVE I can safely answer January's question marks with a reaffirmation of our favorable forecast for 1962," he said.

Another economist, Martin R. Gainsbrugh of the National Industrial Conference Board, took a different view. He said there is little recent statistical information to indicate a boom or further unbroken growth this year. And he added that lull in production and retail trade may indicate a sharp downward revision of gross national product estimates.

But there were some bright spots. Orders received by durable goods manufacturers in January rose to a record $16.9 billion.

"Most major industries, except steel, contributed to the increased flow of new orders in January," the Commerce Department said. "Steel orders remained at the very high December rate."

* * * *

A SURVEY by the Federal Reserve Board indicated that consumers in January had a strong desire to buy new cars in the next six months. The percentage was the highest for a January since the poll was begun in 1959.

This was reflected in the first third of February, when dealers sold 154,755 new American-made cars, compared with 118,685 in the comparable week of 1961.

Automobile production held steady this week at an estimated 135,000 cars. Output last week was 135,220 and a year ago 100,457.

Negotiations to reach an early contract in the steel industry continued at a stepped-up pace. Reports circulated that the producers and the United Steelworkers were on the verge of agreement. But negotiators said "such widespread optimism is somewhat premature in the light of the facts. We have just gotten into the difficult matters in the area of economic settlement."

STEEL production inched higher last week but indications were that mills will hold output steady until the labor situation is clearer. The mills turned out 2,454,000 tons, a rise of 0.3 per cent over the previous week. The unofficial operating rate reached 81.5 per cent of capacity.

Walter J. Campbell, editor of Steel Magazine, forecast a record year for steel users no matter what results from the contract negotiations. He predicted the metalworking industry's gross sales would total $160 billion, a 7 per cent increase over last year.

President Kennedy asked Congress to grant standby spending authority to combat future threats of recession. The legislation would allow up to $2 billion to be committed when unemployment rose sharply and stayed up several months. It wasn't given much chance of enactment.

THE SECURITIES and Exchange Commission extended its investigation of the securities industry to the New York Stock Exchange. It sent 16-page questionnaires to 350 specialists, asking details of their activities.

Specialists have the responsibility of maintaining orderly markets in the stocks assigned to them. The SEC wants to find out if its rules and those of the exchange are adequate to protect investors.

Briefly around the business scene: American Telephone & Telegraph Co. earned $1,284,586,000 in 1961, the highest ever for a U. S. corporation . . . The S. H. Kress & Co. variety store chain plans to enter the discount field next month . . . The U. S. balance-of-payments deficit in the fourth quarter of 1961 rose to $1.45 billion from $1.434 billion in the like 1960 period . . . Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co. has developed a push-button autopilot for light aircraft.

Rank Outsider Wins 'Big Cap'

—Staff Photos by Kent Henderson

JUST AS THESE WOMEN (at left and right), you may have needed magnifying glass to find Physician (upper center) as he trails Olden Times by about 15 lengths heading into first turn. But there is no overlooking the five-year-old gelding (lower center) as jockey Donald Pierce spurs him across the finish line a handy and sensational winner of Santa Anita Handicap Saturday.

'POOR' PHYSICIAN ROMPS TO RICHES

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor

Is there a doctor in the house?

One certainly was needed Saturday as a completely disregarded "outsider" named Physician stunned 48,705 drenched patrons with a rousing two and one-half length victory in the $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

Physician was the poor relations portion of a three horse entry sponsored by Rex Ellsworth—Olden Times and Prove It being the supposed "class."

If the five-year-old gelding had not been coupled with his more respected stablemates he might have gone off at 100-1 odds. As it was, the Cinderella horse returned only $7.60 to win.

Olden Times salvaged second honors, a neck ahead of the odds-on favorite Four-And-Twenty. Sparrow Castle was five lengths back in fourth spot.

Physician actually is owned by Lynn A. Boice, who is the "second string" trainer for Ellsworth. Consequently, since Boice trains for Ellsworth, Physician was forced by racing rules to be grouped as a three-horse entry, not as a separate wagering factor.

When entries for the Big 'Cap closed Thursday, experts snickered when Physician's name was included. The gelding had done nothing at all to distinguish himself either at Bay Meadows or earlier in the Santa Anita meeting.

He had burned up the county fair track at Pomona in September, but Pomona is a long way from Arcadia as the thoroughbred horse flies. Or so everyone thought until Saturday!

He closed at 60-1 odds in the Caliente Future Book and before the race even those juicy figures seemed low for a beast of Physician's caliber.

Boice himself didn't figure his gelding had a chance in the world in shooting for the big moon. Why he entered his horse is interesting.

"He did so well at Pomona that I made up my mind he might have a little chance in the Santa Anita Handicap, explained the surprisingly calm owner-trainer after the race.

"So, I went along with the subscription fee ($100). On Thursday (when entries closed) I still didn't know if I wanted to enter Physician, but figured I'd toss in another $500 and enter him.

Boice still didn't know whether he wanted to cough up another $1,500 for a starting fee when the final moment of decision arrived 45 minutes before the race, the last time a Big 'Cap entrant can be scratched.

"I couldn't make up my mind, so I told the track officials to let him go. Everybody thought I was out of my mind and, frankly, so did I."

Boice's insanity looked authentic for the first half of the classic. Physician trailed the 13-horse field for almost a full mile, being 16 lengths behind the pace-setting Olden Times and Four-And-Twenty at one point.

Pierce Made Move at Stretch

But jockey Donald Pierce, following perfectly Boice's instructions to hold back Physician in the early stages, made his first move as the other 12 horses hit the stretch turn for home.

He came roaring on the inside curve of the stretch turn like the night train to London . . . and then was blocked as the field straightened out for the long stretch run.

Piece alertly pulled Physician around three other horses, then had the middle of the track to himself and poured on the coals, passing the tiring Olden Times and Four-And-Twenty as if they were bogged down on the track that turned from fast to good only one hour earlier because of a sudden downpour.

Olden Times and Four-And-Twenty were the only two horses in contention throughout the race, with the exception obviously of the late-finishing Physician.

Johnny Longden wanted to grab the lead from Olden Times and set his own pace, but couldn't nudge Four-And-Twenty in front of Alex Maese's mount. As Longden explained later, the 16-pound weight difference between the two pacesetters was responsible (Four-And-Twenty carried 129 pounds, Olden Times 113. Physician packed 114).

Prove It Fades to Ninth

Prove It was well-placed in the third slot until the field headed down the torturous stretch. Then last year's Big 'Cap winner ran out of gas, finishing an eventual ninth.

Sparrow Castle picked up a neat $10,000 package for finishing fourth, but he only passed weary horses and was never a contender. The other eight pieces of meat should have stayed home.

The 25th running of Santa Anita's most distinguished event can be summed up easily—two well-regarded aristocrats killed each other off on the pace and set up a rousing finish for a little country kid from Pomona.

If there is a doctor in the house, the professional handicappers require his services this weeknd. After Doc Jocoy ($39.80) last week and Physician this Saturday, the medical profession should be proud—and also expect a sudden rush of business from handicappers this week.

LEFT OUT, JOCKEY CASHES IN

Because his mount Physician was so lightly regarded in the three-horse Ellsworth entry Saturday, jockey Donald Pierce was not included in a "payoff agreement" between the other two jockeys.

Willie Shoemaker (Prove It) and Alex Maese (Olden Times) had agreed to divide their end of the purses if either of their mounts won the Santa Anita Handicap.

The winner would take 75 per cent, the other 25 per cent.

Fortunately (for Donald) they neglected to include Pierce in the "gentleman's agreement."

Consequently, Pierce will keep his entire 10 per cent of the jockey's share — which amounts to a fat $10,000.

Jockey Quotes

DONALD PIERCE (Physician)—Mr. Boice told me to take this horse back and let him stay out of it for the early part, and he told me also when I made my run not to check him. When I first asked him to run I knew right away we were going to win it if we got through all the way. He made it through on the rail around the turn, then I had to pull him out around about three horses when we straightened out.

ALEX MAESE (Olden Times)—He ran his race, had good speed and held on as game as could be. Just couldn't hold that winner.

JOHN LONGDEN (Four-And-Twenty)—You can't beat the handicapper. He ran a good race, almost got Olden Times, but that other horse ran by both of us like we were tied. Weight made the difference.

GNARLED TREE and spread branches are scenic backdrop as 'Big Cap' horses parade in paddock area before heading to the post.

NOTHING PLAIN ABOUT PLUSH NEW PLANE

Dodgers Touch Base at Vero

By GEORGE LEDERER

VERO BEACH, Fla.—Chances are that the Dodgers will enter a decompression chamber before they assemble for their first vernal exercises here this afternoon. The transition from their plush new flying machine to the bare barracks of the O'Malley-Hilton is that great.

Still, there is no guarantee that a majority of the athletes will not suffer from at least a case of knee bends. With less than two weeks to prepare for the first exhibition game on March 10, manager Walter Alston must conduct an accelerated training program to overcome the club's latest start in five years.

Beginning Monday, daily four-hour workouts will commence at 10 a.m. By the end of the week Alston hopes to have his squad in shape for camp games.

Alston's announced schedule drew moans as soon as the players unpacked their gear in the clubhouse Saturday evening after a record flight from L. A. International Airport. The just-under-six-hour trip wasn't long enough to suit most.

Any resemblance between interiors of the $3,600,000 jet-powered Electra II and Dodgertown quarters is purely fictitious. The craft is a virtual country club in the sky. Everything is first cabin in the true sense of the word.

All 68 seats are first class. The same model commercial liner has 92 seats.

The plane is designed especially for sports travel. It has five lounge areas with a card table in each. It has four day sofas which can be converted into beds. The one catch is that Frank Howard (6-7) and Don Drysdale (6-6) cannot occupy the two uppers at the same time.

If Drysdale wants to rest for the next day's pitching assignment, he will have to reserve the entire berth, but might consider a sublease to Maury Wills.

For those who cannot find sleeping quarters, Dodger president Walter O'Malley has installed the latest self-brewing coffee machine. He hopes, too, that it will keep some players awake on the field.

The Shelley Berman devotees can request coffee, tea or milk, but no martinis. And they will have to imagine the stewardesses, if it is possible to do so while being served by Nobu Kawano and John (The Senator) Griffin.

The plane's interior is a pastel picture of blue, beige and turquoise. The thick blue carpeting is inscribed with bats and baseballs. There are pillows on the sofas and artificial flower

L. B. Hockey Prospects Brighten

The Long Beach ice hockey franchise bid is not dead, even though a 50-mile territorial rights by-law of the Western League currently is in effect.

A Canadian group made a specific visit to Los Angeles and Long Beach during the past week to study the arenas in both cities and to determine if two professional clubs could operate in this area without the original team (the Los Angeles Blades) suffering an attendance loss.

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

This group, acting strictly as unofficial observers, came up with these conclusions:

1. The Los Angeles-Long Beach area could support two hockey clubs (theoretically the Blades continuing to attract fans from central and northern Los Angeles and a team here luring Long Beach-Lakewood, harbor area and Orange County followers).

2. A movement of franchises from, say, places like Calgary and Edmonton, Canada, is inevitable and the franchises should be relocated in major metropolitan areas.

3. The still-under-construction Long Beach Arena is ideal for continuous hockey and, in fact, would be by far the finest arena in the circuit.

Biggest Long Beach booster in the Canadian delegation was Merv (Red) Dutton, former National Hockey League star and president. Dutton conferred with Dan Reeves of the Blades and both Art Edwards and Art Chapman, the gentlemen who would operate any Long Beach franchise.

Dutton saw no reason why Long Beach would not be a perfect site for the newest Western Hockey League franchise and apparently so informed Reeves. Dutton stressed the important rivalry factor that could be created between L.A. and this city (believe me that rivalry already has begun in and out of hockey circles).

Dutton also hit home another major factor to Reeves, an outstanding businessman and a gentleman respected in every area of sports. This was item No. 2 which I chronicled above.

DUTTON POINTED OUT that franchises like Edmonton and Calgary cannot keep up with the paces being set by California teams (and in a smaller way by clubs in Oregon and Washington).

"Economy is different in Western Canada and the United States," explained Dutton. "Average salaries of hockey players on Calgary and Edmonton teams are about $5,000. Average salaries of the Blades, I'd guess, are about $8,000 per man.

"The Blades are able to spend more money to attract players than the Canadian teams. This is bound to make a very big difference in another year or two, because a player doesn't want to play the same type of hockey as another man and earn half his salary."

Edwards, the Long Beach bankroller, realizes his salaries would have to keep pace with Blade wages and is willing to go along with the Southern California "pay scale."

STILL ANOTHER FACTOR concerning the present Canadian franchises is admission price. Prices in the two mentioned Canadian cities (I won't use "villages" even in jest because of the repercussion I received last week when I made such a "joking" comment) are much lower than at the L.A. Sports Arena or in San Francisco, Seattle, Portland or Spokane.

"The Calgary and Edmonton stadiums average 4,000 fans per contest," declared Dutton. "That would be good enough in Los Angeles or Long Beach, because of higher admission prices, but it's not going to be good enough in the Canadian cities much longer.

"Progress is the thing today and Southern California is the center of the world's sports progress."

If Dutton is a sounding-board for other important hockey people along the West Coast, Long Beach apparently is wanted in the Western League.

As I've said many times before, Reeves holds the key to Long Beach. I know Dutton's statements impressed him, enough I hope to sway him into waiving the 50-mile rule.

IN THE IRONY DEPARTMENT, a Blades' official sought to secure playing dates next season for his team in the Long Beach Arena. The man contacted was Edwards! White-haired Arthur smiled sardonically, then referred the Blader to Arena manager Win Hanssen. Diplomatically, Hanssen tabled the request "pending action on our Long Beach franchise."

In the conclusion-to-column department, I know many people who have bombed me with ice arena questions will be happy to learn that Edwards has booked a solid week of ice shows this winter in the Long Beach Arena.

"We'll have the ice whether or not we have an ice team," said Edwards Saturday. "So we're going to have ice shows in Long Beach, anyway."

Ticket lines don't form Monday! Dates and ticket information will be available later.

Flying Wheels Clinch Title

The Long Beach Flying Wheels clinched the championship of the Pacific Coast Wheelchair Basketball League with a 64-47 victory over the Garden Grove Bears Saturday night at Culver City High School.

Bill Fairbanks of Garden Grove had 23 points to lead the scoring parade. John Cheves tipped in 18 for Long Beach.

The win assures the Wheels a birth in the national tournament to be held at Chanute Field, Ill., beginning March 24.

Assured of Big 5 Title Tie

By JEROME HALL

UCLA's basketball team Saturday night proved that the one-point free throw is more important than the two-point field goal.

UCLA beat Stanford, 75-65, at the Sports Arena, thereby assuring itself of no less than a tie for the Big Five crown and a place in the NCAA playoffs. It wasn't as easy as the score sounds.

Johnny Green, who is headed for the conference scoring championship, shot, dribbled and otherwise guided the Bruins to their eighth victory in nine AAWU contests and the Bruins have won 10 of their last 11 games.

* * * *

A CROWD of 5,054 was on hand for the closing night of college basketball at the Arena. The Bruins and USC both close out with three road games.

Stanford (5-4) still has a chance, but only in the view of mathematicians. The Unclans have a game to play at Palo Alto plus contests at Washington and Cal.

"I was pleased," said Bruin coach John Wooden in contrast to the previous night when UCLA played terribly in edging Cal. "We showed what it takes when they closed in on us."

The Injuns, who hung slightly off the pace through most of the game, made their bid with 12 minutes remaining and the Bruins didn't shake them off until the final two minutes.

* * * *

DURING the rally Stanford got to within two points (57-55). The Tribe was only three behind with only 2:30 left but sophomore guard Walt Hazzard took over and tallied six of the final eight points.

For the second night in a row the Uclans won on free throws. Though the Indians lost by 10, they made more field goals. But UCLA had cashed in on nine free throws before Stanford even got a chance at the line.

UCLA made 28 field goals, Stanford 29. UCLA made 19 of 23 free throws. Stanford made 7 of 12. UCLA's shooting average was 54 per cent; Stanford's was 39.

* * * *

GREEN, who moved into the No. 4 spot in UCLA's record book, showed the mark of a good ballplayer as he followed his shots time after time to take advantage of misses and turned them into follow-up points.

Green, who ranks only behind Willie Naullis, Johnny Moore and Walt Torrence among Bruin pointmakers, has 1,028 points over three years. If any graduating player in the Big Five makes it as a pro, it will be Green.

Stanford's gangling center, Tom Dose, who is one of two former Southern California prep "players of the year," scored 21 points but could not use his 6-8 height to advantage in rebounding. He edged Bruin center Fred Slaughter, 12-10, but Slaughter threw more elbows by far.

Houston Charges Past Trojans Again, 76-68

HOUSTON (AP)—Guy Lewis shook up his lineup to honor five Houston seniors Saturday night and the new starters responded to give the Cougars a 76-68 basketball victory over Southern California in Houston's last game of the regular season.

Houston's next action will be in the National Invitational Tournament in New York next month.

The victory was Houston's 21st against five losses—a school record.

Norm Tuffli, Denny Bishop and Dick Thurman moved into the lineup to join Don Schverak and Lyle Harger, and they shot the Cougars into a 41-28 halftime lead.

HARGER, guarded by Southern Cal's John Rudometkin, hit seven of eight field goals and added five free throws for 19 points in the first half. Gordon Martin scored 15 for Southern Cal.

McGILL STILL ON RAMPAGE, HITS 60 PTS.

PROVO, Utah (AP)—Utah's Billy (The Hill) McGill zoomed to his career scoring record Saturday night—with 60 points—and led Utah to a 106-101 Skyline Conference basketball victory over Brigham Young University.

McGill was simply sensational as he set a skyline individual scoring mark, breaking the old record of 53 which he set earlier this year.

He also broke numerous fieldhouse records here including the individual mark of 47 set by BYU's Bob Skousen.

McGill had 32 points in the first half.

Starkey Upsets Berry in Badminton, Faces Poole

Ron Starkey of San Diego upset second-ranked Bill Berry of San Diego, 17-14, 15-7 in the semifinal round of men's singles of the Southern California Badminton championships Saturday at Long Beach City College.

Starkey will meet fellow townsman, Jim Poole, who defeated Mike Hartgrove of Pasadena, 4-15, 15-8, 15-12.

In the women's singles division, Buela Armendariz of Pasadena defeated Dorris Martin of San Diego 12-9, 11-5. Mrs. Armendariz will battle Pat Gallagher of San Diego who defeated Helen Tibbets of Manhattan Beach, 11-2, 11-5. The finals are slated for Sunday at 1 p.m.

Florentine's 27 Betters CCAA Mark

By AL LARSON

Los Angeles State College played the spoiler's role for the third successive weekend, snuffing out Long Beach's flickering playoff hopes, 80-76, Saturday night before a crowd of 1,400 in the 49er gym.

The sixth-place Diablos, scoring only their fifth victory of the year, including two against clubs which were leading the league, knocked coach Dick Perry's aggregation out of second place.

Thus the 49ers finished CCAA play with a 7-5 record and finished 14-12 for the year. L. A. ended with a 4-8 league mark and a dismal 5-15 over-all.

* * * *

LOS ANGELES brought its traditional run-run-run game to town, and except for a spell of seven minutes midway in the first half, forced Long Beach to play catch-up ball.

Jim Beck and Jim Stephens propelled the Diablos into a 38-36 halftime lead by accounting for 23 points.

Despite a record-breaking 27-point performance by Bill Florentine, the 49ers generated only two real threats after intermission: once when Ken Knapp tied the game at 57-57 with 11:48 and again when he sank a jumper to deadlock matters at 76-76 in the last two minutes.

* * * *

BUT BECK, Stephens and Beck again paraded to the free throw line to lock up the victory and enable the Diablos to avenge a 91-72 first-round defeat by Long Beach.

Florentine, who already holds the school scoring record 1158 points, wound up with 259 digits in conference play this year. The senior forward also went over Leo Hill's all-time CCAA mark of 540 by pushing his three-season total to 556.

However, Mike McFerson of Fresno State scored 36 points Saturday to boost his career CCAA total to 577.

Beck led L.A. shooters with 24 points. He also pulled down 18 rebounds, high for the game. Stephens bombed Long Beach's defenses from the outside, sinking nine of 14 and adding five foul shots for 23 points.

FLORENTINE, who wound up his college career along with Ron Batson, sank 10 of 18 from the field and 7 of 10 charily tosses for his final total.

Long Beach was hurt by the absence of Lyn Hodge, who did not suit up because of a sprained ankle.

ARMY UPSETS MIDDIES; 27 FOR SHERARD

WEST POINT, N. Y. (UPI)—Bob Loupe, a reserve guard, scored on a driving underhand layup with 13 seconds remaining to give Army a 47-46 basketball upset victory over Navy Saturday.

Loupe replaced Army's high-scoring guard Stu Sherard, who fouled out at 1:40 with the Cadets trailing, 46-41. Sherard was Army's whole offense. Before leaving the game the 5-11 guard from Marshall, Mo., who holds the all-time academy scoring record of 1,299 points, scored 27.

Bucks Storm Over Illinois

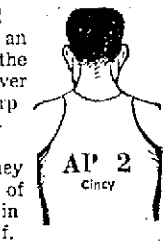

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State stormed through a leaky Illinois defense Saturday for a convincing 102-79 Big Ten victory which practically wrapped up a third straight Western Conference championship for the top-ranked Buckeyes.

It was practically no contest as the Ohioans swung away to an 8-0 lead and added to their advantage until they were out front by 88-55 with seven minutes to go.

Jerry Lucas, Ohio's two-time all-America who has fouled out of only one game in his collegiate career, chalked up four personals and sat out much of the last half. He wound up with 13 points.

Bearcats Rip Wichita by 19

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati Bearcats breezed to an easy 84-63 win over the usually troublesome Wichita Saturday night, assuring themselves at least a co-championship in the Missouri Valley Conference.

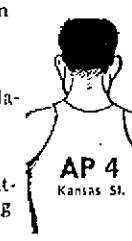

The Bearcats jumped out to win an 8-0 lead at the start and never trailed. Sharp on both defense and shooting, they set the tone of the contest in the first half.

UC hit 16 of 32 from the field for a 50 per cent mark, while Wichita scored on only nine of 34 field tosses the first half. The visitors missed the first seven shots they attempted.

K-State Rolls Past Sooners

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Kansas State won its ninth straight Big Eight basketball game Saturday night by routing Oklahoma 89-57 to stay close in the stretch race with Colorado for the conference championship.

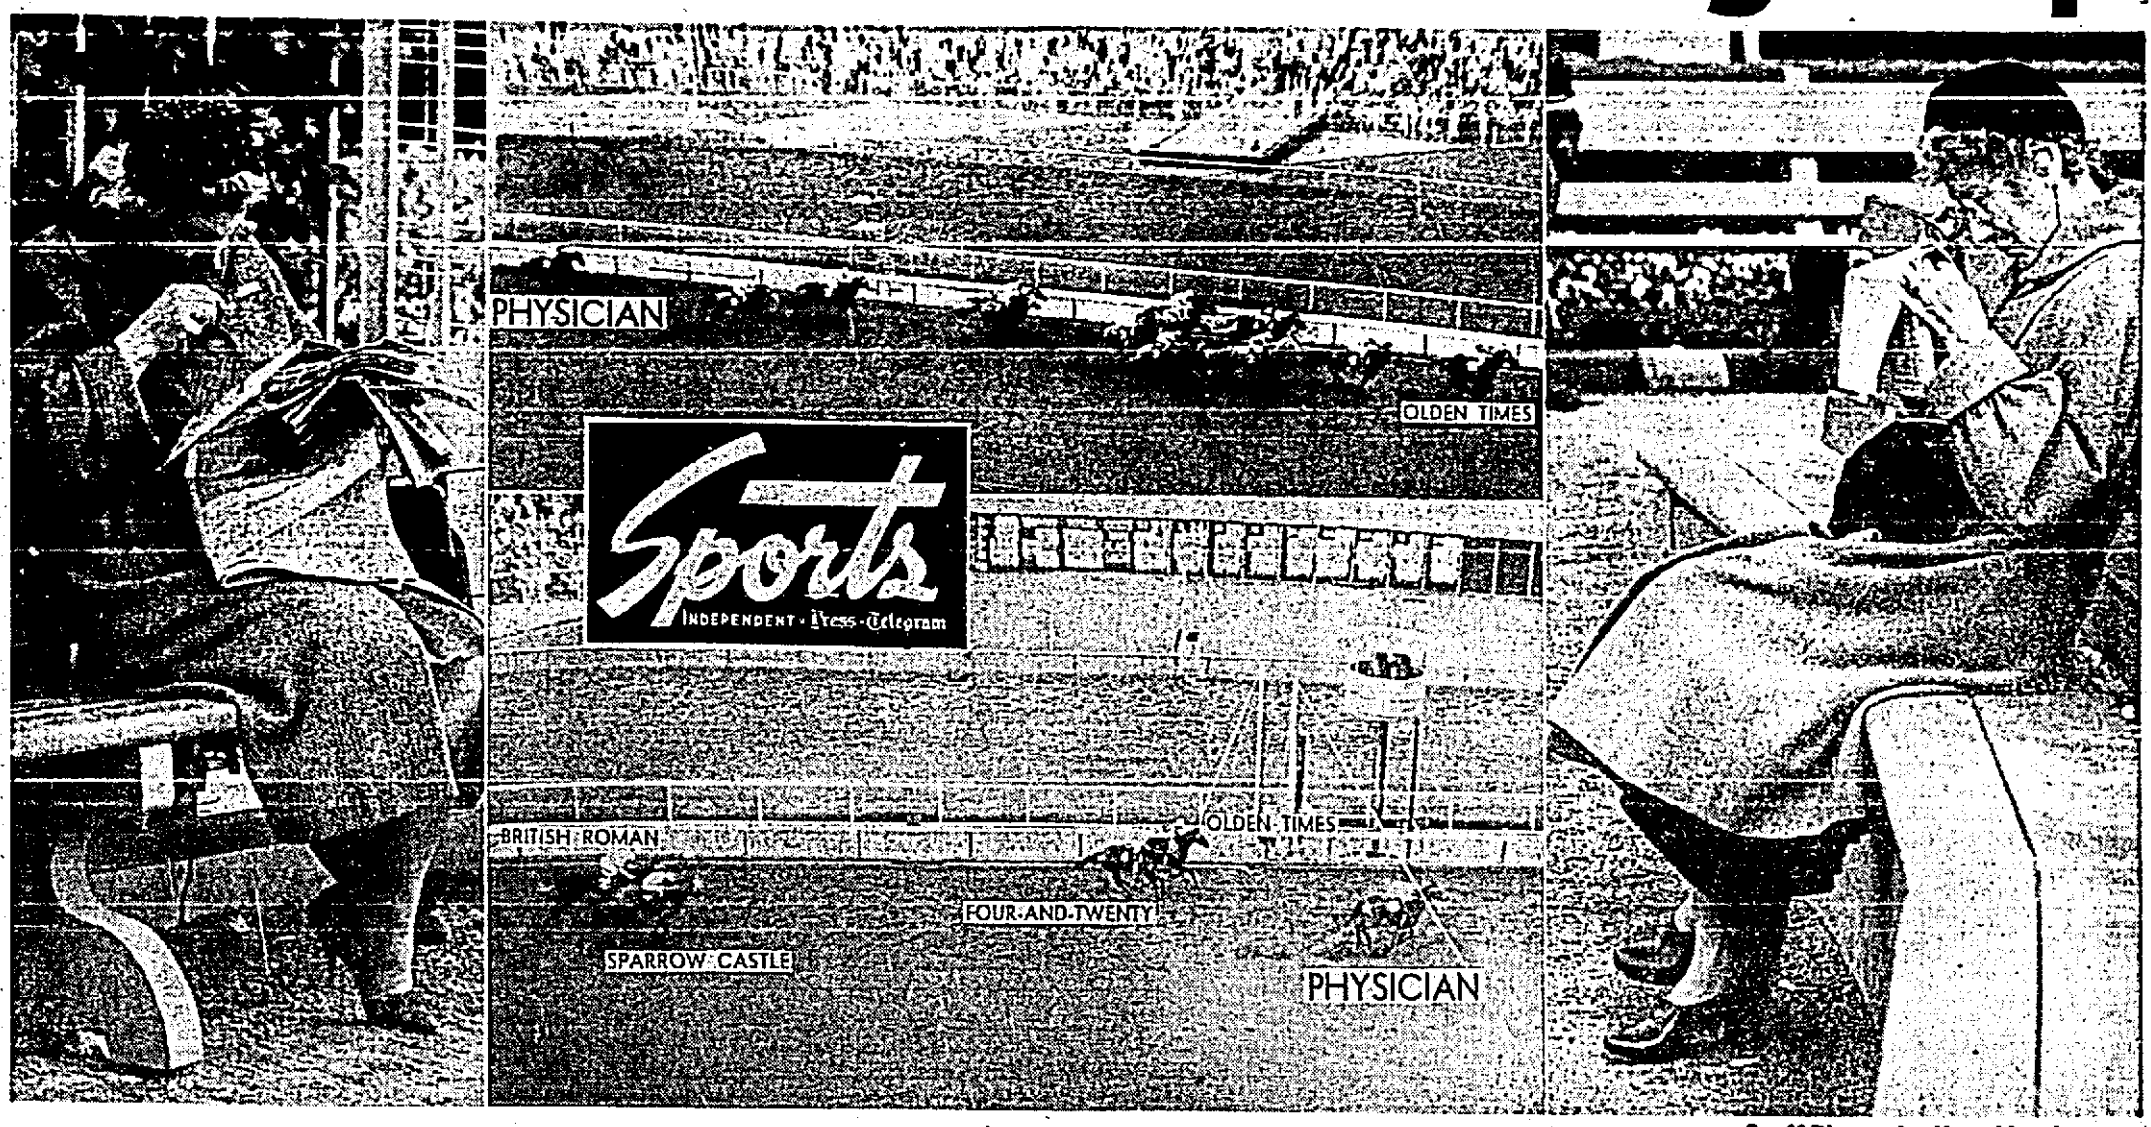

The Wildcats never trailed as the Sooners helplessly tried to stem the scoring tide against them. Doyle Parrack, Oklahoma coach, even used a platoon system, frequently alternating his starters with his bench of five substitutes, but failed to find an effective combination.

Rank Outsider Wins 'Big Cap'

JUST AS THESE WOMEN (at left and right), you may have needed magnifying glass to find Physician (upper center) as he trails Olden Times by about 15 lengths heading into first turn. But there is no overlooking the five-year-old gelding (lower center) as jockey Donald Pierce spurs him across the finish line a handy and sensational winner of Santa Anita Handicap Saturday. —Staff Photos by Kent Henderson

'POOR' PHYSICIAN ROMPS TO RICHES

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor

Is there a doctor in the house?

One certainly was needed Saturday as a completely disregarded "outsider" named Physician stunned 48,705 drenched patrons with a rousing two and one-half length victory in the $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

Physician was the poor relations portion of a three horse entry sponsored by Rex Ellsworth—Olden Times and Prove It being the supposed "class."

If the five-year-old gelding had not been coupled with his more respected stablemates he might have gone off at 100-1 odds. As it was, the Cinderella horse returned only $7.60 to win.

Olden Times salvaged second honors, a neck ahead of the odds-on favorite Four-And-Twenty. Sparrow Castle was five lengths back in fourth spot.

Physician actually is owned by Lynn A. Boice, who is the "second string" trainer for Ellsworth. Consequently, since Boice trains for Ellsworth, Physician was forced by racing rules to be grouped as a three-horse entry, not as a separate wagering factor.

When entries for the Big 'Cap closed Thursday, experts snickered when Physician's name was included. The gelding had done nothing at all to distinguish himself either at Bay Meadows or earlier in the Santa Anita meeting.

He had burned up the county fair track at Pomona in September, but Pomona is a long way from Arcadia as the thoroughbred horse flies. Or so everyone thought until Saturday!

He closed at 60-1 odds in the Caliente Future Book and before the race even those juicy figures seemed low for a beast of Physician's caliber.

Boice himself didn't figure his gelding had a chance in the world in shooting for the big moon. Why he entered his horse is interesting.

"He did so well at Pomona that I made up my mind he might have a little chance in the Santa Anita Handicap, explained the surprisingly calm owner-trainer after the race.

"So, I went along with the subscription fee ($100). On Thursday (when entries closed) I still didn't know if I wanted to enter Physician, but figured I'd toss in another $500 and enter him.

Boice still didn't know whether he wanted to cough up another $1,500 for a starting fee when the final moment of decision arrived 45 minutes before the race, the last time a Big 'Cap entrant can be scratched.

"I couldn't make up my mind, so I told the track officials to let him go. Everybody thought I was out of my mind and, frankly, so did I."

Boice's insanity looked authentic for the first half of the classic. Physician trailed the 13-horse field for almost a full mile, being 16 lengths behind the pace-setting Olden Times and Four-And-Twenty at one point.

Pierce Made Move at Stretch

But jockey Donald Pierce, following perfectly Boice's instructions to hold back Physician in the early stages, made his first move as the other 12 horses hit the stretch turn for home.

He came roaring on the inside curve of the stretch turn like the night train to London . . . and then was blocked as the field straightened out for the long stretch run.

Piece alertly pulled Physician around three other horses, then had the middle of the track to himself and poured on the coals, passing the tiring Olden Times and Four-And-Twenty as if they were bogged down on the track that turned from fast to good only one hour earlier because of a sudden downpour.

Olden Times and Four-And-Twenty were the only two horses in contention throughout the race, with the exception obviously of the late-finishing Physician.

Johnny Longden wanted to grab the lead from Olden Times and set his own pace, but couldn't nudge Four-And-Twenty in front of Alex Maese's mount. As Longden explained later, the 16-pound weight difference between the two pacesetters was responsible (Four-And-Twenty carried 129 pounds, Olden Times 113. Physician packed 114).

Prove It Fades to Ninth

Prove It was well-placed in the third slot until the field headed down the torturous stretch. Then last year's Big 'Cap winner ran out of gas, finishing an eventual ninth.

Sparrow Castle picked up a neat $10,000 package for finishing fourth, but he only passed weary horses and was never a contender. The other eight pieces of meat should have stayed home.

The 25th running of Santa Anita's most distinguished event can be summed up easily—two well-regarded aristocrats killed each other off on the pace and set up a rousing finish for a little country kid from Pomona.

If there is a doctor in the house, the professional handicappers require his services this weeknd. After Doc Jocoy ($39.80) last week and Physician this Saturday, the medical profession should be proud—and also expect a sudden rush of business from handicappers this week.

Because his mount Physician was so lightly regarded in the three-horse Ells worth entry Saturday, jockey Donald Pierce was not included in a "payoff agreement" between the other two jockeys.

Willie Shoemaker (Prove It) and Alex Maese (Olden Times) had agreed to divide their end of the purses if either of their mounts won the Santa Anita Handicap.

The winner would take 75 per cent, the other 25 per cent.

Fortunately (for Donald) they neglected to include Pierce in the "gentleman's agreement."

Consequently, Pierce will keep his entire 10 per cent of the jockey's share — which amounts to a fat $10,000.

Jockey Quotes

DONALD PIERCE (Physician)—Mr. Boice told me to take this horse back and let him stay out of it for the early part, and he told me also when I made my run not to check him. When I first asked him to run I knew right away we were going to win it if we got through all the way. He made it through on the rail around the turn, then I had to pull him out around about three horses when we straightened out.

ALEX MAESE (Olden Times)—He ran his race, had good speed and held on as game as could be. Just couldn't hold that winner.

JOHN LONGDEN (Four-And-Twenty)—You can't beat the handicapper. He ran a good race, almost got Olden Times, but that other horse ran by both of us like we were tied. Weight made the difference.

GNARLED TREE and spread branches are scenic backdrop as 'Big Cap' horses parade in paddock area before heading to the post.

NOTHING PLAIN ABOUT PLUSH NEW PLANE

Dodgers Touch Base at Vero

By GEORGE LEDERER

VERO BEACH, Fla.—Chances are that the Dodgers will enter a decompression chamber before they assemble for their first vernal exercises here this afternoon. The transition from their plush new flying machine to the bare barracks of the O'Malley-Hilton is that great.

Still, there is no guarantee that a majority of the athletes will not suffer from at least a case of knee bends. With less than two weeks to prepare for the first exhibition game on March 10, manager Walter Alston must conduct an accelerated training program to overcome the club's latest start in five years.

Beginning Monday, daily four-hour workouts will commence at 10 a.m. By the end of the week Alston hopes to have his squad in shape for camp games.

Alston's announced schedule drew moans as soon as the players unpacked their gear in the clubhouse Saturday evening after a record flight from L. A. International Airport. The just-under-six-hour trip wasn't long enough to suit most.

Any resemblance between interiors of the $3,600,000 jet-powered Electra II and Dodgertown quarters is purely fictitious. The craft is a virtual country club in the sky. Everything is first cabin in the true sense of the word.

All 68 seats are first class. The same model commercial liner has 92 seats.

The plane is designed especially for sports travel. It has five lounge areas with a card table in each. It has four day sofas which can be converted into beds. The one catch is that Frank Howard (6-7) and Don Drysdale (6-6) cannot occupy the two uppers at the same time.

If Drysdale wants to rest for the next day's pitching assignment, he will have to reserve the entire berth, but might consider a sublease to Maury Wills.

For those who cannot find sleeping quarters, Dodger president Walter O'Malley has installed the latest self-brewing coffee machine. He hopes, too, that it will keep some players awake on the field.

The Shelley Berman devotees can request coffee, tea or milk, but no martinis. And they will have to imagine the stewardesses, if it is possible to do so while being served by Nobu Kawano and John (The Senator) Griffin.

The plane's interior is a pastel picture of blue, beige and turquoise. The thick blue carpeting is inscribed with bats and baseballs. There are pillows on the sofas and artificial flower

L. B. Hockey Prospects Brighten

The Long Beach ice hockey franchise bid is not dead, even though a 50-mile territorial rights by-law of the Western League currently is in effect.

A Canadian group made a specific visit to Los Angeles and Long Beach during the past week to study the arenas in both cities and to determine if two professional clubs could operate in this area without the original team (the Los Angeles Blades) suffering an attendance loss.

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

This group, acting strictly as unofficial observers, came up with these conclusions:

1. The Los Angeles-Long Beach area could support two hockey clubs (theoretically the Blades continuing to attract fans from central and northern Los Angeles and a team here luring Long Beach-Lakewood, harbor area and Orange County followers).

2. A movement of franchises from, say, places like Calgary and Edmonton, Canada, is inevitable and the franchises should be relocated in major metropolitan areas.

3. The still-under-construction Long Beach Arena is ideal for continuous hockey and, in fact, would be by far the finest arena in the circuit.

Biggest Long Beach booster in the Canadian delegation was Merv (Red) Dutton, former National Hockey League star and president. Dutton conferred with Dan Reeves of the Blades and both Art Edwards and Art Chapman, the gentlemen who would operate any Long Beach franchise.

Dutton saw no reason why Long Beach would not be a perfect site for the newest Western Hockey League franchise and apparently so informed Reeves. Dutton stressed the important rivalry factor that could be created between L.A. and this city (believe me that rivalry already has begun in and out of hockey circles).

Dutton also hit home another major factor to Reeves, an outstanding businessman and a gentleman respected in every area of sports. This was item No. 2 which I chronicled above.

DUTTON POINTED OUT that franchises like Edmonton and Calgary cannot keep up with the paces being set by California teams (and in a smaller way by clubs in Oregon and Washington).

"Economy is different in Western Canada and the United States," explained Dutton. "Average salaries of hockey players on Calgary and Edmonton teams are about $5,000. Average salaries of the Blades, I'd guess, are about $8,000 per man.

"The Blades are able to spend more money to attract players than the Canadian teams. This is bound to make a very big difference in another year or two, because a player doesn't want to play the same type of hockey as another man and earn half his salary."

Edwards, the Long Beach bankroller, realizes his salaries would have to keep pace with Blade wages and is willing to go along with the Southern California "pay scale."

STILL ANOTHER FACTOR concerning the present Canadian franchises is admission price. Prices in the two mentioned Canadian cities (I won't use "villages" even in jest because of the repercussion I received last week when I made such a "joking" comment) are much lower than at the L.A. Sports Arena or in San Francisco, Seattle, Portland or Spokane.

"The Calgary and Edmonton stadiums average 4,000 fans per contest," declared Dutton. "That would be good enough in Los Angeles or Long Beach, because of higher admission prices, but it's not going to be good enough in the Canadian cities much longer.

"Progress is the thing today and Southern California is the center of the world's sports progress."

If Dutton is a sounding-board for other important hockey people along the West Coast, Long Beach apparently is wanted in the Western League.

As I've said many times before, Reeves holds the key to Long Beach. I know Dutton's statements impressed him, enough I hope to sway him into waiving the 50-mile rule.

IN THE IRONY DEPARTMENT, a Blades' official sought to secure playing dates next season for his team in the Long Beach Arena. The man contacted was Edwards! White-haired Arthur smiled sardonically, then referred the Blader to Arena manager Win Hanssen. Diplomatically, Hanssen tabled the request "pending action on our Long Beach franchise."

In the conclusion-to-column department, I know many people who have bombed me with ice arena questions will be happy to learn that Edwards has booked a solid week of ice shows this winter in the Long Beach Arena.

"We'll have the ice whether or not we have an ice team," said Edwards Saturday. "So we're going to have ice shows in Long Beach, anyway."

Ticket lines don't form Monday! Dates and ticket information will be available later.

Assured of Big 5 Title Tie

By JEROME HALL

UCLA's basketball team Saturday night proved that the one-point free throw is more important than the two-point field goal.

UCLA beat Stanford, 75-65, at the Sports Arena, thereby assuring itself of no less than a tie for the Big Five crown and a place in the NCAA playoffs. It wasn't as easy as the score sounds.

Johnny Green, who is headed for the conference scoring championship, shot, dribbled and otherwise guided the Bruins to their eighth victory in nine AAWU contests and the Bruins have won 10 of their last 11 games.

• • • •

A CROWD of 5,054 was on hand for the closing night of college basketball at the Arena. The Bruins and USC both close out with three road games.

Stanford (5-4) still has a chance, but only in the view of mathematicians. The Unclans have a game to play at Palo Alto plus contests at Washington and Cal.

"I was pleased," said Bruin coach John Wooden in contrast to the previous night when UCLA played terribly in edging Cal. "We showed what it takes when they closed in on us."

The Injuns, who hung slightly off the pace through most of the game, made their bid with 12 minutes remaining and the Bruins didn't shake them off until the final two minutes.

• • • •

DURING the rally Stanford got to within two points (57-55). The Tribe was only three behind with only 2:30 left but sophomore guard Walt Hazzard took over and tallied six of the final eight points.

For the second night in a row the Uclans won on free throws. Though the Indians lost by 10, they made more field goals. But UCLA had cashed in on nine free throws before Stanford even got a chance at the line.

UCLA made 28 field goals, Stanford 29. UCLA made 19 of 23 free throws. Stanford made 7 of 12. UCLA's shooting average was 54 per cent; Stanford's was 39.

• • • •

GREEN, who moved into the No. 4 spot in UCLA's record book, showed the mark of a good ballplayer as he followed his shots time after time to take advantage of misses and turned them into follow-up points.

Green, who ranks only behind Willie Naulls, Johhny Moore and Walt Torrence among Bruin pointmakers, has 1,028 points over three years. If any graduating player in the Big Five makes it as a pro, it will be Green.

Stanford's gangling center, Tom Dose, who is one of two former Southern California prep "players of the year," scored 21 points but could not use his 6-8 height to advantage in rebounding. He edged Bruin center Fred Slaughter, 12-10, but Slaughter threw more elbows by far.

HE'S GOT IT SURROUNDED

Florentine's 27 Betters CCAA Mark

By AL LARSON

Los Angeles State College played the spoiler's role for the third successive weekend, snuffing out Long Beach's flickering playoff hopes, 80-76, Saturday night before a crowd of 1,400 in the 49er gym.

The sixth-place Diablos, scoring only their fifth victory of the year, including two against clubs which were leading the league, knocked coach Dick Perry's aggregation out of second place.

Thus the 49ers finished CCAA play with a 7-5 record and finished 14-12 for the year. L. A. ended with a 4-8 league mark and a dismal 5-15 over-all.

• • • •

LOS ANGELES brought its traditional run-run-run game to town, and except for a spell of seven minutes midway in the first half, forced Long Beach to play catch-up ball.

Jim Beck and Jim Stephens propelled the Diablos into a 38-36 halftime lead by accounting for 23 points.

Despite a record-breaking 27-point performance by Bill Florentine, the 49ers generated only two real threats after intermission: once when Ken Knapp tied the game at 57-57 with 11:48 and again when he sank a jumper to deadlock matters at 76-76 in the last two minutes.

• • • •

BUT BECK, Stephens and Beck again paraded to the free throw line to lock up the victory and enable the Diablos to avenge a 91-72 first-round defeat by Long Beach.

Florentine, who already holds the school scoring record 1158 points, wound up with 259 digits in conference play this year. The senior forward also went over Leo Hill's all-time CCAA mark of 540 by pushing his three-season total to 556.

However, Mike McFerson of Fresno State scored 36 points Saturday to boost his career CCAA total to 577.

Beck led L.A. shooters with 24 points. He also pulled down 18 rebounds, high for the game. Stephens bombed Long Beach's defenses from the outside, sinking nine of 14 and adding five foul shots for 23 points.

• • • •

FLORENTINE, who wound up his college career along with Ron Batson, sank 10 of 18 from the field and 7 of 10 charity tosses for his final total.

Long Beach was hurt by the absence of Lyn Hodge, who did not suit up because of a sprained ankle.

Bucks Storm Over Illinois

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State stormed through a leaky Illinois defense Saturday for a convincing 102-79 Big Ten victory which practically wrapped up a third straight Western Conference championship for the top-ranked Buckeyes.

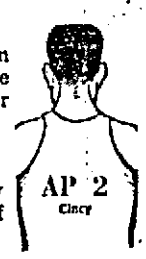

It was practically no contest as the Ohioans swung away to an 8-0 lead and added to their advantage until they were out front by 88-55 with seven minutes to go.

Jerry Lucas, Ohio's two-time all-America who has fouled out of only one game in his collegiate career, chalked up four personals and sat out much of the last half. He wound up with 13 points.

Bearcats Rip Wichita by 19

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati Bearcats breezed to an easy 84-63 win over the usually troublesome Wichita Saturday night, assuring themselves at least a co-championship in the Missouri Valley Conference.

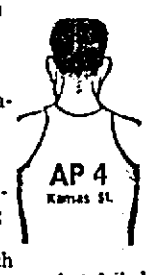

The Bearcats jumped out to win an 8-0 lead at the start and never trailed. Sharp on both defense and shooting, they set the tone of the contest in the first half.

UC hit 16 of 32 from the field for a 50 per cent mark; while Wichita scored on only nine of 34 field tosses the first half. The visitors missed the first seven shots they attempted.

K-State Rolls Past Sooners

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Kansas State won its ninth straight Big Eight basketball game Saturday night by routing Oklahoma 89-57 to stay close in the stretch race with Colorado for the conference championship.

The Wildcats never trailed as the Sooners helplessly tried to stem the scoring tide against them. Doyle Parrack, Oklahoma coach, even used a platoon system, frequently alternating his starters with his bench of five substitutes, but failed to find an effective combination.

RUDO HELD TO 7 POINTS

Houston Charges Past Trojans Again, 76-68

HOUSTON (AP)—Guy Lewis shook up his lineup to honor five Houston seniors Saturday night and the new starters responded to give the Cougars a 76-68 basketball victory over Southern California in Houston's last game of the regular season.

Houston's next action will be in the National Invitational Tournament in New York next month.

The victory was Houston's 21st against five losses—a school record.

Norm Tuffli, Denny Bishop and Dick Thurman moved into the lineup to join Don Schverak and Lyle Harger, and they shot the Cougars into a 41-28 halftime lead.

HARGER, guarded by Southern Cal's John Rudometkin, hit seven of eight field goals and added five free throws for 19 points in the first half. Gordon Martin scored 15 for Southern Cal.

McGILL STILL ON RAMPAGE, HITS 60 PTS.

PROVO, Utah (AP)—Utah's Billy (The Hill) McGill zoomed to his career scoring record Saturday night—with 60 points—and led Utah to a 106-101 Skyline Conference basketball victory over Brigham Young University.

McGill was simply sensational as he set a skyline individual scoring mark, breaking the old record of 53 which he set earlier this year.

He also broke numerous fieldhouse records here including the individual mark of 47 set by BYU's Bob Skousen.

McGill had 32 points in the first half.

Starkey Upsets Berry in Badminton, Faces Poole

Ron Starkey of San Diego upset second-ranked Bill Berry of San Diego, 17-14, 15-7 in the semifinal round of men's singles of the Southern California Badminton championships Saturday at Long Beach City College.

Starkey will meet fellow townsman, Jim Poole, who defeated Mike Hartgrove of Pasadena, 4-15, 15-8, 15-12.

In the women's singles division, Buela Armendariz of Pasadena defeated Dorris Martin of San Diego 12-9, 11-5. Mrs. Armendariz will battle Pat Gallagher of San Diego who defeated Helen Tibbets of Manhattan Beach, 11-2, 11-5. The finals are slated for Sunday at 1 p.m.

ARMY UPSETS MIDDIES; 27 FOR SHERARD

WEST POINT, N. Y. (UPI)—Bob Loupe, a reserve guard, scored on a driving underhand layup with 13 seconds remaining to give Army a 47-46 basketball upset victory over Navy Saturday.

Loupe replaced Army's high-scoring guard Stu Sherard, who fouled out at 1:40 with the Cadets trailing, 46-41. Sherard was Army's whole offense. Before leaving the game the 5-11 guard from Marshall, Mo., who holds the all-time academy scoring record of 1,299 points, scored 27.

Flying Wheels Clinch Title

The Long Beach Flying Wheels clinched the championship of the Pacific Coast Wheelchair Basketball League with a 64-47 victory over the Garden Grove Bears Saturday night at Culver City High School.

Bill Fairbanks of Garden Grove had 23 points to lead the scoring parade. John Cheves tipped in 18 for Long Beach.

The win assures the Wheels a birth in the national tournament to be held at Chanute Field, Ill., beginning March 24.

WYNN

Man to Man

LaRUSSO

By JERRY WYNN

Rudy LaRusso is a symbol of a new breed of sports hero in Southern California.

He is young, intelligent, a dynamic performer and he plays basketball. Even such impressive qualifications as these would have been ho-hum matter a few years ago. Today, LaRusso, the Lakers he represents, the pro basketball game he plays, have turned hard-nosed skeptics into hardwood addicts.

Of immediate concern to the 6-foot-7½, 24-year-old darter from Dartmouth, whose mellifluous name stems from Italian-Jewish parentage, is the National Basketball Assn. Championship playoffs.

"We've had the feeling on the Lakers all season that we can win it all," says Rudy. "I'm optimistic and confident."

Assuming you play Boston for the championship, wouldn't an experienced team like the Celtics have an edge in a short series?

"Yes, they would be tougher. But so would we. The best basketball is played in the playoffs because the pressure is the greatest. You have to think about every pass and every move. The Celtics will be sharp."

After that ruckus with Boston at the Arena last Sunday, you were quoted as saying that the officials protect Bob Cousy. Is that true?

"I don't think I said it just that way, but it is true. He makes his bread and butter stealing balls, and will foul more often than other players. The officials don't call all the fouls on him as they do on players who aren't stars. In that way, he is protected."

What do you think of the officiating in the NBA?

"There are some good officials and some bad ones who don't belong in the league. There is room for improvement."

Are there any dirty players in the league?

"Not any more. Back in the old days, a club could afford to have one or two musclemen to go along with their shooters. But the competition is so tough today that a player must be able to do many things well. And all the players today have more strength. That's become part of the game."

Is there too much stress on offense and not enough on defense?

"It is almost impossible to play back-breaking defense and high-scoring offense in a 48-minute game with a 24-second clock. So the defense usually suffers. It is not because the players can't play defense. You just can't do both well at the same time. You usually find that the best scorers are the worst defensive players."

In a man-to-man situation, who is the toughest defender for you?

"Woody Sauldsberry of the Packers. He is a little lazy at times, but he really knows how to play defense."

Whom do you consider the best player in the game?

"Elgin Baylor. He's the best I've ever seen."

If you were a coach and starting a team, would you rather have Wilt Chamberlain or Bill Russell to play center?

"Probably Wilt. You know he is good for 45 points and 30 rebounds before you even start the game. Russell is custom-made for a team like the Celtics where he is surrounded by fine personnel."

"In a game as demanding physically and mentally as basketball, what is your primary motive for playing?

"It's a combination of several things. I think all good players really love the game. You start very young and continue with it until it becomes a part of you. Then when an opportunity arises to play professional and make money from it, well and good. We all realize it's a job, but we have a great pride involved."

To what do you attribute the success of the Lakers this season?

"I think basically it was a matter of maturing. This is a young club, and it takes time for college players to jell into a pro team. Just consider how long the Celtics have been playing together.

"Individually, Jerry West has come up with a real great year, Elgin gets better and better every year, Frank Selvy has been real steady, and Jimmy Krebs is a real asset at center."

He might have added the name of Rudy LaRusso.

Deceased USC Coach Gave Satriano Two Steps

By ROSS NEWHAN
I.-P-T Staff Writer

PALM SPRINGS—The death of USC track coach Jess Mortensen last Monday was a sudden and deep shock to the sports world. To the sphere of track and field the loss is impossible to measure. His athletes produced a cascade of Olympic gold medals and he was, it seemed, certain to be coach of the United States team in the 1964 Games at Tokyo.

His contributions to sports were many and his passing at the still-vibrant age of 54 was felt deeply by the Angels' organization. It was in the last few months of his life that Mortensen imparted some advice to a 21-year-old Angel infielder with a big future, but a bigger problem.

Tom Satriano was signed for a $50,000 bonus in June of last year after leading USC to a five-game sweep of the NCAA Tournament at Omaha. His average was in the .470s, highest on the Trojan team.

To get Satriano, the Angels outbid five other major league teams. This they did with the knowledge the Dodgers—masters in the scouting of talent—had refused to bid, solely on account of Satriano's amazing lack of speed.

The Angels, in dire need of infield help, decided to keep Satriano with the varsity. The first time manager Bill Rigney saw the Trojan run, he shuttered and realized fully Walter O'Malley's shrewdness.

Satriano's left leg wanted no part of the right one and his arms swing so wide he turned in a semi-circle with each step.

But he remained in the lineup, for seldom has a rookie displayed such poise both at bat and in the field. This quelled Rigney's fears and he told USC baseball coach Rod Dedeaux that if Satriano could improve his speed he would make the team in '62.

JESS MORTENSEN

Immediately after the '61 season Satriano re-enrolled at USC. (He now has two semesters remaining in his general management major. "Maybe I'll take over Fred Haney's job.")

It was during halftime of the USC-Illinois game this fall that Satriano talked with Dedeaux and learned of what Rigney had said. "Rod suggested I see Mortensen," revealed Satriano following a lengthy opening week Angel drill which stressed running.

"This wasn't the first time I had been told about my running. I just never did anything about it. Maybe I was too sensitive. I guess we all tend to be sensitive about our faults.

"Well, Mortensen was just wonderful. He watched me run and said, 'There's a lot of work to be done, but I think I can help you.'

"He told me I had fine form for a distance runner, but as a sprinter it would never do. Two or three times a week I met with him and he instructed me to lift my knees higher and pump my arms instead of swinging them.

"After teaching his theory he left me alone to practice. He was always available, though, even after track workouts had begun. That was recently and he looked so well. His death was a real shock."

The results of Satriano's diligent practice this winter were revealed by Mortensen himself two weeks before his death when he told Haney that the pupil had improved a full two steps.

"That could mean a lot of base hits," said a happy Satriano at the news. "I'm glad I wasn't farmed out last year and I'm confident I can hit major league pitching—and that means right now."

At that, Satriano may be about two steps ahead of the field in the early race for third base.

Walker Second in Masters

By JERRY WYNN

Big Dick Clover of Recreation Park fired an insulated one-under par 70 at Lakewood Saturday to take a four-stroke lead after the opening round of the Long Beach Masters Championship.

It was a remarkably fine effort on a cold, blustery day on a well-soaked golf course. A duck joined the hardy gallery of more than 100 for a few holes, obviously wondering what humans were doing out in such foul weather.

In second place is veteran Del Walker, who bounded back after bogeying the first four holes to shoot a 74. Larry Griggs of Skylinks and Craig Olson of Meadowlark share third place at 76. A startling trail-ender is State Amateur champion John Richardson of Lakewood, who found his home course a facsimile of Pebble Beach and took 79 blows at it.

Action in the 72-hole tournament of club champions shifts to Skylinks today. Tee-off time is 10 a.m.

"I would have been happy with a 72 or 73 in this weather," Clover observed.

The husky 28-year-old Long Beach City champion had three birdies and two bogies for nines of 35-35.

Going out, he slipped on the tough second, but made the stroke up with a 25-foot birdie putt on the eighth. Coming in, he birdied the par-five 14th on a six-footer and the 16th on a 30-footer from the fringe, but bogeyed the 17th by hitting short on the green.

Walker had three birdies, two of them sensationally. He sank a 50-foot putt from about 10 feet off the green and up a hill on the seventh hole, and hit a beautiful 4-iron shot to within two feet of the pin on the 10th.

Griggs also had three birdies, but fell back by missing a couple of three-foot putts. Olson sank a 12-footer to birdie the 13th and made several other good putts to save pars. Richardson just didn't have it. He had eight bogies, no birds, and to add injury to insult, was hit on the leg by a ball.

Lakers Nudged, Engage Pistons

By DON HARDIN

The Cincinati Royals stalled the Lakers Saturday in their bid to set a new win record for the NBA's Western Division. But with Elgin Baylor back, and in the comfort of the Sports Arena, coach Fred Schaus' club will go after that record again today against the Detroit Pistons.

Cincinnati, with Oscar Robertson paving the way with 35 points, nudged the Lakers, 118-114, in a nationally-televised game. The Royals moved four games in front of the Pistons in their battle for second place.

The Lakers, except for a brief period in the second quarter, were behind all the way. Jerry West had 34 points. It was the Royals' fifth win in a row.

* * * *

THE LAKERS need only four wins in their last nine regular-season games to set an all-time win record for a Western Division titlist. The St. Louis Hawks set the record of 51 last season. Boston holds the Eastern Division mark of 59.

Game time today at the Arena, where the Lakers have lost only five contests in 27 tries, is 2:30 p.m. It's also "kids day" with any child under 16 accompanied by a parent admitted for $1.

The Lakers have only three more games left at home before the playoffs—against Detroit again Tuesday night and against the Hawks on March 14.

* * * *

THIS PROBABLY will be Elgin's final appearance before the playoffs. He was scheduled to fly down from his Fort Lewis, Wash., Army base Saturday night. He will return immediately following today's game. In 27 games since Elgin went into the Army, the Lakers have won 14, lost 13. Of the five games in which Baylor has appeared during this span the Lakers have won all.

The Pistons are much like Syracuse of the Eastern Division — inconsistent but at times blazing. Rookie Ray Scott has had a lot to do with Detroit's surge in the last half of the season.

WANTED RECORD

Beatty Unhappy After 4:00.2 Mile

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Beatty, the world's only indoor sub-four minute miler, won the National AAU mile in 4:00.2—the second fastest ever on boards—before a screaming crowd of 16,864 Saturday night in Madison Square Garden.

The Los Angeles Track Club star took the lead at the halfway point, and, pursued by Cary Wiesiger of the Quantico Marines until he was a lap from home, never really was in danger.

Two weeks ago in the Los Angeles meet, Beatty ran the mile in 3:58.9 to break the indoor four-minute "barrier." Then last week in the New York A.C. meet, he ran the distance in 4:00.9.

* * * *

BEATTY WAS disappointed that he hadn't cracked his own world record.

"I felt this was the night," he said after the race, "but after the long delay getting the race started I was just too cold to do any better."

The start of the mile was 45 minutes behind the original schedule as earlier events in the packed program all ran late.

John Thomas, the dethroned world king of the high jumpers, got off his first 7-footer of the season and showed signs of regaining some of his old form.

But Ralph Boston, the top broad jumper in the universe, was defeated by Charlie Mays, a 21-year-old junior from Maryland State College who got off a 24-10¾ leap.

* * * *

BOTH HAYES Jones of Pontiac, Mich., and Frank Budd of Villanova kept their winning streaks intact. Jones captured the 60-yard hurdles, his 28th straight indoor triumph, in 7.2.

Budd defeated Herb Carper by inches in the 60-yard dash. He ran 6.2 after a meet record four times in winning the shot with a final heave of 62 feet, 10 inches. ord 6.1 in the semi-final heat.

Gary Gubner, 260-pound New York University sophomore who has a world shot put record pending, broke the

60-yard dash—Budd (Villanova), Carper (Santa Barbara AC), Winder (Phil. PC), 6.2. (Budd equalled meet record of 6.1 in semi-final heat.)

600-yard run—Crothers (E. York TC) 1:10.8; Yerman (US Army) 1:11.6; Bowens (Winston-Salem) 1:12.5; Stauffer (Maryland) 1:12.8.

1,000-yard run—Reilly (Georgetown) 2:11.0; Grelle (LATC) 2:11.1; Moran (NYAC) 2:11.2; Smith (Cornell) 2:13.1.

One-mile run—Beatty (LATC) 4:00.2; Weisiger (US Marines); Irons (Toronto) 4:14.7.

Three-mile run—Kidd (Toronto) 13:43.8; Clohessy (Houston TC); Iharos (Hungary).

One-mile walk—Zirn (USMA) 6:35.0; Humcke (NYAC); Daniel (Unat.)

Sprint medley relay—Villanova (Wagner, Jackman, Budd, Drayton) 1:53.3; Manhattan, New York AC.

Two-mile relay—Fordham (O'Connor, Kennedy, Tynan, Tomeo) 7:40.6; Villanova, Holy Cross.

One-mile relay—Morgan State (Bethea, Bagley, Brown, Smart) 3:18.8; Maryland St., St. John's.

60-yard HH—Jones (Unat.) 7.1; Johnson (Unat.) 7.2; Rogers (Mary. St.) 7.3.

Shotput—Gubner (NYU) 62-10 (meet record; old record 62-1¾, Parry O'Brien, 1959); Kohler (Fordham) 57-3½; Joe (Villanova) 56-9½.

Broad jump—Mays (Mary. St.) 24-10¾; Boston (Tenn. St.) 24-5¼; Wilson (Mary. St.) 23-8.

High jump—Thomas (Boston U) 7-0; Avant (LA) 6-10; Bob Gardner (NYAC) 6-8.

35-pound weight throw—Hall (NYAC) 64-7½; Keerd (NYAC) 62-8; Lawler (Boston AA) 60-5; Sage (Navy) 60-1¼.

Troy Trackmen Unimpressive in Kickoff Carnival 'Victory'

By JOHN DIXON

USC's 1961 national collegiate champions looked like anything but 1962 champions as they inaugurated the outdoor track and field campaign Saturday.

The Trojans won nine of 13 competitions from UCLA in the annual "kickoff carnival," but there wasn't a first-rate achievement either from the scholars with the large lungs or large muscles.

The Westwood elements did not contribute to world records however. The cinder skinnies were buffeted by a chilly eight MPH breeze, and given early showers by late-meet rain drops.

Best race, and best clockings, occurred in the high steppers of international interest engaged.

Winner was Bob Pierce of USC. Time, 14.2. Second was Brian Polkinghorne of USC, also in 14.2. UCLA's man of all trades, Chan Kwang Yang, was two yards back in 14.6.

The Trojans, competing for the first time since 1950 under Jess Hill's flag, displayed their usual strength in the distance events— nothing.

Despite poor clockings, UCLA won the two-mile relay (7:49.2), the distance medley relay (10:10.8) and took one-two in the two-mile (9:51.6).

* * * *

TOM WEBB was Ducky Drake's most impressive performer, running a 1:58.1 880 leg and a dandy 3:03.8 1,320.

Mil Dahl, a distance runner of Olympic Games potential, ran a 1:56.1 half-mile and lookin'-back 4:18.5 mile.

Other than the high hurdles, only noteworthy Trojan escapades occurred in field events.

Dallas Long, the Phoenix dentist, threw the shot 59 feet, 9 inches, and ex-Marine Jan Sikorsky skied the javelin 237-6. They were the only meet records of the gloomy day. Some 1,000 were in attendance.

High hurdles—Pierce (USC) 14.2, Polkinghorne (USC) 14.2, and (UCLA) 14.6. Brown (UCLA) 9:56.6, Nardi (USC) 10:32.8.

440 relay—USC (Cortese, Rhodes, Pierce, Munn) 42.3, UCLA 42.8.

880 relay—USC (Rhodes 22.9, Cortese 22.2, Pierce 22.1, Munn 21.9) 1:29.1, UCLA 1:29.7.

Mile relay—USC (Talsky 52.8, Noll 47.1, Cawley 51.5, Hogan 50.4) 3:12.8, UCLA 3:27.7.

Two-mile relay—UCLA (Jackson 1:53.2, Uller 1:56.8, Dahl 1:56.1, Webb 1:58.1) 7:49.2, USC 7:53.4.

Distance medley relay—UCLA (Black 50.8, Jackson 1:57.7, Webb 3:03.8, Dahl 4:18.5) 10:10.8, USC 10:20.8.

Shotput—USC (Long 59-9, Wade 51-4½, Shuey 46-8½) 1:57.10, UCLA (Chamberlain 51-1, Fiorentino 5-11, Cleves 50-½) 132-1¼ (individual meet record by Long; old record 59-6 by Long, 1961).

Javelin—USC (Sikorsky 237-6, Tomlinson 200-1) 437-7, UCLA (Yang 226-2½, Haryung 182-5) 408-7½ (individual meet record by Sikorsky; old record 223-5 by Pope, USC, 1959).

Broad jump—UCLA (Doby 22-4½, Alexander 22-3, Tripp 21-11¾) 66-7, USC (Johnson 20-9¾, Augustine 20-7¾, Grundy 19-11) 61-4½.

Pole vault—USC (Hein 14-4, Flanagan 14-0, Land 12-0) 40-4, UCLA no entries.

Discus—USC (Wade 163-7½, Smith 147-11, Mix 137-5) 448-11½, UCLA (Carr 131-9½, Putnam 130-11, Chamberlain 128-3) 430-11½.

High jump—USC (Fleckenstein 6-4¼, Grundy 6-2¼, Cawley 5-10½) 18-4¾, UCLA (Yang 6-4½, Huggins 6-1¼, Thomas 5-10¼) 17-10¼.

Vaulter Goes 15-2½

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A pole vault of 15 feet, 2½ inches by John Rose of Arizona State University Saturday was the feature of the Arizona Invitational Relays.

STARS ENTER RELAYS

Project Mercury in L.B. Saturday

The 21st Long Beach Relays Saturday at Veterans Stadium will be a "class" event.

Early entries for the event, which succeeds the SPAAAU championships as the traditional outdoor inaugural, include the world-record holding pole vaulter and two national championship teams.

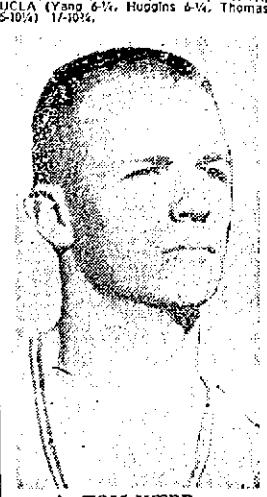

George Davies of Arizona State, who has a certified vault mark of 15 feet, 10½ inches, has promised meet director Jack Rose that he will be on hand.

USC, 1961 NATIONAL collegiate champion, and the Southern California Striders, 1961 National AAU champion, have indicated that they will file full teams.

Two-time Olympian and world record holder Hal Connolly also will appear in his specialty, the hammer throw.

Over 800 university-open, college freshmen and junior college athletes are expected to provide Long Beach with the "biggest" track meet ever.

Tunney-Marciano 'Greatest Fight'

By OSCAR FRALEY

MIAMI (UPI)—Gene Tunney as a boxer and Rocky Marciano as a puncher were the greatest heavyweight champions since Jack Dempsey, Al (The Vest) Weill declares, and a Dempsey-Marciano bout would have been "the greatest fight of all time."

"Throw those two great punchers in together," Weill mused, his blue eyes lighting up, "and you'd have really seen some fireworks. It would have been murder incorporated."

ROCKY MARCIANO
Too Many 'Friends'

Weill should know, having been associated briefly with Dempsey in the Manassa Mauler's early days and being the man who managed Marciano to the heavyweight title and a record of 49 fights without defeat.

"The Vest," so called because he once displayed a passionate predilection for gaudy waistcoats, has difficulty generating enthusiasm these days after a nine month illness with a kidney ailment. He underwent eight blood transfusions and, after almost a year on the boxing sidelines, at 68 finally has come back to where he once again is itching to manage or promote.

Marciano was only one of Weill's champions. Al also piloted Joey Archibald to the featherweight title, Lou Ambers to the lightweight crown and Marty Servo to the welterweight championship.

"Ambers was the best," he insists. "He was tops in principles as well as ability."

THE PORTLY, WHITE-HAIRED man with the horn-rimmed glasses may, in this statement, be prejudiced by a coolness in his relations with Marciano. Rocky became increasingly assertive as to his aim and intentions as he came down to the point of retirement and they are not particularly close even at this stage.

"We talk to each other," Weill hastens to interject. "He calls me up and so on. But he made a couple of pretty bad cracks about me. Rocky listened to too many fair weather friends. Club lawyers, I call 'em. I blame them for lookin' to get in with him. They've cost him a lot of money, too.

"Understand," he added, "I'm not knockin' Marciano. It's just that those fair weather friends told him he did it all by himself. Now you gotta have everything to win 49 without defeat. But you got to have a lot of help from your manager, too."

There are, Weill claims, those psychological moments when a needle from the manager is the difference.

"Like the night in Philadelphia we fight old Jersey Joe Walcott for the title," he said. "Look, I know we can't win the decision. Think what you want, but this is Walcott's home town. They're all for him, and that includes the officials. So when Rocky comes to the corner after the 12th round, I tell him 'you ain't gotta chance less you knock him out.' So Rocky goes out there the next round and hits him a right that puts Joe away and we win the title."

WEILL IS AN INTERESTING man. At 13 he was sent by his parents from Strasbourg in Alsace-Lorraine to New York. Later there was a young folks dance and his grandmother taught him to trip the light fantastic by using a broom as her prop. Before he knew it, Al was winning ball room dance contests at various theaters, from the likes of a couple of hoofers known today as George Raft and George Burns.

"It didn't pay much," he grins. "The prize was $10—and you had to pay $2 for the tuxedo you rented."

He lived in a furnished room in Manhattan with a printer's devil named Andy Brown. In return for acting as Al's shill, or hard-clapping cheerleader at the dance contests, Brown got Al to manage his ambitions as a flyweight boxer. Thus was Weill started down the boxing road which led him to the post of matchmaker at Madison Square Garden and manager of four world champions.

Today there's a long, long road a winding behind him. But Al, The Vest, is looking ahead.

"There's a kid on the coast . . ." he started to say.

But, somehow, you know that, coolness and all, there will never be another Rocky Marciano.

Celts Hold Wilt to 26; Magic No. Now 2

Compiled From Wire Services

The Boston Celtics cut their magic number to two for clinching the Eastern Division title of the National Basketball Association Saturday night by routing the Warriors, 109-86, at Philadelphia.

Any combination of Boston victories and Warrior defeats totaling two would give the Celtics their sixth straight Eastern championship.

Bill Russell held Wilt Chamberlain to 26 points in the game. The 86 points were the lowest by the Warriors this season and their lowest since 1958-59 whey they were held to 84.

At Chicago, the Packers, paced by Walt Bellamy's 38 points, defeated the St. Louis Hawks, 129-119. Bellamy ran his season total to 2,186, second highest in history for a rookie in the NBA.

The Syracuse Nats, who have never missed the playoffs, cut their magic number to two by edging last-place New York, 120-117, at Utica.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Handsome Bo Wininger, playing the "sorriest round I've had in a long time" took the lead in the $30,000 greater New Orleans Open golf tournament Saturday with a 54-hole total of 213.

The 39-year-old Wininger had a one-over-par 73 on the 6,650-yard city park layout, but it was good enough to move ahead of the field.

Peppery Phil Rodgers, the 23-year-old Californian who led after the second round with successive 69s, ballooned to a 76.

"It was spooky," Wininger said, referring to his round. "I was grabbing the wrong clubs and misjudging. But my putter saved my life.

"It (the putter) was unbelievable. I sank some real long ones just to get pars."

Murrell, Garcia Bow in Finals

By FRANK HARVEY

Middleweight Emmett Murrell and featherweight Benny Garcia, both of Long Beach, lost their final bouts Saturday night in the Western States Golden Gloves at the Olympic Auditorium.

Murrell, the defending champion, lost a close decision to Bobby Valdez of Phoenix. Garcia was knocked out by Joe Bolton in the third round.

A third Long Beach fighter, heavyweight Bob Handloser, was scheduled to go in the finals after beating Gary Fields in his semi-final bout with a second-round knockout.

* * * *

LONG BEACH welterweight Billy Smith lost to Andy Loves in his first bout.

Garcia floored Bolton in the second round, but Bolton sent Benny to the canvas twice in the third round, causing the referee to stop the fight.

The winners travel to Chicago tonight where they will compete in the nationals Monday night.

FINALS

Flyweight—Lennie Price, Phoenix, dec. Rene Juarez, Pasadena.

Bantamweight—Al Bolton, Los Angeles, ko'd Juan Perea, Phoenix.

AGGRESSIVE MOLINA NABS EASY VERDICT

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Fast-rising Louis Molina aggressively fought to a unanimous 10-round decision over sixth-ranked welterweight Manuel Gonzales Saturday night in a nationally televised bout. It was Molina's 19th professional victory without a loss. There were no knockdowns.

Referee Jimmie Olivas gave Molina six rounds and called two even. On the five-point-must system, he had Molina the winner 48-43. Both judges gave Molina a perfect 50 points.

Predict WHL to Rival NHL

SEATTLE (AP)—President Al Leader of the Western Hockey League predicted Saturday the booming circuit, spanning 1,500 miles from Edmonton to Los Angeles, will become a major league within 5 years.

"The procedure is simple," said Leader. "We need only to declare the WHL a major league."

* * * *

FOR SEVERAL reasons the declaration will not come soon:

1. The draft agreement, by which the National Hockey League can take players from the WHL, does not expire until 1964.

2. Leader said the WHL should have six arenas with seating capacity of 10,000.

3. "Before we challenge for the Stanley Cup — hockey's top prize—we want to be sure we won't be humiliated."

* * * *

TELEVISION is a factor in hockey's future and a continent-wide league will be more appealing to sponsors, Leader suggested. He said Saturday night telecasts of NHL games in Canada forced the WHL to abandon Saturday play in the Dominion.

Attendance and enthusiasm in California have prompted the optimism for an early rise in stature.

Angels to TV 14 M&M Tilts En Route 101

By ROSS NEWHAN

PALM SPRINGS—The Angels are slated for 81 games at Chavez Ravine, but Southern California fans will be able to see the Seraphs in action 101 times via the magic of television.

The Independent, Press-Telegram learned that a two-year contract with KHJ-TV will net the Angels $200,000 and expose them to millions of possible new fans.

Their schedule this year calls for six exhibition games from Palm Springs — which had been previously announced—and 20 road games, at least one from every park in the American League.

* * * *

THE WORLD champion New York Yankees play nine games at Chavez, but Southern California fans will be able to view M&M 14 times. Channel 9 will televise five of the nine Angel games at Yankee Stadium.

The Angels videoed 10 home games last year, but the front office thought a policy change was necessary this season. Still, there may be some television from the ravine.

Before signing the contract, KHJ-TV held out for an agreement that if any of its road telecasts are rained out, they will be rescheduled from Cravez Ravine during August and September. Since three games are scheduled from Minnesota and Detroit in April, you can expect to see the Ravine on TV late this summer.

* * * *

A KHJ-TV official revealed that Angel telecasts had a rating of 14 points, meaning 14 per cent of the sets turned in in Southern California were fixed on Channel 9. A night game against the Yankees attracted 28 per cent of the viewers, the highest rating of the year.

Standard Oil, Chevrolet and Viceroy will be the sponsors with Buddy Blattner and Don Wells handling the description. Blattner will also do a pre-game show. The TV lineup:

April 14—Minnesota; April 15—Minnesota; April 28—Detroit; May 2—Cleveland; May 12—New York; May 25—Kansas City; May 27—Kansas City; June 15—Chicago; June 17—Chicago; June 29—New York; June 30—New York; July 1—New York; July 4—Washington; July 28—Detroit; August 4—Baltimore; August 5—Baltimore; August 23—Kansas City; September 1—Washington; September 2—New York; September 10—Minnesota.

The Angels again drilled on fundamentals Saturday and more of the same is in store for the next three days. Coach Rocky Bridges best described the first seven days of any spring training camp:

"This is the most monotonous phase of spring training, but at the same time, the most important."

ANGEL ANGLES: General manager Fred Haney revealed he had talked to the missing Bob Belinsky . . . "He wants a guarantee of return transportation money," said Haney, "which proves he hasn't read his contract. That guarantee is included in the pact. He just wants another week of vacation." . . . Haney said there would be no fine when the southpaw pitcher does report.

Pitcher Johnny James, extremely fast for this early, drilled Ken Hunt on the left elbow during batting practice . . . an ice pack was applied immediately and Hunt was back on the field after 15 minutes.

Colavito, Maris, Jay Holdouts

Compiled From Wire Services

There still are three bona-fide high-salaried holdouts in the major leagues today as most of the clubs swing heavily into the spring training grind.

They are Roger Maris of the Yankees, Rocky Colavito of the Tigers and Joey Jay of Cincinnati.

Maris, who reportedly asked for $75,000, is said to have lowered his price to $70,000, but is still about $10,000 away from what the Yankees are offering.

* * * *

COLAVITO, the slugging outfielder for Detroit, sent back his third contract unsigned. He was paid $35,000 last season and has been offered an increase of $15,000. But Rocky is understood to be holding out for well over that figure.

Jay, the Reds' 21-game winner, and the club are "too far apart, I guess," said his wife. Lois Jay said Joey was away, "on business."

Said manager Ralph Houk of the Yankees: "Maris' salary problems are none of my business. Maris' problem — if he has one — is strictly between himself and the front office. I don't get mixed up in salaries of ball players."

THE Philadelphia Phillies and Tigers officially opened their spring training camps Saturday. Pitchers Paul Foytack and Terry Fox are still holdouts for the Tigers.

At the San Francisco Giants camp in Casa Grande, Ariz., the Alou boys, Felipe and Matty, made their appearance and big brother Felipe immediately put on a hitting show.

Fast Pace in Ladies Bowling

By DAVE TAYLOR

Long Beach Women's Bowling Assn. sharpshooters battled to the last pin as the classic 1962 City Championship Tournament duel went into a final blistering round at Clark Center Saturday night.

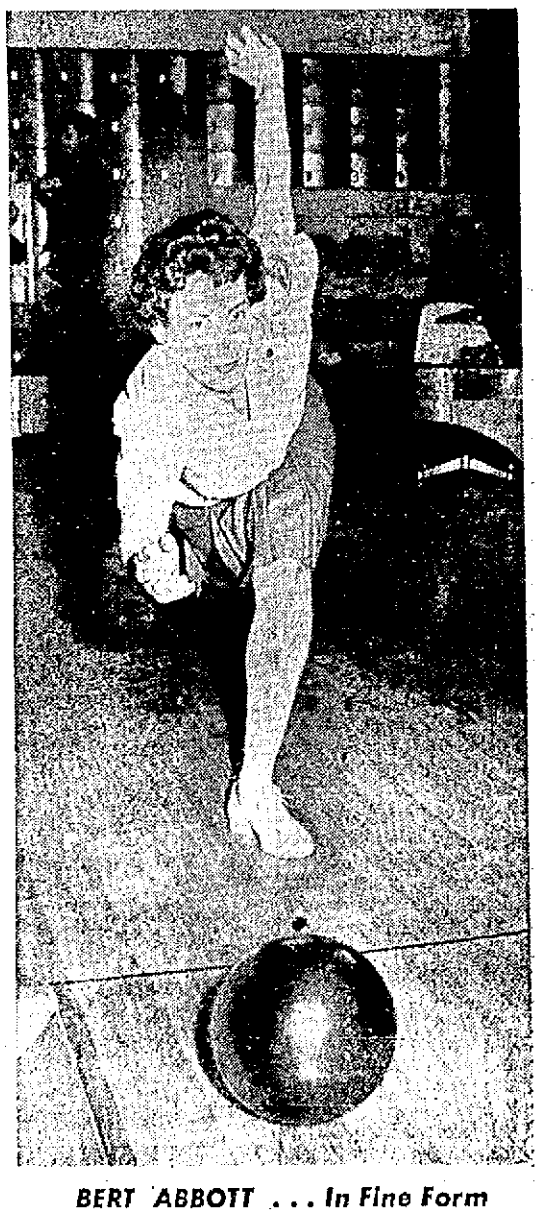

Alltime high City Tournament scoring records set earlier in the current tilt were quivering on their pedestals as some of the hardest hitting pin bellers in local distaff ranks took to the firing line in Saturday's down-to-the-wire finish of the tournament doubles and singles competition.

In the last-minute running to beat out doubles, singles all-event victories were such stars as 700-hitter Barbara Bishop, 1961 BVL Champion Connie Pick, and high 170-averagers Bobbie Heldt, Dennie Brimhall, Albina Lynch, Joann Thomas and Dee Smith.

* * * *

AS 64 SHOOTERS in the two final tournament squads took action Saturday, heaviest pressure went on Lukie Freeman's thin 627 "A" Class singles lead while Gayle Nelson held on tight to her 1729 top mark in "A" Class all-events.

On last report Saturday, three singles over 250 had been felled by the steamed-up challengers led by Wanda Weaver with 258, Velma Young 256 and Jane Martin 255.

WYNN

Man to Man

LaRUSSO

By JERRY WYNN

Rudy LaRusso is a symbol of a new breed of sports hero in Southern California.

He is young, intelligent, a dynamic performer and he plays basketball. Even such impressive qualifications as these would have been ho-hum matter a few years ago. Today, LaRusso, the Lakers he represents, the pro basketball game he plays, have turned hard-nosed skeptics into hardwood addicts.

Of immediate concern to the 6-foot-7½, 24-year-old darter from Dartmouth, whose mellifluous name stems from Italian-Jewish parentage, is the National Basketball Assn. Championship playoffs.

"We've had the feeling on the Lakers all season that we can win it all," says Rudy. "I'm optimistic and confident."

Assuming you play Boston for the championship, wouldn't an experienced team like the Celtics have an edge in a short series?

"Yes, they would be tougher. But so would we. The best basketball is played in the playoffs because the pressure is the greatest. You have to think about every pass and every move. The Celtics will be sharp."

After that ruckus with Boston at the Arena last Sunday, you were quoted as saying that the officials protect Bob Cousy. Is that true?

"I don't think I said it just that way, but it is true. He makes his bread and butter stealing balls, and will foul more often than other players. The officials don't call all the fouls on him as they do on players who aren't stars. In that way, he is protected."

What do you think of the officiating in the NBA?

"There are some good officials and some bad ones who don't belong in the league. There is room for improvement."

Are there any dirty players in the league?

"Not any more. Back in the old days, a club could afford to have one or two musclemen to go along with their shooters. But the competition is so tough today that a player must be able to do many things well. And all the players today have more strength. That's become part of the game."

Is there too much stress on offense and not enough on defense?

"It is almost impossible to play back-breaking defense and high-scoring offense in a 48-minute game with a 24-second clock. So the defense usually suffers. It is not because the players can't play defense. You just can't do both well at the same time. You usually find that the best scorers are the worst defensive players."

In a man-to-man situation, who is the toughest defender for you?

"Woody Sauldsberry of the Packers. He is a little lazy at times, but he really knows how to play defense."

Whom do you consider the best player in the game?

"Elgin Baylor. He's the best I've ever seen."

If you were a coach and starting a team, would you rather have Wilt Chamberlain or Bill Russell to play center?

"Probably Wilt. You know he is good for 45 points and 30 rebounds before you even start the game. Russell is custom-made for a team like the Celtics where he is surrounded by fine personnel."

"In a game as demanding physically and mentally as basketball, what is your primary motive for playing?

"It's a combination of several things. I think all good players really love the game. You start very young and continue with it until it becomes a part of you. Then when an opportunity arises to play professional and make money from it, well and good. We all realize it's a job, but we have a great pride involved."

To what do you attribute the success of the Lakers this season?

"I think basically it was a matter of maturing. This is a young club, and it takes time for college players to jell into a pro team. Just consider how long the Celtics have been playing together.

"Individually, Jerry West has come up with a real great year, Elgin gets better and better every year, Frank Selvy has been real steady, and Jimmy Krebs is a real asset at center."

He might have added the name of Rudy LaRusso.

Deceased USC Coach Gave Satriano Two Steps

By ROSS NEWHAN
L. P-T Staff Writer

PALM SPRINGS—The death of USC track coach Jess Mortensen last Monday was a sudden and deep shock to the sports world. To the sphere of track and field the loss is impossible to measure. His athletes produced a cascade of Olympic gold medals and he was, it seemed, certain to be coach of the United States team in the 1964 Games at Tokyo.

His contributions to sports were many and his passing at the still-vibrant age of 54 was felt deeply by the Angels' organization. It was in the last few months of his life that Mortensen imparted some advice to a 21-year-old Angel infielder with a big future, but a bigger problem.

Tom Satriano was signed for a $50,000 bonus in June of last year after leading USC to a five-game sweep of the NCAA Tournament at Omaha. His average was in the .470s, highest on the Trojan team.

To get Satriano, the Angels outbid five other major league teams. This they did with the knowledge the Dodgers—masters in the scouting of talent—had refused to bid, solely on account of Satriano's amazing lack of speed.

The Angels, in dire need of infield help, decided to keep Satriano with the varsity. The first time manager Bill Rigney saw the Trojan run, he shuttered and realized fully Walter O'Malley's shrewdness.

Satriano's left leg wanted no part of the right one and his arms swing so wide he turned in a semi-circle with each step.

But he remained in the lineup, for seldom has a rookie displayed such poise both at bat and in the field. This quelled Rigney's fears and he told USC baseball coach Rod Dedeaux that if Satriano could improve his speed he would make the team in '62.

JESS MORTENSEN

Immediately after the '61 season Satriano re-enrolled at USC. (He now has two semesters remaining in his general management major. "Maybe I'll take over Fred Haney's job.")

It was during halftime of the USC-Illinois game this fall that Satriano talked with Dedeaux and learned of what Rigney had said. "Rod suggested I see Mortensen," revealed Satriano following a lengthy opening week Angel drill which stressed running.

"This wasn't the first time I had been told about my running. I just never did anything about it. Maybe I was too sensitive. I guess we all tend to be sensitive about our faults.

"Well, Mortensen was just wonderful. He watched me run and said, 'There's a lot of work to be done, but I think I can help you.'

"He told me I had fine form for a distance runner, but as a sprinter it would never do. Two or three times a week I met with him and he instructed me to lift my knees higher and pump my arms instead of swinging them.

"After teaching his theory he left me alone to practice. He was always available, though, even after track workouts had begun. That was recently, and he looked so well. His death was a real shock."

The results of Satriano's diligent practice this winter were revealed by Mortensen himself two weeks before his death when he told Haney that the pupil had improved a full two steps.

"That could mean a lot of base hits," said a happy Satriano at the news. "I'm glad I wasn't farmed out last year and I'm confident I can hit major league pitching—and that means right now."

At that, Satriano may be about two steps ahead of the field in the early race for third base.

Walker Second in Masters

By JERRY WYNN

Big Dick Clover of Recreation Park fired an insulated one-under par 70 at Lakewood Saturday to take a four-stroke lead after the opening round of the Long Beach Masters Championship.

It was a remarkably fine effort on a cold, blustery day on a well-soaked golf course. A duck joined the hardy gallery of more than 100 for a few holes, obviously wondering what humans were doing out in such foul weather.

In second place is veteran Del Walker, who bounded back after bogeying the first four holes to shoot a 74. Larry Griggs of Skylinks and Craig Olson of Meadowlark share third place at 76. A startling trail-ender is State Amateur champion John Richardson of Lakewood, who found his home course a facsimile of Pebble Beach and took 79 blows at it.

Action in the 72-hole tournament of club champions shifts to Skylinks today. Tee-off time is 10 a.m.

"I would have been happy with a 72 or 73 in this weather," Clover observed.

The husky 28-year-old Long Beach City champion had three birdies and two bogies for nines of 35-35.

Going out, he slipped on the tough second, but made the stroke up with a 25-foot birdie putt on the eighth. Coming in, he birdied the par-five 14th on a six-footer and the 16th on a 30-footer from the fringe, but bogeyed the 17th by hitting short on the green.

Walker had three birdies, two of them sensationally. He sank a 50-foot putt from about 10 feet off the green and up a hill on the seventh hole, and hit a beautiful 4-iron shot to within two feet of the pin on the 10th.

Griggs also had three birdies, but fell back by missing a couple of three-foot putts. Olson sank a 12-footer to birdie the 13th and made several other good putts to save pars. Richardson just didn't have it. He had eight bogies, no birds, and to add injury to insult, was hit on the leg by a ball.

Lakers Nudged, Engage Pistons

By DON HARDIN

The Cincinati Royals stalled the Lakers Saturday in their bid to set a new win record for the NBA's Western Division. But with Elgin Baylor back, and in the comfort of the Sports Arena, coach Fred Schaus' club will go after that record again today against the Detroit Pistons.

Cincinnati, with Oscar Robertson paving the way with 35 points, nudged the Lakers, 118-114, in a nationally-televised game. The Royals moved four games in front of the Pistons in their battle for second place.

The Lakers, except for a brief period in the second quarter, were behind all the way. Jerry West had 34 points. It was the Royals' fifth win in a row.

* * * *

THE LAKERS need only four wins in their last nine regular-season games to set an all-time win record for a Western Division titlist. The St. Louis Hawks set the record of 51 last season. Boston holds the Eastern Division mark of 59.

Game time today at the Arena, where the Lakers have lost only five contests in 27 tries, is 2:30 p.m. It's also "kids day" with any child under 16 accompanied by a parent admitted for $1.

The Lakers have only three more games left at home before the playoffs—against Detroit again Tuesday night and against the Hawks on March 14.

* * * *

THIS PROBABLY will be Elgin's final appearance before the playoffs. He was scheduled to fly down from his Fort Lewis, Wash., Army base Saturday night. He will return immediately following today's game. In 27 games since Elgin went into the Army, the Lakers have won 14, lost 13. Of the five games in which Baylor has appeared during this span the Lakers have won all.

The Pistons are much like Syracuse of the Eastern Division — inconsistent but at times blazing. Rookie Ray Scott has had a lot to do with Detroit's surge in the last half of the season.

WANTED RECORD

Beatty Unhappy After 4:00.2 Mile

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Beatty, the world's only indoor sub-four minute miler, won the National AAU mile in 4:00.2—the second fastest ever on boards—before a screaming crowd of 16,864 Saturday night in Madison Square Garden.

The Los Angeles Track Club star took the lead at the halfway point, and, pursued by Cary Wiesiger of the Quantico Marines until he was a lap from home, never really was in danger.

Two weeks ago in the Los Angeles meet, Beatty ran the mile in 3:58.9 to break the indoor four-minute "barrier." Then last week in the New York A.C. meet, he ran the distance in 4:00.9.

* * * *

BEATTY WAS disappointed that he hadn't cracked his own world record.

"I felt this was the night," he said after the race, "but after the long delay getting the race started I was just too cold to do any better."

The start of the mile was 45 minutes behind the original schedule as earlier events in the packed program all ran late.

John Thomas, the dethroned world king of the high jumpers, got off his first 7-footer of the season and showed signs of regaining some of his old form.

But Ralph Boston, the top broad jumper in the universe, was defeated by Charlie Mays, a 21-year-old junior from Maryland State College who got off a 24-10¾ leap.

* * * *

BOTH HAYES Jones of Pontiac, Mich., and Frank Budd of Villanova kept their winning streaks intact. Jones captured the 60-yard hurdles, his 28th straight indoor triumph, in 7.2.

Budd defeated Herb Carper by inches in the 60-yard dash. He ran 6.2 after a meet record 6.1 in the semi-final heat.

Gary Gubner, 260-pound New York University sophomore who has a world shot put record pending, broke the meet record four times in winning the shot with a final heave of 62 feet, 10 inches.

60-yard dash—Budd (Villanova), Carper (Santa Barbara AC), Winder (Phil. PC), 6.2. (Budd equalled meet record of 6.1 in semi-final heat.)

600-yard run—Crothers (E. York TC) 1:11.8; Yerman (US Army) 1:11.8; Bowers (Winston-Salem) 1:12.3; Stauffer (Maryland) 1:12.8.

1,000-yard run—Reilly (Georgetown) 2:11.0; Grelle (LATC) 2:11.1; Akeran (NYAC) 2:11.2; Smith (Cornell) 2:13.1.

One-mile run—Beatty (LATC) 4:00.2; Weisiger (US Marines); Irons (Toronto) 4:14.7.

Three-mile run—Kidd (Toronto) 13:48.8; Clohessy (Houston TC); Iharos (Hungary).

One-mile walk—Zins (USMAA) 6:36.0; Humcke (NYAC); Daniel (Unatt.)

Sprint medley relay—Villanova (Wagner, Jackman, Budd, Drayton) 1:50.3; Manhattan, New York AC.

Two-mile relay—Fordham (O'Connor, Kennedy, Tynan, Tomeo) 7:40.6; Villanova, Holy Cross.

One-mile relay—Morgan State (Bethea, Bagley, Brown, Smart) 3:18.8; Maryland St., St. John's.

60-yard HH—Jones (Unat.) 7.1; Johnson (Unat.) 7.2; Rogers (Mary. St.) 7.3.

Shotput—Gubner (NYU) 62-10 (meet record; old record 62-1¾, Parry O'Brien, 1959); Kessler (Fordham) 57-2½; Joe (Villanova) 56-9¼.

Broad jump—Mays (Mary. St.) 24-10¾; Boston (Tenn. St.) 24-5¼; Wilson (Mary. St.) 23-8.

High jump—Thomas (Boston U) 7-0; Avant (LA) 6-10; Bob Gardner (NYAC) 6-8.

35-pound weight throw—Hall (NYAC) 64-7½; Reard (NYAC) 62-8; Lawler (Boston AA) 60-5; Sage (Navy) 60-¼.

Troy Trackmen Unimpressive in Kickoff Carnival 'Victory'

By JOHN DIXON

USC's 1961 national collegiate champions looked like anything but 1962 champions as they inaugurated the outdoor track and field campaign Saturday.

The Trojans won nine of 13 competitions from UCLA in the annual "kickoff carnival," but there wasn't a first-rate achievement either from the scholars with the large lungs or large muscles.

The Westwood elements did not contribute to world records however. The cinder skinnies were buffeted by a chilly eight MPH breeze, and given early showers by late-meet rain drops.

Best race, and best clockings, occurred in the high steppers of international interest engaged.

Winner was Bob Pierce of USC. Time, 14.2. Second was Brian Polkinghorne of USC, also in 14.2. UCLA's man of all trades, Chan Kwang Yang, was two yards back in 14.6.

The Trojans, competing for the first time since 1950 under Jess Hill's flag, displayed their usual strength in the distance events— nothing.

Despite poor clockings, UCLA won the two-mile relay (7:49.2), the distance medley relay (10:10.8) and took one-two in the two-mile (9:51.6).

* * * *

TOM WEBB was Ducky Drake's most impressive performer, running a 1:58.1 880 leg and a dandy 3:03.8 1,320.

Mil Dahl, a distance runner of Olympic Games potential, ran a 1:56.1 half-mile and lookin'-back 4:18.5 mile.

Other than the high hurdles, only noteworthy Trojan escapades occurred in field events.

Dallas Long, the Phoenix dentist, threw the shot 59 feet, 9 inches, and ex-Marine Jan Sikorsky skied the javelin 237-6. They were the only meet records of the gloomy day. Some 1,000 were in attendance.

High hurdles—Pierce (USC) 14.2, Polkinghorne (USC) 14.2, and (UCLA) 14.6. Brown (UCLA) 9:56.6, Nardi (USC) 10:22.8.

440 relay—USC (Cortese, Rhodes, Pierce, Munn) 42.3. UCLA 42.6.

880 relay—USC (Rhodes 22.9, Cortese 22.2, Pierce 22.1, Munn 21.8) 1:29.1. UCLA 1:29.7.

Mile relay—USC (Talsky 50.8, Noll 49.1, Cawley 51.3, Hogan 52.4) 3:12.8. UCLA 3:22.7.

Two-mile relay—UCLA (Jackson 1:58.2, Ulier 1:56.8, Dahl 1:56.1, Webb 1:58.1) 7:49.2. USC 7:52.6.

Distance medley relay—UCLA (Black 59.2, Jackson 1:57.7, Webb 3:03.8, Dahl 4:18.5) 10:10.8. USC 10:20.8.

Shotput—USC (Long 59-9, Wade 51-6¼, Shuey 46-8½) 1:57.10. UCLA (Chamberlain 51-1, Fiorentino 5-11, Cleves 50-½) 152¼ (individual meet record by Long; old record 59.6 by Long, 1961).

Javelin—USC (Sikorsky 237-6, Tomlinson 230-11) 437-7. UCLA (Yang 226-2½, Harvino 187-5) 414-7½ (individual meet record by Sikorsky; old record 223-5 by Perry, USC, 1958).

Broad jump—UCLA (Doby 22-4¼, Alexander 22-3, Trigo 21-11¾) 66-7. USC (Johnson 20-9¾, Augustine 20-7¾, Grundy 19-11) 61-4½.

Pole vault—USC (Hein 14-4, Flanagan 14-0, Lang 12-6) 40-4. UCLA no entries.

Discus—USC (Wade 163-7½, Smith 147-11, Alix 137-5), 449-11½. UCLA (Carr 151-9½, Putnam 150-11, Chamberlain 128-3) 429-11½.

High jump—USC (Fleckenstein 6-4¼, Grundy 6-2¼, Cawley 5-10¼) 18-4¼. UCLA (Yang 6-1¼, Hussins 6-1¼, Thomas 5-10¼) 17-10¼.

The 21st Long Beach Relays Saturday at Veterans Stadium will be a "class" event.

Early entries for the event, which succeeds the SPAAAU championships as the traditional outdoor inaugural, include the world-record holding pole vaulter and two national championship teams.

George Davies of Arizona State, who has a certified vault mark of 15 feet, 10½ inches, has promised meet director Jack Rose that he will be on hand.

USC, 1961 NATIONAL collegiate champion, and the Southern California Striders, 1961 National AAU champion, have indicated that they will file full teams.

Two-time Olympian and world record holder Hal Connolly also will appear in his specialty, the hammer throw.

Over 800 university-open, college freshmen and junior college athletes are expected to provide Long Beach with the "biggest" track meet ever.

Tunney-Marciano 'Greatest Fight'

By OSCAR FRALEY

MIAMI (UPI)—Gene Tunney as a boxer and Rocky Marciano as a puncher were the greatest heavyweight champions since Jack Dempsey, Al (The Vest) Weill declares, and a Dempsey-Marciano bout would have been "the greatest fight of all time."

"Throw those two great punchers in together," Weill mused, his blue eyes lighting up, "and you'd have really seen some fireworks. It would have been murder incorporated."

ROCKY MARCIANO
Too Many 'Friends'

Weill should know, having been associated briefly with Dempsey in the Manassa Mauler's early days and being the man who managed Marciano to the heavyweight title and a record of 49 fights without defeat.

"The Vest," so called because he once displayed a passionate predilection for gaudy waistcoats, has difficulty generating enthusiasm these days after a nine month illness with a kidney ailment. He underwent eight blood transfusions and, after almost a year on the boxing sidelines, at 68 finally has come back to where he once again is itching to manage or promote.

Marciano was only one of Weill's champions. Al also piloted Joey Archibald to the featherweight title, Lou Ambers to the lightweight crown and Marty Servo to the welterweight championship.

"Ambers was the best," he insists. "He was tops in principles as well as ability."

THE PORTLY, WHITE-HAIRED man with the horn-rimmed glasses may, in this statement, be prejudiced by a coolness in his relations with Marciano. Rocky became increasingly assertive as to his aim and intentions as he came down to the point of retirement and they are not particularly close even at this stage.

"We talk to each other," Weill hastens to interject. "He calls me up and so on. But he made a couple of pretty bad cracks about me. Rocky listened to too many fair weather friends. Club lawyers, I call 'em. I blame them for lookin' to get in with him. They've cost him a lot of money, too.

"Understand," he added, "I'm not knockin' Marciano. It's just that those fair weather friends told him he did it all by himself. Now you gotta have everything to win 49 without defeat. But you got to have a lot of help from your manager, too."

There are, Weill claims, those psychological moments when a needle from the manager is the difference.

"Like the night in Philadelphia we fight old Jersey Joe Walcott for the title," he said. "Look, I know we can't win the decision. Think what you want, but this is Walcott's home town. They're all for him, and that includes the officials. So when Rocky comes to the corner after the 12th round, I tell him 'you ain't gotta chance less you knock him out.' So Rocky goes out there the next round and hits him a right that puts Joe away and we win the title."

WEILL IS AN INTERESTING man. At 13 he was sent by his parents from Strasbourg in Alsace-Lorraine to New York. Later there was a young folks dance and his grandmother taught him to trip the light fantastic by using a broom as her prop. Before he knew it, Al was winning ball room dance contests at various theaters, from the likes of a couple of hoofers known today as George Raft and George Burns.

"It didn't pay much," he grins. "The prize was $10—and you had to pay $2 for the tuxedo you rented."

He lived in a furnished room in Manhattan with a printer's devil named Andy Brown. In return for acting as Al's shill, or hard-clapping cheerleader at the dance contests, Brown got Al to manage his ambitions as a flyweight boxer. Thus was Weill started down the boxing road which led him to the post of matchmaker at Madison Square Garden and manager of four world champions.

Today there's a long, long road a winding behind him. But Al, The Vest, is looking ahead.

"There's a kid on the coast . . ." he started to say.

But, somehow, you know that, coolness and all, there will never be another Rocky Marciano.

'SPOOKY ROUND'

Wininger Sorry About 73, Leads

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Handsome Bo Wininger, playing the "sorriest round I've had in a long time" took the lead in the $30,000 greater New Orleans Open golf tournament Saturday with a 54-hole total of 213.

The 39-year-old Wininger had a one-over-par 73 on the 6,656-yard city park layout, but it was good enough to move ahead of the field.

Peppery Phil Rodgers, the 23-year-old Californian who led after the second round with successive 69s, ballooned to a 76.

"It was spooky," Wininger said, referring to his round. "I was grabbing the wrong clubs and misjudging. But my putter saved my life.

"It (the putter) was unbelievable. I sank some real long ones just to get pars."

Murrell, Garcia Bow in Finals

By FRANK HARVEY

Middleweight Emmett Murrell and featherweight Benny Garcia, both of Long Beach, lost their final bouts Saturday night in the Western States Golden Gloves at the Olympic Auditorium.

Murrell, the defending champion, lost a close decision to Bobby Valdez of Phoenix. Garcia was knocked out by Joe Bolton in the third round.

A third Long Beach fighter, heavyweight Bob Handloser, was scheduled to go in the finals after beating Gary Fields in his semi-final bout with a second-round knockout.

• • • •

LONG BEACH welterweight Billy Smith lost to Andy Loves in his first bout.

Garcia floored Bolton in the second round, but Bolton sent Benny to the canvas twice in the third round, causing the referee to stop the fight.

The winners travel to Chicago tonight where they will compete in the nationals Monday night.

Jayne Mansfield presented trophies to the winners.

Prior to his departure Saturday for Vero Beach, Fla., Dodger pitcher Stan Williams was presented an Eagle Scouting Plaque of Achievement by Explorer Post 16 of Long Beach.

Predict WHL to Rival NHL

SEATTLE (AP)—President Al Leader of the Western Hockey League predicted Saturday the booming circuit, spanning 1,500 miles from Edmonton to Los Angeles, will become a major league within 5 years.

"The procedure is simple," said Leader. "We need only to declare the WHL a major league."

• • • •

FOR SEVERAL reasons the declaration will not come soon:

1. The draft agreement, by which the National Hockey League can take players from the WHL, does not expire until 1964.

2. Leader said the WHL should have six arenas with seating capacity of 10,000.

3. "Before we challenge for the Stanley Cup — hockey's top prize—we want to be sure we won't be humiliated."

• • • •

TELEVISION is a factor in hockey's future and a continent-wide league will be more appealing to sponsors, Leader suggested. He said Saturday night telecasts of NHL games in Canada forced the WHL to abandon Saturday play in the Dominion.

Attendance and enthusiasm in California have prompted the optimism for an early rise in stature.

Angels to TV 14 M&M Tilts En Route 101

By ROSS NEWLAN

PALM SPRINGS—The Angels are slated for 81 games at Chavez Ravine, but Southern California fans will be able to see the Seraphs in action 101 times via the magic of television.

The Independent, Press-Telegram learned that a two-year contract with KHJ-TV will net the Angels $200,000 and expose them to millions of possible new fans.

Their schedule this year calls for six exhibition games from Palm Springs — which had been previously announced—and 20 road games, at least one from every park in the American League.

• • • •

THE WORLD champion New York Yankees play nine games at Chavez, but Southern California fans will be able to view M&M 14 times. Channel 9 will televise five of the nine Angel games at Yankee Stadium.

The Angels videoed 10 home games last year, but the front office thought a policy change was necessary this season. Still, there may be some television from the ravine.

Before signing the contract, KHJ-TV held out for an agreement that if any of its road telecasts are rained out, they will be rescheduled from Cravez Ravine during August and September. Since three games are scheduled from Minnesota and Detroit in April, you can expect to see the Ravine on TV late this summer.

• • • •

A KHJ-TV official revealed that Angel telecasts had a rating of 14 points, meaning 14 per cent of the sets turned in in Southern California were fixed on Channel 9. A night game against the Yankees attracted 28 per cent of the viewers, the highest rating of the year.

Standard Oil, Chevrolet and Viceroy will be the sponsors with Buddy Blattner and Don Wells handling the description. Blattner will also do a pre-game show. The TV line-up:

April 14—Minnesota; April 15—Minnesota; April 22—Detroit; May 2—Cleveland; May 22—New York; May 23—Kansas City; May 27—Kansas City; June 15—Chicago; June 17—Chicago; June 29—New York; June 30—New York; July 1—New York; July 6—Washington; July 29—Detroit; August 6—Baltimore; August 5—Baltimore; August 25—Kansas City; September 1—Washington; September 3—New York; September 10—Minnesota.

The Angels again drilled on fundamentals Saturday and more of the same is in store for the next three days. Coach Rocky Bridges best described the first seven days of any spring training camp:

"This is the most monotonous phase of spring training, but at the same time, the most important."

ANGEL ANGLES: General manager Fred Haney revealed he had talked to the missing Bob Speake . . . "He wants a guarantee of return transportation money," said Haney, "which proves he hasn't read his contract. That guarantee is included in the pact. He just wants another week of vacation." . . . Haney said there would be no fine when the southpaw pitcher does report.

Pitcher Jabbar James, extremely fast for this early, drilled Ken Hunt on the left elbow during batting practice . . . An ice pack was applied immediately and Hunt was back on the field after 15 minutes.

Colavito, Maris, Jay Holdouts

Compiled From Wire Services

There still are three bona-fide high-salaried holdouts in the major leagues today as most of the clubs swing heavily into the spring training grind.

They are Roger Maris of the Yankees, Rocky Colavito of the Tigers and Joey Jay of Cincinnati.

Maris, who reportedly asked for $75,000, is said to have lowered his price to $70,000, but is still about $10,000 away from what the Yankees are offering.

• • • •

COLAVITO, the slugging outfielder for Detroit, sent back his third contract unsigned. He was paid $35,000 last season and has been offered an increase of $15,000. But Rocky is understood to be holding out for well over that figure.

Jay, the Reds' 21-game winner, and the club are "too far apart, I guess," said his wife. Lois Jay said Joey was away "on business."

Said manager Ralph Houk of the Yankees: "Maris' salary problems are none of my business. Maris' problem — if he has one — is strictly between himself and the front office. I don't get mixed up in salaries of ball players."

• • • •

THE Philadelphia Phillies and Tigers officially opened their spring training camps Saturday. Pitchers Paul Foytack and Terry Fox are still holdouts for the Tigers.

At the San Francisco Giants camp in Casa Grande, Ariz., the Alou boys, Felipe and Matty, made their appearance and big brother Felipe immediately put on a hitting show.

Celts Hold Wilt to 26; Magic No. Now 2

Compiled From Wire Services

The Boston Celtics cut their magic number to two for clinching the Eastern Division title of the National Basketball Association Saturday night by routing the Warriors, 109-86, at Philadelphia.

Any combination of Boston victories and Warrior defeats totaling two would give the Celtics their sixth straight Eastern championship.

Bill Russell held Wilt Chamberlain to 26 points in the game. The 86 points were the lowest by the Warriors this season and their lowest since 1955-59 whey they were held to 84.

At Chicago, the Packers, paced by Walt Bellamy's 38 points, defeated the St. Louis Hawks, 129-119. Bellamy ran his season total to 2,186, second highest in history for a rookie in the NBA.

The Syracuse Nats, who have never missed the playoffs, cut their magic number to two by edging last-place New York, 120-117, at Utica.

AGGRESSIVE MOLINA NABS EASY VERDICT

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Fast-rising Louis Molina aggressively fought to a unanimous 10-round decision over sixth-ranked welterweight Manuel Gonzales Saturday night in a nationally televised bout. It was Molina's 19th professional victory without a loss. There were no knockdowns.

Referee Jimmie Olivas gave Molina six rounds and called two even. On the five-point-must system, he had Molina the winner 48-43. Both judges gave Molina a perfect 50 points.

Long Beach Women's Bowling Assn. sharpshooters battled to the last pin as the classic 1962 City Championship Tournament duel went into a final blistering round at Clark Center Saturday night.

Alltime high City Tournament scoring records set earlier in the current tilt were quivering on their pedestals as some of the hardest hitting pin belters in local distaff ranks took to the firing line in Saturday's down-to-the-wire finish of the tournament doubles and singles competition.

In the last-minute running to beat out doubles, singles all-event victories were such stars as 700-hitter Barbara Bishop, 1961 BVL Champion Connie Pick, and high 170-averagers Bobbie Heldt, Dennie Brimhall, Albina Lynch, Joann Thomas and Dee Smith.

• • • •

AS 64 SHOOTERS in the two final tournament squads took action Saturday, heaviest pressure went on Lukie Freeman's thin 627 "A" Class singles lead while Gayle Nelson held on tight to her 1729 top mark in "A" Class all-events.

On last report Saturday, three singles over 250 had been felled by the steamed-up challengers led by Wanda Weaver with 258, Velma Young 256 and Jane Martin 255.

San Diego Needs Some of Our Rain

Several callers in the last few days have asked about the water levels of lakes in San Diego County, as well as those in Orange, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara Counties.

Those fishermen—I'm taking it for granted that they are—will be disappointed to know that most of the rains that drenched us almost evaporated to mist and fog upon reaching the San Diego County line.

There has been little variation in the lake levels there. The ground has soaked up the moisture, drop by drop, and all the San Diego Water Department officials can do is hope for intense rains such as we had through most of this month.

A check yesterday with an official of the SDWD showed that the stream that normally flows into Morena Lake was bone-dry at midweek.

Only two lakes under the jurisdiction of the SDWD are open now—San Vicente, on Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays, and Lower Otay, on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays.

El Capitan, Sutherland, Upper Otay and Hodges are other lakes under the SDWD banner, but they will not be opened until later dates.

THIS MAY SEEM STRANGE, but both San Vicente and Lower Otay showed a tremendous pickup in crappie fishing and fish size just 10 days ago. A check last Sunday at San Vicente showed that 300 crappie averaged 1¼ pounds, with the largest going three pounds. A 7½-pound bass and a 17½-pound catfish also stirred up the fishing fever there.

Another lake, Murray, operated by the Helix Irrigation District and within the city limits of San Diego, is open on a pay-and-fish plan. It is planted privately with trout ranging from one-half to 3 pounds. In some respects, it is almost a dead-ringer for Irvine Lake, near Orange.

Irvine's opening date has not been announced, but is expected almost any day.

Murray is reached by traveling south on Hwy. 101, turning off on Hwy. 80, going east through Mission Valley, taking the 70th Street turnoff to Lake Murray Boulevard.

Beginning July 1, Murray will be taken over by the SDWD and operated on a similar basis. It is now open on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays and gets more than 90 per cent of its patronage from San Diego citizens.

THE SDWD IS PLANNING a statement within a month outlining a plan for operation of all the lakes this year. Chances are that San Vicente will be closed before summer, but other lakes will be opened.

Henshaw, one of the county's most popular lakes, is not a part of the SDWD system. It is open every day. Its level has come up some, but not as much as its operators would like. Fishing there has not been on the exciting side.

Wohlford, back of Escondido, will open later in the spring at a time still to be decided by the Escondido Mutual Water Department. It may prove to be one of the county's most popular sports this year.

Upcoast, in Santa Barbara and Ventura Counties, Cachuma is high, Matilija has been full and pouring over the dam for three weeks, Casitas will be a remarkable surprise this year, but it needs fish stock badly. So does Piru.

Inland, in Kern County, Isabella continues to rise. Last reports indicated it now has more than 40,000 acre feet and the precipitation has exceeded that of 1952, a record year.

THE SMALL CRAFT HARBORS COMMISSION, meeting at Oceanside, decided that sanitation facilities will play an important part in all future loans to counties and cities for marina development.

The SCHC officials said that no loans will be approved for any project unless shoreside sanitation facilities are a part of the program. Also, no loan will be approved if the city has not passed ordinances regulating the discharge from small as well as large craft that might enter the harbor.

Both actions are important, but it seems rather silly that the SCHC is just now getting around to such actions. Such regulations should have been on the agenda from the day the SCHC was created.

The commission also approved a uniform waterway marking system, which is being required by the Coast Guard. At some distant date, it is hoped that all 50 states will have the same uniform marking system.

Final approval was given the Santa Cruz project, the second of a series of Harbors of Refuge. Oceanside is the first. The federal government will contribute $1.45 million to the project, the state government $1.98 million and the city of Santa Cruz $25,000.

The Harbors of Refuge project has as a goal enough harbors along the coast so that a small boat will always be only one day from a safe moorage.

EVEN BARNES GLAD TO SEE IT GO

UCLA Ditching Single Wing

By JEROME HALL

The single wing—college football's theory of muscle and maim—is just a cherished memory at UCLA now, but there really are few who are sorry to see it go.

Even coach Bill Barnes is glad.

Monday UCLA makes the official announcement that it is switching to the T formation. The change is coming just in time, as UCLA was facing two serious boycotts because of the antiquated formation.

One of the problems has been the continuing drop in attendance and the other a mushrooming resistence by high school and junior college coaches who have been advising their star backfield men to stay away from UCLA.

That's a combination no college coach can fight, so beginning with spring training, the Bruins will take on their new look. Actually, Barnes began the changeover a year ago when he installed so many lineup variations that UCLA was half single wing and half spread formation.

The change is going to make Barnes' recruiting job infinitely easier. He has met with frightening resistence to his sales pitch about the old-time standard formation that now has been abandoned everywhere except at Tennessee, its birthplace.

Many prep and jaycee coaches throughout Southern California are actively opposed to their players going to UCLA. They claim, for instance, that one of the finest passers ever produced in a Western high school has sat on the UCLA bench for two years now, all because of the single wing.

That passer becomes the heir apparent to the T quarterback job this fall. He is Ezell Singleton. He didn't play much as a tailback because he weighs only 160 pounds.

The Bruins will use the winged T and the running halfback will be Mike Haffner, second-string tailback last season who was the ball-carrying champion of the Big Five though only a sophomore. He wasn't the first-string tailback because he can't pass.

For all these reasons, you can believe Barnes when he says it was not the 21-3 Rose Bowl beating by Minnesota last month that caused the change.

UCLA has a break in the schedule. The Bruins don't open until two weeks later than usual, opposing Ohio State Oct. 6 at the Coliseum. They need the extra practice time.

IT SEEMS grossly inconsiderate that the single wing should pass away without ceremony. It was this horse and buggy offense that made the Bruins bigtime.

Remember the sight of Primo Villanueva running around end with four and five blockers clearing the way to the national championship in 1954?

UCLA owes "the wing" something.

When Barnes was at a coaching clinic recently, he greeted Bud Wilkinson with: "Hey, Bud, I want to talk to you about the T." Replied the Oklahoma coach who has been having a rough time winning in recent seasons, "That's funny, Billy, I want to talk to you about the single wing."

Who'll Win CIF Cage Title? Poly Has Good Shot

By DOUG IVES

Who will win the CIF basketball title? Will Poly reach the finals again? How long will Millikan survive?

These are the three most asked questions in prep basketball circles as Long Beach's finest two teams prime themselves for the opening of the playoffs Tuesday.

The CIF has seeded Anaheim, Chaffey, Glendale and Poly. This reporter tabbed the same top four earlier this year. The odds are one of these will be crowned champion.

POLY, OF course, has made it into the finals two years running, winning in 1960 and finishing second last year. No team since Compton in the early 1950's has reached the finals on three successive years.

The Hares' chances of going all the way are good, but it should be remembered that all the teams in the playoffs are capable of beating any other on a given night.

Millikan, like any second-place team, isn't given much of a chance of lasting. However, the Rams appear capable of getting at least to the second round.

THE RAMS open at El Segundo against the Pioneer League champion Eagles. Poly plays Pioneer runner-up Culver City in the LBCC gym. Both games are at 8 p.m.

El Segundo (17-7) won its league with a 12-2 record, but lost to Culver City (15-7) Friday night by a whopping 58-21 score. This earned Culver City its playoff bid.

If Poly and Millikan win their openers, they probably will face Herculean tasks in the second round. Millikan no doubt will tangle with Chaffey and Poly with Pius X.

Reports from Ontario say Chaffey will be the next CIF champ. Pius X won the tough Catholic League and is one of the CIF's most explosive teams.

Anaheim has lost only once and boasts the best record in Southern California. Chaffey and Glendale, with two losses each, come next. Poly has dropped four—two to Glendale and one each to Covina and Arroyo — all league champs.

Speed Up Baseball? Tribe Scalps Old Time-Wasters

STANFORD (UPI)—Let's say it's the end of an inning and the team coming in to bat doesn't leave the field on the run.

"Strike one!" calls the umpire before the batter even comes up.

And maybe the shortstop strolls out to his post instead of on the double.

"Ball one!" hollers the umpire.

Pretty soon a dangerous batter digs in and the strategy calls for a base on balls.

"You may take first base," the pitcher informs the hitter without bothering to make the traditional wide deliveries.

It can't happen here you say? But it definitely will this spring during some games when Stanford's freshman and junior varsity baseball teams are playing regularly scheduled games.

WILLIAM P. (Dutch) Fehring, Stanford's varsity coach and overseer of the school's baseball program, has listed six revolutionary changes designed to speed up the game. Then he sent letters to schools which will be playing the frosh and "Braves" (junior varsity), asking if they would go along with the experiment.

So far, one junior college and two high schools have agreed to give the proposals a try.

Fehring stresses that his six-point program will not apply to Stanford's varsity game. Here are the salient features:

—Pitchers cannot warm up between innings. If they want to throw a few, they can do so on the sideline after two of their own men are out.

—The infield cannot toss the ball around after each out and infielders are forbidden to take warmup tosses between innings.

—Both offensive and defensive teams must run on and off the field at the end of an innings. Failure to do so can result in the team at bat having a strike called on it and the team on the field being assessed for ball one. ("This, of course, is at the discretion of the umpire in charge," Fehring adds.)

—If a pitcher has reached base, he may give way for a pinch runner in order to warm up on the sidelines. He will not be taken out of the game. (Fehring refers to this as a "courtesy runner.")

—A "courtesy runner" also can go in for a catcher if there are two out. This is designed to give the the backstop time to get back into his gear without delaying the game.

—A pitcher can "request" that a batter be intentionally passed.

Over 600 Competing in Big Midwinter Regatta

SPORT SHORTS

By "Big John" LoVetere
(Los Angeles Rams defensive right tackle)

One of the things a pro football defensive tackle has to do is to play muscles with offensive centers and guards, and many times you look up and find two of them on you at once.

I'm always asked, "Who is the toughest center you face in the league?" I guess I have to say Jim Ringo of Green Bay. He's been an all-pro for years, and now that the Packers are up on top, he gets lust about everybody's vote.

But if somebody asks me, "Who is the best center in the league?" I guess I have to say Art Hunter of the Rams.

Luckily, we're on the same team and I don't have to face him.

Art is the ideal center. He's been in the league a long time and he gets smarter every year. And he's big and strong, too.

Ringo is a good man, all right, but I think Art Hunter is the best center in the league.

When we get on top, like the Packers are, he'll be an all-pro again.

I'm glad Chevrolet, like Hunter, is on my side. Chevy is an all-pro automobile, and Harbor Chev. is at the top of the league. When you are looking for your next new or used car, come in and see "Big John" at Harbor Chev., 3770 Cherry, Long Beach, GA 4-5141.

L.B. Soccer Club Battles Pico-Rivera, Title at Stake

The Long Beach Soccer Club can put a lock on the Pacific Soccer League title today when it tests Pico Rivera United at Pan-American Park at 2:30 p.m.

Pico-Rivera is only three points behind Long Beach, which suffered its lone loss last week to Lynwood, which also knocked off United.

Long Beach boasts a 10-1-1 record and has scored 73 goals to its opponents 13. Goal-keeper Neil VanDyk has been responsible for Long Beach's fine defensive effort.

The Pico-Rivera Celtics meet Harbor SC in a preliminary game at 12:45.

The Magyars and Jadrans clash at Wrigley Field today at 2 o'clock in the district finals of the United States Cup Championships. Other games:

At Clark Field—Redondo Oro vs. Long Beach United, 2:30 p.m.; At Bell Gardens Park—Bell Gardens vs. Lynwood Dons, 2:30 p.m.

CHUCK GIRETH of Los Angeles pushes the world record holding "Golden Thing" to a fantastic 157 mph quarter mile. Gireth will be featured performer in Long Beach Boat and Ski Club's first 1962 boat drag race at Marine Stadium today.

CARRY BACK SECOND

Yorky Triumphs in Widener 'Cap

MIAMI (AP) — Calumet Farm's Yorky stormed to the front turning into the home stretch and held on to win the $134,800 Widener Handicap at Hialeah Saturday. Mrs. Katherine Price's Florida-bred Carry Back closed with his usual rush to finish second by a neck.

Yorky, carrying 120 pounds and given a masterful ride by the veteran Steve Brooks, ran the mile and a quarter in 2:02 on a fast track and won this rich race for the second year in a row.

It was his first victory since the Widener of 1961.

Robert Lehman's Ambiopoise came rushing up to take third money, three lengths behind Carry Back.

The Calumet entry was second choice to the even money favorite, Carry Back, and returned $9.60, $3.40 and $3.10 in the $2 mutuels. Carry Back, under top weight of 127 pounds, paid $2.80 and $2.40. Ambiopoise, carrying 121 pounds, paid $4.60.

* * * *

IT WAS the eighth time in 25 runnings of the Widener that Calumet has won and Yorky enriched his owners by $87,620. Other Calumet winners were Bull Lea, sire of Yorky, Armed (twice), Coaltown, and Bardstown (twice).

"I let him run on his own today except when I had to get in to (whip) him in the late part," Brooks said of Yorky.

"He ran a real good race."

Johnny Sellers, regular jockey on Carry Back, indicated he expected some criticism.

"The last eighth of a mile, it seemed like the weight was telling on him," Sellers said.

JONES USED WIN TRICK OF FATHER BEN

MIAMI (AP) — Trainer Jimmy Jones cashed in on a trick taught him by his famous father, Ben Jones, when he took the bar plate off Yorky's shoes before the Calumet colt won Saturday's Widener Handicap at Hialeah Park.

Oldtimers recalled that the late Ben Jones did the same thing with Lawrin in 1938 for his first Kentucky Derby victory. Lawrin, wearing a bar plate to protect a tender hoof, had been beaten in the Derby Trial by The Chief. But with his feet made lighter by the removal of the plates, Lawrin took the Derby by a length.

"Whether it helped Yorky, I don't know," said Jimmy Jones after the Calumet colt had beaten Carry Back by a neck.

Boat Drags Slated at Stadium Today

By DAVE TAYLOR

The world's fastest jockeys afloat square off today in a showdown pitting steel, engineering and courage in Long Beach Boat and Ski Club's first boat drags at Marine Stadium.

Four ABBA quarter-mile world speed records go on the line as the Southland hot boat fraternity turns out to prove new boats, engines and ideas in a season-opening field day.

* * * *

FEATURED action will be Chuck Gireth's first defense of his 149 mph quarter-mile top time world mark in Jack Williams' and Doc Magan's "The Golden Thing." Gireth pushed the "Thing" to 157.89 mph in a non-record run last year to preview what his opponents may have to beat today.

Also in the balance will be the 100.44 mph blown gas record held by Wes Rose's "Purple People Eater," 92.87 top unblown gas time claimed by Larry Schwabenland, and the 74.38 mph world outboard record credited to Ray Ledger.

All four world's records were established at the last LBBSC drag meet Oct. 28, 1961. As each succeeding drag event of last season resulted in a new crop of records, the hot boat pros are predicting even more highs in this third year's running of the popular new boat drag sport.

* * * *

OUT GUNNING for champion Gireth's top time mark will be such formidable speed jockeys as the Rudy Ramos-Bob Ellis combo in their now famous Rayson Craft XP dragster, and former title holder Jack Pettijohn who brings his blown fuel Chrysler-powered "Wrangler" from Phoenix, Ariz., for the local duel.

Preliminary qualifying runs for all classes from 30-35 mph to 100 mph plus went through the precision Otto Crocker traps at Marine Stadium Saturday, and competition eliminations rocket off the starting line beginning at noon today.

Rockets vs. 'Dodgers' in Playoffs

By CHUCK MEDICK

Despite threatening rain clouds, the Long Beach Rockets return to action today with hopes the sun might peek through end end their long layoff.

The Rockets will battle the Dodger Rookies in the first game of the Shaughnessey playoffs for the championship of the Winter Semi-pro Baseball League at Blair Field today at 2 p.m.

The Dodgers earned the right to meet the Rockets by eking out a 4-3 win over the White Sox Juniors last week at Huntington Park. This will be the last chance for local diamond fans to view the fledgling Dodgers, as the entire squad will depart for Florida March 11.

Fireballing Don Rowe, the bellcow of the local pitching staff, will get the starting nod, while Jan Martin or Ed Merrick will hurl for the Dodger Rockets.

San Diego Needs Some of Our Rain

Several callers in the last few days have asked about the water levels of lakes in San Diego County, as well as those in Orange, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara Counties.

Those fishermen—I'm taking it for granted that they are—will be disappointed to know that most of the rains that drenched us almost evaporated to mist and fog upon reaching the San Diego County line.

There has been little variation in the lake levels there. The ground has soaked up the moisture, drop by drop, and all the San Diego Water Department officials can do is hope for intense rains such as we had through most of this month.

A check yesterday with an official of the SDWD showed that the stream that normally flows into Morena Lake was bone-dry at midweek.

Only two lakes under the jurisdiction of the SDWD are open now—San Vicente, on Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays, and Lower Otay, on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays.

El Capitan, Sutherland, Upper Otay and Hodges are other lakes under the SDWD banner, but they will not be opened until later dates.

THIS MAY SEEM STRANGE, but both San Vicente and Lower Otay showed a tremendous pickup in crappie fishing and fish size just 10 days ago. A check last Sunday at San Vicente showed that 300 crappie averaged 1¼ pounds, with the largest going three pounds. A 7½-pound bass and a 17½-pound catfish also stirred up the fishing fever there.

Another lake, Murray, operated by the Helix Irrigation District and within the city limits of San Diego, is open on a pay-and-fish plan. It is planted privately with trout ranging from one-half to 3 pounds. In some respects, it is almost a dead-ringer for Irvine Lake, near Orange.

Irvine's opening date has not been announced, but is expected almost any day.

Murray is reached by traveling south on Hwy. 101, turning off on Hwy. 80, going east through Mission Valley, taking the 70th Street turnoff to Lake Murray Boulevard.

Beginning July 1, Murray will be taken over by the SDWD and operated on a similar basis. It is now open on Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays and gets more than 90 per cent of its patronage from San Diego citizens.

THE SDWD IS PLANNING a statement within a month outlining a plan for operation of all the lakes this year. Chances are that San Vicente will be closed before summer, but other lakes will be opened.

Henshaw, one of the county's most popular lakes, is not a part of the SDWD system. It is open every day. Its level has come up some, but not as much as its operators would like. Fishing there has not been on the exciting side.

Wohlford, back of Escondido, will open later in the spring at a time still to be decided by the Escondido Mutual Water Department. It may prove to be one of the county's most popular sports this year.

Upcoast, in Santa Barbara and Ventura Counties, Cachuma is high, Matilija has been full and pouring over the dam for three weeks, Casitas will be a remarkable surprise this year, but it needs fish stock badly. So does Piru.

Inland, in Kern County, Isabella continues to rise. Last reports indicated it now has more than 40,000 acre feet and the precipitation has exceeded that of 1952, a record year.

THE SMALL CRAFT HARBORS COMMISSION, meeting at Oceanside, decided that sanitation facilities will play an important part in all future loans to counties and cities for marina development.

The SCHC officials said that no loans will be approved for any project unless shoreside sanitation facilities are a part of the program. Also, no loan will be approved if the city has not passed ordinances regulating the discharge from small as well as large craft that might enter the harbor.

Both actions are important, but it seems rather silly that the SCHC is just now getting around to such actions. Such regulations should have been on the agenda from the day the SCHC was created.

The commission also approved a uniform waterway marking system, which is being required by the Coast Guard. At some distant date, it is hoped that all 50 states will have the same uniform marking system.

Final approval was given the Santa Cruz project, the second of a series of Harbors of Refuge. Oceanside is the first. The federal government will contribute $1.45 million to the project, the state government $1.98 million and the city of Santa Cruz $25,000.

The Harbors of Refuge project has as a goal enough harbors along the coast so that a small boat will always be only one day from a safe moorage.

EVEN BARNES GLAD TO SEE IT GO

UCLA Ditching Single Wing

By JEROME HALL

The single wing—college football's theory of muscle and maim—is just a cherished memory at UCLA now, but there really are few who are sorry to see it go.

Even coach Bill Barnes is glad.

Monday UCLA makes the official announcement that it is switching to the T formation. The change is coming just in time, as UCLA was facing two serious boycotts because of the antiquated formation.

One of the problems has been the continuing drop in attendance and the other a mushrooming resistence by high school and junior college coaches who have been advising their star backfield men to stay away from UCLA.

That's a combination no college coach can fight, so beginning with spring training, the Bruins will take on their new look. Actually, Barnes began the changeover a year ago when he installed so many lineup variations that UCLA was half single wing and half spread formation.

The change is going to make Barnes' recruiting job infinitely easier. He has met with frightening resistence to his sales pitch about the old-time standard formation that now has been abandoned everywhere except at Tennessee, its birthplace.

Many prep and jaycee coaches throughout Southern California are actively opposed to their players going to UCLA. They claim, for instance, that one of the finest passers ever produced in a Western high school has sat on the UCLA bench for two years now, all because of the single wing.

That passer becomes the heir apparent to the T quarterback job this fall. He is Ezell Singleton. He didn't play much as a tailback because he weighs only 160 pounds.

The Bruins will use the winged T and the running halfback will be Mike Haffner, second-string tailback last season who was the ball-carrying champion of the Big Five though only a sophomore. He wasn't the first-string tailback because he can't pass.

For all these reasons, you can believe Barnes when he says it was not the 21-3 Rose Bowl beating by Minnesota last month that caused the change.

UCLA has a break in the schedule. The Bruins don't open until two weeks later than usual, opposing Ohio State Oct. 6 at the Coliseum. They need the extra practice time.

IT SEEMS grossly inconsiderate that the single wing should pass away without ceremony. It was this horse and buggy offense that made the Bruins bigtime.

Remember the sight of Primo Villanueva running around end with four and five blockers clearing the way to the national championship in 1954?

UCLA owes "the wing" something.

When Barnes was at a coaching clinic recently, he greeted Bud Wilkinson with: "Hey, Bud, I want to talk to you about the T." Replied the Oklahoma coach who has been having a rough time winning in recent seasons, "That's funny, Billy, I want to talk to you about the single wing."

Speed Up Baseball? Tribe Scalps Old Time-Wasters

By SCOTT BAILLIE

STANFORD (UPI)—Let's say it's the end of an inning and the team coming in to bat doesn't leave the field on the run.

"Strike one!" calls the umpire before the batter even comes up.

And maybe the shortstop strolls out to his post instead of on the double.

"Ball one!" hollers the umpire.

Pretty soon a dangerous batter digs in and the strategy calls for a base on balls.

"You may take first base," the pitcher informs the hitter without bothering to make the traditional wide deliveries.

It can't happen here you say? But it definitely will this spring during some games when Stanford's freshman and junior varsity baseball teams are playing regularly scheduled games.

* * * *

WILLIAM P. (Dutch) Fehring, Stanford's varsity coach and overseer of the school's baseball program, has listed six revolutionary changes designed to speed up the game. Then he sent letters to schools which will be playing the frosh and "Braves" (junior varsity), asking if they would go along with the experiment.

So far, one junior college and two high schools have agreed to give the proposals a try.

Fehring stresses that his six-point program will not apply to Stanford's varsity game. Here are the salient features:

—Pitchers cannot warm up between innings. If they want to throw a few, they can do so on the sideline after two of their own men are out.

—The infield cannot toss the ball around after each out and infielders are forbidden to take warmup tosses between innings.

—Both offensive and defensive teams must run on and off the field at the end of an innings. Failure to do so can result in the team at bat having a strike called on it and the team on the field being assessed for ball one. ("This, of course, is at the discretion of the umpire in charge," Fehring adds.)

—If a pitcher has reached base, he may give way for a pinch runner in order to warm up on the sidelines. He will not be taken out of the game. (Fehring refers to this as a "courtesy runner.")

—A "courtesy runner" also can go in for a catcher if there are two out. This is designed to give the the backstop time to get back into his gear without delaying the game.

—A pitcher can "request" that a batter be intentionally passed.

Who'll Win CIF Cage Title? Poly Has Good Shot

By DOUG IVES

Who will win the CIF basketball title? Will Poly reach the finals again? How long will Millikan survive?

These are the three most asked questions in prep basketball circles as Long Beach's finest two teams prime themselves for the opening of the playoffs Tuesday.

The CIF has seeded Anaheim, Chaffey, Glendale and Poly. This reporter tabbed the same top four earlier this year. The odds are one of these will be crowned champion.

* * * *

POLY, OF course, has made it into the finals two years running, winning in 1960 and finishing second last year. No team since Compton in the early 1950's has reached the finals on three successive years.

The Hares' chances of going all the way are good, but it should be remembered that all the teams in the playoffs are capable of beating any other on a given night.

Millikan, like any second-place team, isn't given much of a chance of lasting. However, the Rams appear capable of getting at least to the second round.

THE RAMS open at El Segundo against the Pioneer League champion Eagles. Poly plays Pioneer runner-up Culver City in the LBCC gym. Both games are at 8 p.m.

El Segundo (17-7) won its league with a 12-2 record, but lost to Culver City (15-7) Friday night by a whopping 58-21 score. This earned Culver City its playoff bid.

If Poly and Millikan win their openers, they probably will face Herculean tasks in the second round. Millikan no doubt will tangle with Chaffey and Poly with Pius X.

Reports from Ontario say Chaffey will be the next CIF champ. Pius X won the tough Catholic League and is one of the CIF's most explosive teams.

Anaheim has lost only once and boasts the best record in Southern California. Chaffey and Glendale, with two losses each, come next. Poly has dropped four—two to Glendale and one each to Covina and Arroyo — all league champs.

4 Swim Firsts to Lakewood Youth

Suzy Atwood, of the Lakewood YMCA Tarpon swimmers, took four first places and a fourth in the 9-10-year-old division in the Inglewood AAU meet Saturday while teammate Caron Boyle took two thirds.

Suzy's times were 41.7 in the 50-yard backstroke, 36.5 in the 50-yard freestyle, 45.8 in the 50-yard breaststroke and 1:32.4 in the individual medley.

SPORT SHORTS

By "Big John" LaVetere
(Los Angeles Rams defensive right tackle)

One of the things a pro football defensive tackle has to do is to play muscles with offensive centers and guards, and many times you look up and find two of them on you at once.

I'm always asked, "Who is the toughest center you face in the league?" I guess I have to say Jim Ringo of Green Bay. He's been an all-pro for years, and now that the Packers are up on top he gets just about everybody's vote.

But if somebody asks me, "Who is the best center in the league?" I guess I have to say Art Hunter of the Rams.

Lucky, we're on the same team and I don't have to face him.

Art is the ideal center. He's been in the league a long time and he gets smarter every year. And he's big and strong, too.

Ringo is a good man, all right, but I think Art Hunter is the best center in the league.

When we get on top, like the Packers are, he'll be an all-pro again.

I'm glad Chevrolet, like Hunter, is on my side. Chevy is an all-pro automobile, and Harbor Chev. is at the top of the league. When you are looking for your next new or used car, come in and see "Big John" at Harbor Chev., 3170 Cherry, Long Beach, GA 6-5301.

L.B. Soccer Club Battles Pico-Rivera, Title at Stake

The Long Beach Soccer Club can put a lock on the Pacific Soccer League title today when it tests Pico Rivera United at Pan-American Park at 2:30 p.m.

Pico-Rivera is only three points behind Long Beach, which suffered its lone loss last week to Lynwood, which also knocked off United.

Long Beach boasts a 10-1-1 record and has scored 73 goals to its opponents 13. Goal-keeper Neil VanDyk has been responsible for Long Beach's fine defensive effort.

The Pico-Rivera Celtics meet Harbor SC in a preliminary game at 12:45.

The Magyars and Jadrans clash at Wrigley Field today at 2 o'clock in the district finals of the United States Cup Championships. Other games:

At Clark Field—Redondo Oro vs. Long Beach United, 2:30 p.m.; At Bell Gardens Park—Bell Gardens vs. Lynwood Dons, 2:30 p.m.

Honor U.S. Skaters at Fete Today

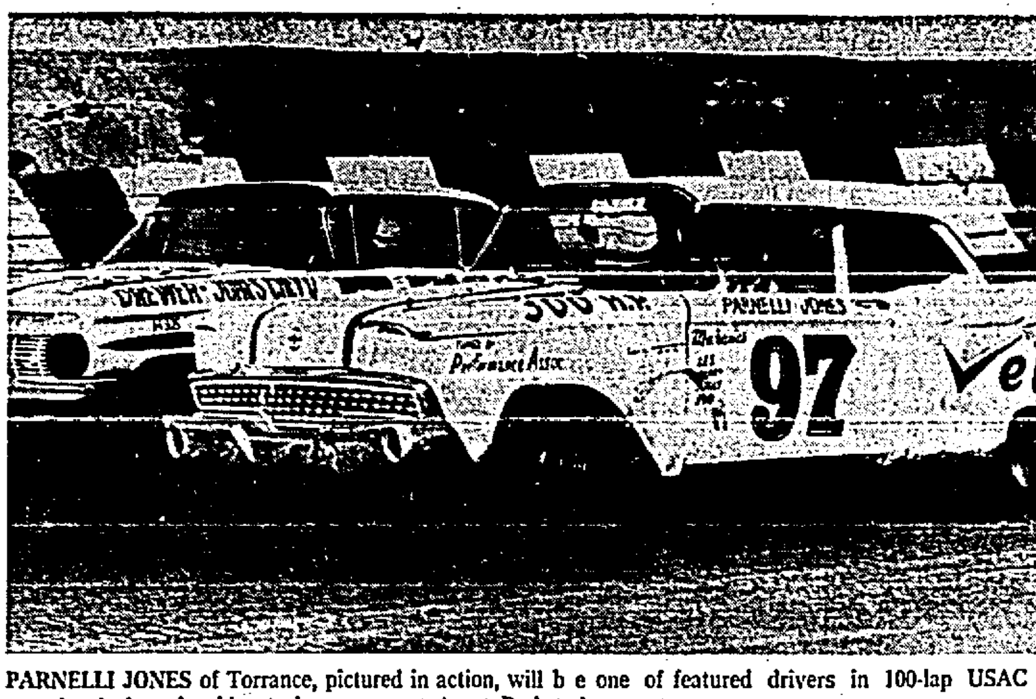

A luncheon honoring members of the U.S. national figure skating team will be held at 2 p.m. today at the Silver Saddle, 7339 E. Florence Ave., Downey.

Featured speaker will be Hank Hollingworth, executive sports editor of the Independent, Press-Telegram.

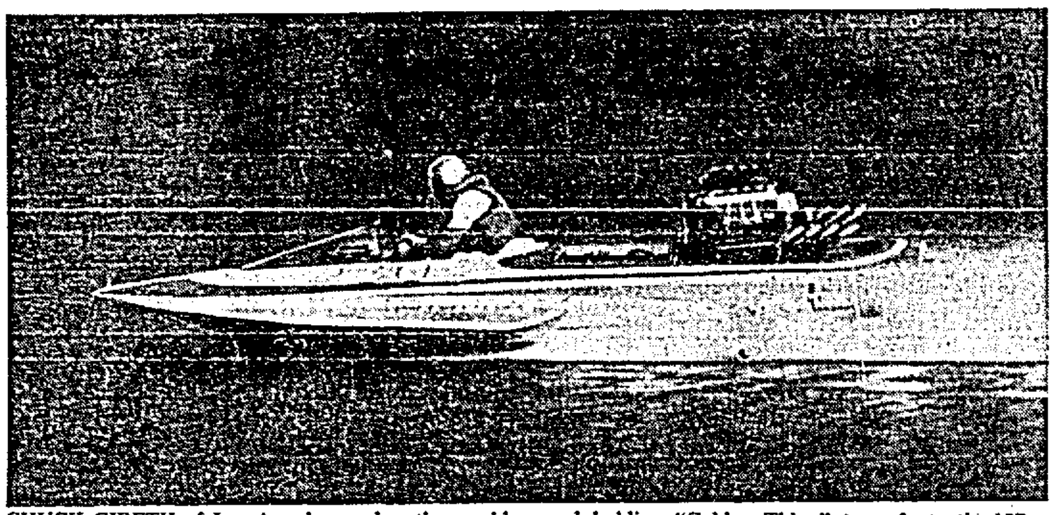

Special guests of honor will be Barbara Roles Pursley, national senior ladies champion, and the national dance champions, Yvonne Littlefield and Peter Betts.

The trio will depart this week for the World Figure Skating Championships in Prague, Czechoslovakia.

Arctic Blades Figure Skating Club of Paramount, national team champion, is sponsoring the affair, which is open to the public.

PARNELLI JONES of Torrance, pictured in action, will be one of featured drivers in 100-lap USAC national championship stock car race at Ascot Park today.

CHUCK GIRETH of Los Angeles pushes the world record holding "Golden Thing" to a fantastic 157 mph quarter mile. Gireth will be featured performer in Long Beach Boat and Ski Club's first 1962 boat drag race at Marine Stadium today.

CARRY BACK SECOND

Yorky Triumphs in Widener 'Cap

MIAMI (AP) — Calumet Farm's Yorky stormed to the front turning into the home stretch and held on to win the $134,600 Widener Handicap at Hialeah Saturday. Mrs. Katherine Price's Florida-bred Carry Back closed with his usual rush to finish second by a neck.

Yorky, carrying 120 pounds and given a masterful ride by the veteran Steve Brooks, ran the mile and a quarter in 2:02 on a fast track and won this rich race for the second year in a row.

It was his first victory since the Widener of 1961.

Robert Lehman's Ambiopoise came rushing up to take third money, three lengths behind Carry Back.

The Calumet entry was second choice to the even money favorite, Carry Back, and returned $9.60, $3.40 and $3.10 in the $2 mutuels. Carry Back, under top weight of 127 pounds, paid $2.80 and $2.40. Ambiopoise, carrying 121 pounds, paid $4.60.

• • • •

IT WAS the eighth time in 25 runnings of the Widener that Calumet has won and Yorky enriched his owners by $87,620. Other Calumet winners were Bull Lea, sire of Yorky, Armed (twice), Coaltown, and Bardstown (twice).

"I let him run on his own today except when I had to get in to (whip) him in the late part," Brooks said of Yorky.

"He ran a real good race."

Johnny Sellers, regular jockey on Carry Back, indicated he expected some criticism.

"The last eighth of a mile, it seemed like the weight was telling on him," Sellers said.

JONES USED WIN TRICK OF FATHER BEN

MIAMI (AP) — Trainer Jimmy Jones cashed in on a trick taught him by his famous father, Ben Jones, when he took the bar plate off Yorky's shoes before the Calumet colt won Saturday's Widener Handicap at Hialeah Park.

Oldtimers recalled that the late Ben Jones did the same thing with Lawrin in 1938 for his first Kentucky Derby victory. Lawrin, wearing a bar plate to protect a tender hoof, had been beaten in the Derby Trial by The Chief. But with his feet made lighter by the removal of the plates, Lawrin took the Derby by a length.

"Whether it helped Yorky, I don't know," said Jimmy Jones after the Calumet colt had beaten Carry Back by a neck.

Boat Drags Slated at Stadium Today

By DAVE TAYLOR

The world's fastest jockeys afloat square off today in a showdown pitting steel, engineering and courage in Long Beach Boat and Ski Club's first boat drags at Marine Stadium.

Four ABBA quarter-mile world speed records go on the line as the Southland hot boat fraternity turns out to prove new boats, engines and ideas in a season-opening field day.

• • • •

FEATURED action will be Chuck Gireth's first defense of his 149 mph quarter-mile top time world mark in Jack Williams' and Doc Magan's "The Golden Thing." Gireth pushed the "Thing" to 157.89 mph in a non-record run last year to preview what his opponents may have to beat today.

Also in the balance will be the 100.44 mph blown gas record held by Wes Rose's "Purple People Eater," 92.87 top unblown gas time claimed by Larry Schwabenland, and the 74.38 mph world outboard record credited to Ray Ledger.

All four world's records were established at the last LBBSC drag meet Oct. 28, 1961. As each succeeding drag event of last season resulted in a new crop of records, the hot boat pros are predicting even more highs in this third year's running of the popular new boat drag sport.

• • • •

OUT GUNNING for champion Gireth's top time mark will be such formidable speed jockeys as the Rudy Ramos-Bob Ellis combo in their now famous Rayson Craft XP dragster, and former title holder Jack Pettijohn who brings his blown fuel Chrysler-powered "Wrangler" from Phoenix, Ariz., for the local duel.

Preliminary qualifying runs for all classes from 30-35 mph to 100 mph plus went through the precision Otto Crocker traps at Marine Stadium Saturday, and competition eliminations rocket off the starting line beginning at noon today.

Foyt Tops Star Field at Ascot

By KEN PIVERNETZ

Indianapolis 500 winner A. J. Foyt of Houston, heads a select field of 30 drivers in today's 100-lap USAC national championship late model stock car race at Ascot Park in Gardena.

Foyt will be facing competition from both the Indianapolis class and also the top stock car drivers in the United States.

Other Indy vets slated to drive 1960 or later model cars include Rodger Ward, Parnelli Jones and Bill Cheesbourgh.

• • • •

USAC national stock car runner-up last year, Norm Nelson of Racine, Wis., leads the drivers who specialize in the stocks. Other entrants are Elmer Musgrave, Don White, Whitey Gerken and John Rostek, all from out-of-state.

Top California drivers are Lloyd Dane of Buena Park, Eddie Gray of Gardena and Don Noel of Arleta.

Qualifying starts at 1 p.m. with first race going at 2:30.

Rockets vs. 'Dodgers' in Playoffs

By CHUCK MEDICK

Despite threatening rain clouds, the Long Beach Rockets return to action today with hopes the sun might peek through end end their long layoff.

The Rockets will battle the Dodger Rookies in the first game of the Shaughnessey playoffs for the championship of the Winter Semi-pro Baseball League at Blair Field today at 2 p.m.

The Dodgers earned the right to meet the Rockets by eking out a 4-3 win over the White Sox Juniors last week at Huntington Park. This will be the last chance for local diamond fans to view the fledgling Dodgers, as the entire squad will depart for Florida March 11.

Fireballing Don Rowe, the bellcow of the local pitching staff, will get the starting nod, while Jan Martin or Ed Merrick will hurl for the Dodger Rockets.

90,000 Ton Enterprise Drag Race Favorite

By VERN HAUGLAND

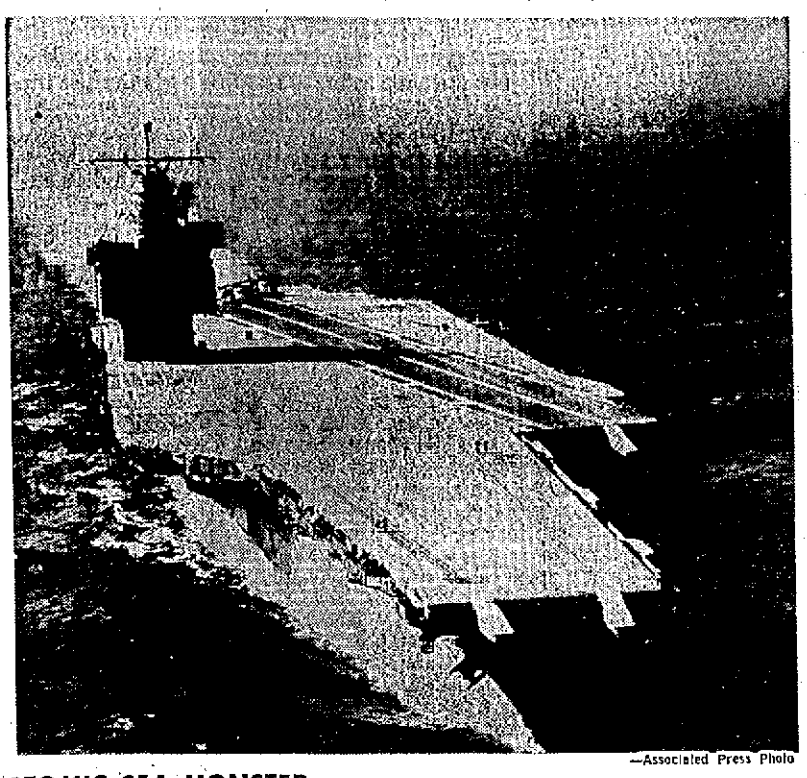

ABOARD THE ENTERPRISE AT SEA (AP) — The world's first nuclear-powered aircraft carrier is astonishing all hands with the trim ease of her entry into service.

"In every new ship you expect major bugs—but there weren't any in this one," one officer commented. "There have been only a few minor things to iron out."

Capt. Vincent Paul De Poix, soft-voiced skipper of the Enterprise, told newsmen he was "tremendously satisfied" with the beginning that has been made.

* * * *

THE MOST striking thing about the ship is the almost incredible expanse of her 4½-acre flight deck.

ATOMIC SEA MONSTER

Powered by eight nuclear reactors, the mighty new aircraft carrier Enterprise knifes her way through the sea. The sea giant is the only atomic powered carrier and the world's largest ship. Its four-and-a-half acre flight deck, with the hangar deck below, can handle about 100 aircraft.

As the world's largest ship, the Enterprise has a length of 1,123 feet and a displacement of 85,350 tons. The Forrestal, completed in 1955, is 1,039 feet long and displaces 60,000 tons. The Enterprise can handle up to 100 aircraft, a full squadron more than any other flattop.

Fully air conditioned, the ship is without portholes except for three. They were salvaged for sentimental reasons from the World War II Enterprise and installed in the captain's stateroom.

* * * *

THE ENTERPRISE was commissioned at Newport News, Va., last fall. A two-month shakedown cruise began in early February.

After the sensationally successful sea tests Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of Naval operations, disclosed that the Enterprise had gone faster than any other carrier—more than 40 miles an hour—and had exceeded her design power specifications. "Every indication is that the designers and builders have hit the jackpot," Anderson said.

After a mid-April post-yard inspection at Norfolk for final adjustment of her machinery, the Enterprise is to join the Atlantic fleet. If State Department agreements for operation of a nuclear-powered vessel out of foreign ports are worked out, the Enterprise next year may join the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

* * * *

FOUR STEAM catapults, the largest ever installed, enable the Enterprise to launch her entire load of planes at the rate of one every 15 seconds. Planes also can land aboard while launchings are under way. Each launcher is capable of accelerating the largest ship-based bombers, weighing 78,000 pounds, to a speed of 160 miles an hour in a distance of 250 feet. By contrast, a normal land-based takeoff would require a concrete airstrip more than a mile long.

Four rapid-action deck-edge elevators, largest ever built, carry the planes swiftly between the flight deck and the hangar deck. The largest single structures ever made of aluminum, each elevator has standing room for 2,000 persons.

When fully manned with 4,600 sailors and airmen, the ship will consume about 12 tons of food a day. The Navy says it would take a family of four about 360 years to eat its way through the food that can be stored aboard.

* * * *

MORE THAN 500 antennas serve the numerous radars and special navigational systems. They vary in weight from less than a pound to more than 18 tons, and in size from several inches to the width of a house.

The communications equipment is the largest and most modern assortment ever assembled on any ship but includes the traditional blinker lights for "talking" to other vessels within sight, and voice tubes for certain internal communications.

The electrical and electronic equipment—the largest and most compact assortment of its kind on any ship and possibly anywhere in the world — includes two new types of radar and the first operational Naval Tactical Data System are in use on the Enterprise. The SPS 32, a new long-range two-dimensional radar that provides both bearing and range, also is being tested aboard the nuclear-powered guided missile cruiser, the Long Beach. The Long Beach soon also may acquire the SPS 33, a shorter-range three-dimensional radar providing height information as well as bearing and range, currently in use aboard the Enterprise.

* * * *

INFORMATION from these and other sensors is processed at fantastic speeds, in the NTDS computers into useful target information.

Capt. De Poix also speaks highly of the new equipment, but says he doesn't trust computers completely.

"They are a great help, but they can give you a wrong answer," De Poix says.

"The human mind and the human eyeball still have a long way to go before they can be considered outmoded."

* * * *

THE MOST basic fact about the Enterprise, of course, is her atomic power plant — the most powerful anywhere, afloat or ashore.

The first vessel ever designed with more than two nuclear reactors, she has eight pressurized water reactors arranged in four dual systems and producing more than 200,000 horsepower, to drive four propellers weighing 30 tons each.

The result is not only unprecedented ship speeds but unparalleled range. The Enterprise could circle the earth at high speed many times without stopping, and probably will not require replenishment of her nuclear fuel for at least three years.

* * * *

HEAVILY shielded with lead, the reactors are in a part of the ship accessible only to qualified personnel.

Cmdr. Joseph W. Schuh, ship's information officer, says a man is exposed to less radiation in the inhabited areas of the ship than when he walks down a street.

He added that fears of some men, that there might be sufficient radiation aboard the Enterprise to cause sterility, were stilled when two crew members became the fathers of twins.

* * * *

THE NUCLEAR reactor crew aboard the Enterprise started its intensive training in January 1960, at the AEC large ship reactor prototype at Arco, Idaho. Every engineering officer in the program was selected by a review board after exhaustive interviews.

The enlisted men who were to operate the power plant were chosen for their extensive experience in the fleet, and only volunteers were taken.

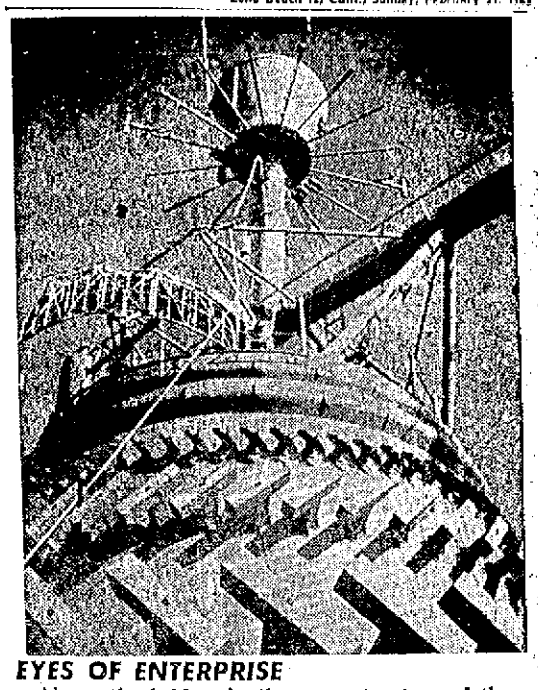

By the time the ship became operational, some of the men had spent as much as seven years getting ready to handle her.

* * * *

"IT IS HARD to imagine a ship that displaces approxi-90,000 tons as a favorite in a drag race," says a ship's brochure, "but Enterprise does excel in this area. Our rate of acceleration and deceleration exceeds that of most other ships. Destroyers . . . have been embarrassed.

"The absence of smokestacks and uptakes (spaces through which conventional boilers obtain tremendous volumes of air for combustion and out of which pass the exhaust gasses) permits full ballistic armor on all appropriate decks with no bomb access to vital parts of the ship. A stronger, gas tight ship is the end result.

"The lack of smoke and heat from our 'absent' stack is expected to be a boon to the pilots landing on Enterprise. Visibility during a critical time in landing will not be impaired nor will thermal currents add to any air flow disturbances."

EYES OF ENTERPRISE

Above the bridge, in the superstructure of the new aircraft carrier Enterprise, radar scans the sky. The equipment is part of a vast, complex radar system which includes two new types. Information from the radar units is processed by a system which pinpoints approaching targets in microseconds and milliseconds.

Smoker's Cough Blamed in Crash

STOCKPORT, England (AP)—Kenneth Wilkins told the court his smoker's cough was responsible for the trail of havoc he caused in his car one night.

Wilkins claimed that during a fit of coughing he lost control of his auto which mounted a sidewalk, injured a pedestrian, bent a no-parking sign, wrecked a shop window and smashed into the wall of a pub.

The court acquitted him of dangerous driving.

France Trims Tariff on California Items

By LOU JOBST

California has been carrying on its own diplomatic negotiations with France to get restrictions against the state's agricultural products reduced in the European nation.

Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown sent two San Franciscans, Adolph P. Schuman and Dr. F. A. Brier, an economic professor, to France where they argued that California, although basically an agricultural state like France, has many supplemental products which are not in competition with French agriculture.

The French were apparently moved by the argument as they have since downgraded tariffs on importation of California pears and apples and have promised to study other items including citrus.

This is the first time in history that a California governor has sent a personal representative to a foreign country on such a mission.

A PORT of Long Beach tenant, Pacific Vegetable Oil Corp., is the contractor for most of the U. S. crop of safflowers seed. Safflower seed A booming new American agriculture in which plantings increased by 25 per cent last year.

Safflower, which is grown in the central valleys of California, has been used principally in the past for such industrial products as paint.

However, its sudden rise as an important export crop is due to the fact that it now is to be used in low chlorestal cooking oil, mayonnaise, margarine, imitation ice cream and other foodstuffs.

Boats May Ease Commuter Crush

CHICAGO (AP) — A shuttle service using large cabin cruisers on the Chicago River may soon help rush hour commuters bypass congested downtown streets.

The service—to be operated by a commercial sight-seeing firm—will extend from the Chicago and North Western Railway Terminal on the west side of the loop to the Michigan Avenue Bridge north of the Loop, a distance of about 11 blocks. The service will start in April.

TOWNSEND CLUB

Townsend Club No. 10 will meet at noon Friday in Linden Hall, Broadway and Linden Avenue.

CLIFTON WEBB
Had 137 Suits

Impeccable Webb Is Rumpled

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Clifton Webb, one of Hollywood's most impeccable actors, once boasted a 137-suit wardrobe, but he's no fashion plate in his next picture in which he portrays a clergyman imprisoned by the Chinese Communists.

There was a time in movie circles when Webb, a frequent member of "best-dressed" lists, helped set styles for filmland's gentlemen.

The usually dapper Webb joined some acquaintances at lunch the other day in a Beverly Hills restaurant and admitted his role as a Catholic priest is not the type of part usually associated with the Webb image.

* * * *

ESPECIALLY in the clothes department, Webb said, pointing out that he might even appear a little rumped in the film.

Not since Webb soaked in a bathtub scene a few years ago has he had less use for his extensive wardrobe than he did as a priest in "Satan Never Sleeps."

When the movie wardrobe man presented Webb with a suit for his part, the 67-year-old actor wouldn't wear the outfit. He demanded an old one.

* * * *

"I PUT IT under my mattress so it was all wrinkled up and not like it came from a tailor," Webb said.

Treating even an old suit that way must have pained Webb's heart. But he insisted on looking like someone released from a Chinese Communist prison, such as the character he portrays.

Appearing a little shopworn is Webb's way of surprising his audience for "Satan Never Sleeps."

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Art, Jackie No 'Honeymooners'

By EARL WILSON

Art Carney stirred some vanilla yogurt with a spoon, ate it, and said, "Jackie Gleason and I never had a cross word . . ."

He was lounging in his dressing room at the Biltmore Theater, where, with the help of his reputation as Ed Norton, the sewer worker, he is doing good business as the stage star of the B'way show "Take Her, She's Mine."

"Lots of people don't believe it but it's true," he said. "We just hit it off."

It was a timely discussion because Gleason's agents and his have tried to get them together again for one more "Honeymooners" effort as a special, or even as a new series.

CARNEY

They failed to make the merger.

"Bill McCaffrey, speaking for me, wanted certain things, just as Jackie would want certain things." Art sipped some coffee out of an enormous cup. "After all, what else are we working for?

"But I know Jackie'd do anything for me and I hope he knows he's got the same kind of friend in me."

Carney and Gleason, by coincidence, each have the same problem now—that of being too funny.

"Gleason just doesn't want to stick to doing the funny stuff—he's an actor," Carney said.

"In this show here"—about a father seeing his daughter growing up and away from him—"I could get a laugh with an Ed Norton gesture but I'd be out of character.

"Still, I got to say I love the Norton character. I was in California before the show opened. . ."

* * * *

AN ELEVATOR operator mentioned seeing Ed Norton every day.

"Every day! You're kidding!" Carney said.

"Yeah, they run it out here every day," the elevator operator said.

So next day who was in the great unseen audience watching 'Honeymooners" rerun? Ed Norton.

"Gleason never called me a stooge. I was the second banana, sometimes I was straight man for him, sometimes he was straight man for me. The fact he didn't like to rehearse much didn't hurt — the spontaneity was there. If anybody fluffed or ad-libbed it was in."

Carney yearns to do a musical. He loves music.

"I play the piano by ear," he mentioned, "I was a dope as a kid. I took a few lessons — but gave it up. I wanted to do all the things fellows wanted to do—girls . . . sports . . . girls . . . girls . . . girls.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Barry Nelson of "Mary, Mary" gave his wife two fur coats — mink and broadtail. (One for their recent ann'y, and one as a belated Christmas gift). . . "My Fair Lady" still has six musicians in the pit who were hired five years ago as "temporary extras" for the premiere. . . Dancer Mara Lynn will join stripper Ann Corio's revue. "This Was Burlesque."

Shelley Berman may start a style trend — he ordered knickers from his tailor. . . John Wayne said at the Tower Suite he hopes to film a comedy for a change—and direct it, too. . . Pearl Bailey signed for 12 weeks a year —at 35Gs a week—at the Las Vegas Flamingo. . . The jazz-hep King of Thailand wants singer Nancy Wilson to concertize there with her album partner, Cannonball Adderly.

EARL'S PEARLS: If shoveling snow seems like an awful nuisance right now, you might remember that the lawn won't need cutting for another four months.—Quote.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Oscar Homolka complains that his wife is always rearranging things. For instance, his new foreign sports car now has the motor in front.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: There's one doctor's wife who is so jealous that she learned Latin so she could read his prescriptions.

YVETTE MIMIEUX
French Stops at "Merci Beaucoup"

IN LOVE WITH PARIS

But Yvette Mimieux Doesn't Parlez Vous

By PATRICK McNULTY

PARIS (AP) — Blonde American starlet Yvette Mimieux says she wants to take a vacation from movie making for a fling at Paris' celebrated Sorbonne University.

"I'd love to spend a year at the Sorbonne studying French culture," said the 20-year-old ex-teen-age fashion model.

Yvette, passing through town for a film premiere, said she first fell in love with the city of lights last year while on a three-month movie location.

* * * *

"I STAYED in a small hotel on the Right Bank and just about walked my feet off exploring every cranny of Paris," Yvette said. "Like many other tourists, I'm afraid I fell in love with Paris at first sight."

That was the first trip abroad for Hollywood-born Yvette, who grew up in the shadow of the movie studios. Since then, however, she has made pictures in Italy and Germany.

"In one year I've become a world traveler," she said.

* * * *

THERE'S a major handicap, Yvette says, for her plan to invade the ivy halls of the Sorbonne on the Left Bank of the Seine: "I don't speak French."

French movie writers are amazed, she reported, when they learn her knowledge of the language is confined to "merci beaucoup."

"As soon as we're introduced they begin a torrent of French," she said. "When they realize I don't dig the language they shake their heads and say, 'but with a name like yours you must speak French.' "

Yvette has a French-born father and a Mexican mother. The family spoke some Spanish around the Mimieux casa, but not daddy's language. Yvette can rattle along pretty well in Spanish but her French is still limited to tourist guide books.

* * * *

YVETTE WAS in Paris for the world premiere of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." The film is a rehash in big screen and color of the silent movie that starred Rudolph Valentino. But Yvette's small part as the Argentine girl swept up in the French resistance in World War II was a bright spot in the movie. The role earned her a starring part with Olivia De Havilland and Rosanno Brazzi in "The Light in the Piazza."

"The Light" was filmed in Florence, Italy, and from there Yvette went to Munich, Germany, for "The Brothers Grimm."

"I've been busy but it's been an easy way to see Europe," she said.

FOOD IN HOLLYWOOD

Some Throw It, Others Sell It

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Comic Jerry Lewis this week opened a restaurant that is the last word in elegance and gentility. Meantime on television, a horde of serious dramatic actors are getting hit in the face regularly by a pie-throwing comic.

Which proves that Hollywood is so wacky that even food can make show business news. It's definitely a town of contrasts.

Frank Sinatra and Burt Lancaster, both Oscar winners, and Tony Curtis have been willing targets for the meringue-in-the-face TV antics of Soupy Sales.

* * * *

BUT LEWIS, a king of slapstick, serves his pie in a $1,000,000 Sunset Strip restaurant where the head chef is an alumnus of Maxim's in Paris. Lewis has not been one of Sales' targets.

The restaurant puts Lewis in competition with Prince Mike Romanoff and Dave Chasen — also with his old partner, Dean Martin.

Lewis' restaurant is on the same street, separated only by a few blocks, from Dino's.

DECOR OF Lewis' restaurant is mostly in purple and silver with such touches as a $7,000 crystal chandelier, an inlaid cappa shell bar, a ladies' lounge with solid white marble floors and sofas in shocking pink.

Cast Almost Overcomes Tough Problems Presented in 'Kataki'

By ROBERT C. WYLDER

In "Kataki," which opened this weekend at the Magnolia Theater, Playwright Shimon Wincelberg has set for his players some well night insurmountable problems. It is to the credit of the local production that the cast almost overcome them.

The problems are these: the play presents only two characters, one a downed American tail gunner, the other a Japanese soldier, forced onto the same Pacific island by the fortunes of war. Add to this the fact that the Japanese's English vocabulary is confined to "hot dog" and "To hell with Roosevelt," and the result is inevitably a pretty one-sided affair as far as dialogue goes.

* * * *

FORTUNATELY the play doesn't depend upon dialogue entirely. The character and relationship of the two men are almost as thoroughly and precisely revealed by actions as by words. By the end of the play, one feels that he knows the Japanese, despite the language problem, as well as he knows the American.

The reason for that is, of course, the quality of the actor portraying the Japanese. He is listed on the program simply as Ishimoto. Although an American, he has schooled himself in the Oriental mode with excellent results.

He manages to maintain the traditional reserved facade of the East while revealing the warmth of a real human being, universal rather than racial or national, underneath. In the end it is his training that destroys him, not his heart.

RON HOGUE plays the American. His is naturally the burden of all the dialogue, and he does rather well with it. In his attempt to create a boy who is both a human being and the symbol of his culture he sometimes doesn't get as deep into the humanity of the boy as one might wish, but in most of his individual scenes he is very good.

Part of his trouble in producing a consistent and well rounded character is in the script, perhaps. One feels some lack of motivation from time to time, and too rapid a transition from tone to tone and attitude to attitude. Taken as a whole, the play is less convincing than most of its scenes. Hogue pulls it together as well as possible.

* * * *

IN THE FINAL analysis, one cannot take very seriously its contention that man's difficulties and inhumanities to man are largely the result of misunderstanding. The moral is more tacked on than intrinsic, and doesn't ring entirely true.

Edward Ludlum was the guest director for the show, and Dick Hunter piled up the sand that provides the basis for the set.

90,000 Ton Enterprise Drag Race Favorite

By VERN HAUGLAND

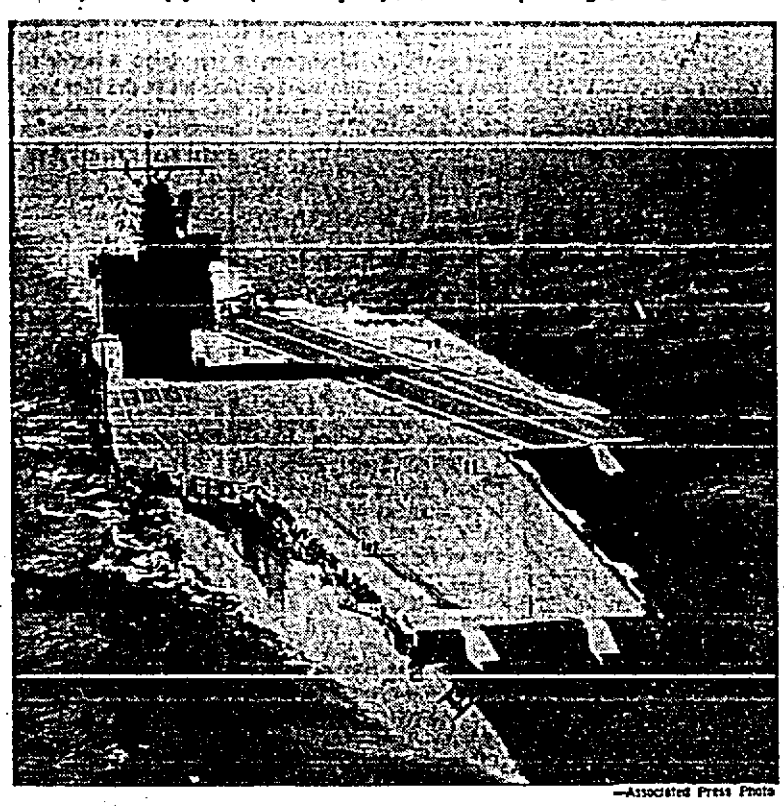

ABOARD THE ENTERPRISE AT SEA (AP) — The world's first nuclear-powered aircraft carrier is astonishing all hands with the trim ease of her entry into service.

"In every new ship you expect major bugs—but there weren't any in this one," one officer commented. "There have been only a few minor things to iron out."

Capt. Vincent Paul De Poix, soft-voiced skipper of the Enterprise, told newsmen he was "tremendously satisfied" with the beginning that has been made.

* * * *

THE MOST striking thing about the ship is the almost incredible expanse of her 4½-acre flight deck.

ATOMIC SEA MONSTER

Powered by eight nuclear reactors, the mighty new aircraft carrier Enterprise knifes her way through the sea. The sea giant is the only atomic powered carrier and the world's largest ship. Its four-and-a-half acre flight deck, with the hangar deck below, can handle about 100 aircraft.

As the world's largest ship, the Enterprise has a length of 1,123 feet and a displacement of 85,350 tons. The Forrestal, completed in 1955, is 1,039 feet long and displaces 60,000 tons. The Enterprise can handle up to 100 aircraft, a full squadron more than any other flattop.

Fully air conditioned, the ship is without portholes except for three. They were salvaged for sentimental reasons from the World War II Enterprise and installed in the captain's stateroom.

* * * *

THE ENTERPRISE was commissioned at Newport News, Va., last fall. A two-month shakedown cruise began in early February.

After the sensationally successful sea tests Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of Naval operations, disclosed that the Enterprise had gone faster than any other carrier—more than 40 miles an hour—and had exceeded her design power specifications. "Every indication is that the designers and builders have hit the jackpot," Anderson said.

After a mid-April post-yard inspection at Norfolk for final adjustment of her machinery, the Enterprise is to join the Atlantic fleet. If State Department agreements for operation of a nuclear-powered vessel out of foreign ports are worked out, the Enterprise next year may join the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

* * * *

FOUR STEAM catapults, the largest ever installed, enable the Enterprise to launch her entire load of planes at the rate of one every 15 seconds. Planes also can land aboard while launchings are under way. Each launcher is capable of accelerating the largest ship-based bombers, weighing 78,000 pounds, to a speed of 160 miles an hour in a distance of 250 feet. By contrast, a normal land-based takeoff would require a concrete airstrip more than a mile long.

Four rapid-action deck-edge elevators, largest ever built, carry the planes swiftly between the flight deck and the hangar deck. The largest single structures ever made of aluminum, each elevator has standing room for 2,000 persons.

When fully manned with 4,600 sailors and airmen, the ship will consume about 12 tons of food a day. The Navy says it would take a family of four about 360 years to eat its way through the food that can be stored aboard.

* * * *

MORE THAN 500 antennas serve the numerous radars and special navigational systems. They vary in weight from less than a pound to more than 18 tons, and in size from several inches to the width of a house.

The communications equipment is the largest and most modern assortment ever assembled on any ship but includes the traditional blinker lights for "talking" to other vessels within sight, and voice tubes for certain internal communications.

The electrical and electronic equipment—the largest and most compact assortment of its kind on any ship and possibly anywhere in the world — includes two new types of radar and the first operational Naval Tactical Data System are in use on the Enterprise. The SPS 32, a new long-range two-dimensional radar that provides both bearing and range, also is being tested aboard the nuclear-powered gulded missile cruiser, the Long Beach. The Long Beach soon also may acquire the SPS 33, a shorter-range three-dimensional radar providing height information as well as bearing and range, currently in use aboard the Enterprise.

* * * *

INFORMATION from these and other sensors is processed at fantastic speeds, in the NTDS computers into useful target information.

Capt. De Poix also speaks highly of the new equipment, but says he doesn't trust computers completely.

"They are a great help, but they can give you a wrong answer," De Poix says.

"The human mind and the human eyeball still have a long way to go before they can be considered outmoded."

* * * *

THE MOST basic fact about the Enterprise, of course, is her atomic power plant — the most powerful anywhere, afloat or ashore.

The first vessel ever designed with more than two nuclear reactors, she has eight pressurized water reactors arranged in four dual systems and producing more than 200,000 horsepower, to drive four propellers weighing 30 tons each.

The result is not only unprecedented ship speeds but unparalleled range. The Enterprise could circle the earth at high speed many times without stopping, and probably will not require replenishment of her nuclear fuel for at least three years.

* * * *

HEAVILY shielded with lead, the reactors are in a part of the ship accessible only to qualified personnel.

Cmdr. Joseph W. Schuh, ship's information officer, says a man is exposed to less radiation in the inhabited areas of the ship than when he walks down a street.

He added that fears of some men, that there might be sufficient radiation aboard the Enterprise to cause sterility, were stilled when two crew members became the fathers of twins.

* * * *

THE NUCLEAR reactor crew aboard the Enterprise started its intensive training in January 1960, at the AEC large ship reactor prototype at Arco, Idaho. Every engineering officer in the program was selected by a review board after exhaustive interviews.

The enlisted men who were to operate the power plant were chosen for their extensive experience in the fleet, and only volunteers were taken.

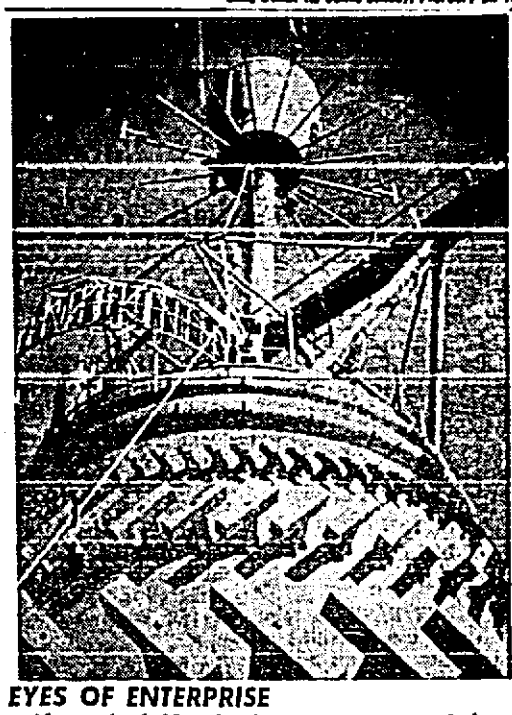

By the time the ship became operational, some of the men had spent as much as seven years getting ready to handle her.

* * * *

"IT IS HARD to imagine a ship that displaces approxi-90,000 tons as a favorite in a drag race," says a ship's brochure, "but Enterprise does excel in this area. Our rate of acceleration and deceleration exceeds that of most other ships. Destroyers . . . have been embarrassed.

"The absence of smokestacks and uptakes (spaces through which conventional boilers obtain tremendous volumes of air for combustion and out of which pass the exhaust gasses) permits full ballistic armor on all appropriate decks with no bomb access to vital parts of the ship. A stronger, gas tight ship is the end result.

"The lack of smoke and heat from our 'absent' stack is expected to be a boon to the pilots landing on Enterprise. Visibility during a critical time in landing will not be impaired nor will thermal currents add to any air flow disturbances."

EYES OF ENTERPRISE

Above the bridge, in the superstructure of the new aircraft carrier Enterprise, radar scans the sky. The equipment is part of a vast, complex radar system which includes two new types. Information from the radar units is processed by a system which pinpoints approaching targets in microseconds and milliseconds.

Smoker's Cough Blamed in Crash

STOCKPORT, England (AP)—Kenneth Wilkins told the court his smoker's cough was responsible for the trail of havoc he caused in his car one night.

Wilkins claimed that during a fit of coughing he lost control of his auto which mounted a sidewalk, injured a pedestrian, bent a no-parking sign, wrecked a shop window and smashed into the wall of a pub.

The court acquitted him of dangerous driving.

France Trims Tariff on California Items

By LOU JOBST

California has been carrying on its own diplomatic negotiations with France to get restrictions against the state's agricultural products reduced in the European nation.

Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown sent two San Franciscans, Adolph P. Schuman and Dr. F. A. Brier, an economic professor, to France where they argued that California, although basically an agricultural state like France, has many supplemental products which are not in competition with French agriculture.

The French were apparently moved by the argument as they have since downgraded tariffs on importation of California pears and apples and have promised to study other items including citrus.

This is the first time in history that a California governor has sent a personal representative to a foreign country on such a mission.

A PORT of Long Beach tenant, Pacific Vegetable Oil Corp., is the contractor for most of the U. S. crop of safflowers seed. Safflower seed A booming new American agriculture in which plantings increased by 25 per cent last year.

Safflower, which is grown in the central valleys of California, has been used principally in the past for such industrial products as paint.

However, its sudden rise as an important export crop is due to the fact that it now is to be used in low chlorestal cooking oil, mayonnaise, margarine, imitation Ice cream and other foodstuffs.

Boats May Ease Commuter Crush

CHICAGO (AP)—A shuttle service using large cabin cruisers on the Chicago River may soon help rush hour commuters bypass congested downtown streets.

The service—to be operated by a commercial sight-seeing firm—will extend from the Chicago and North Western Railway Terminal on the west side of the loop to the Michigan Avenue Bridge north of the loop, a distance of about 11 blocks. The service will start in April.

CLIFTON WEBB
Had 137 Suits

Impeccable Webb Is Rumpled

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Clifton Webb, one of Hollywood's most impeccable actors, once boasted a 137-suit wardrobe, but he's no fashion plate in his next picture in which he portrays a clergyman imprisoned by the Chinese Communists.

There was a time in movie circles when Webb, a frequent member of "best-dressed" lists, helped set styles for filmland's gentlemen.

The usually dapper Webb joined some acquaintances at lunch the other day in a Beverly Hills restaurant and admitted his role as a Catholic priest is not the type of part usually associated with the Webb image.

• • • •

ESPECIALLY in the clothes department, Webb said, pointing out that he might even appear a little rumped in the film.

Not since Webb soaked in a bathtub scene a few years ago has he had less use for his extensive wardrobe than he did as a priest in "Satan Never Sleeps."

When the movie wardrobe man presented Webb with a suit for his part, the 67-year-old actor wouldn't wear the outfit. He demanded an old one.

• • • •

"I PUT IT under my mattress so it was all wrinkled up and not like it came from a tailor," Webb said.

Treating even an old suit that way must have pained Webb's heart. But he insisted on looking like someone released from a Chinese Communist prison, such as the character he portrays.

Appearing a little shopworn is Webb's way of surprising his audience for "Satan Never Sleeps."

Art, Jackie No 'Honeymooners'

By EARL WILSON

Art Carney stirred some vanilla yogurt with a spoon, ate it, and said, "Jackie Gleason and I never had a cross word . . ."

He was lounging in his dressing room at the Biltmore Theater, where, with the help of his reputation as Ed Norton, the sewer worker, he is doing good business as the stage star of the B'way show "Take Her, She's Mine."

"Lots of people don't believe it but it's true," he said. "We just hit it off."

It was a timely discussion because Gleason's agents and his have tried to get them together again for one more "Honeymooners" effort as a special, or even as a new series. They failed to make the merger.

CARNEY

"Bill McCaffrey, speaking for me, wanted certain things, just as Jackie would want certain things." Art sipped some coffee out of an enormous cup. "After all, what else are we working for?

"But I know Jackie'd do anything for me and I hope he knows he's got the same kind of friend in me."

Carney and Gleason, by coincidence, each have the same problem now—that of being too funny.

"Gleason just doesn't want to stick to doing the funny stuff—he's an actor," Carney said.

"In this show here"—about a father seeing his daughter growing up and away from him—"I could get a laugh with an Ed Norton gesture but I'd be out of character.

"Still, I got to say I love the Norton character. I was in California before the show opened. . ."

• • • •

AN ELEVATOR operator mentioned seeing Ed Norton every day.

"Every day! You're kidding!" Carney said.

"Yeah, they run it out here every day," the elevator operator said.

So next day who was in the great unseen audience watching 'Honeymooners" rerun? Ed Norton.

"Gleason never called me a stooge. I was the second banana, sometimes I was straight man for him, sometimes he was straight man for me. The fact he didn't like to rehearse much didn't hurt — the spontaneity was there. If anybody fluffed or ad-libbed it was in."

Carney yearns to do a musical. He loves music.

"I play the piano by ear," he mentioned, "I was a dope as a kid. I took a few lessons — but gave it up. I wanted to do all the things fellows wanted to do—girls . . . sports . . . girls . . . girls . . . girls.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Barry Nelson of "Mary, Mary" gave his wife two fur coats — mink and broadtail. (One for their recent ann'y, and one as a belated Christmas gift). . . "My Fair Lady" still has six musicians in the pit who were hired five years ago as "temporary extras" for the premiere. . . Dancer Mara Lynn will join stripper Ann Corio's revue. "This Was Burlesque."

Shelley Berman may start a style trend — he ordered knickers from his tailor. . . John Wayne said at the Tower Suite he hopes to film a comedy for a change—and direct it, too. . . Pearl Bailey signed for 12 weeks a year—at 35Gs a week—at the Las Vegas Flamingo. . . The jazz-hep King of Thailand wants singer Nancy Wilson to concertize there with her album partner, Cannonball Adderly.

EARL'S PEARLS: If shoveling snow seems like an awful nuisance right now, you might remember that the lawn won't need cutting for another four months.—Quote.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Oscar Homolka complains that his wife is always rearranging things. For instance, his new foreign sports car now has the motor in front.

YVETTE MIMIEUX
French Stops at "Merci Beaucoup"

IN LOVE WITH PARIS

But Yvette Mimieux Doesn't Parlez Vous

By PATRICK McNULTY

PARIS (AP) — Blonde American starlet Yvette Mimieux says she wants to take a vacation from movie making for a fling at Paris' celebrated Sorbonne University.

"I'd love to spend a year at the Sorbonne studying French culture," said the 20-year-old ex-teen-age fashion model.

Yvette, passing through town for a film premiere, said she first fell in love with the city of lights last year while on a three-month movie location.

• • • •

"I STAYED in a small hotel on the Right Bank and just about walked my feet off exploring every cranny of Paris," Yvette said. "Like many other tourists, I'm afraid I fell in love with Paris at first sight."

That was the first trip abroad for Hollywood-born Yvette, who grew up in the shadow of the movie studios. Since then, however, she has made pictures in Italy and Germany.

"In one year I've become a world traveler," she said.

• • • •

THERE'S a major handicap, Yvette says, for her plan to invade the ivy halls of the Sorbonne on the Left Bank of the Seine: "I don't speak French."

French movie writers are amazed, she reported, when they learn her knowledge of the language is confined to "merci beaucoup."

"As soon as we're introduced they begin a torrent of French," she said. "When they realize I don't dig the language they shake their heads and say, 'but with a name like yours you must speak French.'"

Yvette has a French-born father and a Mexican mother. The family spoke some Spanish around the Mimieux casa, but not daddy's language. Yvette can rattle along pretty well in Spanish but her French is still limited to tourist guide books.

• • • •

YVETTE WAS in Paris for the world premiere of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." The film is a rehash in big screen and color of the silent movie that starred Rudolph Valentino. But Yvette's small part as the Argentine girl swept up in the French resistance in World War II was a bright spot in the movie. The role earned her a starring part with Olivia De Havilland and Rosanno Brazzi in 'The Light in the Piazza."

"The Light" was filmed in Florence, Italy, and from there Yvette went to Munich, Germany, for "The Brothers Grimm."

"I've been busy but it's been an easy way to see Europe," she said.

FOOD IN HOLLYWOOD

Some Throw It, Others Sell It

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Comic Jerry Lewis this week opened a restaurant that is the last word in elegance and gentility. Meantime on television, a horde of serious dramatic actors are getting hit in the face regularly by a pie-throwing comic.

Which proves that Hollywood is so wacky that even food can make show business news. It's definitely a town of contrasts.

Frank Sinatra and Burt Lancaster, both Oscar winners, and Tony Curtis have been willing targets for the meringue-in-the-face TV antics of Soupy Sales.

• • • •

BUT LEWIS, a king of slapstick, serves his pie in a $1,000,000 Sunset Strip restaurant where the head chef is an alumnus of Maxim's in Paris. Lewis has not been one of Sales' targets.

The restaurant puts Lewis in competition with Prince Mike Romanoff and Dave Chasen — also with his old partner, Dean Martin.

Lewis' restaurant is on the same street, separated only by a few blocks, from Dino's.

DECOR OF Lewis' restaurant is mostly in purple and silver with such touches as a $7,000 crystal chandelier, an inlaid cappa shell bar, a ladies' lounge with solid white marble floors and sofas in shocking pink.

Cast Almost Overcomes Tough Problems Presented in 'Kataki'

By ROBERT C. WYLDER

In "Kataki," which opened this weekend at the Magnolia Theater, Playwright Shimon Wincelberg has set for his players some well night insurmountable problems. It is to the credit of the local production that the cast almost overcome them.

The problems are these: the play presents only two characters, one a downed American tail gunner, the other a Japanese soldier, forced onto the same Pacific island by the fortunes of war. Add to this the fact that the Japanese's English vocabulary is confined to "hot dog" and "To hell with Roosevelt," and the result is inevitably a pretty one-sided affair as far as dialogue goes.

• • • •

FORTUNATELY the play doesn't depend upon dialogue entirely. The character and relationship of the two men are almost as thoroughly and precisely revealed by actions as by words. By the end of the play, one feels that he knows the Japanese, despite the language problem, as well as he knows the American.

The reason for that is, of course, the quality of the actor portraying the Japanese. He is listed on the program simply as Ishimoto. Although an American, he has schooled himself in the Oriental mode with excellent results.

He manages to maintain the traditional reserved facade of the East while revealing the warmth of a real human being, universal rather than racial or national, underneath. In the end it is his training that destroys him, not his heart.

RON HOGUE plays the American. His is naturally the burden of all the dialogue, and he does rather well with it. In his attempt to create a boy who is both a human being and the symbol of his culture he sometimes doesn't get as deep into the humanity of the boy as one might wish, but in most of his individual scenes he is very good.

Part of his trouble in producing a consistent and well rounded character is in the script, perhaps. One feels some lack of motivation from time to time, and too rapid a transition from tone to tone and attitude to attitude. Taken as a whole, the play is less convincing than most of its scenes. Hogue pulls it together as well as possible.

• • • •

IN THE FINAL analysis, one cannot take very seriously its contention that man's difficulties and inhumanities to man are largely the result of misunderstanding. The moral is more tacked on than intrinsic, and doesn't ring entirely true.

Edward Ludlum was the guest director for the show, and Dick Hunter piled up the sand that provides the basis for the set.

Orbit Wrapped World in Glow of Pride

By HARRY SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. orbited the earth three times in a space capsule last week in the greatest adventure any American ever had.

It was a long-awaited date with destiny that put the United States back in the space race with Russia — a fact which President Kennedy happily but solemnly proclaimed — and wrapped the world in a glow of admiration.

* * * *

IT ALSO brought from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev congratulations and an offer of future Russo-American space cooperation which the President accepted with reservations.

For millions of anxious citizens, time seemed to stand still from blast off at Cape Canaveral until the 40-year-old, freckle-face Marine Corps lieutenant colonel was triumphantly plucked unhurt from the South Atlantic. He had carried with him their hearts, prayers, hopes and fears as he journeyed at terrific speed over seas and continents, and there was a burst of national jubilation when he came through unscathed.

The President voiced pride and thanksgiving for all the nation. He flew Glenn's family to Florida for a colorful medal-pinning ceremony at Cape Canaveral and arranged for the intrepid flier to be feted in parade and Congress here Monday. But mindful of two Soviet cosmonaut successes, he remarked gravely that "we have a long way to go."

* * * *

IN RESPONSE to Khrushchev's message, he proposed that U. S. and Russian delegates meet at a very early date" to discuss practical methods for pooling space explorations. He said he had instructed American officials to prepare new and concrete proposals "for immediate projects of common action."

Khrushchev had called for pooling scientific, technical and material efforts that would benefit man and not be used for cold war or arms race purposes — what he termed a possible key to world peace and prosperity.

Western officials said it was strictly a propaganda gesture. But the President refused to adopt that attitude. He told Khrushchev that if he were ready to match words with deeds, the U. S. stands ready to cooperate at any level. Kennedy also kept the door ajar at a press conference but said "I cannot give an answer until we see whether the rain follows the warm wind."

GLENN'S FEAT was a triumph for Project Mercury space scientists, engineers and astronauts who started from scratch three years ago and wound up with a near perfect achievement after many agonizing setbacks. As Glenn himself put it when the President pinned a Distinguished Service Medal on him, it was not a one-man show but a team effort, for all the world to see.

Russia has not yet disclosed her cosmonaut secrets; whether Soviet pilots died in failures before two successes were announced.

Glenn's journey at heights ranging from 98.9 to 162.5 miles was haunted by the spectre of death. He had difficulty with the mechanism intended to keep his capsule in position. He brushed this off. But then a false radio signal picked up on earth made it doubtful whether his re-entry rockets could be safely fired.

The signal indicated the capsule heat shield had come loose. Without it Glenn would have been incinerated. Glenn was warned of his possible predicament but he cooly fired the reverse rocket and the shield functioned normally. Nonetheless his descent was what he called a "fireball" reentry.

Mercury operations director W. C. Williams of the National Space Administration, asserted that only Glenn's expert hands made it possible for his ton-and-a-half space vehicle to go the whole distance. Thus the daring pilot saved a mission in which every thought was to save the flier.

Mounting conflict between Khrushchev and Kennedy over how to open the March 14 Geneva disarmament conference threatened to sabotage the talks before they begin.

The President and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flatly rejected a harsh new Khrushchev demand that the conference open with a summit session. They stood by their own demand that progress must first be made at the foreign ministers level.

Khrushchev charged the President did not want to negotiate because he was preparing to resume atmospheric nuclear tests. His note was tough, undiplomatic and uncompromising.

American officials said there was no doubt the Soviet leader was preparing to torpedo the talks and blame the United States.

The President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, assured West Berliners the United States would stand by its promise to defend the Communist-surrounded city. He told a cheering rally after his arrival from Rome that "we have a commitment here which we shall keep." East German Reds tried to break up the rally by shooting rockets and balloons over the Berlin wall.

Another presidential brother, Edward Kennedy, paid an unscheduled two-hour visit to East Berlin and had American officials worried stiff. He had expected to be gone only a short time but did considerable walking and also visited a Communist exhibit. "What I saw over there demonstrated the sterility of the Communist way of life," he said.

On the home front, the tax-writing House Ways & Means Committee voted 15 to 10 to adopt the President's proposal for a tax-withholding system on dividends and interest. It would raise $600 more revenue and end some tax evasion.

A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats killed 264 to 150 the President's plan to set up a cabinet department of urban affairs to look after the needs of city folks. It was Kennedy's first major setback in Congress but he predicted it would be reversed next year after election sentiment has been tabulated.

The President said that some time this week U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers would be made available to Congress and the press to tell his story of aerial espionage over Russia and his subsequent imprisonment and release. He revealed that a formal inquiry into Powers' case was being conducted by an "outstanding citizens' panel headed by an eminent judge. All signs so far indicate Powers will be cleared of any alleged failure on his part.

New Fabric Pushed by General Aniline

NEW YORK (AP)—General Aniline and Film Corp. said it will push general sales of a new wash and wear finish that previously was available only to restricted licensees.

The firm said the new product, named Ganalok, is nonresinous, won't wash out, resists bleaches and doesn't impair the soft feel of the cotton on which it's used.

Orbit Wrapped World in Glow of Pride

By HARRY SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. orbited the earth three times in a space capsule last week in the greatest adventure any American ever had.

It was a long-awaited date with destiny that put the United States back in the space race with Russia—a fact which President Kennedy happily but solemnly proclaimed—and wrapped the world in a glow of admiration.

• • • •

IT ALSO brought from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev congratulations and an offer of future Russo-American space cooperation which the President accepted with reservations.

For millions of anxious citizens, time seemed to stand still from blast off at Cape Canaveral until the 40-year-old, freckle-face Marine Corps lieutenant colonel was triumphantly plucked unhurt from the South Atlantic. He had carried with him their hearts, prayers, hopes and fears as he journeyed at terrific speed over seas and continents, and there was a burst of national jubilation when he came through unscathed.

The President voiced pride and thanksgiving for all the nation. He flew Glenn's family to Florida for a colorful medal-pinning ceremony at Cape Canaveral and arranged for the intrepid flier to be feted in parade and Congress here Monday. But mindful of two Soviet cosmonaut successes, he remarked gravely that "we have a long way to go."

• • • •

IN RESPONSE to Khrushchev's message, he proposed that U. S. and Russian delegates meet at a very early date" to discuss practical methods for pooling space explorations. He said he had instructed American officials to prepare new and concrete proposals "for immediate projects of common action."

Khrushchev had called for pooling scientific, technical and material efforts that would benefit man and not be used for cold war or arms race purposes — what he termed a possible key to world peace and prosperity.

Western officials said it was strictly a propaganda gesture. But the President refused to adopt that attitude. He told Khrushchev that if he were ready to match words with deeds, the U. S. stands ready to cooperate at any level. Kennedy also kept the door ajar at a press conference but said "I cannot give an answer until we see whether the rain follows the warm wind."

GLENN'S FEAT was a triumph for Project Mercury space scientists, engineers and astronauts who started from scratch three years ago and wound up with a near perfect achievement after many agonizing setbacks. As Glenn himself put it when the President pinned a Distinguished Service Medal on him, it was not a one-man show but a team effort, for all the world to see.

Russia has not yet disclosed her cosmonaut secrets; whether Soviet pilots died in failures before two successes were announced.

Glenn's journey at heights ranging from 98.9 to 162.5 miles was haunted by the spectre of death. He had difficulty with the mechanism intended to keep his capsule in position. He brushed this off. But then a false radio signal picked up on earth made it doubtful whether his re-entry rockets could be safely fired.

The signal indicated the capsule heat shield had come loose. Without it Glenn would have been incinerated. Glenn was warned of his possible predicament but he cooly fired the reverse rocket and the shield functioned normally. Nonetheless his descent was what he called a "fireball" reentry.

Mercury operations director W. C. Williams of the National Space Administration, asserted that only Glenn's expert hands made it possible for his ton-and-a-half space vehicle to go the whole distance. Thus the daring pilot saved a mission in which every thought was to save the flier.

Mounting conflict between Khrushchev and Kennedy over how to open the March 14 Geneva disarmament conference threatened to sabotage the talks before they begin.

The President and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flatly rejected a harsh new Khrushchev demand that the conference open with a summit session. They stood by their own demand that progress must first be made at the foreign ministers level.

Khrushchev charged the President did not want to negotiate because he was preparing to resume atmospheric nuclear tests. His note was tough, undiplomatic and uncompromising.

American officials said there was no doubt the Soviet leader was preparing to torpedo the talks and blame the United States.

The President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, assured West Berliners the United States would stand by its promise to defend the Communist-surrounded city. He told a cheering rally after his arrival from Rome that "we have a commitment here which we shall keep." East German Reds tried to break up the rally by shooting rockets and balloons over the Berlin wall.

Another presidential brother, Edward Kennedy, paid an unscheduled two-hour visit to East Berlin and had American officials worried stiff. He had expected to be gone only a short time but did considerable walking and also visited a Communist exhibit. "What I saw over there demonstrated the sterility of the Communist way of life," he said.

On the home front, the tax-writing House Ways & Means Committee voted 15 to 10 to adopt the President's proposal for a tax-withholding system on dividends and interest. It would raise $600 more revenue and end some tax evasion.

A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats killed 264 to 150 the President's plan to set up a cabinet department of urban affairs to look after the needs of city folks. It was Kennedy's first major setback in Congress but he predicted it would be reversed next year after election sentiment has been tabulated.

The President said that some time this week U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers would be made available to Congress and the press to tell his story of aerial espionage over Russia and his subsequent imprisonment and release. He revealed that a formal inquiry into Powers' case was being conducted by an "outstanding citizens' panel headed by an eminent judge. All signs so far indicate Powers will be cleared of any alleged failure on his part.

New Fabric Pushed by General Aniline

NEW YORK (AP)—General Aniline and Film Corp. said it will push general sales of a new wash and wear finish that previously was available only to restricted licensees.

The firm said the new product, named Ganalok, is nonresinous, won't wash out, resists bleaches and doesn't impair the soft feel of the cotton on which it's used.

LOOKING FOR A HOME?

Here is a choice selection of 12 homes from 450 of our exclusive listings.

Walker & Lee, INC. real estate

ROSSMOOR

THE WALLED CITY'S modern triumph! A gorgeous "Pacific Estates" model fully improved with landscaping, block fence & enlarged patio. Just offered by transferred owner. See this "high demand" home first by calling HA 9-5924. Key at 3010 Woodruff Ave.

"EL DORADO" — Most-wanted model on premium lot in prime location. Improvements thoughtfully made — price and terms present no problem. Come to 4100 Bellflower Blvd. or call HA 5-1214. Open eves.

STOP, LOOK & LISTEN — This price is down! Extremely sharp Plymouth model with $4903 worth of extras. If you can afford to match the owners investment in extras — we can arrange 100% FHA financing for the balance. Call GE 4-7426 for details — Hwy. 101 & Anaheim — Open eves.

WANT AN EXECUTIVE HOME? — 3 bedrooms, family room, 2 baths, w-w carpeting & drapes thruout, built-in range, oven & refrig., forced air, covered patio plus $4900 more in listed extras. Less than $6000 down. Truly b e a u t i f u l! Call GE 3-7493 — 2060 Bellflower Blvd. — Open eves.

EAST OF LONG BEACH

"GIs ATTENTION!" — See this gracious 3-bdrm., 2-bath home with built-ins for nothing down except costs & impounds. Located just 10 miles east of Long Beach in fast-growing area. Call GE 9-2134 or come to 2265 Palo Verde. Open eves.

MAY WE REMIND YOU:

. . . that, if one of the above homes does not fit your needs, one of the other 450 will. Call the Walker & Lee office nearest you.

"I told you the man to see is from WALKER & LEE!"

PLAZA AREA

JUST REDUCED, NOW $700 DOWN — for this vacant modern 2-bedroom home. Fireplace, stall shower, carpeting & drapes, outside BBQ. Act fast, payments for principal & interest only $78. Call GE 4-7426 — Hwy. 101 & Anaheim — Open eves.

2 BEST BUYS, 3-BR. EA. — Fenced, wall to wall, drapes, curtains, patios, disposals. $1000 down can buy these two sharp homes. See today and take your choice. Call GE 3-7493 — 2060 Bellflower Blvd. — Open eves.

CITY COLLEGE AREA

"$950 DOWN" — Attractive 2-bedroom home with spacious family room opening onto covered patio. Kitchen range & washer are included at $15,500. Come to 2265 Palo Verde or call GE 9-2134. Open eves.

LOS ALTOS

BIG 4-BEDROOM HOME — with room to grow in. Schools a short walk for short legs. College ½ mile. Two baths, carpet, drapes, breakfast bar & patio for everyday pleasure. Big 30-year FHA loan if needed with small investment. Call HA 9-5924. Key at 3010 Woodruff.

LAKEWOOD

REDUCED! BIG 3-BEDROOM — with 20x20 rumpus rm. & 24x24 covered patio. It's the most living area in the area. Easy to look at in & out. Carpets, drapes & sprinklers, too! Just $18,950 with minimum down. Call HA 1-1211. Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.

GI NO DOWN FOR TWO-BATH HOME — Located in top established area, handy to schools & major shops. Natural birch kitchen cabinets & built-in nook plus covered patio & block fence. Just $125 per month includes taxes & insurance. To start building your estate, call HA 1-1211. Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.

"LIFETIME ALUMINUM SIDING" — means very little exterior maintenance on this attractive 3-bdrm. home. Priced at $17,950 including carpeting & drapes means the $4000 cost of the siding is free as this is market price for comparable property without the alum. siding. Come to 4100 Bellflower Blvd. or call HA 5-1214. Open eves.

LOOKING FOR A HOME?

Here is a choice selection of 12 homes from 450 of our exclusive listings.

Walker & Lee, INC. real estate

ROSSMOOR

THE WALLED CITY'S modern triumph! A gorgeous "Pacific Estates" model fully improved with landscaping, block fence & enlarged patio. Just offered by transferred owner. See this "high demand" home first by calling HA 9-5924. Key at 3010 Woodruff Ave.

"EL DORADO" — Most-wanted model on premium lot in prime location. Improvements thoughtfully made — price and terms present no problem. Come to 4100 Bellflower Blvd. or call HA 5-1214. Open eves.

STOP, LOOK & LISTEN — This price is down! Extremely sharp Plymouth model with $4903 worth of extras. If you can afford to match the owners investment in extras — we can arrange 100% FHA financing for the balance. Call GE 4-7426 for details — Hwy. 101 & Anaheim — Open eves.

WANT AN EXECUTIVE HOME? — 3 bedrooms, family room, 2 baths, w-w carpeting & drapes thruout, built-in range, oven & refrig., forced air, covered patio plus $4900 more in listed extras. Less than $6000 down. Truly b e a u t i f u l! Call GE 3-7493 — 2060 Bellflower Blvd. — Open eves.

EAST OF LONG BEACH

"GIs ATTENTION!" — See this gracious 3-bdrm., 2-bath home with built-ins for nothing down except costs & impounds. Located just 10 miles east of Long Beach in fast-growing area. Call GE 9-2134 or come to 2265 Palo Verde. Open eves.

MAY WE REMIND YOU:

. . . that, if one of the above homes does not fit your needs, one of the other 450 will. Call the Walker & Lee office nearest you.

"I find you the man to see is from WALKER & LEE!"

PLAZA AREA

JUST REDUCED, NOW $700 DOWN — for this vacant modern 2-bedroom home. Fireplace, stall shower, carpeting & drapes, outside BBQ. Act fast, payments for principal & interest only $78. Call GE 4-7426 — Hwy. 101 & Anaheim — Open eves.

2 BEST BUYS, 3-BR. EA. — Fenced, wall to wall, drapes, curtains, patios, disposals. $1000 down can buy these two sharp homes. See today and take your choice. Call GE 3-7493 — 2060 Bellflower Blvd. — Open eves.

CITY COLLEGE AREA

"$950 DOWN" — Attractive 2-bedroom home with spacious family room opening onto covered patio. Kitchen range & washer are included at $15,500. Come to 2265 Palo Verde or call GE 9-2134. Open eves.

LOS ALTOS

BIG 4-BEDROOM HOME — with room to grow in. Schools a short walk for short legs. College ½ mile. Two baths, carpet, drapes, breakfast bar & patio for everyday pleasure. Big 30-year FHA loan if needed with small investment. Call HA 9-5924. Key at 3010 Woodruff.

LAKEWOOD

REDUCED! BIG 3-BEDROOM — with 20x20 rumpus rm. & 24x24 covered patio. It's the most living area in the area. Easy to look at in & out. Carpets, drapes & sprinklers, too! Just $18,950 with minimum down. Call HA 1-1211. Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.

GI NO DOWN FOR TWO-BATH HOME — Located in top established area, handy to schools & major shops. Natural birch kitchen cabinets & built-in nook plus covered patio & block fence. Just $125 per month includes taxes & insurance. To start building your estate, call HA 1-1211. Key at 5549 Woodruff Ave.

"LIFETIME ALUMINUM SIDING" — means very little exterior maintenance on this attractive 3-bdrm. home. Priced at $17,950 including carpeting & drapes means the $4000 cost of the siding is free as this is market price for comparable property without the alum. siding. Come to 4100 Bellflower Blvd. or call HA 5-1214. Open eves.

Luxurious $3 Million Newporter Inn Schedules Grand Opening on April 11

PLUSH FACILITIES NEARING COMPLETION
The Newporter Inn, built by George D. Buccola, builder of many Southland homes, is scheduled to open April 11 in Newport Beach. The $3,000,000 inn is on 20 acres of the Irvine Ranch property, overlooking Newport Dunes. Gourmet cuisine will be featured in three large dining facilities in the inn and there is a pitch and putt golf course and six swimming pools.

Six Swim Pools, Golf Course on 20-Acre Site of New Hotel

By KEN CHILCOTE
I, P-T Business, Realty Editor

Opening of the luxurious $3 million hotel and dining facilities of The Newporter Inn is scheduled for April 11, George D. Buccola, the owner-builder announced.

Located on a 20-acre elevation between the Dunes and Irvine Country Club, in Newport Beach, the Newporter should rank among the finest facilities of its kind in the nation. Those who appreciate gourmet cuisine, luxury sleeping and entertaining accomodations will find that Builder Buccola has spared no expense in the development.

Architecturally, The Newporter Inn was designed to grace the glamorous site upon which it is constructed. Beyond the nine-hole pitch and putt golf course surrounding the Inn are the rolling hills of the Irvine Ranch. Below the Inn and the featured vista from The Lido Lounge and Marine Room, for dining, will be Newport Harbor and Balboa Bay.

The Newporter will have 103 luxuriously appointed bedrooms and nine de luxe suites in addition to The Lido Lounge, The Marine Room and the Empire Room—designed especially to banquet 400 persons on convention, or to accommodate dinner, luncheon or organizational gatherings—comprising the main structure. Separate from these facilities are four exclusive complete three-bedroom villas.

Six swimming pools and an 80,000 gallon fountain imported from Austria lend further charm to the overall landscaping. At night, the brilliantly lighted "Magic Fountain" will constantly change light patterns and express movement and color for the evening scene.

The Marine Room and The Lido Lounge will be cheery and warm. Low ceilings, wood and textured materials will emphasize comfort and hospitality and a great fireplace heightens the effect.

The Newporter staff and the bar manager, Kenny Russell, have been accumulating a wine cellar for the discerning diner. Samples will be displayed on a lighted bottle rack in the Lido Lounge. Also featured will be a Seafood Bar.

Executive Chef Oscar Zink, originally from Baden, Germany, and for 17 years Chef d'Cuisine at the Westward Ho in Phoenix, will work directly with Newporter Inn Vice President, Dick Darling, formerly with Chef's Inn for 8 years, and now managing director of all food, bar and banquet facilities at The Inn.

Responsible for the hotel side of The Newporter Inn is Ray Schmitz, who joins the Inn staff from the Disneyland Hotel, where he was associated with management. Both he and Darling are under the overall supervision of general manager, William Munce, prominent Southern California businessman.

Munce announced the completion of arrangements with Los Angeles Airways to provide a regular helicopter schedule to serve the Inn's own heliport.

Howard Jones Realty Speaker

Glen Gerken, February program chairman of the Long Beach Board of Realtors, announced that Howard Jones, manager of the Long Beach Convention and Visitors Bureau, will be the guest speaker at the breakfast meeting Tuesday at the Crown Cafeteria. Jones' topic will be "Looking Ahead."

GI Loan Action Up

WASHINGTON (UPI — GI home loan activity increased during January except for the number of new construction starts, the Veterans Administration reported.

Appraisal requests for new units, an indicator of future construction activity, numbered 12,920 in January, up from 11,033 in December. A year earlier such requests numbered 9,410.

Requests for appraisal of existing units totaled 9,495 in January, up from 8,573 in December.

Applications for home loan guarantees edged up from 15,006 in December to 15,087 in January.

Construction starts dropped to 4,045 from 5,745, VA said. Starts usually are at a low level in January.

40 Years in Lumber Business

From Redwoods to roses is quite a transition, but such is the case of Harry Flynn who has retired after more than 40 years in West Coast lumber activities.

Harry Flynn

A graduate of the University of Washington and an overseas veteran of World War I, Harry was practically raised in the woods of the northeast.

From cruising timber, to mill superintendent of the old Blodell-Donovan and Puget Sound mills at Bellingham, he gained a keen knowledge of mill and retail production facts and when he came to California in 1930, he worked as dock and yard superintendent at the old Patten-Blinn main plant in Wilmington.

* * * *

HE WAS HIRED by Frode Kilstofte, president of Rossman Mill and Lumber Co., Ltd., in 1949.

Working close with the owners, Flynn was in a large way responsible for the production factor of Rossman which grew to major status and streamlined service in the past few years. Today the production yard encompasses some 15 acres, uses a large fleet of trucks and trailer rigs and employs up to 100 lumber ordermen, operators and truck drivers.

Interior of Charm Is Featured in Newest Sunshine Home Unit

LUXURY IN COMPACT KITCHEN
Built-in range and oven and natural finish cabinets add to the charm of compact kitchen in Huntington Beach Sunshine Homes.

Striking exteriors, interiors of charm and livability with functional floor plans, have made Huntington Beach Sunshine homes, located in a fine section of Orange County, one of the finest home buys in Southern California according to Stan Rossi, executive sales manager for S. V. Hunsaker and Sons.

Available with no down payment, these homes have three and four bedrooms, family room, two full baths, and large two-car garage.

* * * *

FEATURED IN THESE quality homes is wall-to-wall carpet, floor-to-ceiling folding wardrobe doors, ultra-modern kitchens with built-in range and oven with hood and exhaust fan, disposal, vinyl tile, and natural-finish cabinets. Hidden construction features include all-copper plumbing and forced-air heating.

Furnished model homes are open for inspection from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. and are located on Hell Ave. just off Golden West St. in Huntington Beach.

Some 'Bonus Room' Homes Still Unsold

A limited number of the pace - setting Westmont "Bonus Room" homes are still available at the Huntington Beach location where builder George M. Holstein and Sons is offering the 1778 square foot home for as little at $17,995.

Offered on both veteran and FHA terms, the Westmont home includes the big free room that is ideal for play room, separate rumpus area, sewing room, game room or large enough for two extra large bedrooms.

Along with the Bonus Room at the Westmont development, the fast selling community includes close proximity to new schools, shopping centers and is within five minutes to Huntington State beach.

* * * *

THE WESTMONT homes feature wood shake roofs, fireplace, tiled built-in kitchens, sliding glass doors, paneling, silent light switches, private master bedroom suite, and are available in three or four bedroom plans with family room and the additional Bonus Room.

Developer Holstein said buyers should act quickly to purchase the Bonus Room models at the current prices as raising land costs in the area, plus other increases would mean higher prices in subsequent units.

To reach the Westmont development from the Long Beach area, go east on Garden Grove Blvd. to Hwy. 39 then turn right. Stay south on Hwy. 39 about three miles past the Westminster Blvd. signal.

Clerks Union Ads Running

An intensive campaign toward better understanding of organized labor and to acquaint the public with benefits of "shopping where the union store card is displayed," is being undertaken by Retail Clerks Union Local 324, according to Arthur Z. Berland, union secretary-treasurer.

The campaign will include weekly half-page advertisements in the Long Beach Independent and Press-Telegram.

The ads include a list of stores under contract with the union and authorized to display the card.

"We believe these employers deserve some recognition," Secretary Berland said, "and at the same time, we want them to know the importance of displaying the Union Store card.

Rossmoor Leisure World is planned to be a charming community of cooperative apartments. The first Section of 844 apartments is already sold out and construction is under way. Move-ins will begin in April of this year.

Seal Beach Mutual No. Two is the second of several corporations that will own and operate the community.

It will have 864 apartments and will be owned and operated by Seal Beach Mutual No. Two, a corporation in which the residents will be the stockholders.

More than 500 units in the second section were sold within two weeks after its opening, January 22nd.

When completed, Leisure World is planned to be a community of 6750 apartments built on 541 acres of the legendary Rancho Los Alamitos in Southern California.

RECREATIONAL FACILITIES
COMPLETE EXTERIOR MAINTENANCE
INTRA-COMMUNITY TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM
MEDICAL SERVICES INSURED BY BLUE CROSS OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

—All included in the monthly payment on the beautiful apartment you occupy.

WHERE IS ROSSMOOR LEISURE WORLD?

This new community is to be located on 541 beautiful acres in Seal Beach, California.

It is a next-door neighbor to Long Beach, 3 minutes from the blue Pacific, 15 minutes from Disneyland, 25 minutes from downtown Los Angeles by nearby freeways.

Rossmoor Leisure World is bounded on the east by Los Alamitos Boulevard, on the south by Westminster Boulevard, on the west by the Long Beach City Limits, on the north by Garden Grove Boulevard.

WHAT ARE THE APARTMENTS LIKE?

Each one is a lovely custom-designed one-story garden apartment.

Each one has a delightful private patio overlooking a beautiful lawn.

ONE BEDROOM apartments have 604 square feet of indoor living area with a beautiful outdoor patio.

TWO BEDROOM apartments have 759 square feet of indoor living area plus the lovely patio.

All apartments have individual space in nearby carport garages.

WHAT IS INCLUDED IN THE APARTMENT?

Every apartment includes an all-electric built-in kitchen by General Electric: refrigerator, oven and range, garbage disposal and a sink faucet.

WHAT ABOUT COMMUNITY FACILITIES?

Within the 541 smog-free acres Rossmoor Leisure World is planned to occupy, the following community facilities are proposed for residents:

3 CLUB HOUSES—each one with fully equipped game room, sewing room, hobby room, lounge, wood shop, ceramics room, roque courts, shuffleboard, banquet facilities and lawn bowling. The first Leisure World clubhouse is already opened.

LIBRARY

12½ ACRE SHOPPING CENTER—plans call for cafeteria, department store, supermarket, beauty and barber shop, bank, service shops of every kind.

2500 SEAT AMPHITHEATER—this proposed showplace is patterned after the famed Hollywood Bowl. It is specially designed to accommodate network radio and television shows, movies, lectures, shows.

GOLF COURSE—a 9-hole, three-par course designed by famed golf architect, Billy Bell, is proposed for residents.

INTRA-COMMUNITY TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM—plans call for a special-design limousine bus to pass by your apartment at regular intervals to take you to and from anywhere in Leisure World.

Use of all these community facilities is included without extra charge in your monthly payments.

The medical program will be operating when the first resident moves in during April 1962. The rest of the community facilities will be built as new cooperatives are formed.

*Construction of all of the above-described community facilities is, of course, dependent upon the completion of 6750 apartments.

WHAT ABOUT THIS MEDICAL PLAN?

Rossmoor Leisure World plans to have its own Medical Center right on the grounds.

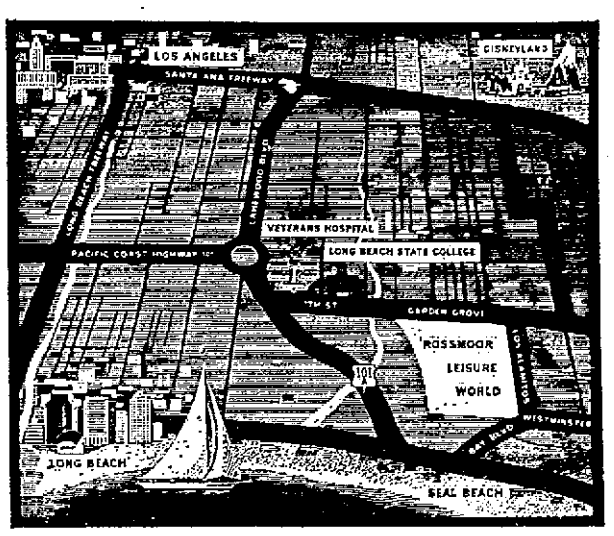

Residents will be entitled to a program of Medical Services insured by Blue Cross of Southern California as part of their monthly payment.

WHO WILL MANAGE THE LEISURE WORLD FACILITIES?

The Golden Rain Foundation, a non-profit corporation, will operate and manage this development. Every resident must be a member of the foundation and will have a voice in all its activities.

The administrator of the Golden Rain Foundation is Mr. Lewis M. Letson. For the past 15 years Mr. Letson has been executive administrative officer for one of the largest private hospitals in the west: St. Francis in Lynwood.

THE MORTGAGE LOANS ARE FHA INSURED INTEREST RATE IS 5¼%

WHO WILL CONSTRUCT THE PROJECT?

Mr. Ross W. Cortese, creator of the famed "Walled City of Rossmoor," and his staff are designing and building Leisure World.

WHAT ABOUT MAINTENANCE?

Your grass, hedges, flowers, and shrubs will be planted and maintained like a country-club veranda.

Your walks and streets will be washed.

The exterior of your buildings will be repainted regularly—all this included in your monthly payments.

WHAT ARE THE FINANCIAL ARRANGEMENTS?

TOTAL DOWN PAYMENT is from $935 to $1055, depending upon the apartment selected.

In this down payment, $310 to $375 is the selling price of your share of stock in Seal Beach Mutual No. Two. $350 to $405 is the working capital contribution required by F.H.A.; $250 initiation for membership in the Golden Rain Foundation. The purchase of your share of stock in Seal Beach Mutual Number Two and your execution of the occupancy agreement entitles you to occupy your selected apartment.

WHAT ARE THE MONTHLY PAYMENTS?

Depending upon the apartment you select, an estimated $50 to $58 of the monthly payment pays principal and interest. From $47 to $53 of the monthly payment pays taxes, insurance, maintenance, medical insurance policy, as well as the various medical, social, transportation services described above.

Monthly payment for the one bedroom apartment is $97.50 to $100.50: $107.50 to $111 for the two bedroom apartment.

WHAT AGE MUST YOU BE?

Permanent residents must be 52 years of age or older.

Record-Breaking Start for Southland Business

Southern California's business activity opened the new year with a record-breaking performance in January, L. H. Showalter, Vice President of Security First National Bank's Long Beach Office, reported.

January's strong showing raised the bank's business activity index to a new high of 238.4 (preliminary), marking the fifth record level attained in as many months. The month's reading was 11.1 per cent above the year-ago period, Showalter said.

According to the bank officials, 12 of the index's 14 seasonally adjusted components exceeded their year-ago levels.

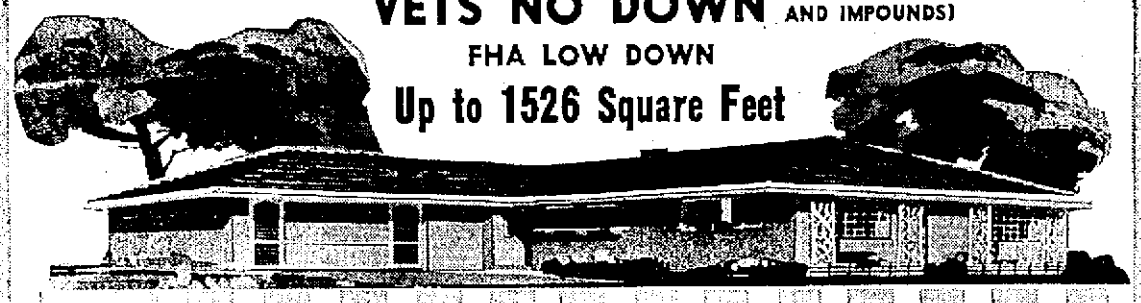

CONSTRUCTION ACTIVITY in the Southland is off to an excellent start in 1962. It was at a seasonally adjusted annual rate equal to $4,308,000,000; 31 per cent abov January, 1961 and the second highest rate on record.

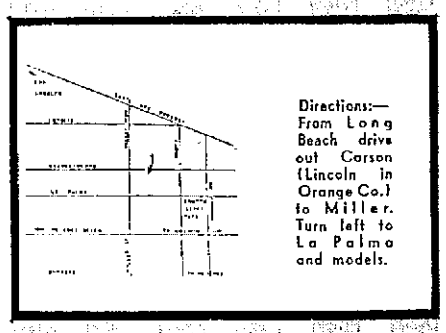

Residential and engineering construction were the major sustaining components in the over-all constrution picture, Security pointed out.

Homebuilding activity in the local 14-county area during the month continued at the compartively high level which marked the latter part of last year. A total of 13,197 dwelling units were authorized, coresponding on a seasonally adjusted basis to an annual rate of 168,600.

This compares with the actual totals of 142,003 dwelling units for the year 1961; 130,328 for 1960 and 159,743 for the record year 1959.

Buccola's Sherwood Rancho's in Anaheim Near Completion

A SHERWOOD RANCHO
Built by George D. Buccola, a leading Southland developer, homes in Sherwood Ranchos are in a prime Anaheim location. This is one of the models now selling, containing quality features found in other Sherwood tracts.

George D. Buccola, national award-winning Orange County builder and developer, announced the near-completion of his newest community of homes, Sherwood Ranchos, located in West Anaheim.

The new development, comprising 32 houses, marks a sharp departure from the pattern of the larger-home construction established by Buccola during the past 14 years, during which his organization has built more than 2,000 houses in Southern California.

* * * *

BUCCOLA EXPLAINS: "We have concentrated on building larger homes in recent years because of the need for making available to the families with three and four children a five-bedroom, three-bath house in the $25,000 to $30,000 price range. But in response to many requests from smaller families who want our Sherwood Estates quality at a lesser price, we are offering the new Sherwood Ranchos series of 32 three and four-bedroom houses at a substantial saving.

"Because of a particularly favorable land purchase we were able to negotiate, and by utilizing some of the same architectural design being used in our more expensive models, we are able to offer these houses for the first time at a price as low as $21,000."

* * * *

FINANCING is especially attractive on the Sherwood Rancho houses: No down payment to veterans ("$55 Moves You In"), and good FHA terms for non-vets.

The ranchos feature oak flooring, fireplaces, built-in dishwashers and O'Keefe & Merritt appliances. All models have two baths.

Sherwood Ranchos is strategically located on Western Avenue in West Anaheim—one block east of Highway 39 (Beach Boulevard) and two blocks south of Lincoln Avenue.

The model is open from 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

Dutch Haven Homes Set Fast Sales Pace

Dutch Haven's Huntington Beach communities are experiencing extraordinary success, even outstripping the phenomenal growth pattern being set by the entire Huntington Beach area, say officials of Luxury Homes, Inc., creators of Dutch Haven. They attribute a significant portion of their success to the excellence and variety of architecture being featured and the versatility and efficiency of Dutch Haven's award-winning floor plans.

Since May of 1961, Dutch Haven has registered in excess of $6.5 million in sales at three communities in Huntington Beach. The most recent, and now selling, is unit 19 on Edinger Ave. near Bolsa Chica. The other two units, 17 and 18, are on Bolsa Chica and on Beach Blvd.

* * * *

PURCHASERS may select from 16 exterior elevations. The Dutch Provincial styling being shown is original with Luxury Homes and was initially introduced to offer buyers a design consistent with the Dutch Haven theme. According to a spokesman for Luxury Homes, Inc., Dutch Provincial styling still tops the popularity list with most buyers.

"American Home Series" models are featured exclusively at Dutch Haven communities and give buyers a choice of award-winning floor plans.

* * * *

CUSTOM FEATURES include complete front-yard landscaping, built-in oven and counter-top gas range, colored range hood with fan and light, custom ash cabinets, decorator wallpaper, accoustical ceilings, custom-styled fireplaces, copper plumbing service and marble pullmans in bathrooms.

Dutch Haven homes are 3 to 4 bedrooms with family room and up to 2 full baths. Monthly payments start at $79.63, including principal and interest.

Selling prices $14,950 with $95 move-in cost to veterans on VA terms. Cal-Vet terms and FHA loans at 5¼% interest are also available.

To reach the furnished models from Long Beach: Drive east on Seventh St. to Beach Blvd. then right.

ANOTHER BY MARRON

Adding to a long list of own-your-own apartments built in Long Beach by the Ben F. Marron Co. is this new development at 1227 E. First St. It is the Villa Esparanza. The Medallion Award units have carpeting and drapes furnished and they are built on garden type style.

Sun Ray Provides Fence, Rugs and Draperies for Homebuyer

Those many added, extra costs most home buyers face when they move into a new dwelling won't plague buyers in Sun Ray Estates in Westminster.

Fencing, always needed and often difficult to work out satisfactory arrangements with neighbors as to the type and cost, has been taken care of by the builder. Over seven miles of decorative cement block fencing has gone into the development so that each home buyer will face no problem. Immediate privacy in the rear yard is assured when families move in and no fence salesmen will be calling, explains a spokesman.

* * * *

THE BIG WESTMINSTER development also provides custom-made draperies in every room, giving the housewife a wide choice of colorful fabrics from which she may make a selection. The draperies are completely installed on traverse rods without added costs.

Carpeting is provided in the living room, hallway, bedrooms and even in the oversized closets.

All of these extras are included in the purchase price which starts at $19,300.

Veterans may purchase these luxurious award-winning Provident Series of Sun Ray Homes with no down payment and no costs and impounds. No better deal has ever been offered to GI buyers anywhere, declares a spokesman.

* * * *

FOR NON-VETS, a 30-year FHA loan at 5% per cent is available.

Among the many other features of these three and four-bedroom homes are, family room with breakfast bar and oak parquet floor, built-in range and oven, forced air heat with summer switch, insulated acoustic ceilings, sliding glass door leading out to a large patio deck.

To reach Sun Ray Estates in Westminster just drive out Seventh Street.

L. B. Sears Workers Pension Fund Grows

Sears, Roebuck and Co. employes in Long Beach, have $5,297,781.09 in their company's profit sharing pension sharing pension fund.

This figure was disclosed by Charles W. Teed, manager, at a meeting of employe-members of the fund. They received statements showing how they shared in Sears' profits last year and the value of individual accounts.

The 342 local fund members had 56,025 shares of Sears stock and other securities amounting to $300,266.59 credited to their accounts as of Dec. 31, Teed said.

The local employe-members are among 150,000 men and women who are members of the Savings and Profit Sharing Pension Fund of Sears, Roebuck & Co., Employes. These members include more than 13,000 employes of Allstate Insurance Co., a wholly-owned subsidiary which each year contributes to Sears profits. Teed pointed out that the value of the accounts of individual employes showed a marked increase in 1961. He also noted that the total assets of the fund at market value rose over $675 million for a total of approximately $2,100,000,000 as of Dec. 31. This gain was the result of a larger company contribution from 1961's profits, increased investment income and appreciation in the value of the funds' stock holdings.

* * * *

OF THE ASSETS, approximately $180 million represents deposits from the wages and salaries of members. The balance of approximately $1,927,000,000 resulted from company contributions, investment income and appreciation in value of the fund's investments.

The employes' fund is Sears' largest stockholder, Teed said, with 26 per cent of the outstanding stock.

Employe members of the fund deposit five per cent of their wages and salaries, up to a maximum of $500 each year. The company contributes a portion of its net income before deductions for federal income taxes and dividends

A GOLDEN WEST ESTATE
Priced from $17,500, homes like this are offered in Golden West Estates on moderate down payments under FHA and no-down terms under VA.

Golden West Estates Offering Wide Selection of Big Homes

A wide variety of plans and exteriors are now available for immediate occupancy at Golden West Estates in Huntington Beach, said Jim McCarthy, vice president of McCarthy Co., co-builders with Sant Construction. Golden West homes are offered in a choice of 22 distinctive exteriors.

Among the many individualized models is a plan with two separate patios, one serving as an enclosed entrance-way, the other designed for fresh-air meals and relaxation outside the dining area. Both patios adjoin the spacious dining-family-living room complex. The plan is offered in five exteriors, among them an authentic Spanish styling.

* * * *

PRICED FROM $17,500, the homes are offered with 35-year, 5¼ FHA terms and down payments from $800. Also available are VA no-down-payment terms, as well as conventional terms with down payments from $695. Under a convenient lay-away plan, buyers may deposit $100 to reserve their new home while they build up to their down payment.

Golden West features include: modern breakfast bars, ash kitchen cabinets, sliding glass doors, forced-air heating, large service area, wash basins and baths with Mixet fixtures, exhaust fan in kitchen and baths and center entry halls.

From Long Beach, the homes may be reached via Seventh Street east to Golden West St., then right to furnished models.

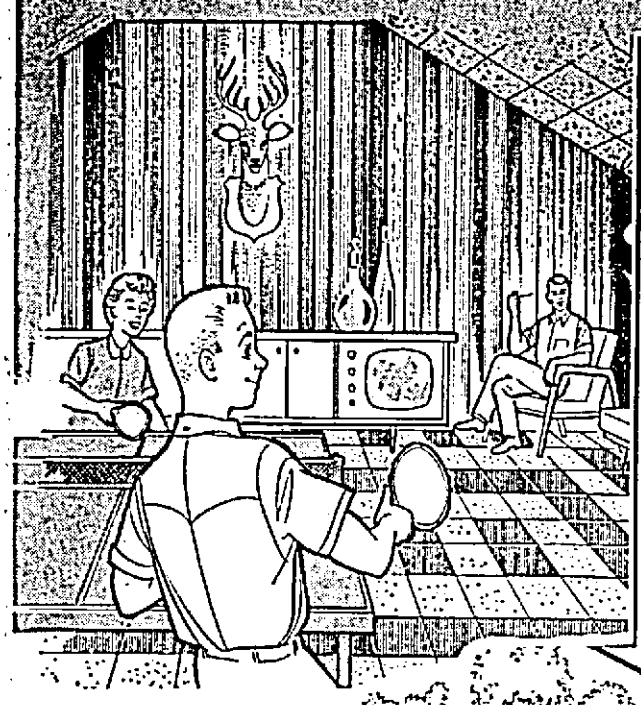

Builders to Hear Nixon

A non-political talk will be made by Richard M. Nixon, former Vice President, at the regular monthly dinner meeting of the Home Builders Association of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties, Monday, March 5, in the Biltmore Bowl, it was announced by Merrill Butler Jr., HBA president.

A social hour has been scheduled for 6 p.m. and the dinner for 7 p.m. Wives of members of the association have been invited.

The appearance of Nixon, now a member of the attorneys firm of Adams, Duque and Hazeltine, was arranged by Ray A. Watt, vice president of the HBA and chairman of the program committee.

Sunkist Plaza Low Terms Boost Sales

ON NEW, EASIER TERMS NOW

Sunkist Plaza offers homes like this without any down payment for vet or non-vet, only small closing costs. Prices start at $17,450. The homes are in Huntington Beach.

New terms for Sunkist Plaza Homes have resulted in a big increase in the tempo of buying, the developers report.

The new terms will allow either non-vets or vets to move in with absolutely no down payment and only small costs. The monthly payments are low.

More than 50 per cent of the 100 plus contemporary homes are now sold out of the proposed 2200 unit development. Sunkist Plaza Homes offers four basic floor plans with 25 elevations.

* * * *

IN ADDITION, Huntington Beach is a prime residential area with numerous shopping centers and schools and a wide range of recreational activities, suited to meet the needs of the growing family.

Sunkist Plaza Homes have introduced a "planned community" concept that insures long term growth for the area.

Features in the three and four-bedroom homes include gas range and oven, forced-air heat, fireplaces, rock wool insulation and others.

Prices start at $17,450 with VA and FHA terms also available.

From Long Beach go east on Seventh St. to Bolsa Chica; south (right) to Westminster Ave.; east (left) on Westminster to Springdale; South (right) to models.

Nutrilite Subsidiary Is Formed

The formation of American Continental Laboratories as a wholly owned subsidiary was announced by Nutrilite Products, Inc., Buena Park, manufacturer of vitamins, food supplements, cosmetics and other products.

Peter M. Hazell, marketing director of American Continental, announced that the new company will engage in selected private formula manufacturing, contract research and product development in different product fields including pharmaceuticals, cosmetics, vitamin products, and biological processing. American Continental Laboratories will maintain facilities at Buena Park and Lakeview, Calif., and on the island of Hawaii. Operations of the new company will be carried on as separate and distinct from those of the parent company.

* * * *

ALL PRESENT activities of the parent company, including the manufacture of Nutrilite Food Supplements, other vitamin products and Edith Rehnborg Cosmetics for exclusive distribution through the Mytinger Corp. and a nationwide organization of distributors; joint manufacturing and marketing of agricultural and nursery products with Pennsalt Chemicals Corp. and Ferry-Morse Seed Co.; manufacturing and distribution of the NPI garden products line; agriculture production and processing in the Hawaiian Islands; and land development interests in Tahiti will be continued as a part of the operations of Nutrilite Products, Inc.

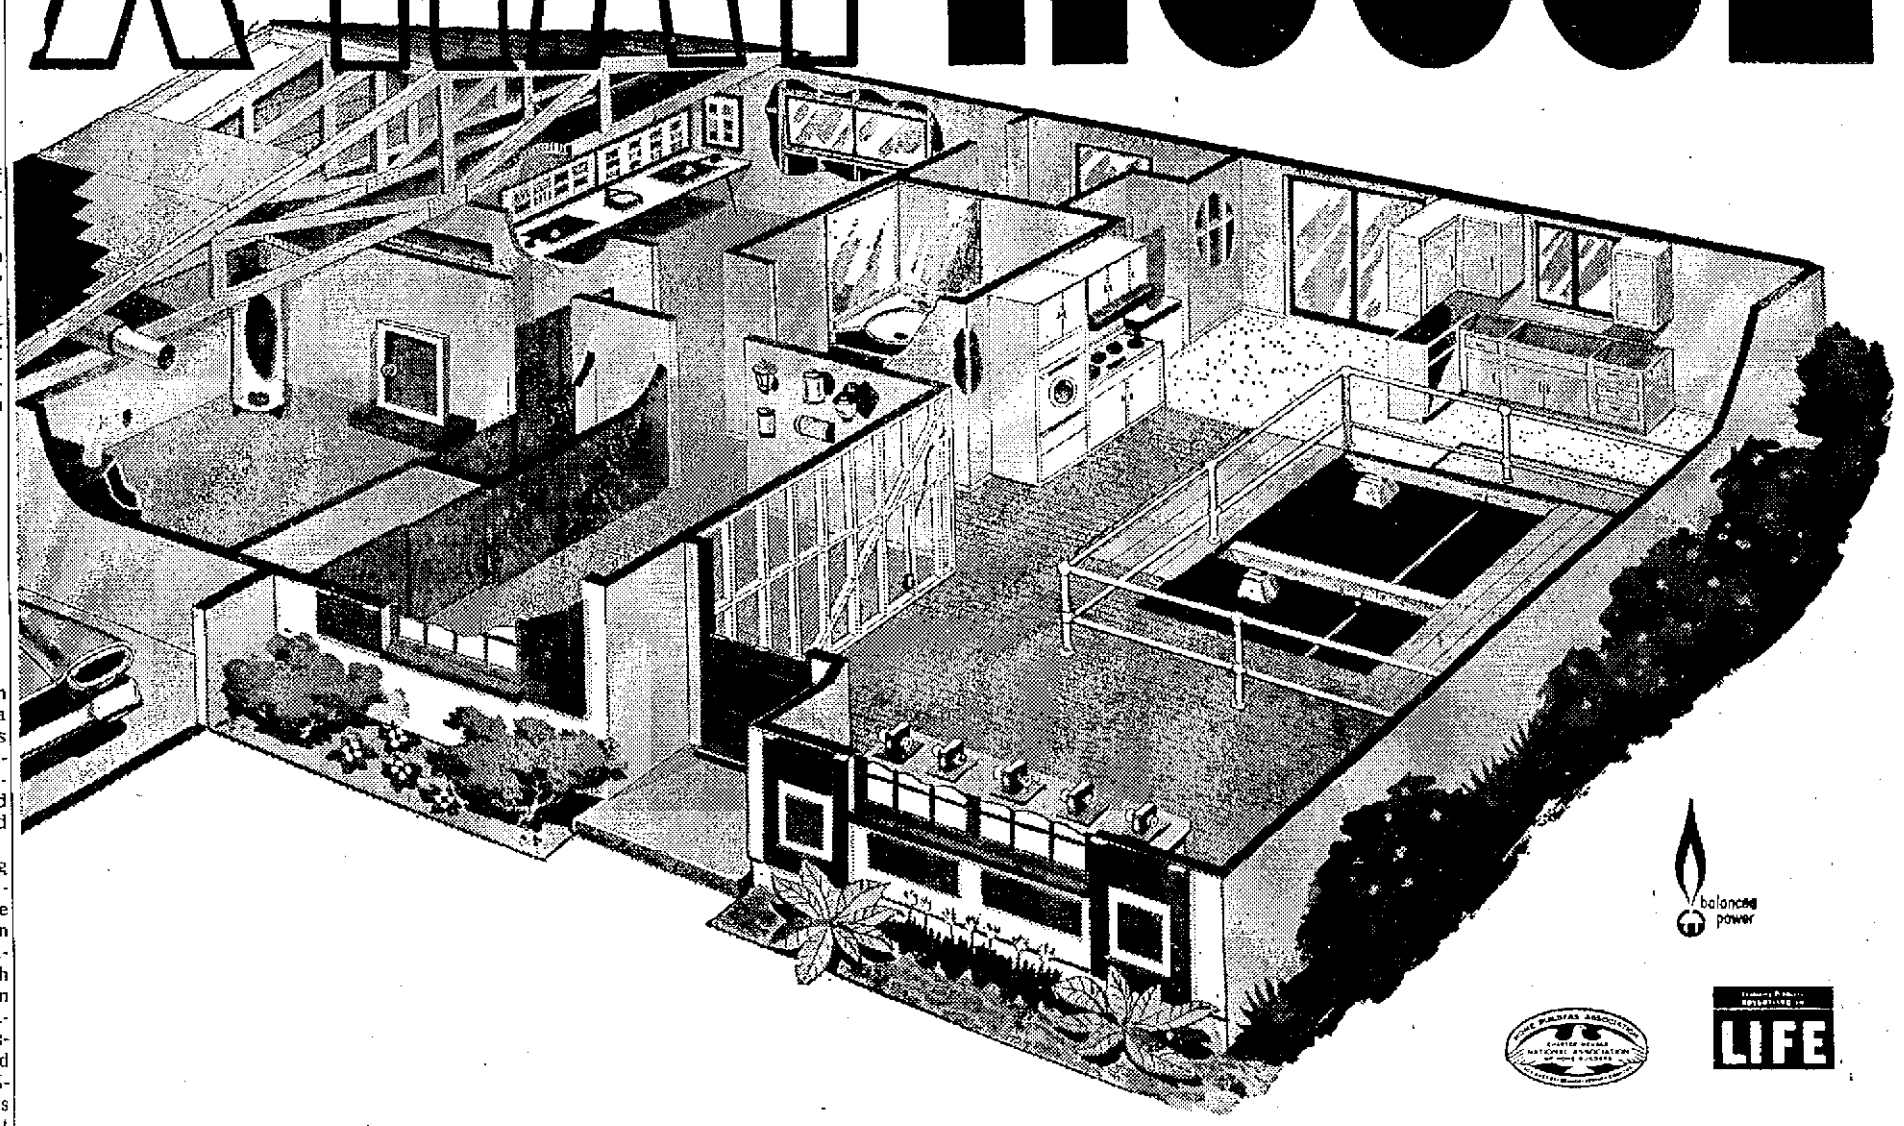

Two Named to Commission

Gov. Edmund G. Brown has appointed John H. Tolan Jr. of Berkeley and Milton Gordon of Los Angeles to the California Real Estate Commission.

Tolan, 51, treasurer of Barrett Homes, Inc., of Richmond, will succeed Willard L. Johnson of San Francisco, whose term expired.

Gordon, 39, owner of Milton Gordon Co., Realtors, replaces Thomas R. Rooney of Los Angeles, whose term expired.

Stardust Gives Visitors 'X-Ray' Views of Homes

The most fascinating and informative model home introduced in this area—the new Stardust "X-Ray House"—will continue its debut today, announced Robert H. Grant, Orange County builder. The X-Ray House preview marks the introductory showing of Stardust Homes' new models at their Huntington Beach development on Bolsa Ave.

The Stardust X-Ray House features 53 separate displays, and will permit homebuyers to see right to the heart of Stardust lifetime construction, Grant said. Special cutaways will allow viewers to look through the ceiling, the walls, and the floor, examining all the details which are usually hidden. Other displays will show portions of the house in various stages of construction, explaining in sequence how the components go together.

* * * *

ALSO INCLUDED in the X-Ray House are manufacturers' displays illustrating features and advantages of the products which go into Stardust Homes. A number of these products such as water heater, furnace, and garbage disposal, are displayed in cutaway models to show internal workings.

"We feel that this helpful and interesting approach to selling homes will result in crowds larger than any ever seen in Southern California," Grant said.

Priced from $16,600, the new three and four bedroom, two bath, Stardust homes are offered with veterans' $99 total move-in costs and non-veterans' $250 move-in costs.

* * * *

FEATURES of the homes include: built-in gas range with 20-inch oven, natural finish kitchen cabinets, oak hardwood floors, sunken living rooms, disposal, forced-air heating, fireplaces, truss roof construction, utility rooms, and two-car garage.

From Long Beach, the development may be reached via Seventh Street east to Bolsa Chica, south two miles to Bolsa Ave., then left to models.

CUTAWAY VIEW SHOWN

John May, sales manager, and Robert Grant, builder, inspect hardwood floor cutaway in new Stardust X-Ray House.

Expecting Huge Student Increase

NEW YORK (UPI) — A population increase by 1970 is expected to almost double the present student population of the nation's secondary schools, according to a report by Allied Chemical Corp.'s building materials division.

California is expected to have almost 800,000 more high school students by 1970, a rise of 85 per cent over last year, while Arizona anticipates a jump of 70 per cent and Florida an increase of 80 per cent.

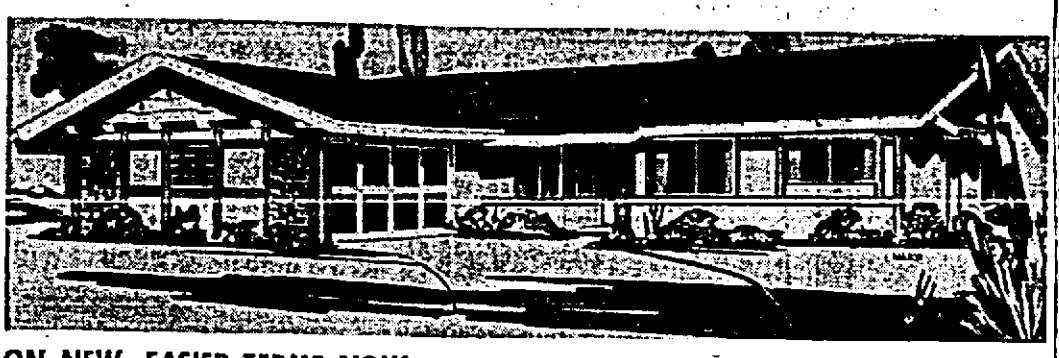

WIN SALES AWARD

First annual Robert K. Walker regional perpetual trophy for outstanding sales performance in the field of real estate for 1961 is presented by Walker & Lee, Inc., vice president Art Hancock (left) to Alice Lewis and Larry Gold of the Long Beach-Lakewood offices. Executive vice president Frank R. Hart (right) told an assembly of the firm's personnel about the late founder's career in real estate in the areas.

Cigar Sales

NEW YORK (UPI)—Many merchants report a rise in sales of higher-priced Philippine cigars. The Philippines shipped 5.1 million cigars here in the eight months ended August 31, up from 3.3 million a year earlier.

Sunkist Plaza Low Terms Boost Sales

ON NEW, EASIER TERMS NOW

Sunkist Plaza offers homes like this without any down payment for vet or non-vet, only small closing costs. Prices start at $17,450. The homes are in Huntington Beach.

New terms for Sunkist Plaza Homes have resulted in a big increase in the tempo of buying, the developers report.

The new terms will allow either non-vets or vets to move in with absolutely no down payment and only small costs. The monthly payments are low.

More than 50 per cent of the 100 plus contemporary homes are now sold out of the proposed 2200 unit development. Sunkist Plaza Homes offers four basic floor plans with 25 elevations.

• • • •

IN ADDITION, Huntington Beach is a prime residential area with numerous shopping centers and schools and a wide range of recreational activities, suited to meet the needs of the growing family.

Sunkist Plaza Homes have introduced a "planned community" concept that insures long term growth for the area.

Features in the three and four-bedroom homes include gas range and oven, forced-air heat, fireplaces, rock wool insulation and others.

Prices start at $17,450 with VA and FHA terms also available.

From Long Beach go east on Seventh St. to Bolsa Chica; south (right) to Westminster Ave.; east (left) on Westminster to Springdale; South (right) to models.

File to Incorporate

Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan announced five firms with Long Beach residents as directors have filed articles of incorporation with his office.

Highways, Inc., a grading and surfacing contractor, to be capitalized with 1,200 no-par shares, listed directors as R. C. Sully, 3908 Myrtle Ave., and W. D. Rash, 321 Linares Ave., Long Beach; and P. L. Luce, 2501 N. Oakmont, Santa Ana.

Douglas & Waugh Construction Inc., a sewer construction firm capitalized at $25,000, listed directors Robert E. Douglas, 17123½ Clark St., Bellflower; and Norman E. and Patricia A. Waugh, 1601 E. 63rd St., Long Beach.

W. F. Powell Development Corp., a packing containers sales firm, to be capitalized with 2,500 no-par shares, listed directors as J. Ralph Ziegner, 244 6th St., Seal Beach; and Myron Blumberg, 903 Security Bldg., and Donald C. DeVore, 465 E. 55th St., both of Long Beach.

Futuro Building Enterprises Inc., a building materials manufacturing firm to be capitalized at $1 million in $100 par shares, listed directors as N. Vicent and Katherine E. Oddo, 1132 Atlantic Ave., and John Munholland, 3371 E. 1st St., all of Long Beach.

Leisure World Medical Staff Prepares File on Each Person

FOR LEISURE LIVING

Apartments at Rossmoor Leisure World, Seal Beach, are enhanced by pleasing patios. All landscaping is included in prices of apartments.

More than 200 future residents of Rossmoor Leisure World have taken their complete physical examination at the community's temporary medical center, Lewis M. Letson, Golden Rain Foundation administrator, announced.

The first unit, now under construction will contain 844 one and two-bedroom cooperative apartments. The nation's first senior citizen community to include medical care and drugs—excluding hospitalization—in the monthly payments, Leisure World's medical, recreational and maintenance facilities are administered by the Golden Rain Foundation, a non-profit organization.

THE 200 WHO TOOK their physical examinations are among those who will move into the first unit, Letson said.

Purpose of the physical examination, Letson said, is to provide Rossmoor Leisure World's medical staff with complete information on each resident's condition for use in emergency treatment.

Leisure World's Medical plan, for which Blue Cross is underwriting the insurance program, will be operational when the first residents move in, Letson said.

Already completed at the senior citizen community is the first of three huge clubhouses planned. The unique project, whose residents will be 52 years or over, is planned for an ultimate 6,750 one and two-bedroom apartments.

* * * *

ALL OF THE CLUBHOUSE facilities—hobby centers for woodworking, ceramics, sewing, mosaics and leathercraft, shuffleboard and roque courts—and limousine bus transportation throughout the community also will be available to first residents.

Slated for completion in two years, Leisure World plans include a medical center, golf course, county library, 12½-acre shopping center, 2500-seat amphitheater, churches for all major faiths and three elaborate clubhouses with banquet facilities for 600.

One-bedroom apartments, priced from $10,350 to $10,750, are available on minimum down payments of $935 and monthly payments ranging from $95 to $98. Two-bedroom apartments, priced from $11,600 to $12,100, may be purchased on minimum down payments of $1,005 and monthly payments ranging from $105 to $109.

Plan Institute on Plastering

The Southern California Plastering Institute, Inc. plans to inaugurate an Architectural Research Service to aid and instruct architects in the new uses of lath and plaster.

Clay Johnston, chairman of the board of directors of the Institute, explained that seminars would be arranged throughout Los Angeles and Orange Counties, and will be conducted by top men in the plastering industry. "Architects who are expected to attend these seminars will be exposed to the modern technology of lath and plaster, learn of new and more economical methods for materials application, directly from the research people and practical applicators who will do their jobs.

Home Sales Strong During Bad Weather

Continuing peak sales at Imperial Valley View indicate that the recent inclement weather has had little or no effect on the veteran demand for the quality built "high and dry" residences in this new Emblem Homes community in the Buena Park area, according to Koblentz & DeLancy, sales agents.

This, the sales agents said, is credited in part to the sound conventional construction with oak floors over solid diagonal subflooring and raised conventional foundations.

* * * *

ANOTHER attraction is the new, lower veteran qualification requirements, they pointed out. These new terms make it possible for veterans who qualify to purchase their Imperial Valley View residence on terms of nothing down, not even impounds and closing costs.

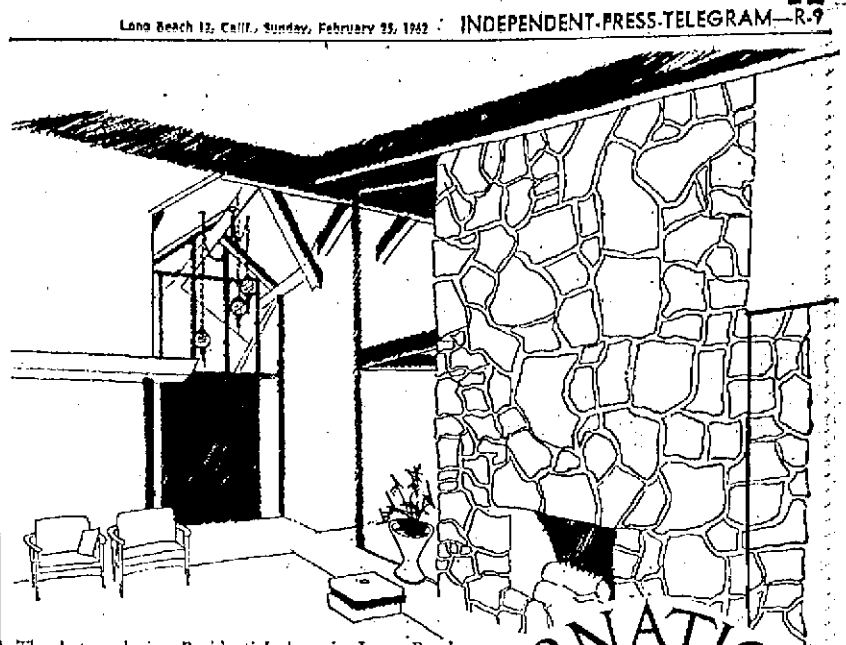

One full price of just $17,150 includes all of the many fine home features incorporated in these attractive residences.

Open daily from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m., Imperial Valley View is reached from the Long Beach area by driving east on Carson Street to Valley View Avenue, then right (south) to Orange Avenue and the models.

IN IMPERIAL VALLEY VIEW

Recent inclement weather has had little or no effect on the peak sales at Imperial Estates in the Buena Park area. Veteran demand for these quality-built "high and dry" residences is credited to the sound conventional construction and to the new, lower veteran qualification rules.

Garden Park's Estates 'Close to Everything'

GARDEN PARK ESTATE
Garden Park Estates, Knott Avenue and Garden Grove Freeway, presents the all-new "1962 Series" of architect-designed luxury homes. Here is one.

Strategically located at Knott Ave. and Garden Grove Freeway, one of Orange County's most rapidly expanding areas, Garden Park Estates access to virtually every family convenience can be reckoned in just minutes, officials of S&S Construction Co., builders, report.

Within the community's walls there are elementary schools and a high school. Long Beach State College is just five minutes drive, downtown Santa Ana and Long Beach are approximately 10 minutes distant, there is excellent shopping right at hand, and churches of many denominations dot the area. Such recreational facilities as the beaches, golf courses and marinas are 10 minutes drive, and the fast freeways bring Garden Park Estates close to "everywhere".

CONSTRUCTED BY S&S Construction Co., award-winning builders, the all-new "1962 Series" of luxuriously appointed homes are the creation of David Freedman, A.I.A. Exteriors are widely diverse and the spacious plans designed with three and four bedrooms, family room and dining area, and two attractive baths. The big two-car garages have concrete driveways.

Buyers have choice of four financing plans, officials said. For veterans there is choice of Cal-Vet loans or VA terms of nothing down except impounds and closing costs with monthly payments from $97 including principal and interest. Terms for "everyone" offer excellent conventional loans and the new 35-year FHA financing. Full prices are from just $17,450.

FIREPLACES and sliding glass doors, attractive baths with colored plumbing fixtures and pullman lavatories, forced-air heating and sound construction with lath and plaster walls and ceilings and roofs of red cedar shingle or crushed rock are among the many fine home features.

Color-coordinated, Garden Park Estates kitchens are equipped with built-in gas wall oven and range, range hood with light and fan, dishwasher, hardwood cabinetry and counters topped with supermatic tile in decorator colors are also among the top attractions.

A delightful furnished model home display, open seven days a week, is reached from the Long Beach area by diving east on Seventh St. to Knott Ave. and the furnished model display.

Heads Vast Holly Land Development

Lorne B. Pratt was named vice-president of Holly Corp. of Dallas, Tex., and Azusa and will head the Texas firm's Southern California land development division, the Pacific Community Management Co. The announcement was made by Marcus R. Hickerson, president of Holly.

L. B. Pratt

Pratt, who is president of California Association of Land Developers, becomes president of 20 subsidiary companies under Pacific Co. and will be in direct charge of operations for all of them.

Pacific Community Management Co., ranked the largest land developing company on the West Coast, is handling the development of Salton Riviera and Hesperia. PCM employs 400 full and part-time personnel. Its assets are approximately $30,000,000.

Before his promotion, Pratt, 38, was public relations for PCM. He also served five years as vice-president for the Salton and Hesperia companies.

'Build L.B. Better' Contest Is Planned

The Long Beach Board of Realtors will sponsor a "Build Long Beach Better" contest for local home owners.

No matter how large or how small your home is—no matter what you intend to do to improve your home—you may win a prize by entering this contest.

Judging will be on the basis of improvement from the standpoint of safety and sanitation, increased comfort and livability, beauty and appeal, quality of workmanship.

Entry blanks will be available at the Long Beach Board of Realtors' booth at the Home-O-Rama.

Co-chairmen of this committee will be J. C. Foster, chairman of the Build America Better Committee, and Bill Ballard, chairman of the public relations committee of the Long Beach Board.

Details of the contest will be announced soon.

Leisure World Medical Staff Prepares File on Each Person

FOR LEISURE LIVING

Apartments at Rossmoor Leisure World, Seal Beach, are enhanced by pleasing patios. All landscaping is included in prices of apartments.

More than 200 future residents of Rossmoor Leisure World have taken their complete physical examination at the community's temporary medical center, Lewis M. Letson, Golden Rain Foundation administrator, announced.

The first unit, now under construction will contain 844 one and two-bedroom cooperative apartments. The nation's first senior citizen community to include medical care and drugs—excluding hospitalization—in the monthly payments, Leisure World's medical, recreational and maintenance facilities are administered by the Golden Rain Foundation, a non-profit organization.

* * * *

THE 200 WHO TOOK their physical examinations are among those who will move into the first unit, Letson said.

Purpose of the physical examination, Letson said, is to provide Rossmoor Leisure World's medical staff with complete information on each resident's condition for use in emergency treatment.

Leisure World's Medical plan, for which Blue Cross is underwriting the insurance program, will be operational when the first residents move in, Letson said.

Already completed at the senior citizen community is the first of three huge clubhouses planned. The unique project, whose residents will be 52 years or over, is planned for an ultimate 6,750 one and two-bedroom apartments.

* * * *

ALL OF THE CLUBHOUSE facilities—hobby centers for woodworking, ceramics, sewing, mosaics and leathercraft, shuffleboard and roque courts—and limousine bus transportation throughout the community also will be available to first residents.

Slated for completion in two years, Leisure World plans include a medical center, golf course, county library, 12½-acre shopping center, 2500-seat amphitheater, churches for all major faiths and three elaborate clubhouses with banquet facilities for 600.

One-bedroom apartments, priced from $10,350 to $10,750, are available on minimum down payments of $935 and monthly payments ranging from $95 to $98. Two-bedroom apartments, priced from $11,600 to $12,100, may be purchased on minimum down payments of $1,005 and monthly payments ranging from $105 to $109.

Plan Institute on Plastering

The Southern California Plastering Institute, Inc. plans to inaugurate an Architectural Research Service to aid and instruct architects in the new uses of lath and plaster.

Clay Johnston, chairman of the board of directors of the Institute, explained that seminars would be arranged throughout Los Angeles and Orange Counties, and will be conducted by top men in the plastering industry. "Architects who are expected to attend these seminars will be exposed to the modern technology of lath and plaster, learn of new and more economical methods for materials application, directly from the research people and practical applicators who will do their jobs.

Home Sales Strong During Bad Weather

Continuing peak sales at Imperial Valley View indicate that the recent inclement weather has had little or no effect on the veteran demand for the quality built "high and dry" residences in this new Emblem Homes community in the Buena Park area, according to Koblentz & DeLancy, sales agents.

This, the sales agents said, is credited in part to the sound conventional construction with oak floors over solid diagonal subflooring and raised conventional foundations.

* * * *

ANOTHER attraction is the new, lower veteran qualification requirements, they pointed out. These new terms make it possible for veterans who qualify to purchase their Imperial Valley View residence on terms of nothing down, not even impounds and closing costs.

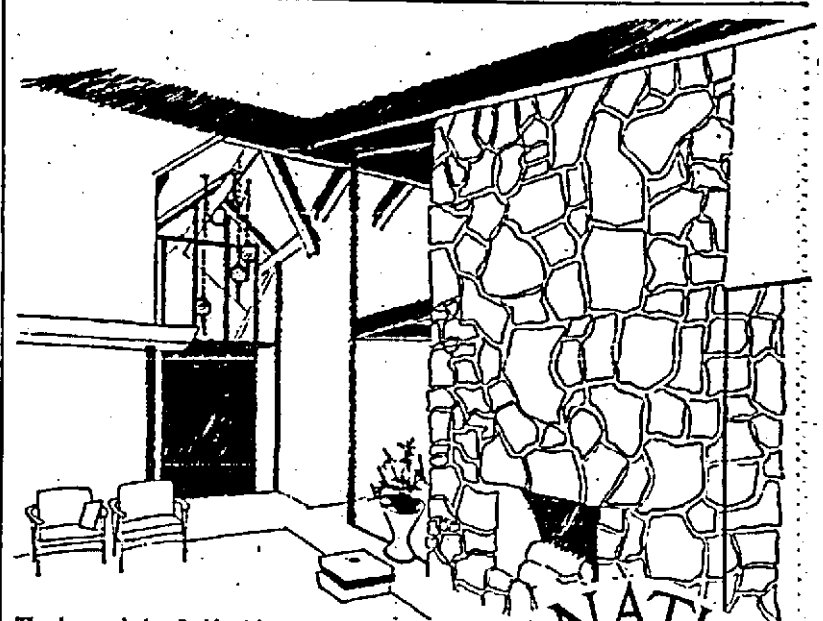

One full price of just $17,150 includes all of the many fine home features incorporated in these attractive residences.

Open daily from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m., Imperial Valley View is reached from the Long Beach area by driving east on Carson Street to Valley View Avenue, then right (south) to Orange Avenue and the models.

IN IMPERIAL VALLEY VIEW

Recent inclement weather has had little or no effect on the peak sales at Imperial Estates in the Buena Park area. Veteran demand for these quality-built "high and dry" residences is credited to the sound conventional construction and to the new, lower veteran qualification rules.

Mammoth Show for Red Cross

'I'm So Lucky I Could Teach!'

By ELISE EMERY

"I've been so lucky, so fortunate they'd let me teach!" said Mrs. Ella Eakin.

"I don't know how we will get along without her. She's irreplaceable. She's contributed so much to our program of teaching English to the foreign-born," said Siegfried C. Ringwald, dean at West Adult Center for Long Beach City College's General Adult Division.

Tall, slender, stately, Mrs. Eakin radiates warmth, kindliness, humility and gentle humor.

In her sunny apartment at 3348 E. First St., she recalled the years of teaching which ended with her retirement a few weeks ago.

Into her classroom have streamed hopeful Europeans, Orientals, Latin Americans, Asians.

* * * *

OFTEN, in one class, 20 to 30 nationalities were represented. Some had been highly educated in their own countries; others had little training. All were eager to learn our language.

"There was always a happy atmosphere in class; each was eager to help the other. Even when they couldn't speak the same language I'd find Japanese helping Mexicans, Indonesians working with French, Italians and Germans somehow communicating."

When Mrs. Eakin's husband, Joseph, died in 1943 she decided to go to work for the first time. One son, Jim, was in military service; the other, Bob, was in optometry school, and she had time on her hands.

* * * *

HER FRIENDS tried to dissuade her. "They told me a middle-aged woman with white hair couldn't get a job."

Before her marriage, Mrs. (Continued on W-2, Col. 5)

WHEN SHE RETIRED recently, Mrs. Ella Eakin was honored at a surprise party given by fellow teachers at West Adult Center, praised by leading Long Beach educators, showered with best wishes from students. Vase was the gift of her Japanese pupils who have been studying in her English classes.

Big Names Spark Style Extravaganza

Five elaborately staged scenes—each devoted to a distinctive facet of new fashions and all laced together with a variety of top notch professional stage acts—will be presented here March 6 to benefit the Red Cross.

The show, being sponsored by Downtown Long Beach Associates for the 10th year, is the major benefit of this area for the fund drive and will take place at Municipal Auditorium.

Promising a fast paced production, sponsoring merchants have secured vocalist Jaye P. Morgan to top the evening's headline acts.

Backing up the singing star as well as the entire show will be Russ Morgan and his band. "Music in the Morgan Manner" has gained fame on television and recordings.

Joining the cast again this year will be popular little Evelyn Rudie, only child actress to win an Emmy award, who will not only model but will play piano and tap dance.

BACKBONE OF the show will be the dazzling parade of 101 women's, men's and children's fashions selected for showing from 22 leading downtown stores. A 65 foot runway extending from the big stage into the heart of the auditorium will give everyone in the audience a true vantage point for viewing.

Commentating for the fourth year will be well known fashion coordinator John Hersey. Forty of this area's top models will show the clothing and accessories in settings with an imaginative patriotic motif, geared to the theme, "Star Spangled Fashions."

To date, DLBA has given over $54,000 to the local Red Cross as a result of these "fun and fashion festivals." During the performance a check representing all ticket receipts of the night will be presented to Mmes. Tess Heusel and Lloyd Mallin, Red Cross drive officials, by George Trammel, president of the associates.

Money from this year's show will be given for the specific purpose of buying three special station wagons to be used to transport blood plasma and other supplies to the 16 hospitals served in this area.

TICKETS TO the event may be obtained at DLBA offices, 601 Pacific Ave., Monday through Friday from 8:45 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.; Saturday from 9:30 a. m. until noon. Telephone information may be obtained by dialing the letters H-E-L-P-E-R-S. Free parking is available at Victoria Auto Park, 135 W. 6th St.

Other locations where tickets now are available are first floor accommodation desks at both Buffums' and Walker's and, beginning Tuesday, they will be on sale at Municipal Auditorium.

Participating stores are Buffums', Barnett's Bootery, Hartfield's, Bundy's, Career Girl, Columbia, Desmonds, Economy Dress Shop, Gene's Smart Shop, Jo Kaye's, C. C. Lewis Jewelry, Lockwood Furs, Long Beach Uniform, Normandie Hats, J. C. Penney's, Schick's, Sears, Walker's, Wonder Shops, Young Maternity, Grayson's, Merle Norman Cosmetics.

Newest hair styles, courtesy of Gladys Morgan, will be worn by feminine models.

As the committee points out, ticket purchasers not only will enjoy an exciting show but will be making a direct contribution to the Red Cross as well.

Ifida Club Has Many Members

There used to be a group in Seattle called the "Ifida Club."

Membership was open to any bridge player who would say "If I'da played such-an-such I'da beaten (or made) the hand."

South allowed West's jack of clubs to hold the first trick. He won the club continuation with the ace in dummy, ruffed the queen of clubs, played a couple of rounds of trumps stopping in dummy, led the ten of spades and let it ride to West's queen.

At this point West was dead. A diamond lead would make South's king good while a spade lead would allow South to discard one of dummy's diamonds.

* * * *

WHAT about the Ifida club?

East promptly qualified for membership. Before anyone else could speak he said, "If I'da played the king of clubs at trick one and led the jack of diamonds I'da beaten the hand."

East was right, but that really would have been an amazing defensive play. Not only would he have to know about the club situation, but he also would have had to be clairvoyant enough to lead a diamond, not a spade.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Wishes She Had No Secrets

DEAR ABBY: I am going to school away from home. During the holiday vacation my boy friend (back home) and I were secretly married. No one knows it. I live in a dorm and my friends keep trying to get me to go out, but so far I have refused. I can't tell them I am married, and I can't think of any good reasons to give when I refuse to go to parties and date. I can see now that my marriage was foolish and I wish that we had waited. Now I'm not even sure I love him. I find myself wanting to date. How can I have the marriage annulled without a lot of publicity?—REGRETS

ABBY

* * * *

DEAR REGRETS: The next time you see your "husband" tell him honestly how you feel about the marriage. Talk it over with your parents. If you feel that the marriage was a mistake, better to have a quiet annulment now than a noisy divorce later, perhaps involving children.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I am the broken-hearted grandmother of a precious 13-month-old boy. He is the child of our only daughter, who was married nine years before she had this adorable baby.

We are allowed to visit only once a week. When Teddy sees us, he stretches out his little arms to be held, but my daughter says, "No, no, Teddy!" He starts to cry, begging to be picked up, but his mother ignores him and lets him cry because the book says so. She says she isn't going to have a "spoiled brat" on her hands. This bothers me so much I wonder if we shouldn't stay away and try to forget her and her baby?—ONCE-A-WEEK GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: I don't know by which "book" your daughter is attempting to raise her child, but she should discard it in favor of some old-fashioned common sense. A baby needs to be held, and cuddled, to feel secure and loved. No grandmother can "forget" her own daughter and grandchild. Keep visiting and abide by her rules. She'll grow up in time.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I have two teen-aged sons. Every night after school I have GIRLS in my hair. If they don't come home with my boys, they come later by themselves. They hang around and don't know enough to go home. I have work lined up for my boys to do, but they never get around to it because the girls are here bothering them. I try to be polite and I don't want to embarrass my boys, but I would like to keep these nervy girls out of my house. I thought boys went to the girls' houses if they wanted to see them. Have times changed?—MOTHER OF BOYS

* * * *

DEAR MOTHER: No, times have not changed. Nervy girls have always gone to boys' houses. But boys who don't want them there know how to discourage them. Don't blame the girls. Apparently your boys have made made them feel welcome.

High-Pressured Life Rated Low by Maria

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of articles on the foreign exchange students studying at Long Beach high schools under auspices of the American Field Service.)

By MARY NETH

Flying up from Rio lands you in an unromantic world of tension and worry.

At least, that's how it seems to Maria Teresa Figueria de Mello, a dark-haired Latin miss, who's getting her first glimpse of the U.S. from behind a text book at Millikan High.

"I don't understand what you Americans do with your time," she says. "You have none for leisure—only for worry. Here it's rush, rush, rush."

An exchange student studying on an American Field Service international scholarship, pretty Maria professes to be pretty puzzled about the whys of our fast-paced existence.

As she sees it, life in Rio de Janeiro not only offers more leisure, but more comfort.

And for some, such as her family, it also offers maids to tidy up the house, do the shopping, cook the meals and tend to the children.

Which might explain, in part, the more relaxed attitude there—but, according to Maria, not entirely.

"IN BRAZIL there is always tomorrow. Here everything has to be done immediately; issues have to be settled in split seconds. "And the laws—you have so many. Laws for walking, driving, smoking, drinking, going out, staying in—everything. It's not so at home."

Home? For Maria, it's a modern spacious five-bedroom apartment on the outskirts of Brazil's former capital.

There, the household includes her father, a lawyer; mother, vice president of Brazil's Girl Scouts; three brothers, ages 21, 16 and 15 ("who are sometimes very annoying") and the family's two maids.

A TRUE CARIOCA (native of the city), Maria may find living here too rushed, but she's hardly an advocate of the sit-and-knit school.

"Life in Rio is very gay," she says, "There's always something doing."

And when things are 'doing,' Maria, as vivacious a teen as one could find anywhere, is certain to be in the midst of it.

LARGEST NATION in South America; climate mild; language Portuguese; capital, two-year-old Brasilia.

In fact, her bubbling enthusiasm earned her the nickname of Pipoca (popcorn) at the age of two. "I always was jumping about," she says. "Today, I'm the only Miss Popcorn in Rio—much to the despair of mother, who thinks the name rather undignified."

But partying with Rio's younger country and yacht club sets isn't all Maria has on her mind.

A PRODUCT of "Our Lady of Science" parochial school, she takes her studies seriously. To date she speaks not only her native Portuguese but also fluent English, French and Spanish.

Before coming to Long Beach, Maria was well on her way to earning a diploma in child care. Now, since she'll be behind her classmates on her return, she's not sure she'll continue.

"I may take special courses in art and language at the French Embassy, instead, she says, "and spend the rest of my time helping mother work with the Girl Scouts and the poor.

"There are a great number of poor in my country," she explains. "There is practically no middle class."

WHAT IS Maria's main goal in life? "In Brazil few women enter professions as they do here. They usually work as teachers or secretaries, just until they are married—and I do plan on being married," she adds.

As to the schools in Long Beach, Maria thinks they are wonderful. She likes the modern facilities, the sports, the clubs—"everything but walking in the rain from classroom to classroom."

AS A GUEST of the Lyman K. Petersons of 2619 Ostrom Ave., Maria has found her northern neighbors a warm and friendly people.

However, she still believes Brazil "is the best place to live. The people are friendly here, but even more so in Rio," she contends.

Other Brazilian things she finds to boast about. The beaches, whiter sand, warmer waters; the food, more meals (four a day) with emphasis on European cuisine plus spicy native specialties; gayer night life and more general interest in other cultures and peoples.

"AMERICANS know all about Berlin and communism," says Maria, "but they are very poorly informed about the events in smaller countries—or even the life there.

"Few knew that my native language was Portuguese, for example, and no one has seemed to realize that both Rio and Brazil's new capital of Brasilia are as up-to-date (or more so) as anything here.

"There are many Americans among the foreign settlers in Brazil," Maria continues. "There, like here, it's the big hurry, the rush, rush, rush."

The result: Mr. American in Brazil sometimes is too busy for courtesy and according to Maria, this lack of manners often sets him apart.

"But we like Americans very much—once we understand them," she concludes.

Classroom Is Crossroad

Eakin had been graduated from Pomona College and held a lifetime teaching credential, though she had never taught. She maintained a lively interest in Spanish, French, Italian, Latin and German.

Almost immediately she was employed by a top-ranking private school where she taught Spanish, Latin and German.

Later, she taught at Polytechnic High School and instructed German classes at Long Beach City College. In September, 1951, she went to West Adult Center.

* * * *

"MANY of the students have just come to this country as brides of men in military service. Some are grandmothers who have lived here for many years, but until their grandchildren wanted them to speak English they weren't motivated to learn. There are husbands and wives and men in all occupations. They range in age from young adults to persons in their 70s. Most are studying for citizenship.

"I learned more than my students did. They taught me about their customs and countries."

* * * *

SHE SPOKE of their courage with pride.

Of the white-haired woman from Holland who, in six years here, obtained her citizenship, earned a college degree and nursing credential. Of the young widow from Bolivia with four children struggling to pass the state board examinations in cosmetology. Of the young surgeon from Madrid who had two months to learn English so that he could intern at a Long Beach hospital—"he qualified and did brilliant work."

A German pharmacist, graduate of the University of Prague, fled here from Poland after World War II. For 28 months he had hid from the Nazis, living in the forest, existing on berries, nuts, fish and small animals he could trap. When he first arrived, he worked in a furniture factory until he learned English, won his citizenship and could resume his profession. Now he heads the pharmacy at a local hospital.

* * * *

DURING 1956 Mrs. Eakin had 28 Hungarian refugees in one class. All passed their citizenship requirements and have gone on to work in various areas.

"It's hard for us to realize what a difficult language English is," said the instructor.

"For instance, 'this' is a jawbreaker for most foreigners. 'Have' and 'has' gives trouble; so do 'does' and 'was'. I insisted that students use complete sentences. When I asked 'Where were you born?' they learned to answer 'I was born . . .', not 'I born . . .'. When I got that over to a whole class it was a triumph."

Mrs. Eakin built her instruction on experiences of her students, asking them to trace the route by which they came to the United States, to tell about their families, their vacations. Later, questions were based on their answers.

* * * *

"A TEACHER must never embarrass a student, nor let him grope too long for an answer, nor feel inferior.

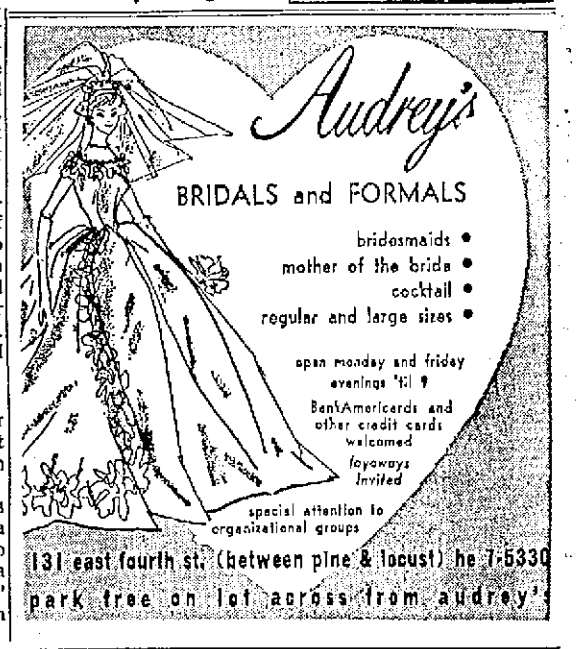

"We laughed at ourselves together. When I made a mistake, I was quick to acknowledge it: 'That's a red mark for the teacher.' We all tried to help each other."

Although her public school teaching has ended, Mrs. Eakin will continue her private classes for children and tutoring. "So many people ask for assistance. If I can help them I will."

And she's thinking of returning to West Adult Center. To study Portuguese.

WITH ROUSING "Star Spangled Fashions" theme, Downtown Long Beach Associates will present lavish Red Cross benefit at Municipal Auditorium March 6. To play-up patriotic motif—and to spoof well-dressed civilian Alan Gordon (left)—models Suzanne Van Dyke and Sandra Janich give wooden soldier a whirl.

'I'm So Lucky I Could Teach!'

By ELISE EMERY

"I've been so lucky, so fortunate they'd let me teach!" said Mrs. Ella Eakin.

"I don't know how we will get along without her. She's irreplaceable. She's contributed so much to our program of teaching English to the foreign-born," said Siegfried C. Ringwald, dean at West Adult Center for Long Beach City College's General Adult Division.

Tall, slender, stately, Mrs. Eakin radiates warmth, kindliness, humility and gentle humor.

In her sunny apartment at 3348 E. First St., she recalled the years of teaching which ended with her retirement a few weeks ago.

Into her classroom have streamed hopeful Europeans, Orientals, Latin Americans, Asians.

• • • •

OFTEN, in one class, 20 to 30 nationalities were represented. Some had been highly educated in their own countries; others had little training. All were eager to learn our language.

"There was always a happy atmosphere in class; each was eager to help the other. Even when they couldn't speak the same language I'd find Japanese helping Mexicans, Indonesians working with French, Italians and Germans somehow communicating."

When Mrs. Eakin's husband, Joseph, died in 1943 she decided to go to work for the first time. One son, Jim, was in military service; the other, Bob, was in optometry school, and she had time on her hands.

• • • •

HER FRIENDS tried to dissuade her. "They told me a middle-aged woman with white hair couldn't get a job."

Before her marriage, Mrs. (Continued on W-2, Col. 5)

WHEN SHE RETIRED recently, Mrs. Ella Eakin was honored at a surprise party given by fellow teachers at West Adult Center, praised by leading Long Beach educators, showered with best wishes from students. Vase was the gift of her Japanese pupils who have been studying in her English classes.

Big Names Spark Style Extravaganza

Five elaborately staged scenes—each devoted to a distinctive facet of new fashions and all laced together with a variety of top notch professional stage acts—will be presented here March 6 to benefit the Red Cross.

The show, being sponsored by Downtown Long Beach Associates for the 10th year, is the major benefit of this area for the fund drive and will take place at Municipal Auditorium.

Promising a fast paced production, sponsoring merchants have secured vocalist Jaye P. Morgan to top the evening's headline acts.

Backing up the singing star as well as the entire show will be Russ Morgan and his band. "Music in the Morgan Manner" has gained fame on television and recordings.

Joining the cast again this year will be popular little Evelyn Rudie, only child actress to win an Emmy award, who will not only model but will play piano and tap dance.

BACKBONE OF the show will be the dazzling parade of 101 women's, men's and children's fashions selected for showing from 22 leading downtown stores. A 65 foot runway extending from the big stage into the heart of the auditorium will give everyone in the audience a true vantage point for viewing.

Commentating for the fourth year will be well known fashion coordinator John Hersey. Forty of this area's top models will show the clothing and accessories in settings with an imaginative patriotic motif, geared to the theme, "Star Spangled Fashions."

To date, DLBA has given over $54,000 to the local Red Cross as a result of these "fun and fashion festivals." During the performance a check representing all ticket receipts of the night will be presented to Mmes. Tess Heusel and Lloyd Mallin, Red Cross drive officials, by George Trammel, president of the associates.

Money from this year's show will be given for the specific purpose of buying three special station wagons to be used to transport blood plasma and other supplies to the 16 hospitals served in this area.

TICKETS TO the event may be obtained at DLBA offices, 601 Pacific Ave., Monday through Friday from 8:45 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.; Saturday from 9:30 a. m. until noon. Telephone information may be obtained by dialing the letters H-E-L-P-E-R-S. Free parking is available at Victoria Auto Park, 135 W. 6th St.

Other locations where tickets now are available are first floor accommodation desks at both Buffums' and Walker's and, beginning Tuesday, they will be on sale at Municipal Auditorium.

Participating stores are Buffums', Barnett's Bootery, Hartfield's, Bundy's, Career Girl, Columbia, Desmonds, Economy Dress Shop, Gene's Smart Shop, Jo Kaye's, C. C. Lewis Jewelry, Lockwood Furs, Long Beach Uniform, Normandie Hats, J. C. Penney's, Schick's, Sears, Walker's, Wonder Shops, Young Maternity, Grayson's, Merle Norman Cosmetics.

Newest hair styles, courtesy of Gladys Morgan, will be worn by feminine models.

As the committee points out, ticket purchasers not only will enjoy an exciting show but will be making a direct contribution to the Red Cross as well.

Ifida Club Has Many Members

There used to be a group in Seattle called the "Ifida Club."

Membership was open to any bridge player who would say "If I'da played such-an-such I'da beaten (or made) the hand."

South allowed West's jack of clubs to hold the first trick. He won the club continuation with the ace in dummy, ruffed the queen of clubs, played a couple of rounds of trumps stopping in dummy, led the ten of spades and let it ride to West's queen.

At this point West was dead. A diamond lead would make South's king good while a spade lead would allow South to discard one of dummy's diamonds.

WHAT about the Ifida club?

East promptly qualified for membership. Before anyone else could speak he said, "If I'da played the king of clubs at trick one and led the jack of diamonds I'da beaten the hand."

East was right, but that really would have been an amazing defensive play. Not only would he have to know about the club situation, but he also would have had to be clairvoyant enough to lead a diamond, not a spade.

WITH DARK HAIR done in flip and guitar in hand, Maria Teresa Figueira de Mello entertains her American "family" with songs from Rio. Brazilian beauty, here on AFS program, says, "When teens at home gather everyone sings and dances."

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Wishes She Had No Secrets

DEAR ABBY: I am going to school away from home. During the holiday vacation my boy friend (back home) and I were secretly married. No one knows it. I live in a dorm and my friends keep trying to get me to go out, but so far I have refused. I can't tell them I am married, and I can't think of any good reasons to give when I refuse to go to parties and date. I can see now that my marriage was foolish and I wish that we had waited. Now I'm not even sure I love him. I find myself wanting to date. How can I have the marriage annulled without a lot of publicity?—REGRETS

• • • •

DEAR REGRETS: The next time you see your "husband" tell him honestly how you feel about the marriage. Talk it over with your parents. If you feel that the marriage was a mistake, better to have a quiet annulment now than a noisy divorce later, perhaps involving children.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am the broken-hearted grandmother of a precious 13-month-old boy. He is the child of our only daughter, who was married nine years before she had this adorable baby.

We are allowed to visit only once a week. When Teddy sees us, he stretches out his little arms to be held, but my daughter says, "No, no, Teddy!" He starts to cry, begging to be picked up, but his mother ignores him and lets him cry because the book says so. She says she isn't going to have a "spoiled brat" on her hands. This bothers me so much I wonder if we shouldn't stay away and try to forget her and her baby?—ONCE-A-WEEK GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: I don't know by which "book" your daughter is attempting to raise her child, but she should discard it in favor of some old-fashioned common sense. A baby needs to be held, and cuddled, to feel secure and loved. No grandmother can "forget" her own daughter and grandchild. Keep visiting and abide by her rules. She'll grow up in time.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I have two teen-aged sons. Every night after school I have GIRLS in my hair. If they don't come home with my boys, they come later by themselves. They hang around and don't know enough to go home. I have work lined up for my boys to do, but they never get around to it because the girls are here bothering them. I try to be polite and I don't want to embarrass my boys, but I would like to keep these nervy girls out of my house. I thought boys went to the girls' houses if they wanted to see them. Have times changed?—MOTHER OF BOYS

• • • •

DEAR MOTHER: No, times have not changed. Nervy girls have always gone to boys' houses. But boys who don't want them there know how to discourage them. Don't blame the girls. Apparently your boys have made made them feel welcome.

High-Pressured Life Rated Low by Maria

Classroom Is Crossroad

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of articles on the foreign exchange students studying at Long Beach high schools under auspices of the American Field Service.)

By MARY NETH

Flying up from Rio lands you in an unromantic world of tension and worry.

At least, that's how it seems to Maria Teresa Figueria de Mello, a dark-haired Latin miss, who's getting her first glimpse of the U.S. from behind a text book at Millikan High.

"I don't understand what you Americans do with your time," she says. "You have none for leisure—only for worry. Here it's rush, rush, rush."

An exchange student studying on an American Field Service international scholarship, pretty Maria professes to be pretty puzzled about the whys of our fast-paced existence.

Jewish Welfare Drive to Open Thursday

PLANNING "KICK-OFF" for Long Beach United Jewish Welfare Fund Campaign for '62, are Women's Division members (left), Mrs. Norman H. Gottlieb and Mrs. Raymond S. Carl. First of series, event will be luncheon in Lakewood Country Club Thursday noon. Money is used for local, national and over-seas programs.

Long Beach Women's Division, United Jewish Welfare, will open its annual fund campaign with an advance gifts division luncheon Thursday noon in Lakewood Country Club.

The women's division plans to raise $35,000 for the fund. Goal of the entire Long Beach group is $275,000.

Locally, money is used for The Jewish Family Service, Education Committee, Community Center Building Fund and the Community Center where a full program of activities is provided for children and adults.

* * * *

HEADING THE Women's Division campaign this year is Mrs. Norman Gottlieb, who, though young in years, is no novice in community service or leadership posts.

She has held positions of responsibility and trust dating from her Wilson High days, her years at UCLA (where she was recognized for outstanding service and scholastic achievements), to her most recent offices as chairman of Eldorado Park Nursery and chairman of Pan American Park Co-op Nursery.

She also has served as one of the top leaders in the Community Chest and as an active member of Symphony Juniors.

Serving with Mrs. Gottlieb are Mmes. Raymond Carl and Max Schleimer, co-chairmen and, Mrs. Charles Savitz, honorary chairman of Long Beach Women's Division, Jewish Community Federation.

Mmes. Max Siegel and Maurice Symonds are chairmen of the luncheon. Several hundred women will be involved in the intensive six-week campaign to be climaxed with a victory celebration in mid-April.

Mail Better Letter Know He Loves Her

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I have boy friend trouble. I've been going with this boy steady, and have his ring, for a year now. He is in the service and stationed several thousand miles from here. He was home for Christmas and that was the first time I'd seen him in quite a few months.

Now, Molly, he says he loves me and wants to marry me, BUT, he hardly ever writes to me. I write to him quite a lot, and it sure hurts only to get an occasional, and I mean occasional, letter from him.

Wouldn't you think if he were sincere and all he'd write? After all, I'm sitting here waiting for him, aren't I?

Do you have any suggestions?

—DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE:

A couple of years ago I remember having a letter from a gal with the same problem.

At the time I suggested to her that she write to him and tell him that she'd answer any and all letters from him, but would only ANSWER.

She wrote me later and said the plan had worked admirably. You might try it.

Recently a young woman wrote in with the same complaint and she said she had solved her own problem by sending her beau self-address, stamped envelopes, and writing paper to boot. She said it took just this little push to get her boy friend to take pen in hand.

—M.M.

* * * *

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I read the letter written by the 19-year-old girl concerning being intimate with her boy friend because nothing bad came of it, even when her friends got pregnant and had to get married.

Nothing is farther from the truth. It may appear that way on the surface, but there's a difference. The guy never lets you forget it, no matter if he does love you.

I don't care how modern times get or how worldly a couple is, that's one thing that stays old-fashioned with a guy. He wants the gal he married clean and untouched even by him until marriage. He may not admit it, but it does take something away from the relationship.

Now I have three girls to impress this on a few years from now, God help me!

—OLD-FASHIONED

Scorch Remedy—If the scorch is not too bad, simply dampen the affected area with a dilute solution of peroxide and place in the hot sun for about ten minutes. It may not always work, but it's worth a try.
Rotate Those Drapes—Draperies that have constantly been exposed to the sun's rays can simply disintegrate during cleaning. You can't keep the sun away, but you can help by rotating them from sunny windows to those with less exposure. And frequent cleaning is important, too. Imbedded soil from screens and window sills can cause permanent discoloration.

WILD WAVES SAY . . .

By Iola Masterson • I, P-T Women's Editor

THIS JUST doesn't seem to be the year for sitting by the old fireside for Lois and Gen. Ward Maris (USA-Ret.).

Not long ago they returned from a four-month pleasure tour of the Pacific and reopened their apartment at the Villa Riviera with nothing in view but a view and relaxation.

Then along comes Uncle Sam, in the person of Secretary of Defense McNamara, with a message.

Uncle would be pleased to have Ward in Washington for a special assignment. He'll be among a select few who will work on a survey in connection with the NATO Ministers meeting in Paris next May.

So . . . Sam being such a favorite and all, they'll close the apartment again, this time to be gone until May or June.

MEXICO'S CRUISE ship, Acapulco, may not be the spitting image of the S.S. United States but, by golly, we're glad to report that it is a fun ship from the word bon voyage.

First hand comes the information from the Long Beach Yacht Club crowd who returned last weekend from the ship's second round trip since going into service on the Acapulco run. Great service, wonderful food, they said.

Sail-mates were Caroline and Bill Hardcastle, Helen and Jonah Jones, La Nelle and Ray Fosholdt, Marge and Hal Halverson, Rhea Pigott, Cecelia Stathis, Margaret and Frank Mansuy, Betty and "Dutch" Crutchfeld and Vivian and Frank Hill.

* * * *

THE DIFFERENCE between orbiting the earth three times or crossing the street once is that the former was safer for John than the latter was for Tess Heusel.

Whilst making a routine passage of Ocean Blvd., Tess was go and so was a truck, trouble being they were on a collision course. But she was lucky, at that. Although thrown through the air about 10 feet by the impact the only thing she apparently suffered was a bad pavement burn on her arm and a badly out of joint dignity.

THE DINNER was American—the conversation very continental when Artie and Al Stevenson entertained some very distinguished guests at dinner in their home.

Present were Queen Nazli of Egypt, her daughter, Princess Fathia, the Princess' husband, Riad Ghali, and his mother Mrs. B. Ghali, Harriet and Glenn ("Mr. Outside" of West Point All American fame) Davis.

Localites hidden to the delectable evening were Emily and John Cottrell, Mildred and Kenneth Wing, Henry and Frances Clock and Helen and Dudley Hughes. Ethel Severson assisted her parents.

THERE IS nothing more visually effective than a roomful of smart young collegians all dressed up. That's why it's a good guess that Pacific Coast Club was the most attractive spot in town Saturday.

Reason: Mrs. Russell (Kay Stevens) Griffin entertained for her daughter, Rosalie, who was presented at the recent L. A. Athletic Club's debutante ball, and for her son, Ronald, president of Hammurabi at LBCC.

Guests, about 65 in all, included Rosalie's sister debs, many of Ron's fraternity brothers and, hit of the evening, USC midshipmen students in full dress uniform, to escort the debutantes.

Among the guests were the honorees dates, Wayne Holmes and Vicki Cowan, Patti Ross, Donna Kelly, Donna Gilcrease, (also a deb) Bob Brooks, Susan Merrick, Gary Shelton and Jim Orluck.

WOTTA CHANCE to be a ham but H. Milton Van Dyke II missed it. Nine-month-old Mike (his best friends call him that) took a casual look around then promptly fell asleep in grandad, Dr. Milt's arms, during his and sister, Alexis' formal christening ceremony last week.

Dee and "Ike" Van Dyke asked Sallie and Dick De Golia to serve as godparents for their daughter and Nancy and "Nonnie" Hertzog, with Dr. Milt, to do the honors for The Snoozer.

Malletts to Mark 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. H. Aldine Mallett will be honored today at an open house in their home, 3739 Gardenia Ave., marking their 50th wedding anniversary.

Hosts will be the couple's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mallett of Bellflower, and daughter, Helen Duncan. The Malletts have five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

They were married Feb. 28, 1912, in Houston, Tex. and resided in Texhoma, Okla. until 1921 when they moved to California. They have lived in Long Beach for 40 years. Mallett was in the produce and grocery business in North Long Beach and later operated a motel. The couple retired in 1958.

Dancers to Gain Trophies

Aspiring young terpsichoreans will vie for trophies here Friday and Saturday.

The contest will take place at Fine Arts Center, 3720 Long Beach Blvd., when five of Southland's top dance experts judge style and ability of more than 250 teenage dancers.

All advanced members of invitational dance clubs headquartered at Fine Arts Center, the students will go through their paces in waltz, foxtrot, swing, Latin and international style ballroom dancing.

Judges will be dance directors Dorothy Jo Swanson, Corona del Mar; John March, affiliate director, California Star Ball; Laure Haile, television personality, Beverly Hills; Jayne Unander, Los Angeles, and Al Neilson, Ventura.

DANCERS passing the rigid examinations will be awarded trophies at the seventh annual Grand Medal Ball, Long Beach Municipal Auditorium March 31.

IT'S ALL IN BLACK AND WHITE

--When Symphony Juniors Entertain

ORIENT-INSPIRED decorations and striking costumes of lady guests will set the pace Saturday evening when Symphony Juniors stages its second Black and White Ball in Petroleum Club. Examples of black and white attire to be seen at fashionable event here are worn by Symphony Junior members (from left) Mmes. John C. McNulty, Harry E. Landis, Lew H. Mahieu, Wallace D. Arntzen and Edward A. Killingsworth.

Costumes and decor both will be in keeping Saturday evening when Symphony Juniors of the Long Beach Auxiliary of Southern California Symphony Association sponsors its second Black and White Ball at Petroleum Club.

Mrs. Harry Landis is chairman of the elegant black tie affair to which ladies will wear either black or white cocktail attire.

The ballroom also will be decorated entirely in black and white, following an oriental theme. Mrs. John McNulty, assisted by Mrs. Raymond Hill and Mrs. John Sewak, is in charge of decor.

Guests will enter Petroleum Club across a Japanese footbridge set into a simulated garden. Hanging lanterns will add to the oriental atmosphere and tables will be decorated with lotus bowls and porcelain Kwan-Knon figurines. Shoji screens will provide an appropriate background for James Whetmore and his Studio Orchestra as they play for dining and dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

* * * *

MRS. LEW Mahieu, president, and members of her executive board will welcome guests to a no-host cocktail party at the club from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Mrs. C. Waldron Simmons and Mrs. Jon Booth are in charge of reservations and invitations are being handled by Mrs. Leroy P. Carlisle. She will be assisted by Mmes. Russell Peterson, Robert Olson, Alfred Munson, William Lebold, Cecil Evans and George Williams.

Helping with decorations are Mmes. Robert Hailey, James Epperson, Mary Handley, William Snowden, Donald Ewing, Bruce Belisle, Courtney Trostle, Robert Guyette and Miss Nancy Hipp.

Candles Illumine Belmont Wedding

Nuptial vows uniting Marlene Sue Marshall and Howard L. Pace were solemnized before 450 guests in a recent candlelighted ceremony at Belmont Heights Methodist Church.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Marshall, 5480 La Pasada,

Mrs. Howard Pace

and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Pace, 16 Corinthian Walk.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie appliqued with lace. A seed pearl crown held her bouffant veil of French illusion and she carried white orchids with roses and stephanotis.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Darlene Cox, was matron of honor, and Mary Lou Carnahan, Mary Guerre, Joan Lindsey and Sandra Zieger were bridesmaids. Their gowns were of sapphire blue satin. Completing the wedding party were Gerald Beaudoin, best man; Harvey Peterson, Robert Bradshaw, Edward Hoeven and Darrel Stone, ushers; Stephanie Pace and Christine Meinecke, candle lighters.

Both young persons were graduated from Wilson High School with the bride continuing studies at St. Vincent's College of Nursing. She is a member of California Nurses Association. Her husband was recently discharged from the U. S. Army.

Letter to a Bride

Dear Bride-to-be:

Choosing a Wedding Gown is more than selecting a beautiful design and fabric. A wedding gown is a precious thing that symbolizes the most important day of your life.

Beautiful Brides are traditional with Schick's, and our wish is to help you find the perfect gown that will enhance your own lovely personality.

Woven into the fabric of a wedding gown are magic strands of happiness . . . tradition . . . enduring beauty and the little niceties that add grace to living. At Schick's, we believe in these intrinsic values and in the old fashioned ideal of storekeeping — serving everyone with pride and interest.

Our wise counselors will advise you with your trousseau, to make every day of your honeymoon trip perfect. In our Bridal Salon we've a new crop of bridesmaids' dresses in flower garden colors. Come and see them!

And for each Schick's Bride we have a silver cake knife engraved with the initials of the bride and groom, with the compliments of

Grace Schick

THERE IS nothing more visually effective than a roomful of smart young collegians all dressed up. That's why it's a good guess that Pacific Coast Club was the most attractive spot in town Saturday.

Reason: Mrs. Russell (Kay Stevens) Griffin entertained for her daughter, Rosalie, who was presented at the recent L. A. Athletic Club's debutante ball, and for her son, Ronald, president of Hammurabi at LBCC.

Guests, about 65 in all, included Rosalie's sister debs, many of Ron's fraternity brothers and, hit of the evening, USC midshipmen students in full dress uniform, to escort the debutantes.

Among the guests were the honorees dates, Wayne Holmes and Vicki Cowan, Patti Ross, Donna Kelly, Donna Gilcrease, (also a deb) Bob Brooks, Susan Merrick, Gary Shelton and Jim Orluck.

HAVE A heart you stragglers! Like, phone your reservations in pronto for the Women's Heart League tea taking place Tuesday at Betsy and George Taubman's gorgeous hunk of home.

For the smart affair, a Heart Fund benefit, pity (and thank) Agnes Howell and her food committee. They won't start making any of the hundreds of fancy sandwiches, other delicious concoctions until early Tuesday morning. Early? Say about the crack of dawn. That way they'll be kitchen fresh for the 2 to 5 o'clock party.

Make up a couple of extra goodies for me, gals. There. See how easy it is to get your reservations in?

WOTTA CHANCE to be a ham but H. Milton Van Dyke II missed it. Nine-month-old Mike (his best friends call him that) took a casual look around then promptly fell asleep in grandad, Dr. Milt's arms, during his and sister, Alexis' formal christening ceremony last week.

Dee and "Ike" Van Dyke asked Sallie and Dick De Golia to serve as godparents for their daughter and Nancy and "Nonnie" Hertzog, with Dr. Milt, to do the honors for The Snoozer.

IT'S ALL IN BLACK AND WHITE

--When Symphony Juniors Entertain

ORIENT-INSPIRED decorations and striking costumes of lady guests will set the pace Saturday evening when Symphony Juniors stages its second Black and White Ball in Petroleum Club. Examples of black and white attire to be seen at fashionable event here are worn by Symphony Junior members (from left) Mmes. John C. McNulty, Harry E. Landis, Lew H. Mahieu, Wallace D. Arntzen and Edward A. Killingsworth.

Costumes and decor both will be in keeping Saturday evening when Symphony Juniors of the Long Beach Auxiliary of Southern California Symphony Association sponsors its second Black and White Ball at Petroleum Club.

Mrs. Harry Landis is chairman of the elegant black tie affair to which ladies will wear either black or white cocktail attire.

The ballroom also will be decorated entirely in black and white, following an oriental theme. Mrs. John McNulty, assisted by Mrs. Raymond Hill and Mrs. John Sewak, is in charge of decor.

Guests will enter Petroleum Club across a Japanese footbridge set into a simulated garden. Hanging lanterns will add to the oriental atmosphere and tables will be decorated with lotus bowls and porcelain Kwan-Knon figurines. Shoji screens will provide an appropriate background for James Whetmore and his Studio Orchestra as they play for dining and dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

• • • •

MRS. LEW Maheiu, president, and members of her executive board will welcome guests to a no-host cocktail party at the club from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Mrs. C. Waldron Simmons and Mrs. Jon Booth are in charge of reservations and invitations are being handled by Mrs. Leroy P. Carlisle. She will be assisted by Mmes. Russell Peterson, Robert Olson, Alfred Munson, William Lebold, Cecil Evans and George Williams.

Helping with decorations are Mmes. Robert Hailey, James Epperson, Mary Handley, William Snowden, Donald Ewing, Bruce Belisle, Courtney Trostle, Robert Guyette and Miss Nancy Hipp.

Candles Illumine Belmont Wedding

Nuptial vows uniting Marlene Sue Marshall and Howard L. Pace were solemnized before 450 guests in a recent candlelighted ceremony at Belmont Heights Methodist Church.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Marshall, 5480 La Pasada,

Mrs. Howard Pace

and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Pace, 16 Corinthian Walk.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie appliqued with lace. A seed pearl crown held her bouffant veil of French illusion and she carried white orchids with roses and stephanotis.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Darlene Cox, was matron of honor, and Mary Lou Carnahan, Mary Guerre, Joan Lindsey and Sandra Zieger were bridesmaids. Their gowns were of sapphire blue satin. Completing the wedding party were Gerald Beaudoin, best man; Harvey Peterson, Robert Bradshaw, Edward Hoeven and Darrel Stone, ushers; Stephanie Pace and Christine Meinecke, candle lighters.

Both young persons were graduated from Wilson High School with the bride continuing studies at St. Vincent's College of Nursing. She is a member of California Nurses Association. Her husband was recently discharged from the U. S. Army.

Dancers to Gain Trophies

Aspiring young terpischoreans will vie for trophies here Friday and Saturday.

The contest will take place at Fine Arts Center, 3720 Long Beach Blvd., when five of Southland's top dance experts judge style and ability of more than 250 teenage dancers.

All advanced members of invitational dance clubs headquartered at Fine Arts Center, the students will go through their paces in waltz, foxtrot, swing, Latin and international style ballroom dancing.

Judges will be dance directors Dorothy Jo Swanson, Corona del Mar; John March, affiliate director, California Star Ball; Laure Haile, television personality, Beverly Hills; Jayne Unander, Los Angeles, and Al Neilson, Ventura.

• • • •

DANCERS passing the rigid examinations will be awarded trophies at the seventh annual Grand Medal Ball, Long Beach Municipal Auditorium March 31.

Letter to a Bride

Dear Bride-to-be:

Choosing a Wedding Gown is more than selecting a beautiful design and fabric. A wedding gown is a precious thing that symbolizes the most important day of your life.

Beautiful Brides are traditional with Schick's, and our wish is to help you find the perfect gown that will enhance your own lovely personality.

Woven into the fabric of a wedding gown are magic strands of happiness . . . tradition . . . enduring beauty and the little niceties that add grace to living. At Schick's, we believe in these intrinsic values and in the old fashioned ideal of storekeeping — serving everyone with pride and interest.

Our wise counselors will advise you with your trousseau, to make every day of your honeymoon trip perfect. In our Bridal Salon we've a new crop of bridesmaids' dresses in flower garden colors. Come and see them!

And for each Schick's Bride we have a silver cake knife engraved with the initials of the bride and groom, with the compliments of

Grace Schick

BEST-DRESSED coed Marilyn Morgan, proving not all figures are in arithmetic books, minimizes 5-feet-11 height with contrasting separates, and full, easy-hanging skirts.

BEST-DRESSED COED TAKES STUDIED VIEW

Her Fashion Major: Separates

By MARY ELLIS
I, P-T Fashion Editor

To rate honors as a best-dressed coed, one doesn't have to major in higher fashionology.

Instead, the requisites are good taste, fastidiousness, freshness, individuality—most often reflected in the shine of a shoe, of a coiffure, of an inner spirit.

Like in the case of clothes-wise Marilyn Morgan, voted best-dressed coed at Long Beach City College in a for-Glamour-Magazine contest sponsored by the campus newspaper, The Viking.

* * * *

THIS RAVEN-HARIED, reed slim coed has her own formula for looking smart in the classroom. She takes a studied look at her wardrobe (also herself), then buys go-withs based on a one-season color scheme.

That way she makes simple arithmetic of the separates problem, adding a jumper here, subtracting a blouse there—multiplying wardrobe go-power with just the right items.

The totals? All very smart looks indeed!

And she does it with skirts, sweaters and flats: the college girl's uniform. Not a fad-follower (except, perhaps, for leotards occasionally), she takes fashion in its purest form via the classics.

* * * *

DEPENDING on the time of year, her basic color may be black or brown, red or tan. And what about accents? That depends on the season, too ("I like orange and turquoise in the summer—to complement my tan").

Most important: "I think a girl should dress to her type."

Tall (5-feet-11) and thin, she solves her could-look-too-towering problem with contrasting separates ("I never wear dyed-to-match coordinates") . . . skirts that aren't too short ("I'm definitely not the knee-tickler, short-shorts type") . . . over-sized jewelry and accessories ("small pins get lost on me").

Her pet fashion peeves: things that don't go together, fashion extremes and girls who follow every fad—no matter what their size or shape.

* * * *

DRAMATICALLY brunette with a mannequin figure and All-American grin, her extra-curricular interests run to horses (she owns one), swimming and piano playing.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weckford Morgan, 4142 Greenbrier Road, she's a freshman at LBCC with a major in English.

Her objective: to become an elementary school teacher.

If selected one of Glamour Magazine's 10-best-dressed college coeds, she'll be invited to New York for a close-up view of the fashion world.

Does she want to become a model? "Not particularly," she mused. "That field doesn't offer enough challenge."

LBCC COED Marilyn Morgan, named best-dressed coed on campus, says she takes a studied view of her wardrobe each season before making purchases, develops clothes formula on add-and-subtract, one-color basic plan. She won fashion honors over eight contestants in Glamour Magazine contest sponsored by The Viking, campus newspaper.

Goodwill Auxiliary Looks to the Future

Second in a series of programs designed to "inform, celebrate and anticipate" is planned at 11 a.m. Tuesday by Woman's Auxiliary to Wightman Memorial Goodwill Industries.

According to Mrs. Raesella Klepper, program chairman, the series has been planned to re-educate auxiliary members in the past, present and future of the organization; to celebrate its 60th anniversary; and to look ahead to the national assembly of Goodwill Industries of America, Inc., and its Council of Auxiliaries slated during June in Long Beach.

* * * *

TUESDAY'S meeting at the Goodwill plant, 800 W. Pacific Coast Highway, will feature a talk by Gaylord Hicks, executive secretary of Orange County Goodwill Industries, on "New Horizons in Service."

He will appear at the luncheon which follows the business session.

Francis Merrill, blind musician, choir and choral director, will sing.

Chapter Organized

Delta Lambda Mu will become the sixth chapter of Delphian Society in the Long Beach area when it has its organizational meeting at 10 a.m. Monday at Dana Branch Library.

Delphian aims, according to Mrs. Robert Mansell of Bellflower, field director for Long Beach, are mental stimulation and growth, family happiness, and a strong American republic.

Mrs. Dean Cram Hunter of Los Angeles, regional director of Delphian, will speak. Membership in the discussion and study group is invitational.

Official to Address Alpha Chis

Mrs. Darrell Nordwall of Tustin, past national chairman of the National Panhellenic Conference, will attend a meeting of Alpha Chi Omega alumnae Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. H. A. Petersen, 207 Prospect Ave.

Mmes. Ross McKelvie, Weldon Long, Chalmers Bowers and Miss Mary Whitchurch will assist the hostess.

Twenty members of the Newport-Balboa alumnae chapter will join the Long Beach members to hear Mrs. Nordwall speak on "Alpha Chi Omega in the Fraternity World Today."

Invite Public

Woman's Relief Corps, Auxiliary to GAR, will sponsor a noon luncheon and card party Tuesday in Veterans Memorial Building. The public is welcome.

Luncheon Set

Good Sports Club will sponsor noon luncheon and card party Monday in Garden Room, Alamitos Avenue and Third Street.

Brethren Rite Joins Lewis, Dunbar Names

Mrs. Robert Lewis

Two long-time Long Beach families were joined recently with the marriage in First Church of the Brethren of Linda Ruth Dunbar and Robert Towner Lewis.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Dunbar, 4115 Pine Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lewis, 787 Salida Ave.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie and Chantilly lace with seed pearls etching. Her fingertip length veil was caught to a crown of seed pearls and she carried a shower bouquet centered by butterfly orchids.

Bridal attendants were Dorothy Beitz, maid of honor, Rhodean Damm, Mary Jeralds, Peggy Smith and Mrs. James Wood, bridesmaids; Kimberly Mahanna, flower girl; and Patrick Fox, ring bearer.

The bridegroom asked Gregory Lewis to serve as his best man and the 450 wedding guests were seated by William McMurray, Gary Eldred, Richard Smith, Roger Albers, James Dunbar, David Dunbar and Thomas Dunbar.

* * * *

THE CHURCH reception was followed by a later reception at the home of the bride's parents. The newlyweds honeymooned at Warner Hot Springs and are at home this week in Redondo Beach.

The new Mrs. Lewis was graduated from Polytechnic High School where she was recipient of a Gold L. She completed her education at UCLA and served as vice president of Delta Zeta.

Her husband received his schooling at Wilson High, and Long Beach City and State Colleges, serving as captain of the golf teams at each school.

Share Grandparents' Date

Lee Jacqueline Read, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark Read, Long Beach, became the bride of Lt. Arthur Joseph Aparicio Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Joseph Aparicio, Menlo Park, at a recent ceremony in Belmont Heights Methodist Church.

The new Mrs. Aparicio Jr. wore a gown of ivory satin and carried a bouquet of pale pink flowers for the ceremony. She was attended by Lynne Read, her twin, as maid of honor, and Claire Wheeler, Margaret Ghormley and Patricia Preston as bridesmaids.

Mrs. Arthur Aparicio Jr.

A graduate of Wilson High, the bride attended Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, and was graduated from the College of Dental Assisting in San Mateo.

Her wedding marked the 58th anniversary of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hilbert, Long Beach, who, as pioneer residents of the city, came here in 1918. Hilbert was a member of the city's water commission from 1944 to 1950. Her paternal grandparents were the late Rev. and Mrs. William Barnard Read, also of this city.

The bridegroom chose Charles Aparicio, his brother, as best man. Other members of the wedding party were Robin Read, the bride's brother, Kenneth Aparicio, the bridegroom's brother, and Stephen Hilbert, ushers.

APARICIO WAS graduated from San Jose State College in 1960. Then, following graduation from the School of Aeronautical Engineering, he was commissioned in the Air Force. His parents are long-time residents of the Northern Peninsula. His paternal grandparents, the late Arturo and Maria Ferreiro Aparicio, were from Santurce, Puerto Rico. His maternal grandparents, are Mrs. Jean Batiste Giroux and the late Mr. Giroux. Mrs. Giroux, a resident of Verdun, Quebec, Canada, flew here for the ceremony.

Following a reception in their honor at Pacific Coast Club, the newlyweds departed for a honeymoon in Utah and Sun Valley, Idaho.

They will make their home in Great Falls, Mont.

Mr. and Mrs. John Flaig

Anniversary Open House Today Honors John Flaigs

Mr. and Mrs. John Flaig will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary today by holding open house for their friends from 2 to 4 o'clock at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Flaig, 4222 Rose Ave.

They will be assisted by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Mitchell. The pair's eldest son, Wesley, resides in Colorado Springs, Colo., and will be unable to attend.

The Flaigs were married on their homestead near Billings, Mont., and resided there prior to their move to Long Beach in 1926.

WOSL Slates Area Conference

Mrs. Ann Bailey Hahn of Chicago, national president of the Women's Overseas Service League, will attend the WOSL ninth service area conference next weekend at Disneyland Hotel, Anaheim.

Participating from Long Beach will be Mrs. Edmund G. Brady, area membership chairman. Delegates will be in attendance from throughout Southern California and Arizona.

Reception to Fete Newlywed Fishers

Mrs. Charles Dean Fisher, Australian bride of Long Beach's celebrated world-traveler, will be honored at a "Welcome Home Tea" today in Los Altos Methodist Church Lounge.

The welcoming event is being given the couple by Fisher's parents, Dr. and Mrs. William E. Fisher, 6742 El Carmen Ave. The bridegroom's sister, Elizabeth Fisher, Topeka, Kans., will attend.

The newlyweds were married at St. Mary's Anglican Church, Perth, Australia. They arrived in Long Beach on the SS Canberra recently following a ten-day honeymoon at Denmark, a city on the south coast of West Australia.

The bride, the former Laura Mary Weaver, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. W. Weaver, of Riverdale, Beverly, West Australia.

For the wedding ceremony her attendants were Robin Weaver, her sister, and Maureen Cox of Dalkeith. Fisher's traveling companion, Noble Trenham, Los Angeles, was best man.

* * * *

FISHER and Trenham have visited 77 countries on six continents during the past three years. Most of their 85,000 mile global tour was made by custom-built jeep truck.

A graduate of the University of Michigan '54, Fisher holds a B.S. in wild life management. He met Trenham during his three years in the U.S. Navy.

Sylvia Richards Repeats Vows With Robert Bates

Sylvia Richards and Robert M. Bates, both prominent in local real estate circles, exchanged wedding vows in a recent ceremony solemnized in Lakewood Village Community Church.

Mrs. Robert M. Bates

For her wedding the bride chose a pale pink silk shantung suit worn with matching hat. Bobby Norwood was her only attendant.

The bridegroom, 4736 McNab Ave., Lakewood, asked Jim Atkinson to stand with him as best man.

* * * *

THE NEW Mrs. Bates attended Long Beach City College following earlier schooling in Bakersfield. Her husband is a graduate of Montana State University.

Following a honeymoon in Palm Springs the newlyweds will be at home at 3757 Cedar Ave.

Chapter Organized

Delta Lambda Mu will become the sixth chapter of Delphian Society in the Long Beach area when it has its organizational meeting at 10 a.m. Monday at Dana Branch Library.

Delphian aims, according to Mrs. Robert Mansell of Bellflower, field director for Long Beach, are mental stimulation and growth, family happiness, and a strong American republic.

Mrs. Dean Cram Hunter of Los Angeles, regional director of Delphian, will speak. Membership in the discussion and study group is invitational.

Official to Address Alpha Chis

Mrs. Darrell Nordwall of Tustin, past national chairman of the National Panhellenic Conference, will attend a meeting of Alpha Chi Omega alumnae Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. H. A. Petersen, 207 Prospect Ave.

Mmes. Ross McKelvie, Weldon Long, Chalmers Bowers and Miss Mary Whitchurch will assist the hostess.

Twenty members of the Newport-Balboa alumnae chapter will join the Long Beach members to hear Mrs. Nordwall speak on "Alpha Chi Omega in the Fraternity World Today."

Invite Public

Woman's Relief Corps, Auxiliary to GAR, will sponsor a noon luncheon and card party Tuesday in Veterans Memorial Building. The public is welcome.

Luncheon Set

Good Sports Club will sponsor noon luncheon and card party Monday in Garden Room, Alamitos Avenue and Third Street.

Brethren Rite Joins Lewis, Dunbar Names

Mrs. Robert Lewis

Two long-time Long Beach families were joined recently with the marriage in First Church of the Brethren of Linda Ruth Dunbar and Robert Towner Lewis.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Dunbar, 4115 Pine Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Lewis, 787 Salida Ave.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie and Chantilly lace with seed pearls etching. Her fingertip length veil was caught to a crown of seed pearls and she carried a shower bouquet centered by butterfly orchids.

Bridal attendants were Dorothy Beitz, maid of honor, Rhodean Damm, Mary Jearalds, Peggy Smith and Mrs. James Wood, bridesmaids; Kimberly Mahanna, flower girl; and Patrick Fox, ring bearer.

The bridegroom asked Gregory Lewis to serve as his best man and the 450 wedding guests were seated by William McMurray, Gary Eldred, Richard Smith, Roger Albers, James Dunbar, David Dunbar and Thomas Dunbar.

* * * *

THE CHURCH reception was followed by a later reception at the home of the bride's parents. The newlyweds honeymooned at Warner Hot Springs and are at home this week in Redondo Beach.

The new Mrs. Lewis was graduated from Polytechnic High School where she was recipient of a Gold L. She completed her education at UCLA and served as vice president of Delta Zeta.

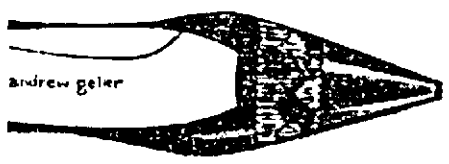

Her husband received his schooling at Wilson High, and Long Beach City and State Colleges, serving as captain of the golf teams at each school.

Share Grandparents' Date

Lee Jacqueline Read, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark Read, Long Beach, became the bride of Lt. Arthur Joseph Aparicio Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Joseph Aparicio, Menlo Park, at a recent ceremony in Belmont Heights Methodist Church.

The new Mrs. Aparicio Jr. wore a gown of ivory satin and carried a bouquet of pale pink flowers for the ceremony. She was attended by Lynne Read, her twin, as maid of honor, and Claire Wheeler, Margaret Ghormley and Patricia Preston as bridesmaids.

Mrs. Arthur Aparicio Jr.

A graduate of Wilson High, the bride attended Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, and was graduated from the College of Dental Assisting in San Mateo.

Her wedding marked the 55th anniversary of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hilbert, Long Beach, who, as pioneer residents of the city, came here in 1918. Hilbert was a member of the city's water commission from 1944 to 1950. Her paternal grandparents were the late Rev. and Mrs. William Barnard Read, also of this city.

The bridegroom chose Charles Aparicio, his brother, as best man. Other members of the wedding party were Robin Read, the bride's brother, Kenneth Aparicio, the bridegroom's brother, and Stephen Hilbert, ushers.

APARICIO WAS graduated from San Jose State College in 1960. Then, following graduation from the School of Aeronautical Engineering, he was commissioned in the Air Force. His parents are long-time residents of the Northern Peninsula. His paternal grandparents, the late Arturo and Maria Ferreiro Aparicio, were from Santurce, Puerto Rico. His maternal grandparents, are Mrs. Jean Batiste Giroux and the late Mr. Giroux. Mrs. Giroux, a resident of Verdun, Quebec, Canada, flew here for the ceremony.

Following a reception in their honor at Pacific Coast Club, the newlyweds departed for a honeymoon in Utah and Sun Valley, Idaho.

They will make their home in Great Falls, Mont.

Mr. and Mrs. John Flaig

Anniversary Open House Today Honors John Flaigs

Mr. and Mrs. John Flaig will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary today by holding open house for their friends from 2 to 4 o'clock at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Flaig, 4222 Rose Ave.

They will be assisted by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Mitchell. The pair's eldest son, Wesley, resides in Colorado Springs, Colo., and will be unable to attend.

The Flaigs were married on their homestead near Billings, Mont., and resided there prior to their move to Long Beach in 1926.

Reception to Fete Newlywed Fishers

Mrs. Charles Dean Fisher, Australian bride of Long Beach's celebrated world-traveler, will be honored at a "Welcome Home Tea" today in Los Altos Methodist Church Lounge.

The welcoming event is being given the couple by Fisher's parents, Dr. and Mrs. William E. Fisher, 6742 El Carmen Ave. The bridegroom's sister, Elizabeth Fisher, Topeka, Kans., will attend.

The newlyweds were married at St. Mary's Anglican Church, Perth, Australia. They arrived in Long Beach on the SS Canberra recently following a ten-day honeymoon at Denmark, a city on the south coast of West Australia.

The bride, the former Laura Mary Weaver, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. W. Weaver, of Riverdale, Beverly, West Australia.

For the wedding ceremony her attendants were Robin Weaver, her sister, and Maureen Cox of Dalkeith. Fisher's traveling companion, Noble Trenham, Los Angeles, was best man.

• • • •

FISHER and Trenham have visited 77 countries on six continents during the past three years. Most of their 85,000 mile global tour was made by custom-built jeep truck.

A graduate of the University of Michigan '54, Fisher holds a B.S. in wild life management. He met Trenham during his three years in the U.S. Navy.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Sees Country for 'Penneys'

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I. P-T Food Editor

Warren Harper, today's Chef of the Week, will readily agree that to see the country, you join the J. C. Penney Co. He's manager of the Long Beach store, having succeeded "Chef" Vern Fay, in July, 1961.

Prior to his arrival in Long Beach, his itinerary read like this: Oklahoma City, Okla.; Oakland, Bakersfield, Fontana, Culver City and Glendale. At the latter two, he was sent to open new stores.

Harper was born in Indiana (his hometown is no longer on the map), but Oklahoma City, where he moved at the age of five, influenced his "growing up." He still retains his "long 'a' —no r'" accent.

* * * *

HIS PART-TIME JOB, while still a high school student, became his full-time profession. Setting up toys in the stockroom was his first position with J. C. Penney. That was in 1940.

Following graduation, Harper gave himself two years in the oil fields in which to "think things over." Then he married Kathryn, an Oklahoma girl, and re-joined Penney's as a salesman. He remained there to climb the ladder to department manager and then floor manager, before joining the Army in 1944.

Warren Harper

After two years in the European theater, part of which time was endured in the "Battle of the Bulge," he returned to Oklahoma and remained two years before being sent to Oakland. The Harpers have two sons, Dick, a senior at University of San Francisco, and Randy, who attends St. Matthews grade school.

A member of the Downtown Lions Club, Harper is active in both the Chamber of Commerce and the Downtown Long Beach Associates.

CANDID, liked by everyone, and with a profound dignity, Harper has a disarming gee-whiz flash of humor which pops out when its least expected. He loves to play golf, but his preference lies in his do-it-yourself at-home program. Such extra curricular activities as re-carpeting, painting, refinihsing furniture, etc., take up much of hs time.

Harper always gets off to a good start. He arises, come rain or come shine, at 5:30 a.m. Perhaps to get the coffee perking. His average intake is 20 cups a day. Today he's fixing Scallopini of Veal Marsala.

SCALLOPINI OF VEAL, MARSALA

- 1 lb. THIN veal steak
- ⅓ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- ¼ cup butter
- 1 clove garlic
- 4 or 5 thinly sliced mushrooms
- Dash cayenne pepper
- ¼ bouillon cube, or
- 1 tsp. meat extract paste
- ¼ cup hot water
- ¼ cup Marsala Wine

Have meat man flatten veal to ¼ inch in thickness. Cut into 2-inch pieces; coat well with Parmesan.

Saute garlic and veal, a few pieces at a time, in skillet over medium heat. When golden brown on both sides, remove veal from skillet. Set aside, and remove garlic.

In same butter, saute mushrooms 5 minutes. Remove and set aside.

Using same butter, add pepper, bouillon cube, hot water and stir until brown bits clinging to pan, dissolve. Add veal and mushrooms. Cook one minute over high heat. Add wine, and serve at once.

LBSC LECTURE SERIES STARS SPORTS EDITOR

Hey, there, all you Hank Hollingworth fans at Long Beach State: bring your darts to school Wednesday. That's when the much esteemed executive sports editor and columnist of the Independent, Press-Telegram, is guest speaker on the Lectures-and-Forum series. Hank's not sure of his topic, but it will be something to do with "Mausoleum on the Hill." Time is noon, and the place may be LH 151, or even the Little Theater. Watch for signs around the campus.

This afternoon, Delta Zeta sorority holds open house from 2 to 5 at 148 Molino Ave. Among the guests will be Mrs. R. J. Nolop, national president; Mrs. Garold Leech, national director of college programs; and Mrs. Robert Koehler, province director. Say the DZs, "We would like to extend an invitation to anyone who is interested to meet us and see our house."

Monday noon in LA5-301, SAM (Society for the Advancement of Management) presents John Wells, resident manager of Dean Witter and Co. Wells will speak on "Future Trends in the Stock Market," and SAM invites you to attend, whether you're a member or not.

Big doings Friday and Saturday when LBSC students and faculty host the annual SCCFA (Southern California College Forensics Association) spring tournament. It will be the biggest speech event of the spring semester, and this is the first time Long Beach State has hosted the tourney.

WINDING UP THE WEEK, Saturday sees another in the fine series of foreign films presented jointly by Associated Students and Long Beach Film Society. This is the Folish "8th Day of the Week," and give us one of our infrequent peeks behind the celluloid Iron Curtain. Little Theater, 7 and 9 p. m.

A pat on the back to Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society. Last semester, this group organized twice weekly study sessions for Chem 1A students. Interest was excellent and so was the help provided. We understand there is more of the same this semester.

And here's what's with Delta Delta Delta: Last Monday, the annual Father-Daughter banquet in Whaley Park clubhouse with the mothers serving. Feature of the night was the father-daughter twist contest; winners were Judy Collins and her dad . . . as this is written the sorority is in the middle of Delta Week, a period which honors pledges who will be initiated today . . . new Tri-Delta officers as of Monday night: Annalee Rutter, president; Sandy Ball, Lynn McClure, Thelma Thorpe, Barbara Peterson and Pat Perry. . . . Corrine Sloan is the sorority's candidate for the Tri Delta national leadership award.

EAMES MEMOIRS TELL OF S.F. EARTHQUAKE

By RACHEL MORTON
I. P-T Music Critic

Emma Eames, famous operatic soprano of the '90s, of whom I wrote last week, married twice; the first time to the rich and famous painter, Julian Story. After 16 years they were divorced. In 1911 she married the Spanish baritone, Emilio de Gorgorza, with whom she had traveled extensively on concert tours. This marriage, too, unfortunately, ended in divorce.

Madame Eames had a wonderful career at the Metropolitan where she sang Wagnerian roles as well as the French and Italian repertoire.

While touring with the Metropolitan Opera Company, with a fabulous list of star singers, she encountered the awful earthquake and fire in San Francisco. Her description is breathtaking and covers 29 pages.

"About 5 o'clock," she relates, "the world set up a tremendous roaring and rocking. The house rolled and rocked as though it were in a heavy sea. The great earthquake had begun. To be taken by Mother Nature and shaken as a terrier would a rat makes one feel very unimportant. The pitching developed into more and more abrupt jerks until the great mahogany four poster bed in which I was lying was shaken from the wall into the center of the room.

* * * *

"OBJECTS were falling all about me. I buried my face and clung with both hands to the bed in order not to be thrown out.

"On the terrace outside were large urns filled with flowers, screwed to the balustrade. These were wrenched off by the shaking and the great chimney of a power house on an adjoining lot crashed to the ground. The duration of this quake has been estimated as a certain number of seconds but it seemed hours before I dared open my eyes. The succession of shocks which followed must have lasted minutes, not seconds.

* * * *

"SUDDENLY we saw one little tongue of flame in the distance; but we apprehended nothing from that source. We next learned that the water mains had parted, that San Francisco was at the mercy of the flames and cut off from all communication with the outside world.

"We imagined they could easily prevent the hill (Nob) from being destroyed by dynamiting blocks of houses at the base. Then suddenly the wind veered and the flames swept over that part of the city that had previously been spared, including the hill we had thought so safe.

"It was already dark when we got to North Beach. We arranged blankets and lay down. The ground made a hard and uncomfortable bed. I passed most of the night walking."

* * * *

A CARRIAGE was found eventually which took Madame Eames beyond San Jose, which was in ruins, to a mountain retreat belonging to her host, Dr. Trevis. There she remained for over a week until the opera company arranged for her return to New York. In the fire she lost 27 trunks with all her possessions, and arrived in New York with only the suit she was wearing.

After the Metropolitan Opera was taken over by the Italian impresario, Gatti-Casazza, and Toscanini, Emma Eames retired at the early age of 43.

Of Toscanini she writes: "His conducting was not an accompaniment, but a stone wall of resistance to any personality but his own."

Emma Eames died in New York on June 13, 1952, at the ripe old age of 87, at her home where she had lived in majestic and comfortable retirement.

Odetta

Folk Singer in Concert March 23

"An Evening With Odetta" will present the popular folk singer and the Madrigal Choir of Redondo Union High School in the school auditorium at Redondo Beach March 23 at 8:30 p.m.

Odetta, a tall, handsome woman, was born in Birmingham, Ala., and trained in classical music. Her repertoire spans virile worksongs, hand-clapping chants, spirituals and lullabies. She has had outstanding engagements at festivals, concerts, universities, and nightclubs, has recorded a number of albums and has appeared on television and radio and in the motion picture, "Sanctuary."

The Madrigal Choir will sing during intermission.

* * * *

THE CONCERT is being presented by guitarist Jerry Goldbach, formerly of the nationally-known Gateway Singers who were warmly accepted in Long Beach concerts.

Tickets are on sale at Humphrey's Music Company; Redondo Union High School; Insomniac Coffee House, Hermosa Beach; and House of Music, Manhattan Beach. Mail orders may be addressed to Goldbach at 2520 Alma St., Manhattan Beach.

Film Banned in Poland at LBSC

A Polish film which had even greater—and unexpected—emotional impact upon Communist hierarchy than upon intended viewers will be screened Saturday at Long Beach State College.

"Eighth Day of the Week," fourth in the spring series of the Long Beach Film Society, will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. in the Little Theater.

The film, a screen story of a desperate search for privacy by two students in love, was made during the political "thaw" of 1957.

So devastating was the picture's background of still rubble-strewn Warsaw that Communist officials forced the Polish minister of culture who permitted the filming to flee to asylum in the West, dropped the director into disfavor, and banned the production in Poland.

"Eighth Day of the Week" was co-produced in West Germany and it is that version which permits viewers to look behind the Iron Curtain.

The companion short "Crin Blanc" (White Mane) is the work of Albert Lamorisse of "Red Balloon" fame. It is a story of a boy and the stallion he befriends.

General admission tickets may be purchased at the box office.

'Elijah' at LBCC Friday

Mendelssohn's "Elijah" will be presented by the Schola Cantorum of Long Beach City College, assisted by the LBCC Community Symphony, at 8:15 p.m. Friday in the college auditorium. Director is Wayne B. Gard.

Tickets will be available at the box office or by mail this week from the student body banker's office, 4901 E. Carson St.

Composed for the Birmingham (England) Music Festival in 1846, the "Elijah" is an oratorio for solos, solo quartets and full chorus of mixed voices.

* * * *

FIRST part of the oratorio recounts the prophet's battle against the worshipers of Baal, his working of miracles and punishment of the wicked. In the concluding section Elijah escapes death at the hands of his enemies by ascending to heaven in a fiery chariot.

Soloists will include William Vennard as Elijah, Ray Vaughan as Obadiah, Iris Eshelman, Ruth Lahr, Mary Jane Gard, Marjorie Morenus, Sandra Mahieu and Helen Hull. Vennard, making a guest appearance with the Schola, is on the staff of the University of Southern California School of Music and was a soloist in the recent production of "Acis and Galatea."

'Indian Summer' Wins First in Mosaic Show

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Mosaic, as viewed at the current show by the Artists' League of Seal Beach at Seal Beach Art Center, Ocean Boulevard and Main Avenue, is apparently more craft than art. It is effective as a decorative surface on objects in the round. The show is of great interest, often imaginative, many times ingenious, but without specific character as an art form.

The limitations of the skill are in the materials: to be in best form the small tesserae must be cut on all sides, slivers are not kosher. Perspective is without the pale of the art. While the units are small, the overall effect must not be of confusion. The grout must clarify the work; the tesserae must not abut.

* * * *

IN THE ancient world, mosaics were used on floors; famous classic Greek paintings like "The Battle of Issus" are preserved for us by the durable copies made centuries later for the villas of wealthy Romans. Mosaics spelled out Biblical stories and those of saints on the domes of early Christian churches from Ravenna to Byzantium.

In the present show which represents (aside from the Mexican architectural murals) perhaps the best of the revived medium, there are many religious subjects, predominantly "Madonna and Child." There are several copies of modern paintings like Van Gogh's "Sunflowers" by Alfred Taylor and Picasso's ladies closely reproduced by Alice Meredith.

* * * *

THE FIRST winner, "Indian Summer" by Dr. Charles Stevens, may well be mosaic at its contemporary best — abstract, complex, with an endless interweaving of color and form. At the opopsite pole of style is "Three Kings" by Dennis Davis—bright, flat figures outlined in black.

Mosaic can be done by anyone, it seems, with fair results. It ranks high among the creative hobbies; doubtless, juried shows like the fine one in Seal Beach will serve to give it integrity and refinement so that it may, again, take its place among fine art forms.

Museum Announces Winners

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Next Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., winners will receive awards in the "First Annual Southern California Exhibition."

"St. George Medallion," oil painting by Richard Allen Morris of San Diego, won the top prize, the Friends of Long Beach Museum Purchase Award of $350. "Red Poppies," lithographic print by Jules Engel of Los Angeles, will receive the $100 Grumbacher Artists Material Company award.

Cash awards of $50 will be given to Ronald Grow of Los Angeles for his steel sculpture "Seed Collection;" Herbert Hazelton of Los Angeles for his pastel drawing "Reclining Nude"; Dick Swift of Seal Beach for his intaglio print "It is Finished"; and Marcus White of Torrance for his steel construction "Imbedded Space."

* * * *

HONORABLE mention winners are M. Serfas Brobst of Los Angeles, Carson Gladson of Orange, Mary Lee McNutt of Pacific Palisades and Stuart Zimmerman of Culver City.

The museum's program of juried exhibitions, now in its 10th year, extended the area limitations this year to include all of Southern California. Of the 342 works submitted, 102 were accepted by the juror, Paul Mills, director of the Oakland Art Museum.

Mrs. C. W. Millspaugh, president of the Friends of the Long Beach Museum, will present the Friends Purchase Award and the Friends $50 Cash Award. Mrs. James Kresl, president of the Museum Association, will make the Museum Association awards. Dr. Robert Buffum will be on hand to award personally the Dr. Robert Buffum Award.

The exhibition will be on view through March 25.

* * * *

ADDITIONAL entries from the Long Beach area have been received at the All California Art Exhibition to be held in conjunction with the 47th annual National Orange Show in San Bernardino March 15 through 25.

Artists submitting oil paintings are Marvin Saltzman, 3713 Kallin Ave., "Portrait of George, a Basset Hound"; Mary Kutila, 5466 E. Ocean Blvd., "City Series No. 2"; Loretta Ann Michaels, 4115 E. Broadway, "Not in Bread Alone"; and Evelyn Carpenter, 5850 Dunrobin Ave., "Still Life With Gold."

* * * *

UCLA Art Council has invited Sir Kenneth Clark, distinguished British art historian and author, to present a three-day lectureship in Royce Hall March 19, 20 and 21.

The lectures, which will be free to the public, are titled "Motives" and will "examine the unity of form and subject as the essence of a work of art."

Sir Kenneth Clark is one of England's leading authorities in his field and the series is expected to attract a wide circle of art scholars.

Lectures will be "Encounter," March 19 at 8:15 p.m.; "The Pillar and the Trunk," March 20 at 4 p.m.; and "The Reclining Figure," March 21 at 8:15 p.m. Seating will be on a "first come, first served" basis.

FOR THE second year, Eugene Ober and his 18-piece orchestra will provide music for Laguna Beach's 27th annual Festival of Arts in Irvine Bowl July 14 through Aug. 12.

John Callan, veteran producer of Living Pictures in the Pageant of the Masters will return for the 1962 season; Russell Potter, "voice of the pageant," will serve as narrator for the 15th year.

Welcome news: the board of directors has authorized removal of wooden benches in the bowl and will have them replaced with fiber glass benches. Work has already begun.

Although brochures won't be available until April, officials say that a number of festival reservations have been received.

* * * *

PAINTINGS and illustrations for children's books, done by Vesna Borcic, will be on view in the downstairs gallery of Harris Hall at the University of Southern California until March 9.

In private life the artist is Mrs. Joseph Zaninovich, a native of Dalmatia, Yugoslavia. She and her husband reside in San Pedro and are active members of the Yugoslav community of Los Angeles. She has studied in her native country and in Rome, Paris and Vienna. Her work has been displayed in almost every country in Europe, as well as in Ottawa, Cincinnati, Sao Paulo, Rio de Janeiro and Mexico City.

THE CARL HEILBORN Memorial Exhibition will be at the Tower Gallery, Los Angeles City Hall, through March 25. The retrospective show includes more than 60 watercolors and gouache paintings.

Concert Tribute to Late Musician

Next Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in City College Auditorium Long Beach Symphony Orchestra will present the Nicholas Furjanick Award Concert, honoring the memory of the late musician who was associate conductor of the orchestra from 1940 until his unexpected death in the summer of 1961.

Furjanick studied in Prague and in this country for a career as concert violinist, but after some years of concertizing he found his real vocation in the field of public school music. For many years he was orchestra and band director at Wilson High School and was loved and admired by a succession of young performers and fellow students.

THE CONCERT next Sunday would have been particularly important to him because for many years he directed the performances of young artists at the annual Winners Concert.

This season the Symphony Association planned two competitions. The one just completed was open to all qualifying young musicians; the second, to be held in August, will be open to Long Beach students only.

The Symphony Association, with the help of local service clubs, planned to present a special Nicolas Furjanick Award to one young musician and to give him the opportunity to perform a full concerto with the orchestra.

HOWEVER, ALL competitors were unusually gifted; two performed with such distinction that judges could not decide between them. Therefore, both Beverly Lauridsen, cellist, and Adrian Ruiz, pianist, will perform in next Sunday's concert.

Miss Lauridsen, 18, is a freshman at Occidental College. Ruiz, 25, is a senior at the University of Southern California.

The contest was under direction of the Young Artists Competition Committee: Mrs. Charles M. Dorrans, chairman; Mrs. Henry Warner, Dorothy Judy Klein; Dr. John Green, Dr. L. L. Peterson and Arthur Carah.

Concert tickets may be reserved by telephoning Mrs. Richard Matlock, 1550 Ramillo Ave., or the Long Beach Symphony Association. Special student rates are available.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Sees Country for 'Penneys'

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
L P-T Food Editor

Warren Harper, today's Chef of the Week, will readily agree that to see the country, you join the J. C. Penney Co. He's manager of the Long Beach store, having succeeded "Chef" Vern Fay, in July, 1961.

Prior to his arrival in Long Beach, his itinerary read like this: Oklahoma City, Okla.; Oakland, Bakersfield, Fontana, Culver City and Glendale. At the latter two, he was sent to open new stores.

Harper was born in Indiana (his hometown is no longer on the map), but Oklahoma City, where he moved at the age of five, influenced his "growing up." He still retains his "long 'a' —no r'" accent.

* * * *

HIS PART-TIME JOB, while still a high school student, became his full-time profession. Setting up toys in the stockroom was his first position with J. C. Penney. That was in 1940.

Following graduation, Harper gave himself two years in the oil fields in which to "think things over." Then he married Kathryn, an Oklahoma girl, and re-joined Penney's as a salesman. He remained there to climb the ladder to department manager and then floor manager, before joining the Army in 1944.

Warren Harper

After two years in the European theater, part of which time was endured in the "Battle of the Bulge," he returned to Oklahoma and remained two years before being sent to Oakland. The Harpers have two sons, Dick, a senior at University of San Francisco, and Randy, who attends St. Matthews grade school.

A member of the Downtown Lions Club, Harper is active in both the Chamber of Commerce and the Downtown Long Beach Associates.

CANDID, liked by everyone, and with a profound dignity, Harper has a disarming gee-whiz flash of humor which pops out when its least expected. He loves to play golf, but his preference lies in his do-it-yourself at-home program. Such extra curricular activities as re-carpeting, painting, refinihsing furniture, etc., take up much of hs time.

Harper always gets off to a good start. He arises, come rain or come shine, at 5:30 a.m. Perhaps to get the coffee perking. His average intake is 20 cups a day. Today he's fixing Scallopini of Veal Marsala.

SCALLOPINI OF VEAL MARSALA

- 1 lb. THIN veal steak
- ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- ¼ cup butter
- 1 clove garlic
- 4 or 5 thinly sliced mushrooms
- Dash cayenne pepper
- ¼ bouillon cube, or
- 1 tsp. meat extract paste
- ¼ cup hot water
- ¼ cup Marsala Wine

Have meat man flatten veal to ¼ inch in thickness. Cut into 2-inch pieces; coat well with Parmesan.

Saute garlic and veal, a few pieces at a time, in skillet over medium heat. When golden brown on both sides, remove veal from skillet. Set aside, and remove garlic.

In same butter, saute mushrooms 5 minutes. Remove and set aside.

Using same butter, add pepper, bouillon cube, hot water and stir until brown bits clinging to pan, dissolve. Add veal and mushrooms. Cook one minute over high heat. Add wine, and serve at once.

LBSC LECTURE SERIES STARS SPORTS EDITOR

Hey, there, all you Hank Hollingworth fans at Long Beach State: bring your darts to school Wednesday. That's when the much esteemed executive sports editor and columnist of the Independent, Press-Telegram, is guest speaker on the Lectures-and-Forum series. Hank's not sure of his topic, but it will be something to do with "Mausoleum on the Hill." Time is noon, and the place may be LH 151, or even the Little Theater. Watch for signs around the campus.

This afternoon, Delta Zeta sorority holds open house from 2 to 5 at 148 Molino Ave. Among the guests will be Mrs. R. J. Nolop, national president; Mrs. Garold Leech, national director of college programs; and Mrs. Robert Koehler, province director. Say the DZs, "We would like to extend an invitation to anyone who is interested to meet us and see our house."

Monday noon in LA5-301, SAM (Society for the Advancement of Management) presents John Wells, resident manager of Dean Witter and Co. Wells will speak on "Future Trends in the Stock Market," and SAM invites you to attend, whether you're a member or not.

Big doings Friday and Saturday when LBSC students and faculty host the annual SCCFA (Southern California College Forensics Association) spring tournament. It will be the biggest speech event of the spring semester, and this is the first time Long Beach State has hosted the tourney.

WINDING UP THE WEEK, Saturday sees another in the fine series of foreign films presented jointly by Associated Students and Long Beach Film Society. This is the Folish "8th Day of the Week," and give us one of our infrequent peeks behind the celluloid Iron Curtain. Little Theater, 7 and 9 p. m.

A pat on the back to Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society. Last semester, this group organized twice weekly study sessions for Chem 1A students. Interest was excellent and so was the help provided. We understand there is more of the same this semester.

And here's what's with Delta Delta Delta: Last Monday, the annual Father-Daughter banquet in Whaley Park clubhouse with the mothers serving. Feature of the night was the father-daughter twist contest; winners were Judy Collins and her dad . . . as this is written the sorority is in the middle of Delta Week, a period which honors pledges who will be initiated today . . . new Tri-Delta officers as of Monday night: Annalee Rutter, president; Sandy Ball, Lynn McClure, Thelma Thorpe, Barbara Peterson and Pat Perry. . . . Corrine Sloan is the sorority's candidate for the Tri Delta national leadership award.

EAMES MEMOIRS TELL OF S.F. EARTHQUAKE

By RACHEL MORTON
L. P-T Music Critic

Emma Eames, famous operatic soprano of the '90s, of whom I wrote last week, married twice; the first time to the rich and famous painter, Julian Story. After 16 years they were divorced. In 1911 she married the Spanish baritone, Emilio de Gorgorza, with whom she had traveled extensively on concert tours. This marriage, too, unfortunately, ended in divorce.

Madame Eames had a wonderful career at the Metropolitan where she sang Wagnerian roles as well as the French and Italian repertoire.

While touring with the Metropolitan Opera Company, with a fabulous list of star singers, she encountered the awful earthquake and fire in San Francisco. Her description is breathtaking and covers 29 pages.

"About 5 o'clock," she relates, "the world set up a tremendous roaring and rocking. The house rolled and rocked as though it were in a heavy sea. The great earthquake had begun. To be taken by Mother Nature and shaken as a terrier would a rat makes one feel very unimportant. The pitching developed into more and more abrupt jerks until the great mahogany four poster bed in which I was lying was shaken from the wall into the center of the room.

• • • •

"OBJECTS were falling all about me. I buried my face and clung with both hands to the bed in order not to be thrown out.

"On the terrace outside were large urns filled with flowers, screwed to the balustrade. These were wrenched off by the shaking and the great chimney of a power house on an adjoining lot crashed to the ground. The duration of this quake has been estimated as a certain number of seconds but it seemed hours before I dared open my eyes. The succession of shocks which followed must have lasted minutes, not seconds.

• • • •

"SUDDENLY we saw one little tongue of flame in the distance; but we apprehended nothing from that source. We next learned that the water mains had parted, that San Francisco was at the mercy of the flames and cut off from all communication with the outside world.

"We imagined they could easily prevent the hill (Nob) from being destroyed by dynamiting blocks of houses at the base. Then suddenly the wind veered and the flames swept over that part of the city that had previously been spared, including the hill we had thought so safe.

"It was already dark when we got to North Beach. We arranged blankets and lay down. The ground made a hard and uncomfortable bed. I passed most of the night walking."

• • • •

A CARRIAGE was found eventually which took Madame Eames beyond San Jose, which was in ruins, to a mountain retreat belonging to her host, Dr. Trevis. There she remained for over a week until the opera company arranged for her return to New York. In the fire she lost 27 trunks with all her possessions, and arrived in New York with only the suit she was wearing.

After the Metropolitan Opera was taken over by the Italian impresario, Gatti-Casazza, and Toscanini, Emma Eames retired at the early age of 43.

Of Toscanini she writes: "His conducting was not an accompaniment, but a stone wall of resistance to any personality but his own."

Emma Eames died in New York on June 13, 1952, at the ripe old age of 87, at her home where she had lived in majestic and comfortable retirement.

Odetta

Folk Singer in Concert March 23

"An Evening With Odetta" will present the popular folk singer and the Madrigal Choir of Redondo Union High School in the school auditorium at Redondo Beach March 23 at 8:30 p.m.

Odetta, a tall, handsome woman, was born in Birmingham, Ala., and trained in classical music. Her repertoire spans virile worksongs, hand-clapping chants, spirituals and lullabies. She has had outstanding engagements at festivals, concerts, universities, and nightclubs, has recorded a number of albums and has appeared on television and radio and in the motion picture, "Sanctuary."

The Madrigal Choir will sing during intermission.

• • • •

THE CONCERT is being presented by guitarist Jerry Goldbach, formerly of the nationally-known Gateway Singers who were warmly accepted in Long Beach concerts.

Tickets are on sale at Humphrey's Music Company; Redondo Union High School; Insomniac Coffee House, Hermosa Beach; and House of Music, Manhattan Beach. Mail orders may be addressed to Goldbach at 2520 Alma St., Manhattan Beach.

Film Banned in Poland at LBSC

A Polish film which had even greater—and unexpected—emotional impact upon Communist hierarchy than upon intended viewers will be screened Saturday at Long Beach State College.

"Eighth Day of the Week," fourth in the spring series of the Long Beach Film Society, will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. in the Little Theater.

The film, a screen story of a desperate search for privacy by two students in love, was made during the political "thaw" of 1957.

So devastating was the picture's background of still rubble-strewn Warsaw that Communist officials forced the Polish minister of culture who permitted the filming to flee to asylum in the West, dropped the director into disfavor, and banned the production in Poland.

"Eighth Day of the Week" was co-produced in West Germany and it is that version which permits viewers to look behind the Iron Curtain.

The companion short "Crin Blanc" (White Mane) is the work of Albert Lamorisse of "Red Balloon" fame. It is a story of a boy and the stallion he befriends.

General admission tickets may be purchased at the box office.

'Elijah' at LBCC Friday

Mendelssohn's "Elijah" will be presented by the Schola Cantorum of Long Beach City College, assisted by the LBCC Community Symphony, at 8:15 p.m. Friday in the college auditorium. Director is Wayne B. Gard.

Tickets will be available at the box office or by mail this week from the student body banker's office, 4901 E. Carson St.

Composed for the Birmingham (England) Music Festival in 1846, the "Elijah" is an oratorio for solos, solo quartets and full chorus of mixed voices.

• • • •

FIRST part of the oratorio recounts the prophet's battle against the worshipers of Baal, his working of miracles and punishment of the wicked. In the concluding section Elijah escapes death at the hands of his enemies by ascending to heaven in a fiery chariot.

Soloists will include William Vennard as Elijah, Ray Vaughan as Obadiah, Iris Eshelman, Ruth Lahr, Mary Jane Gard, Marjorie Morenus, Sandra Mahieu and Helen Hull. Vennard, making a guest appearance with the Schola, is on the staff of the University of Southern California School of Music and was a soloist in the recent production of "Acis and Galatea."

'Indian Summer' Wins First in Mosaic Show

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

Mosaic, as viewed at the current show by the Artists' League of Seal Beach at Seal Beach Art Center, Ocean Boulevard and Main Avenue, is apparently more craft than art. It is effective as a decorative surface on objects in the round. The show is of great interest, often imaginative, many times ingenious, but without specific character as an art form.

The limitations of the skill are in the materials: to be in best form the small tesserae must be cut on all sides, slivers are not kosher. Perspective is without the pale of the art. While the units are small, the overall effect must not be of confusion. The grout must clarify the work; the tesserae must not abut.

• • • •

IN THE ancient world, mosaics were used on floors; famous classic Greek paintings like "The Battle of Issus" are preserved for us by the durable copies made centuries later for the villas of wealthy Romans. Mosaics spelled out Biblical stories and those of saints on the domes of early Christian churches from Ravenna to Byzantium.

In the present show which represents (aside from the Mexican architectural murals) perhaps the best of the revived medium, there are many religious subjects, predominantly "Madonna and Child." There are several copies of modern paintings like Van Gogh's "Sunflowers" by Alfred Taylor and Picasso's ladies closely reproduced by Alice Meredith.

• • • •

THE FIRST winner, "Indian Summer" by Dr. Charles Stevens, may well be mosaic at its contemporary best — abstract, complex, with an endless interweaving of color and form. At the opopsite pole of style is "Three Kings" by Dennis Davis—bright, flat figures outlined in black.

Mosaic can be done by anyone, it seems, with fair results. It ranks high among the creative hobbies; doubtless, juried shows like the fine one in Seal Beach will serve to give it integrity and refinement so that it may, again, take its place among fine art forms.

Museum Announces Winners

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Next Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., winners will receive awards in the "First Annual Southern California Exhibition."

"St. George Medallion," oil painting by Richard Allen Morris of San Diego, won the top prize, the Friends of Long Beach Museum Purchase Award of $350. "Red Poppies," lithographic print by Jules Engel of Los Angeles, will receive the $100 Grumbacher Artists Material Company award.

Cash awards of $50 will be given to Ronald Grow of Los Angeles for his steel sculpture "Seed Collection;" Herbert Hazelton of Los Angeles for his pastel drawing "Reclining Nude"; Dick Swift of Seal Beach for his intaglio print "It is Finished"; and Marcus White of Torrance for his steel construction "Imbedded Space."

• • • •

HONORABLE mention winners are M. Serfas Brobst of Los Angeles, Carson Gladson of Orange, Mary Lee McNutt of Pacific Palisades and Stuart Zimmerman of Culver City.

The museum's program of juried exhibitions, now in its 10th year, extended the area limitations this year to include all of Southern California. Of the 342 works submitted, 102 were accepted by the juror, Paul Mills, director of the Oakland Art Museum.

Mrs. C. W. Millspaugh, president of the Friends of the Long Beach Museum, will present the Friends Purchase Award and the Friends $50 Cash Award. Mrs. James Kresl, president of the Museum Association, will make the Museum Association awards. Dr. Robert Buffum will be on hand to award personally the Dr. Robert Buffum Award.

The exhibition will be on view through March 25.

• • • •

ADDITIONAL entries from the Long Beach area have been received at the All California Art Exhibition to be held in conjunction with the 47th annual National Orange Show in San Bernardino March 15 through 25.

Artists submitting oil paintings are Marvin Saltzman, 3713 Kallin Ave., "Portrait of George, a Basset Hound"; Mary Kutila, 5466 E. Ocean Blvd., "City Series No. 2"; Loretta Ann Michaels, 4115 E. Broadway, "Not in Bread Alone"; and Evelyn Carpenter, 5850 Dunrobin Ave., "Still-Life With Gold."

• • • •

UCLA Art Council has invited Sir Kenneth Clark, distinguished British art historian and author, to present a three-day lectureship in Royce Hall March 19, 20 and 21.

The lectures, which will be free to the public, are titled "Motives" and will "examine the unity of form and subject as the essence of a work of art."

Sir Kenneth Clark is one of England's leading authorities in his field and the series is expected to attract a wide circle of art scholars.

Lectures will be "Encounter," March 19 at 8:15 p.m.; "The Pillar and the Trunk," March 20 at 4 p.m.; and "The Reclining Figure," March 21 at 8:15 p.m. Seating will be on a "first come, first served" basis.

• • • •

FOR THE second year, Eugene Ober and his 18-piece orchestra will provide music for Laguna Beach's 27th annual Festival of Arts in Irvine Bowl July 14 through Aug. 12.

John Callan, veteran producer of Living Pictures in the Pageant of the Masters will return for the 1962 season; Russell Potter, "voice of the pageant," will serve as narrator for the 15th year.

Welcome news: the board of directors has authorized removal of wooden benches in the bowl and will have them replaced with fiber glass benches. Work has already begun.

Although brochures won't be available until April, officials say that a number of festival reservations have been received.

• • • •

PAINTINGS and illustrations for children's books, done by Vesna Borcic, will be on view in the downstairs gallery of Harris Hall at the University of Southern California until March 9.

In private life the artist is Mrs. Joseph Zaninovich, a native of Dalmatia, Yugoslavia. She and her husband reside in San Pedro and are active members of the Yugoslav community of Los Angeles. She has studied in her native country and in Rome, Paris and Vienna. Her work has been displayed in almost every country in Europe, as well as in Ottawa, Cincinnati, Sao Paulo, Rio de Janeiro and Mexico City.

watercolors and gouache paintings.

Concert Tribute to Late Musician

Next Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in City College Auditorium Long Beach Symphony Orchestra will present the Nicholas Furjanick Award Concert, honoring the memory of the late musician who was associate conductor of the orchestra from 1940 until his unexpected death in the summer of 1961.

Furjanick studied in Prague and in this country for a career as concert violinist, but after some years of concertizing he found his real vocation in the field of public school music. For many years he was orchestra and band director at Wilson High School and was loved and admired by a succession of young performers and fellow students.

• • • •

THE CONCERT next Sunday would have been particularly important to him because for many years he directed the performances of young artists at the annual Winners Concert.

This season the Symphony Association planned two competitions. The one just completed was open to all qualifying young musicians; the second, to be held in August, will be open to Long Beach students only.

The Symphony Association, with the help of local service clubs, planned to present a special Nicolas Furjanick Award to one young musician and to give him the opportunity to perform a full concerto with the orchestra.

• • • •

HOWEVER, ALL competitors were unusually gifted; two performed with such distinction that judges could not decide between them. Therefore, both Beverly Lauridsen, cellist, and Adrian Ruiz, pianist, will perform in next Sunday's concert.

Miss Lauridsen, 18, is a freshman at Occidental College. Ruiz, 25, is a senior at the University of Southern California.

The contest was under direction of the Young Artists Competition Committee: Mrs. Charles M. Dorrans, chairman; Mrs. Henry Warner, Dorothy Judy Klein; Dr. John Green, Dr. L. L. Peterson and Arthur Carah.

Concert tickets may be reserved by telephoning Mrs. Richard Matlock, 1550 Ramillo Ave., or the Long Beach Symphony Association. Special student rates are available.

WHAT IS A LIVE FOOT LAST?
The shape and fit of a shoe is determined by the last over which it is made.
The foot is one length and width at rest — but different lengths and widths when walking, running or jumping.
Buster Brown's Famous Live Foot Lasts provide this additional space for soft, flexible children's feet to expand without injurious pressure.
In addition — Live Foot Lasts are combination lasts which insure no slip - no gap heel and arch fit.

ROAD SHOW TO BEAT THE DRUMS FOR LBCC

Liberal Arts

Biggest road show in town, involving some 135 students from the Long Beach City College Liberal Arts Division, will start its annual spring tour of the high schools this week.

Composed of the College Choir, Viking Band and student speakers, the traveling troupe will appear in assembly programs at Downey High School (this Friday), Wilson (March 5), Lakewood (March 6), Jordan (March 8), Millikan (March 15) and Poly (March 16). Student emcee for the show will be the current Miss Welcome to Long Beach, Donna Kelley—this time issuing a "Welcome to LBCC."

First "Snacktime" of the spring term will be sponsored by Associated Women Students in the student lounge at 11 a.m. Friday. The program, under the direction of June Lang and her committee, includes a fashion show and refreshments.

Staff members of the Viking, LAD newspaper, walked off with the junior college division sweepstakes trophy at Long Beach State's recent Journalism Day. First-place trophies went to Mary Callos, Pat Estelle and Phil Yaffe, and other award winners were Larry Noble, Ozzie Gaynour and Del Daniel.

Marilyn Morgan emerged last week as the LAD entry in Glamour Magazine's nationwide "Best Dressed Girl on Campus" contest. (See story, Page W-5.)

Business, Technology

One of the Business and Technology Division's fanciest functions each term comes up this Wednesday when faculty sponsors are honored at the Inter-Club Council Luncheon. Program begins at 11 a.m. in the Victor Hugo Restaurant.

Presiding will be ICC president F. B. Lewandowski of Associated Junior Retailers. In charge of arrangements and decorations are Vicky Kelly of Theta and Charles Cook of ASTME (American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers.)

New officers of the Newman Club are president Margery Chapman, Leila Dilesy, Germaine Cloutier, Anita Medina and Robert Hayes. One of the club's high priority projects is a projected summer tour of Europe.

First spring meeting of the Welfare and Service Committee, under chairman Sally Towner, is set for 11:30 a.m. Tuesday. One of the topics for discussion will be the ways in which clubs may win points toward the coveted Scholarship - Activities - Service Award.

The semi-annual Record Auction will be held Wednesday in the student lounge. Proceeds may be used for a new student body trophy case.

ROAD SHOW TO BEAT THE DRUMS FOR LBCC

Liberal Arts

Biggest road show in town, involving some 135 students from the Long Beach City College Liberal Arts Division, will start its annual spring tour of the high schools this week.

Composed of the College Choir, Viking Band and student speakers, the traveling troupe will appear in assembly programs at Downey High School (this Friday), Wilson (March 5), Lakewood (March 6), Jordan (March 8), Millikan (March 15) and Poly (March 16). Student emcee for the show will be the current Miss Welcome to Long Beach, Donna Kelley—this time issuing a "Welcome to LBCC."

First "Snacktime" of the spring term will be sponsored by Associated Women Students in the student lounge at 11 a.m. Friday. The program, under the direction of June Lang and her committee, includes a fashion show and refreshments.

Staff members of the Viking, LAD newspaper, walked off with the junior college division sweepstakes trophy at Long Beach State's recent Journalism Day. First-place trophies went to Mary Callos, Pat Estelle and Phil Yaffe, and other award winners were Larry Noble, Ozzie Gaynour and Del Daniel.

Marilyn Morgan emerged last week as the LAD entry in Glamour Magazine's nationwide "Best Dressed Girl on Campus" contest. (See story, Page W-5.)

Business, Technology

One of the Business and Technology Division's fanciest functions each term comes up this Wednesday when faculty sponsors are honored at the Inter-Club Council Luncheon. Program begins at 11 a.m. in the Victor Hugo Restaurant.

Presiding will be ICC president F. B. Lewandowski of Associated Junior Retailers. In charge of arrangements and decorations are Vicky Kelly of Theta and Charles Cook of ASTME (American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers.)

New officers of the Newman Club are president Margery Chapman, Leila Dilesy, Germaine Cloutier, Anita Medina and Robert Hayes. One of the club's high priority projects is a projected summer tour of Europe.

First spring meeting of the Welfare and Service Committee, under chairman Sally Towner, is set for 11:30 a.m. Tuesday. One of the topics for discussion will be the ways in which clubs may win points toward the coveted Scholarship - Activities - Service Award.

The semi-annual Record Auction will be held Wednesday in the student lounge. Proceeds may be used for a new student body trophy case.

How the A-1 sticker on a used car assures you of a higher standard of quality

"A-1" on a used car at your Ford Dealer's tells you this is far more than just an ordinary used car. First, the car is the pick of the trade-ins your Ford Dealer takes in on his big new-car volume. Then it is a car which has had to demonstrate its superiority—prove its worth to used-car specialists who know their business. And behind every A-1 used car is your Ford Dealer's reputation for selling quality products at a fair price and dealing honestly with every customer.

Counting up the quality

Every A-1 used car is inspected, road-tested and reconditioned if necessary before it is put on sale—three steps that help to assure you more lasting quality. An A-1 car will provide safer, more economical transportation for a family, deliver pride-of-ownership as well as excellent value. Obviously, only the basically better used cars can make the grade as "A-1."

Many makes and models —same high standards

Because your Ford Dealer has been selling more cars (and more kinds of cars) than ever before, he has been receiving a record number and variety of quality trade-ins. This means you have a real choice now—at all price levels. Regardless of make or model if the car wears an A-1 sticker it has the same superior quality and value.

Keeper of the quality

The man who keeps quality high and prices low is your Ford Dealer. He's in business to stay—and he knows every A-1 used car he sells carries his reputation with it. It must have demonstrated its superior A-1 quality. And it must represent an A-1 VALUE. He'll treat you right because he wants to keep you as a customer . . . and sell you a new car someday.

OUR COVER

Newest hue for '62: tone-on-tone, done here in soft, silvery beige with cocoa brown accents. The "Skyliner" hair style, modeled for photographer Roger Coar, on today's cover by Carolyn Hanson, one of Southern California's most photographed hair models, shows new trend of closer-to-the-head shape and drape, with an upward movement of swirls and curls. Color and silhouette will play an important role in creations turned out during 19th annual Long Beach Hairdressers Guild Show today and Monday at the Lafayette Hotel. Some 150 hair stylists from the U. S. and Canada will compete for trophies and cash awards. For more about the show, new hair styles and the pretty girls who wear them, turn to Page 7.

NEXT WEEK

Who will be the Greta Garbos, the Clara Bows and the Jean Harlows of tomorrow? A recent poll taken among the film trade throughout the United States and Canada reveals a bevy of enchantresses—some still in their teens and others in their early 20s—as most likely to be the great feminine stars of tomorrow. Southland reports on the poll next week.

Q. Has Russia a reflecting telescope as large as our 200-inch reflector at Palomar Observatory? A.M.

A. No. The largest reflector in the USSR is the 102-inch instrument at the Crimean Astrophysical Observatory. This ranks third among the world's large reflectors. It is exceeded in size by the 200-inch Hale at Palomar and the 120-inch at Lick Observatory, and followed by the 100-inch at Mt. Wilson and the 82-inch at McDonald Observatory, Mt. Locke, Texas.

Q. What is a carom table. B.V.

A. This is an old name for a billiard table without pockets, on which the cushions continue uninterruptedly around the whole perimeter.

Relic of the Midway

Genuine "whistle box," this hurdy-gurdy differs from more ordinary "reed" street organs and dates from 1880.

By Helen L. Gillum

WHEN the familiar, sweetly-sad melodies of a hurdy-gurdy drift through a circus midway or other holiday spot, heralding the approach of the organ grinder and his pet monkey, in no time at all the entertainers are surrounded by enthusiastic fans. And, so long as the pennies clink into the tin cup, and the little monkey tips his hat in polite "thank-yous," Suzie and Johnnie—and Mom, Dad, and Grandpa—can listen and watch entranced, forgetting for the moment the hustle and bustle of modern times in this bit of musical magic from another world.

To own one of these unique music makers is to own a conversation piece of highest interest and curiosity. Especially if it is an old German hurdy-gurdy like the one possessed by R. W. MacWillie, 5312 Hersholt Ave., Lakewood. His machine, which dates to 1880, differs from most street organs in that it is a genuine "whistle box," played with 94 wooden pipes, as compared to an ordinary "reed" box. It is also considerable larger than the average hand organ, and the construction and decoration are of superior quality. MacWillie obtained his hurdy-gurdy through a trade with another collector. Since this type is no longer made and very scarce, he values it highly.

THE BOX is 28 inches long, 17 inches wide, and is 28 inches high, exclusive of the two wheels. It is constructed mainly of wood, and no nails are used, glue being the chief fixative. It bears the legend, "Adolf Holl, Langenbeckstr 13, Berlin" across the front.

The names of the eight tunes it plays are written in neat German inside the hinged lid. Any of these quaintly harmonious melodies can be played with a hand crank, operated on a big wooden drum studded with pegs. A wooden gear and iron worm are also part of the machine's mechanics, all of which are in very good condition.

There are inlaid wooden designs across the front of the box. Two painted figures in still bright colors, one of a dashingly dressed young gallant and the other of an old-fashioned maiden, decorate each side.

Fair Byways

Travelers heading for the Seattle World's Fair will find scores of other beguiling fairs and festivals along the way, all listed in a new folder, "Special Events in the Redwood Empire."

From the Willits, Calif., Frontier Days fun-fest, July 3-4), to the Illinois Valley, Ore., Jubilee, Sept. 1-3, the "events" spectrum swings swiftly through the verdant nine-county region from San Francisco north to Grants Pass.

A handy road map shows such permanent visitor-attractions as Clear Lake, black-bass capital of the West; and the Avenue of the Giants, highway lined by sky-scraping redwood trees, south of Eureka.

Free folders and information are available from the Redwood Empire Association, 46 Kearny St., San Francisco.

COLOR goes to the head

By Mary Ellis

Independent, Press-Telegram Fashion Editor

Photography by Roger Coar

WHAT'S ON TOP of the spring fashion picture? Coifs, of course. And they'll make color headlines in Long Beach, beginning today.

More than 150 talented hair stylists from the United States and Canada will arrive here to compete for "wave" notices (trophies and money, too) on their top-notch designs.

The occasion: 19th annual Long Beach Hairdressers Guild Show today and Monday at the Lafayette Hotel.

DALLAS MORAN, Guild president, and Bill Cozart, show chairman, note that the beauty and educational show will give competitors a thorough brush-up on latest hair styles and color techniques.

Guest artist will be Comer Syprett, author, teacher and one of the greats among hair stylists.

Owner of a swish salon in Beverly Hills, he currently serves on the Official Hair Fashion Committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association.

He was chairman of the recent Grand Tour De Coiffeur to the beauty capitals—Paris, Vienna, Rome—and was one of two judges representing the U. S. at the International Hairstyling Premieres in Paris.

IN THE BIGGEST clip-tint-curl-and-swirl event sponsored by the local guild, competing stylists will vie for 20 trophies. The grand award winner will receive a gold cup and $200 in cash.

Show hours are from noon to 10:30 p. m. today; 11 a. m. to 10 p. m., Monday. All sessions are open to the public.

There will be separate contests for men and women stylists and students. All winners will compete in the finals.

Operation Big Headache: The Income Tax

Cannibals solved high levies, they simply ate the collector

By Frank L. Remington

"CANNIBALS had a way of solving high taxes," wrote a resentful taxpayer to the Collector of Internal Revenue. "They ate the tax collector."

Form 1040 is anathema to the average taxpayer and he mouths his opinion of it with the vituperation of a Russian diplomat addressing the United Nations. Occasionally an irate filer stages a frenzied protest, like the man who ripped off his shirt and trampled it underfoot before the astonished eyes of a local tax collector.

Such demonstrations are not without justification. Who can blame the bitterness of the man who gets nicked more for taxes than it costs to feed himself and his family? And certainly a new father had ample cause for hostility when the obstetrician ruled the infant was born one second after midnight Jan. 1. Papa missed a $600 exemption by one second. Probably Lou Costello epitomized the typical citizen's feeling when he declared: "I've saved the money to pay my income tax. Now all I have to do is borrow some to live on."

DESPITE THEIR feelings, most taxpayers make out their income tax forms truthfully. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) reports that, although about 25 per cent of the returns contain errors, most mistakes are mathematical and unintentional. Surprisingly, the rich miscalculate their tax much oftener than the poor. When it comes to absentmindedness, some half-million persons forget to sign their returns.

In checking returns, clearing up misunderstandings, correcting unintentional mistakes, ruling on special cases, and catching delinquent taxpayers, IRS workers acquire a barrel of headaches. But they get some chuckles, too. Last year one filer enclosed his false teeth with his return. "I won't need these," he explained. "I haven't enough money left to eat on." Another man glued a frizzy lock of hair to his return. "You have scalped me," he complained.

Last year the collector's office in Boston received a letter reading: "From the letterhead you can easily see that I am in prison. I'd like to know if the $800 which I stole has to be reported by me." In Buffalo, IRS accepted the explanation of a harassed father who did not attach a withholding statement when filing his return. "My 17-month-old son ate my W-2 form," he explained.

ONE CITIZEN refused to pay on the grounds that the government should be self-supporting. An adamant Southern gentleman smugly declared: "Oh, I don't have to pay federal taxes. I live in Virginia." And an indignant citizen blamed his inability to pay on "Federal laws, State laws, mother-in-law, brothers-in-law, sisters-in-law and outlaws."

One young woman, answering the tax form question as to whether she was married, wrote: "No, darn it." A man listed $1,000 for "hody depreciation"—the body, of course, being his own. And a woman attached a note to her tax form asking the government to mail the green stamps to her without delay.

Not infrequently, the tax bureau, like the draft board, encounters conscientious objectors. Last year, 12 Philadelphians declined to pay their tax. "It's not because of the money," their spokesman asserted, "but because the money may be spent on rearmament. We cannot help provide the weapons with which men will destroy other men."

OCCASIONALLY, IRS experiences difficulty in clearing up misconceptions. A Dallas father, for instance, noted that his exemptions totaled $4,500. Reporting his earnings at $3,500, he requested a refund of $1,000. It took four back-and-forth letters to show him the light.

Some taxpayers settle their accounts in singular ways. Last March a Kentucky farmer sent in a crate of eggs, explaining: "Since there ain't no market around here, I'll just pay you fellers in eggs. You can swap the eggs for money." Another man delivered an 80-pound sack of pennies to pay his $70 tax bill.

Even with a cursory examination, the IRS seems to possess an uncanny ability to spot errors and pull out phony returns for a complete audit. That's not to say that they catch every discrepancy. A case in point is the Californian who, temporarily without funds, purposely made an error. He wrote $85 on the line indicating the government owed him that much, rather than that he owed Uncle Sam. He surmised the collector would send the form back with a demand for $85. By then, this shrewd operator counted on having the money to settle his account. Several months later, he received a check from the Bureau of Internal Revenue. It was the $85 they "owed" him!

DEDUCTIONS are often a bone of contention. Last year one man made a charity deduction for "money spent for clothes to replace good suits that my wife gave to rummage sales." A New Yorker claimed that he drank two quarts of blackberry wine a week and two quarts of gin a month to help conserve water. The Bureau, of course, classed the cost of these items as non-deductible. One collector, however, did allow an allowance for "food for kittens to catch the mouse in my store."

IRS workers tell about a prim and proper maiden lady who listed a $3.95 deduction as "loss" for a spicy novel. Questioned, she declared that she'd bought a naughty novel as a gift for a Boston friend. Subsequently, she learned the book had been banned in Boston and "I felt it wouldn't be proper to send it."

In recent years taxpayers have claimed deductions on such items as bribes to police, the cost of maintaining riding horses for personal use, and the salary of a personal chauffeur. One man claimed his deceased Uncle Louis as a dependent. When questioned about it, he declared: "Sure Uncle Louie is a dependent. He's depending on me to keep his grave decorated."

ONE OF THE most bizarre cases of illegal deduction involved a woman who deducted $500 from her return for bad debts. Questioned about the item, she self-righteously replied that they were her own bills that she owed people about town. She knew they were worthless because she had not paid any of them in the last two years and did not intend to do so at any future time.

Depreciation problems, too, constantly harass the tax bureau. It nixed one husband's request to deduct depreciation on his wife because "she's worn out anyway and can't even get up to get breakfast anymore." Twenty-five young women from a model agency once asked permission to make tax deductions for "beauty depreciation." The ruling: Feminine curves cannot be classed as business equipment subject to depreciation.

One of the Internal Revenue Service's minor problems are those folks who, either through ignorance or outright defiance, flatly refuse to ante up. One citizen returned a blank tax form with a memo attached. "My son and I have studied the prospectus you sent us, and the application for membership," the note read. "We have decided, however, that we do not care to join your organization at this time."

IRS'S BIGGEST headache is the taxpayer who willfully falsifies his income or attempts to dodge payment. Happily, these welchers generally trip over their own duplicity. Agents even caught up with a tax expert who signed returns in disappearing ink, hoping his signature would disappear before the fabrications were discovered.

Nor could a profiteer escape the consequences of his deception. This character buried his ill-gotten gains under the earthen floor of his cellar without bothering to report the money on his income tax. Several years later he dug up the $165,000 cache to find the currency deteriorated almost beyond recognition. In desperation, he shipped the moldy mess to the currency redemption division of the Treasury Department. The division not only redeemed the currency in crisp new bills but notified the Collector of Internal Revenue. And it didn't take expert investigators long to bring the man to justice.

In apprehending evaders IRS agents are fortified with years of experience covering just about every possible trick and all its variations. In addition, the bureau often receives tips from banks which, by law, must report any unusual transactions. Information from this source has exposed a large number of tax dodgers. Actually, the would-be cheater has as little chance for success as of pleading innocent when his sins are uncovered.

IN THE FUTURE, evaders will have even less chance of going undiscovered. IRS plans call for an Internal Revenue Academy to train high-caliber agents to do an even more efficient job. A bureau official predicts that every dollar spent on such training will return $10 in tax money that otherwise never would have been collected.

Despite his antipathy toward Operation Big Headache, John Q. usually antes up the full amount of his obligation, albeit with considerable griping. In the final analysis, though, he realizes that Uncle Sam does a pretty good job for him and that the income tax is a necessary evil. But he hopes that Form 1040 can some day be relegated to limbo of forgotten institutions. Until that Utopian day arrives, income tax forms will be synonymous with headaches.

The Amazing World of Space-Age Optics

Is there life on Mars? New instrument may give answer

By Charles C. Dayton

IF YOU OWNED the type of camera they use to track satellites, you could stand in New York and photograph a golf ball flying high in the air above Chicago—and you could count the stitches on a baseball eight miles away.

With another optical instrument, you could measure the invisible light given off by stars that are a million times more distant than the sun!

And even more incredible than either of these instruments are others that scientists have developed in support of America's space exploration program.

Most people think of optical instruments as being big magnifying glasses. Actually, the devices do many jobs besides magnification.

FOR EXAMPLE, the "golf ball camera" is used at Cape Canaveral, Fla., to photograph missiles as they rocket down the Atlantic Missile Range. But an optical instrument which is part of this telescope simultaneously analyzes the gas trails of the missiles.

Just as the volume and color of smoke from a car's tailpipe tells a lot about how the engine is operating, so the gas trails from missiles tell our scientists and engineers a great deal about rocket-engine performance. The information aids materially in improving engine design.

Interestingly, the main lens in this Roti is only 24 inches across. Yet the telescope camera observes rocket performance at great distances. This "seeing" saves money. In a recent typical case, Roti revealed that a rocket's second stage ignited before the first stage had separated, pointing immediately to a required adjustment.

When connected to electronic circuits, optical instruments can see things, such as infrared and ultraviolet light, which are invisible to the human eye. Soon, from the nose of a rocket high in space, a unique optical instrument made in Connecticut will actually measure the amount of invisible ultraviolet light given off by certain stars. Similar optical instruments will be part of U. S. probes of Mars, Venus and the moon.

U. S. EMINENCE in optical production is related to the history of this unusual field.

The men who can cut, grind, and polish tiny pieces or huge slabs of very hard materials into intricate lens and mirror configurations are more than ordinary craftsmen. The artful skills in their fingertips represent generations of accumulated knowledge which began largely in Western Europe, the recognized center of fine optics production through the 1930s.

The year 1937 brought a new optics manufacturing picture to America. Two American businessmen founded the Perkin-Elmer Corp. as the first source of fine optics made in the United States.

During the following World War II, the nation's rapid development in electronics and allied engineering fields paved the way for unique, made-in-America optical instruments. Engineers and instrument development scientists with skills in such exotic new areas as infrared, ultraviolet and astrophysics, joined optical craftsmen at Perkin-Elmer and at other fine U. S. optics firms throughout the nation. These firms are few, because the art-science of fine optics production remains a very rare skill today.

The resulting optical-electronic teamwork has produced many space age break throughs. For example, an optical instrument has been designed to scientifically "see" the surface of Mars and help answer an age-old question: "Is there life on Mars?"

MOUNTED ON A space vehicle the U. S. plans to orbit near Mars, the instrument will collect and analyze invisible infrared radiation from the planet's surface. The resulting readings compared with similar readings taken on the earth, will tell whether or not trees, grass and other forms of vegetable life as we know them presently exist on Mars.

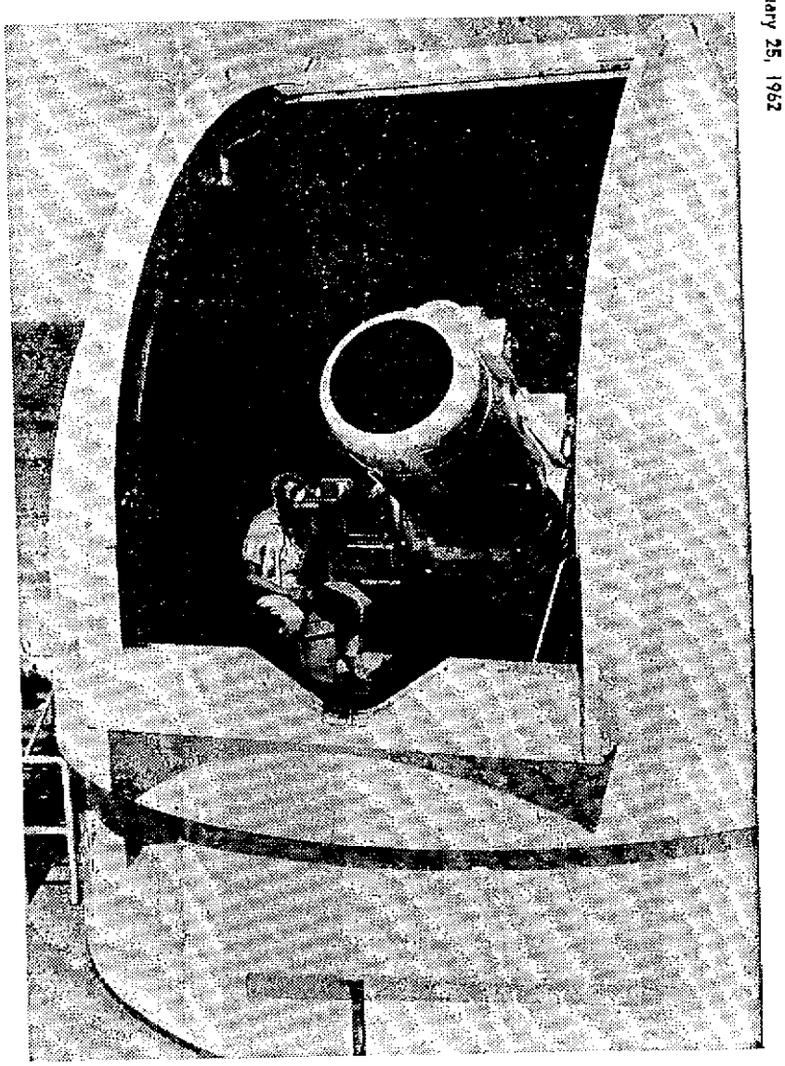

The Samos, Midas and Tiros satellites provide additional evidence of U. S. electronic-optical skills. The Samos satellite will be capable of aerial reconnaissance and photography; the Midas uses infrared sensing equipment to detect exhaust flames of an enemy missile within seconds after it is launched; the Tiros weather observation satellites carry special cameras that transmit photographs of the world's cloud cover back to earth.

Forerunners of Tiros were U. S. satellites equipped with an infrared-optical system called "Weather Eye."

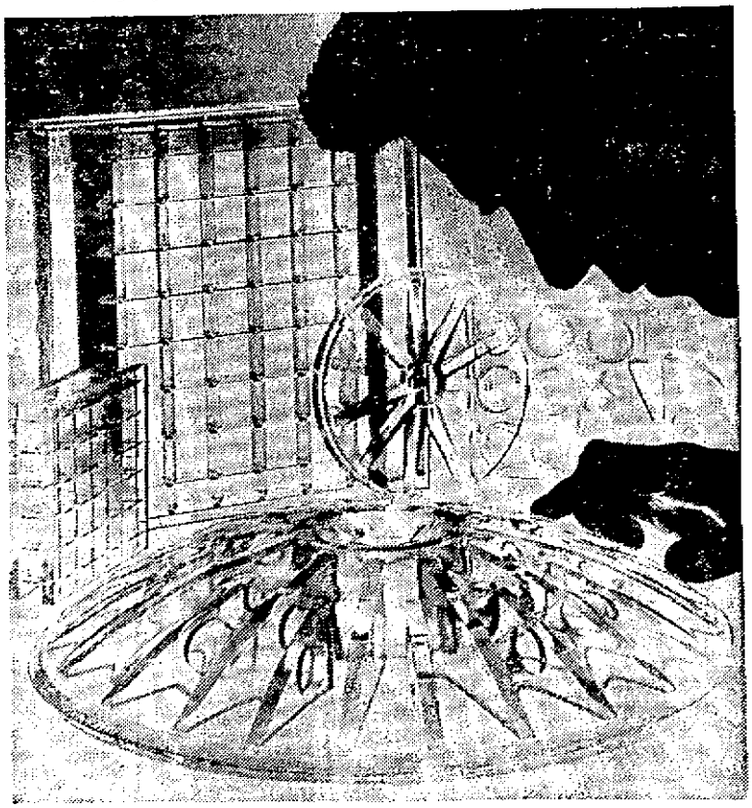

A major optical constribution of the United States (made during the International Geophysical Year in 1960) is a unique satellite-star tracking camera. With its finely built optics, this camera photographs satellites against their specific starry background in the sky. Since accurate charts of star positions already exist, scientists studying the camera's developed films can precisely locate the paths traveled by orbiting satellites. The same phographs also enable more accurate measurement of intercontinental distances on earth.

A MORE "down-to-earth" recent optical achievement of the United States is a special optical instrument developed for the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. Called a "Terrain Analyzer," it identifies natural objects, such as different types of soil, grass, sand, water, and mud, by analyzing the invisible radiation which these objects reflect. Carried in an airplane flying ahead of armies advancing on land, future versions of the Terrain Analyzer might be designed to inform field commanders of the exact "trafficability" of terrain lying ahead of them —which areas will support tanks, wheeled vehicles, foot soldiers and other type of military "traffic."

Another fine electro-optical instrument is the unique periscope system employed by Commander Shepard on May 5, 1961, for viewing and navigation during the first historic piloting of a Mercury capsule through space. His spontaneous exclamation on sighting the earth through his periscope—"What a beautiful view!"—foretells a continuing position of leadership by United States scientists in space-age optics.

With this Roti camera one could stand in New York and photograph a golf ball flying high above Chicago; count stitches in baseball eight miles away.

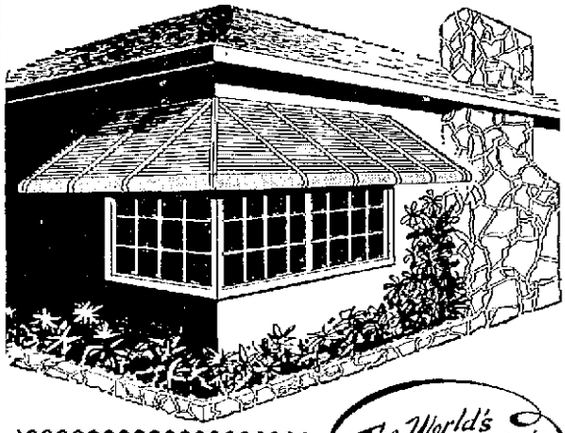

American optical-electronic ingenuity has designed unusual, lightweight optical shapes like these to meet critical requirements of the Space Age.

Seagulls: Seven Dollars an Ounce

By Richard Emery

THE SEAGULL works for a living.

He pays for his keep.

He's a professional eater. He works for the State of California, and as a servant of the state he gets the state's protection.

California Fish & Game Code, Sect. 2000: "It is unlawful to take (hunt, pursue, catch, capture or kill, or attempt to do so) any bird . . . except as provided in this code." Then, Sect. 3512 classifies the gull as a "protected non-game bird."

That means, don't even annoy a seagull. And you can hear around the waterfront that there's a $25 fine on seagull killers. Hah! Over at the State Fish & Game Department office on Terminal Island, they set you straight on that.

"The latest sharpshooter we caught shooting seagulls landed in court. First, the judge took away the sharpshooter's beautiful shotgun. Then he fined him."

The fine for killing seagulls has been running, says the F&G, from $100 to $150. Say, about $7 an ounce!

Why this legal halo over the seagull?

"POINT ONE," says the F&G, "he scavenges. Point Two, he's pretty. And Point Three, he's not fit to eat. Oh, maybe you could eat him if you were starving."

As you might guess by watching him zip, zoom and sail, the gull relishes his lot in life. He loves to eat; and because he eats, the state protects him. For his size, he's feather-light. His bones are thin-walled as malt straws. He can out-fly his weight in rocket planes. He has a sharp eye.

And he has the appetite of about six lions.

Given a chance, he'll eat so much he can't fly. Or he'll swallow a fish so long—a big jacksmelt, say—that it won't all go down until his 100-horsepower, supersonic digestion makes room.

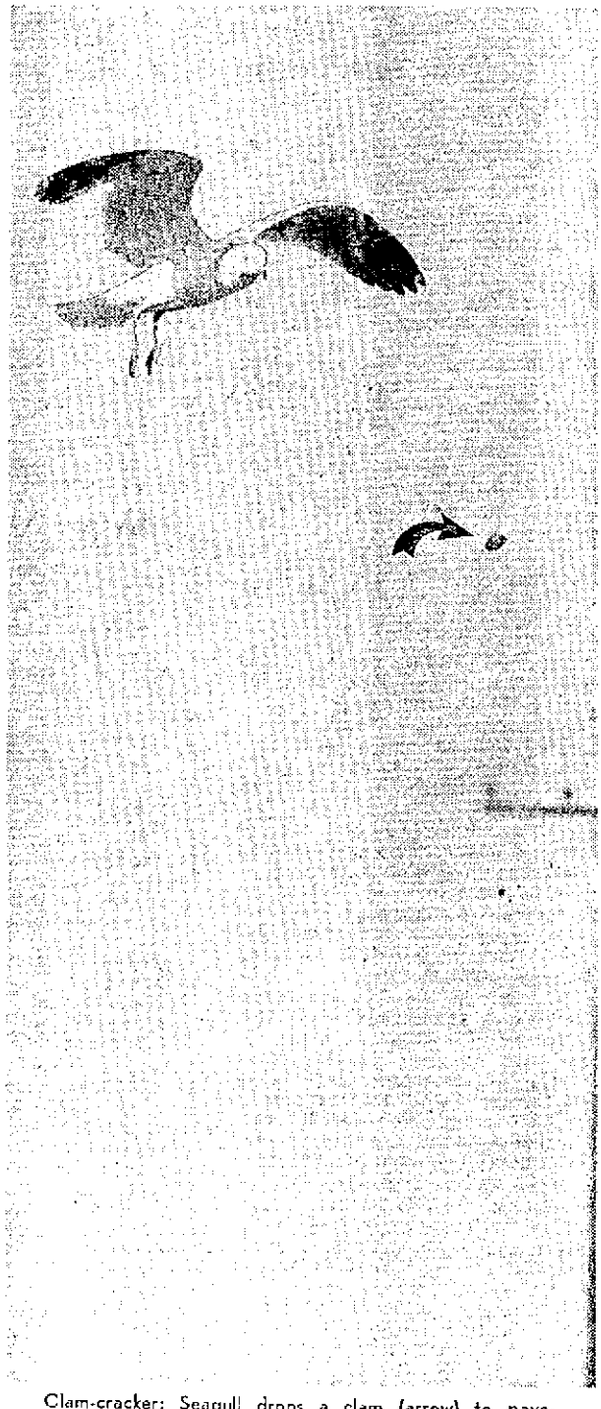

FOR A BITE of shellfish he'll work hard and fight well.

He and his pals will put on a big show of shellfishery, seagull style, when the dredgers start pouring harbor mud into the Pier J fill.

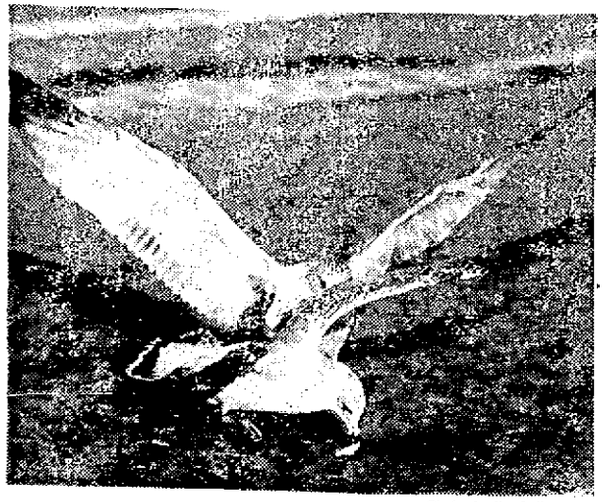

About 2,000 gulls watch the mud splashing from the dredger's pipeline. A clam appears in the mud. One gull wins a battle over it and flaps shoreward, clamping the clam in his big yellow bill.

Fifty feet over a paved street, the gull drops the clam. He dives after it. If the shell doesn't burst open on the first drop, the gull picks it up, flies higher and drops it again. So on, higher and higher, until it breaks open.

Then, fighting off bandit gulls, the seagull goes to work—eating, that is.

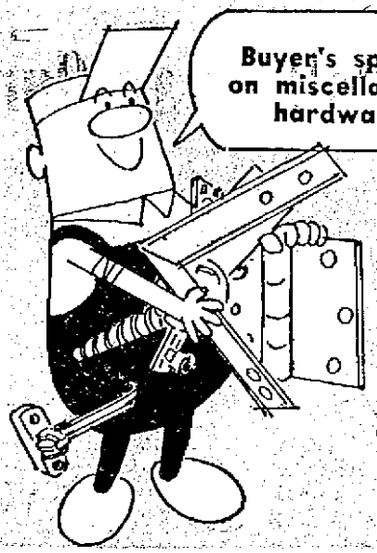

Clam-cracker: Seagull drops a clam (arrow) to pavement to crack it open, repeating until he succeeds.

Photos by the Author

When the clam is cracked open, the gull swoops down to eat, fighting off gulls who would come to dinner.

Drivers That We've All Known

Often in every motorist's life there's a time when fellow drivers just don't seem human . . . more like the bulldog, chicken, hare, tortoise or kitten, wouldn't you say?

Illustrations by the Author

And there's the skunk who grabs the parking place you were about to ease into . . . and you know he saw you.

By Beth Chandler

IT DOESN'T happen every day, but take a look at the illustrations and see if there aren't times when all of us feel that our fellow motorists look this way. It's the time after we've had a bad day and, as we clunk along home, all the other drivers just don't seem human.

Some of the types -- and some of the gripes:

Rather harmless but annoying is the Mule-head driver. This is the type that takes a position behind a parked car and waits until the occupant is good and ready to vacate the spot. The fact that traffic has come to a standstill because of him doesn't bother this kind at all. The Mule-head has no nerves — just nerve.

Next on the un-popularity list is the Bulldog driver. This one sets his jaw and cleaves to the line making no allowances for anyone. He knows his rights and he's going to take them, even if it kills him, and sometimes it does. If you're ever forced over the white line, he's the one to watch out for. He'll neither slow down nor veer.

ANOTHER ONE to watch out for is the kittenish driver. This one is usually quite young. Life to him is just one big frolic. Death and accident are things that never enter his fuzzy little head. Rules and laws are for laughs and streets are for tag games and races. There is a high mortality rate on this type of Cat.

Speaking of races, every busy street has its Aesop's version. As sure as you have an important date or a plane to catch, you'll come up behind the Tortoise driver. This one is well along in years, and so is his car. He looks neither to the right nor the left, but plods along at horse and buggy speed, unmindful of the lane-hopping Hare.

Now even if he isn't going anywhere, the Hare driver has to be first. He weaves through the traffic, missing you by a whisker. At the rate he zooms by, you suppose he is miles away, until you see him pleading with a traffic officer at the side of the road. This is where the Tortoise overtakes the Hare, and you are cheering for the Hare.

THE MOST dangerous driver on the road is the Chicken driver. This one comes at you full speed, depending upon your ability and willingness to evade him, even if you have the right of way. Usually you do "chicken out" and let him have "his road," but there is always a possibility that he will meet up with the Bulldog driver. When this happens, nobody wins except the doctor, the lawyer, and the mortician.

The Stinker of them all is the ornery Skunk driver who sneaks into the parking place that you were about to ease into. And you know he saw you, too.

Now that we have had our say about the Mule-heads, the Bulldogs, the Cats, the Tortoises, the Jackrabbits, the Chickens, and the Skunks, the question naturally arises, "Aren't there any people driving cars anymore? The answer is: "Of course, Dear Reader, there's still You and I."

ARCHITECT'S Sketchbook

For relaxing winter evenings in the home shop, this easy colonial trio, made from plan, are happy choice.

By William Meyerriecks

TODAY'S PROJECT, three colonial accent pieces for bedroom, hallway and bath, are real relaxers for winter evenings for the home workshop devotee.

Biggest of the items is only 23 inches high, none is complicated, all are easily built, and the design is decorative.

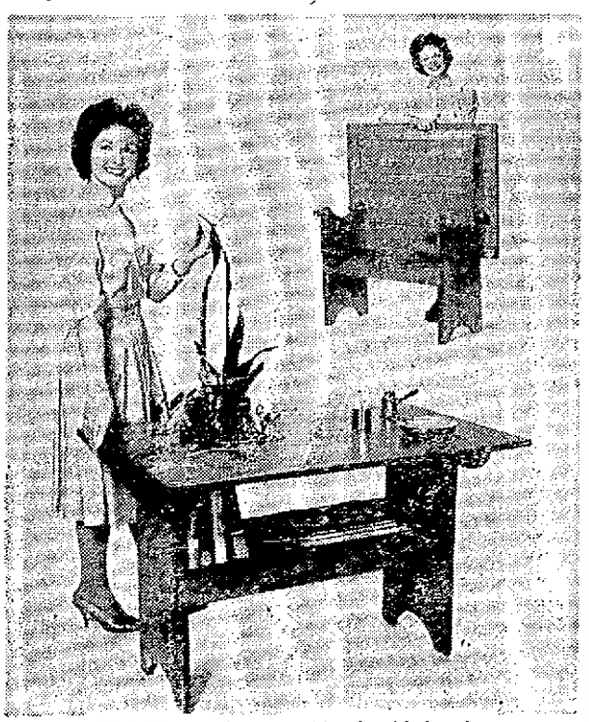

The mirror chest is 14x14 inches, takes an 8-inch square mirror. The wall shelves are 23x16 inches — three shelves and three drawers. The magazine rack, handy for the bathroom, is 18 inches tall, 12 wide and 6 deep.

TO ORDER: Specify Colonial Accent Pieces Plans S-46 and send 50 cents with name and address to Building Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif.

Easy-To-Make Table-Bench

IF YOUR HOME needs another table and an extra seat and if you are handy with simple tools, you can build this hutch table-bench from a full-sized pattern and fill the bill. It's an easy project and inexpensive when you do it yourself. Useful as a table in many places in the home; then, flip up the top and you have a bench. The pattern is accompanied by materials list, directions and illustrations.

TO ORDER, specify Hutch Table-Bench Pattern No. 279 and send $1 in currency, money order or check with name and address to Steve Ellingson, Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram Pattern Dept., Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif.

The William Wolf family takes added pleasure in their home since this comfortable, informal room was added.

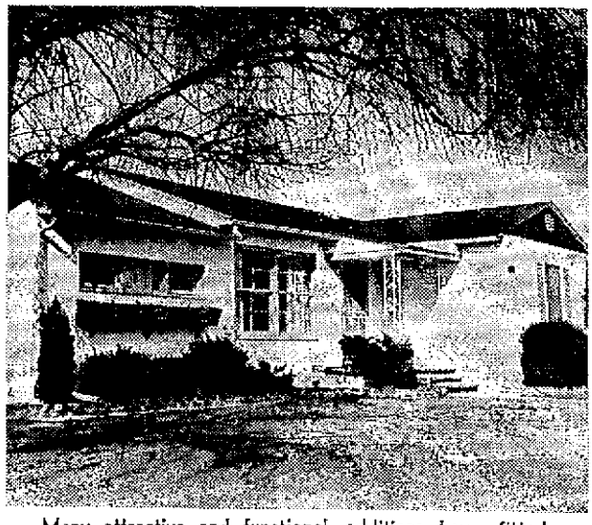

Changes

By Stella George

YEARS AGO, while living in a comfortable old house in Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. William Wolf dreamed of enjoying life someday in a modern Southern California home. They moved to Long Beach about eight years ago and bought a small, two-bedroom home at 5343 Calderwood Ct., a corner site. They liked the area so much that they decided to customize the home as time went on to suit their special needs.

Step number one was to make the one-car garage that adjoined the house into a master bedroom. The garage was at a slightly lower level than the house, and a small element of luxury crept in when the bedroom became a sunken room reached by two steps leading down from the living room. A small iron railing added a decorative touch.

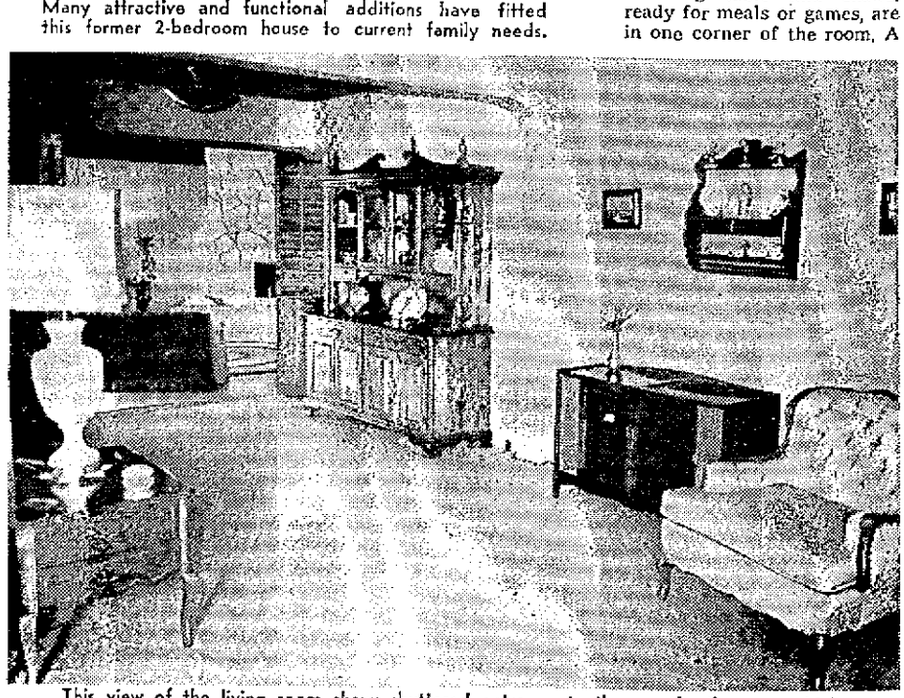

The next step in customizing the house was recently completed when a large family room was added at the far end of the living-dining room. Folding shutter doors open onto the room that is high, wide and handsome in every respect.

Many attractive and functional additions have fitted this former 2-bedroom house to current family needs.

INTEREST in the room centers around a stone corner fireplace of Palo Verde stone. A cozy effect was created in the large room by grouping furniture around the fireplace, rather than placing it along the walls. A couch faces the fireplace, with a wing backed chair on one side and a rocker on the other. A round coffee table centers one of the room's two braided rugs. The TV is placed near the fireplace.

Dining table and chairs, ready for meals or games, are in one corner of the room. A

This view of the living room shows shuttered entrance to the new family room which was added at end of former living-dining area. Breakfront (right) fills barren section.

Fit a House to Family Needs

glass wall to the left of the entrance leads to the patio area. On the right, diamond windows were used. The high ceiling in the room is beamed. Practical tile squares are used on the floor.

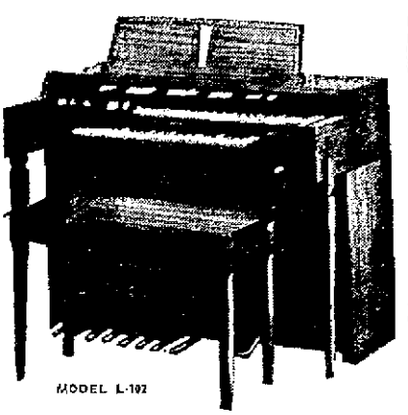

A nice contrast to the family room is the more formal decorating scheme used in the living room. Couch and chairs are French Provincial in style with well chosen accessories. A large mirror on the mantle adds depth to the room. Carpeting is carved wool in a neutral tone of sandalwood. A handsome breakfront stands near the shutter doors with a drop-leaf table on the other side of the dining area.

THE TWO original bedrooms in the home are designated to the boy and girl in the family. Mrs. Wolf did an expert job of interior decorating, especially since she had the problem of working with small rooms. In the girl's room, twin beds are treated as couches, with tailored covers giving a den effect to the decor. The beds are placed along two walls, with a lamp-table in the corner. On another wall a large chest of drawers with a mirror above doubles as a vanity. A maple desk with bookshelves is handsome and functional. An occasional chair fits into a corner. With all this, the room appears spacious, and is, of course, well adapted to a teen-age girl's needs. Best of all, it is very attractive.

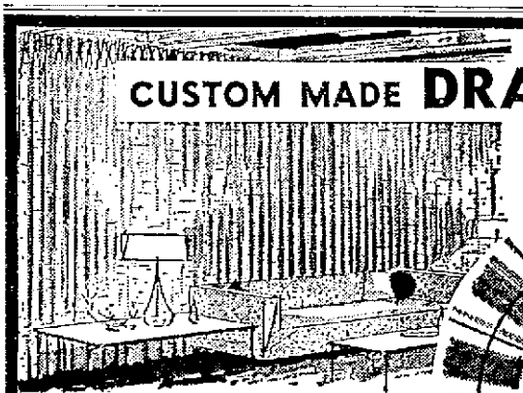

In the boy's room twin beds are on opposite sides of the room. There is plenty of space for a necessary desk, chest of drawers, bookshelves, and chairs. A high, narrow shelf, located above the doorway and running the length of the room provides space for treasured models.

The large area of the master bedroom provides plenty of room for Mrs. Wolf's hobbies—such as sewing. Future plans call for the addition of a bathroom off the bedroom, which will make the home complete.

ASSOCIATED HSPC CONTRACTORS

With an upstairs expansion plan that would add two more large bedrooms, full bath and a study, this 1½-story house has two bedrooms located on lower floor.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Modest Home With Room to Grow

By Jules Loh

MORE THAN doubling the area of sleeping quarters, a built-in expansion plan makes this House of the Week design ideal for the house hunter with a growing family.

"The upstairs can be left unfinished until the expansion is needed," said Rudolph A. Matern, the architect who designed B-75. "And if you're handy with tools you can do the work yourself, a part at a time, for a fraction of the professional cost."

The house is an attractive 1½ stories with a modest 1,232 square feet of living area on the first floor, which contains two bedrooms.

THE UPSTAIRS expansion would add 720 square feet more — a huge 12x20-foot bedroom, extra large bath, and a suite including another large bedroom with a studio or study.

Another striking feature of B-75, in tune with today's needs, is a 9-foot long bank of storage cabinets in the downstairs hall.

The storage wall, 18 inches deep, provides more than 94 cubic feet of utility space. Its excellent location makes it convenient not only to both bedrooms and the bathroom (for towels and blankets and such) but also handy to the kitchen, a perfect place for the ironing board and other gear that frequently gets shoved into some inaccessible corner.

PROBABLY one of the most used rooms in the house would be the 160-square-foot private rear porch on the ground floor which is entered from both the living room, through sliding glass doors, and the bedroom.

The kitchen is especially well designed—a full 10-foot width, but with a U-shaped service area which means fewer steps. It's a real family kitchen, too, with plenty of room for breakfast space; and has a convenient side entrance service door.

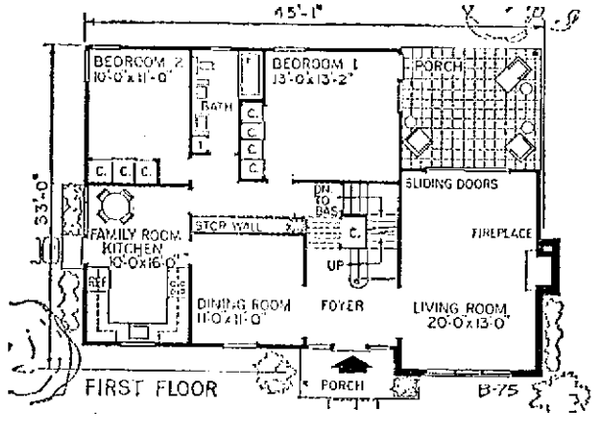

The house is 45 feet 1 inch wide and 33 feet deep, leaving plenty of room on a moderate sized lot for a detached garage.

This house has an unusual amount of storage space, in addition to the downstairs storage wall. Note the abundance of closets in each of the four bedrooms, plus the coat closet in the foyer and the large linen closet in the upstairs bathroom. Lined up side to side, they would require a clothes pole 42 feet long—just three feet less than the width of the house.

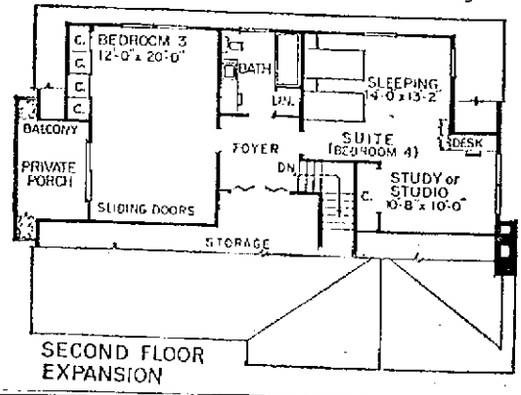

THE UPSTAIRS expansion also leaves room for a walk-in storage area, entered through 6 foot wide doors; and there are unlimited storage opportunities in the basement.

A dramatic feature of the upstairs is the private balcony porch off the large bedroom—an attraction rivaling the studio facilities adjoining the other upstairs bedroom.

Downstairs, the front foyer provides good circulation by eliminating through-room traffic. Thus the living room remains isolated, a formal 20x13-foot entertaining area

Points of note in these floor plans include abundance of closet room, excellent circulation and expansion possibilities for second floor. The circulation is good.

Dramatic overhead design plus part of a nine-foot long storage wall are shown in this artist's conception of the hall and foyer. Storage is conveniently placed.

featuring a large, attention-getting fireplace.

THE EXTERIOR of B-75 is an appealing combination of shingles, stone veneer and a brick-and-stone chimney. The large picture window in the living room is attractive from both indoors and out, and the long flower box beneath the kitchen and dining room windows adds to the horizontal lines of the house.

Time to Prune Fuchsias

Pruning of fuchsias is a February job. Before you prune, however, consider just what the needs are.

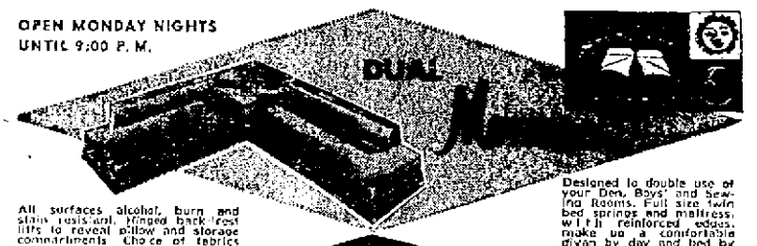

A fuchsia, like a rose, blooms on new growth each year, so the gardener's aim is to promote enough new growth to carry plenty of bloom next summer. First remove all weak or damaged wood, then cut the rest back rather severely unless you have some special reason for keeping it long. At least half of the old wood can be removed without danger to the plant and taking more is not an uncommon practice.

Lamb Dish for Kitchen Barbecue

Hot sweet-sour sauce that combines canned fruit cocktail, catsup, brown sugar and vinegar turns oven-barbecued lamb riblets into a meal-time specialty item.

By Mildred K. Flanary
Independent-Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

NO NEED to wait for warm weather to barbecue when the recipe for Oven-Barbecued Lamb Riblets is at your fingertips. The lean lamb riblets are barbecued right in the oven, and the fragrance of the meat as it cooks in a rich, savory sauce will bestir appetites long before dinner-time.

The sauce is an exotic melange of canned fruit cocktail and syrup, catsup, brown sugar, wine vinegar, mustard and cornstarch. The fruit cocktail bits are almost guaranteed to make you forget any chill in the air as you enjoy the succulence of this barbecue.

Launch dinner with a hot consomme perked up with lemon slices and served in mugs. Along with the main course, rice or noodles sprinkled with chopped parsley would be a good accompaniment. A hot green vegetable or tossed salad, a light dessert and coffee will complete the menu in party-special style.

Oven-Barbecued Lamb Riblets

4 lbs. lean lamb riblets
Salt
Pepper
1 can (1 lb. 1 oz.) fruit cocktail
1 cup catsup
⅔ cup brown sugar, packed
⅔ cup wine vinegar
1 tsp. dry mustard
2 tbsps. cornstarch
Cooked rice or noodles

Sprinkle lamb with salt and pepper. Place on rack of baking pan. Bake in 400-degree (hot) oven 30 minutes. Turn once while baking. Drain off excess fat. Combine all remaining ingredients except rice in saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick and clear. Pour sauce over lamb. Return to oven for 1 hour; reduce oven heat to 350 degrees (moderate). Serve with rice or noodles. Makes 4 servings.

$5 for Your Recipe

SEAFOOD in tasty thermidor style wins $5 as the best recipe of the week for Helen Simon, 1734 W. 20th St., Long Beach 10. The recipe:

Seafood Thermidor

1 4-oz. can drained mushrooms
1 tbsp. butter
1 cup diced cook seafood (lobster or crab)
1 10-oz. frozen can condensed cream of shrimp soup
½ cup milk
¼ tsp. dry mustard
dash of cayenne pepper
grated parmesan cheese
paprika

Brown mushrooms lightly in butter. Add seafood and cook a few minutes. Add soup, milk, dry mustard and cayenne. Heat slowly, stirring often until soup is thawed. Spoon mixture into casserole dish. Sprinkle top with cheese and paprika. Bake at 400 deg. for 15 minutes. Serve with rice.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the women. Send yours, with name and address to Recipe Contest Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram Southland Magazine, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12.

GRADE CARD

How Much Study?

By Harry Karns
Education Research Associates

HOW MUCH time should a student spend studying outside the classroom?

Parents ask teachers this question more frequently than almost any other.

The answer varies with the pupil and the course. But here are some rules of thumb formed from experience and research:

Students in the upper elementary grades, should spend about one-half hour studying on school nights.

Junior high school students should spend one and one-half hours on school nights.

Senior high school students taking a regular college preparatory course should spend from 15 to 20 hours a week—at least two hours each school night except Friday, and six hours or more over the weekend.

College students should figure on two hours of study for every hour spent in class.

HOW THIS home study time is divided depends on the student's ability, background, and insight. The student who finds English more difficult than his other subjects will spend—or should spend—more time on English.

Here's a suggestion that will save your child a lot of midnight agony:

Do the most difficult lesson first.

The subject requiring closest concentration and greatest expenditure of energy should be tackled while the student is fresh and alert. This rule may seem contrary to human nature, which wants to put the hardest off until the last, but it pays dividends on the report card.

Here are some other suggestions that will help your student:

1. Have a definite time and place to do your studying.

2. Make sure you understand the homework assignment. How many pages are to be covered? Exactly what are you expected to do?

3. As a general rule, study after dinner rather than after school. You need the break.

4. Take a 10-minute rest about every 50 minutes. Do something entirely different.

SOMETIMES a child seems to be saddled with more homework than he can do without seriously curtailing his normal after-school activities.

If you think a teacher is giving too much homework, go to school and have a talk with her. She may have forgotten that other teachers also give homework assignments.

(If you wish assistance in helping your child to do good work in school, mail questions and requests to Harry Karns, Room 403, Independent, Press-Telegram, Sixth and Pine, Long Beach 12. Letters cannot be answered individually, but some will be answered in this "Grade Card" column.)

MEDICINE AND YOU

Allergy Noted in Children

By Ben Zinser

Independent, Press-Telegram Medical-Science Writer

IF A CHILD has a listless appearance, pallor and circles under his eyes, he may have an allergy, reports a team of doctors in the journal Pediatrics.

If the examining physican can find no anemia, chronic infection or other generalized body disease, he should suspect an allergy, the report says.

The doctors describe 50 allergy cases seen in a pediatrics practice in a four-year period. In only one instance did the allergic children fail to have these five symptoms or signs: fatigue, pallor, eye circles, nasal congestion, irritability. In addition, most of the children also had abdominal pain and headache.

Foods were found to be the most common cause for the allergy. The most frequent offenders: milk, chocolate, eggs.

A 21-YEAR-OLD Southland college student prepared to toss a two-inch-long firecracker at the fraternity house next door.

Suddenly the firecracker exploded in his hand—only 15 inches from his right ear.

Question: Can a single loud report cause hearing impairment?

Answer: Yes. And doctors are certain in this case.

For two years this student had been serving in a research laboratory as a subject for hearing experiments. Doctors had detailed records of his original hearing ability.

Now, two years after the mishap, the student still suffers a hearing loss at high-frequency levels. He has a ringing in his ear, too. When he becomes tired the ringing is loud enough to be annoying, doctors report in The Laryngoscope.

A LONDON physical medicine specialist reports a successful trial of a pain-killing drug for arthritis.

The drug, called Valtorin, was given to 89 arthritics and effectively relieved pain for 71 of them, according to Dr. L. B. Bromfield in The Practitioner.

Valtorin proved of particular value for the patient beset by pain resulting from muscle spasm around the arthritic joint. But those patients suffering from severe penetrating bone pain didn't derive as much benefit from the drug.

Valtorin is a trademark name for a combination of two drugs—chlorthenoxazin and phenacetin.

JET FLIGHTS, despite their shorter duration, can be tiring, says an aviation medicine authority.

Says Dr. Keith G. Watson, chief medical officer for the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration in Geneva, Switzerland:

"I originally thought that jet aircraft with their shorter flying time, flying at high altitude with minimal turbulence, would lessen flight fatigue. My own personal observation has been that such jet flights, although of shorter duration, appear to be more fatiguing."

Dr. Watson gives his comment in Archives of Environmental Health.

DOCTORS have long debated whether medicines applied to the skin can exert any effect on the body's deeper tissues.

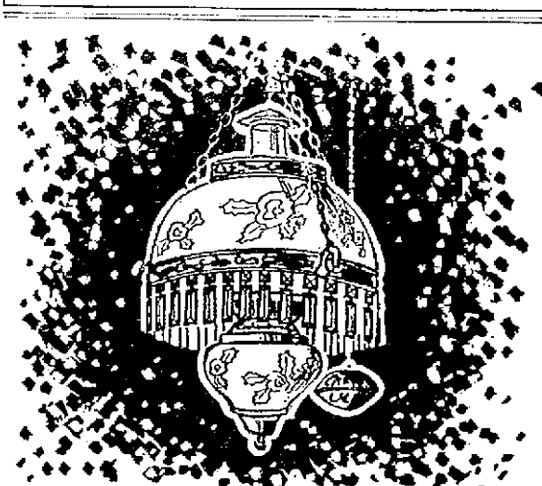

New research indicates that they can, reports Dr. Bernard S. Post, Brooklyn, in Archives of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation.

Using an electromyograph, a device that graphically records muscle activity, Dr. Post conducted research among 285 subjects.

He sprayed a rubefacient (skin-reddening agent) from an aerosol can onto the back of the arms of the volunteers before they performed certain exercises.

He found that the subjects could work the triceps muscle longer without fatigue than they could when the spray was not applied.

His conclusion: Through-the-skin absorption does take place.

Mexico's Finest Days

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Independent, Press-Telegram Travel Editor

IF YOU plan your trip to Mexico in the spring — particularly in April — you are planning wisely.

In addition to seeing Mexico's beautifully different scenery (even the flowers will have been in a riot of color for some weeks), there'll be special events almost everywhere.

Most spectacular of these offerings are "Passion plays" on Good Friday, April 20. Reports from the Land of Manana — particularly those from such sources as Mexicana Airlines, declare that honors for the best plays go to the town of Ixtapalapa, a suburb of Mexico City. Hundreds of tourists each year attend with thousands of Mexicans.

The play begins in the morning when "trials" are held on a wooden platform in front of the village church with the cast attired in Biblical costumes. Roman soldiers wear sateen tunics, capes and metal military hats adorned with bright plumes.

SPECTATORS and actors project themselves into the drama, and shouts and sobs of the crowd are often genuine.

The trial of Christ before Pontius Pilate is followed by the "Procession of the Three Falls." The chained Christ, carrying a wooden cross, is led towards a hilltop, followed by the other actors, villagers and spectators. The magnificence of costumes, clatter of horses' hooves in the dust, and plaintive drum and fife music add to a scene dazzling in color, sound and motion.

On the summit of the hill, Christ and the two thieves are "nailed" to the crosses. Actually, their feet rest on small and nearly invisible platforms, but to onlookers, the action is solemnly realistic. Emotion rises, and there are loud moans from the crowd until the time of descent from the cross, often hours later.

ANOTHER Passion Play of note takes place in San Pedro Actopan, less than a two-hour drive from Mexico City. Here, the tourist enjoys a less-thronged drama, with the added attraction of the town's superb 16th century monastery.

A "must" for April visitors is the line-up of "home and garden" tours in Mexico. These tours include visits to a 16th century colonial home, an 18th century residence, the home of a famous Mexican, and a modern home. You can make arrangements a month in advance by writing to Countess of Premio Real, Cerr. de Amargo 22, San Angel 20, D. F. Mexico. We suggest you send your request airmail.

Costumed productions of works by Cervantes, among others, are featured during weekends in April and May in Guanajuanto's outdoor theater. Also, the Hipodromo de las Americas race track in Mexico City offers special handicaps, with racing Thursdays, Saturdays, Sundays and

Did you know antiques are allowed into the U.S. duty-free providing they were made before 1830? But be sure you secure certificates of antiquity from the dealers.

Original paintings and sculptures are also admitted duty-free: but it's good "insurance" to have the American Consul in the country of purchase issue his certification of original art.

Tourists in the Soviet Union who want to sample the wares at one of the state supermarkets do well to carry their own adding machine, advises Pan American Airways.

Grocery shoppers must total prices of the items they intend to buy and pay for them in advance. The cashier hands out a receipt for the amount paid, which is then turned over to a clerk who fills the order.

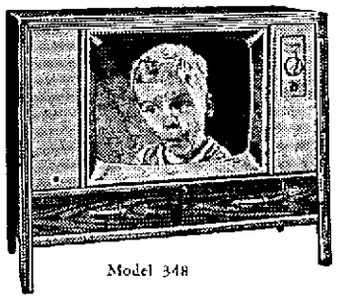

Anyone who makes a mistake in his addition or orders a product which has been sold out goes back to the end of the line.

Going Places

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

ON THE EVE of our departure from Tel Aviv, a howling deluge of Biblical proportions invaded the earth.

In the afternoon we had taken lunch in the cozy but deserted confines of an Egyptian cafe on the waterfront of the adjoining prehistoric city of Jaffa, whence Jonah had sailed. Flat Oriental rolls toasted on the kerosene heater, the fisherman who had just caught the loup de mer we ate warmed his boots next to them, and an electric Menorah (candelabrum) with glass fish for lights relieved the gloom of the empty restaurant. The torrent leaked copiously through the roof, and outside the Mediterranean beat itself into frustration on the sea wall in its efforts to engulf us.

That night 60-mile-an-hour gusts rattled the shutters on our hotel room window and Wagnerian thunderbolts seemed to vent the Almighty's rage on the feckless race of men. We timidly telephoned El Al Israel Airlines to see if, by any chance, the jet that was to take us hence on the morrow had not managed to arrive.

The agent's reply was outraged and incredulous: "So why shouldn't it arrive?" he answered our question with a question.

SO WHY NOT, indeed? In those words lay the spirit of this country sprung from seeds 3,500 years old, where the impossible was done yesterday and the phenomenal takes a little longer.

Inextricably entwined with the story of modern Israel is the story of the above-mentioned El Al, our candidate for the world's most colorful airline.

We sat in the crew lounge of one of their 707 jets after taking off in a return engagement of the previous day's tempest (in these two days Israel had a year's average rainfall). Off duty for a few hours on the long haul to New York was Capt. Danny Rosin, who had been with El Al since its start—hours after the 1948 proclamation of the state, when bookmakers were quoting Israel the shortest life expectancy of any nation since 1776.

You'd think they'd have other things on their minds than starting an international airline. As a matter of fact, it was one of the most important things Israel had to think about. The country's greatest challenge at the time was to "gather the dispersed of Judah from the four corners of the earth" (Isaiah, xi:12).

BUT IN A LAND where all citizens are considered members of a long lost family, the most proprietary attitudes developed.

"Sometimes," Capt. Rosin told us, "we have to send back word for passengers to stop parading around the cabin because they're upsetting the trim. You think they pay any attention? They tell the stewardess this is their airline, and if they feel like walking around they will."

We totted up a total of 21 languages spoken by the crew on this flight, ranging from Arabic to Zulu. Capt. Rosin himself, who learned his flying with the Royal South African Air Force in World War II, commands Afrikaans, Dutch, Flemish, Swahili and a few others we failed to note, in addition to his own impeccable Oxford English. Others speak Hindu, Pakistani, Russian, Portuguese, Iraqi and the usual run of European tongues.

On Bourbon Street

FROM a Bourbon Street balcony, sideliners watch celebrants at New Orleans' Mardi Gras. Crowds jam the thoroughfare and every conceivable costume appears there some time during the festival which is set for March 6 this year with first carnival parades rolling today. Most carnival visitors divide their time between the French Quarter and nearby Canal Street where the parades pass. Most night clubs are in full swing by early afternoon, iced beer is sold from tubs along the street, two-beat jazz rhythm fills the air and tired spectators find respite with a sandwich in Jackson Square.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH

DELAPLANE

"We've heard it will be difficult to get hotel rooms for the Seattle World's Fair . . ."

USUALLY these Fairs crowd a town all right. But I haven't heard of much shortage. They've got a good clearing house in EXPO-LODGING SERVICE, INC., 312 1st Ave. N., Seattle, Wash.

Name your price range. They'll clear your reservations. It's free.

Probably a good idea to buy your Fair tickets in advance—it's a 40 per cent discount for one good reason: $6.50 for a $10 book today, $3.75 for a child's $6.50 book. Gives you two admissions, two entertainment events and other things.

Write World's Fair, Seattle.

"We have noticed information in your column that is not included in tour itineraries. Please give us some ideas for small souvenir presents in Rome . . ."

The Florentine silver here is very good—deeply carved, ornate stuff in cigarette cases and lighters. (They make a case that fits a Zippo.)

If any of your friends are Catholics, I'd get some rosaries and take them to be blessed at one of the Papal public audiences in St. Peter's Square. (The desk man at your hotel can tell you the right days.)

The antique pieces you see—those broken off feet and hands—are pretty sure to be copied fakes. Italy doesn't let you take out real art treasures.

"We are honeymooning in Hawaii the last weeks of August—on a limited budget. Can you suggest a Waikiki beach hotel? How are those weeks in Hawaii?"

The Waikikian, the Kalihi and the Reef are excellent hotels. Not too expensive. The Hawaii Visitors Bureau, Hawaii, will send you a sheaf of information and prices.

The last two weeks in August are crowded.

holidays. Holders of tourist cards — and this means you — are admitted free.

OTHER LEADING EVENTS: April 1-7, a fair commemorating the founding of the exotic town of San Cristobal de las Casas.

April 1, in Etla, a giant annual market attended by natives attired in costumes representing seven tribes and 14 dialects.

April 15-17, in Fortin de las Flores, flower festival.

April 21, Easter festival at the Bazaar Sabado, a craftsman's market in Mexico City. (Featured in this one are the burning of Judas images, fireworks, traditional foods and beverages, in addition to arts and crafts.)

Reaching Mexico City is no problem. Mexicana Airlines, Aeronaves de Mexico and Western Airlines fly there from this area. The fare: Mexicana Airlines, for instance, offers daily jet flights from Los Angeles International Airport, with new 30-day round-trip rate of $144.50.

CHANCE TO FLY: Doubling of Continental Airline's Golden Jet fleet this spring will require hiring 100 new hostesses, says Mark Kramer, vice president of the firm's customer service planning.

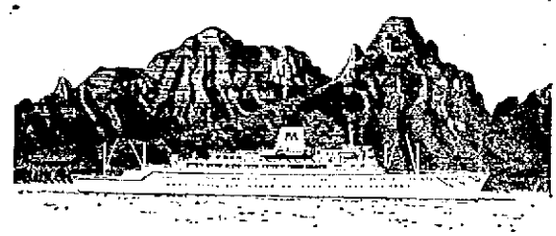

To qualify for hostess training, applicants must be 20 through 28, five-three to five-nine, have 20/50 uncorrected vision, be a high school graduate, be well-groomed, poised, and have an outgoing personality. Widows and divorcees with no dependents can qualify.

AN AIR FRANCE Boeing 707 Intercontinental jetliner broke the world's distance record for commercial aircraft a few days ago by flying nonstop from Renton, Wash., to Beirut, Lebanon, a distance of 7,023 miles at an average speed of 521 mph.

Where They Live

Australia is a large country, according to the Australian National Travel Association, but 70 per cent of the 10,500,000 population reside in the southeast corner below a line drawn through Adelaide and Brisbane. If the U.S. had the same population concentration, 70 per cent of the people would live in the states of Florida and Georgia.

The Emergence of a Man

By Vera Williams
Independent, Press-Telegram Book Editor

"FROM the welter of contrived history, of book throwing, of efforts to explain away discrepancies of fact by theorizing, there still emerges from the gloom of this particular span of years the figure of a Man."

So writes novelist-historian Thomas B. Costain, and the man he remembers is the savagely maligned Richard III, the last of the Plantagenet kings of England.

In his newest book, Mr. Costain concludes his four-volume series, "The Pageant of England."

Titled "THE LAST PLANTAGENETS," the book covers the period from the birth of Richard II in 1367 to the death, 118 years later, of Richard III.

"Most histories," writes Mr. Costain, "conclude the Plantagenet era with the death of Richard II. They call the succeeding dynasties Lancaster and York, but both houses were true Plantagenets — both by blood and by behavior.

"Besides," he continues, "I fell under the spell of the Plantagenets early in my reading of history; so many of them were great kings, and the ones who weren't had weaknesses that added to their attraction. They were storybook kings, married to fairy-tale queens — beautiful always and often wicked, sometimes very wicked. It seemed wrong to finish the story with someone like Richard II, when the tale correctly ends with Richard III, who had the makings of one of the greatest of the Plantagenets."

Costain's widely-heralded "Pageant of England" began with the publication in 1949 of "The Conquerors," the story of England from the Norman Conquest through the Crusades.

The second volume, published two years later, was "The Magnificent Century" which dealt with England's coming of age in the 13th Century. "The Three Edwards," which appeared in 1958, covered the reigns of two fine kings and one evil one. The same as the first three books, "The Last Plantagenets" is illustrated with maps by Rafael Palacios.

His appraisal of Richard III: " . . . The youth who took over in his late teens the command of the Yorkist horse and led the thundering cavalry charges which helped so much to win the decisive battles; the honorable younger brother who scorned the French king's bribes; the shrewd adviser on whom the lordly and successful Edward depended so much; the administrator of firm hand who ruled the turbulent north; the king who applied himself so earnestly to the ruling of England and to introducing common sense into some of the legal statutes; the saddened man who lost his son and his wife within a few months; the king, betrayed on the field of battle, who charged almost singlehanded against the enemy, slashing, cutting, shouting his scorn and defiance before going down."

Besides Richard III himself, "The Last Plantagenets" covers events and personalities of the era: Richard II, the boy king whose moments of Plantagent greatness did not come often enough; John Ball, the commoner who in-

High Noon Every Half Hour

Corriganville is a Wild West haven where horse operas are made and western actors gather. Here, Peter Brown of "Lawman" series talks with Ray (Crash) Corrigan.

By Morry Rabin

CORRIGANVILLE, world capital of the fast draw, stands in the Simi Valley north of Chatsworth as a testimonial to the vision and enterprise of a Long Beach real estate salesman of the "depression '30s."

Thousands of sightseers visit the 2,000-acre movie ranch every weekend and millions of film fans all over the world see it on television and the big screen as "location" of more than half of all horse operas.

This was the dream 25 years ago of Ray (Crash) Corrigan, cowboy actor and stunt man, while he was making possible the future prosperity of investors and home builders by selling them lots at $250 each in North Long Beach and Signal Hill as a broker for the old John Mills organization.

CORRIGAN'S FAITH in himself, in movies and in the traditions of the Old West dictated his intrepid purchase in 1937 of his scenic spread, dedicated to making movies for the studios of Hollywood, 29 miles away, and entertaining visitors.

On week days, movies and television westerns are produced at Corriganville in unrivaled volume. These range from such feature films as "The Robe," "Mississippi Gambler," "Fort Apache," "Mule Train," "Bat Masterson" and the Roy Rogers and Gene Autry shows to television's "Wagon Train," "Gunsmoke," "Rin Tin Tin," "Have Gun, Will Travel," "Laramie," "Death Valley Days" and "Wyatt Earp," among others.

The Western Street you see in movies or TV is invariably the main street of Corriganville. Only the signs and sometimes the interiors of the saloon, hotel, marshal's office, bank, trading post, stable, cafe and dance hall are changed. The "Rin Tin Tin" series is shot on the permanent Fort Apache set.

POSSES OVERTAKE varmints at Robin Hood Lake or Forest, if they don't hole up first at hideout cabins or caves; masked riders waylay stagecoaches and redskins whang arrows at wagon trains on the six-mile Burma Road. Filming is open to spectators.

But Corriganville belongs entirely to the public on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. Movie trainees, who are products of Corriganville Motion Picture Academy, rope off Western Street and entertain with one-act dramas, loud and violent, every half hour.

"Billy the Kid Becomes an Outlaw," "Gunfight at the O.K. Corral," "The Killing of Billy the Kid" and bank holdups are routine. Mortally wounded stunt men fall off roofs and bad men and good men, too, spurt catsup blood when failing to duck the blank cartridges of deadeye marksmen.

"THE HANGING of Henry Plummer" from a tree at the edge of town is one of the Legacy from Grandma

By
V. Franklin Limerick

Mrs. Denver Lee has many cherished mementos of the cheery, friendly little lady known as Grandma Moses.

WHEN Anna Mary Robertson Moses laid down her paint brushes and passed into history, Mrs. Denver Lee of 4444 Bellflower Blvd. felt she had lost a friend as well as a greatly admired artist.

A number of years ago Mrs. Lee sent Grandma Moses, as the famous artist was affectionately known to the world, a birthday greeting and mentioned that she, too, was born on Sept. 7. The sociable little old lady replied with a friendly note hand-written on a plain piece of blue paper.

As time went by Mrs. Lee received other remembrances to add to her treasured collection of mementos. Among them are Grandma's own greeting cards and a keepsake bookmark, hand crocheted in the form of a cross.

THE RENOWNED artist died at the age of 101, Dec. 13, 1961, in the state so dear to her heart—New York—and where she had taken up art in her 70s to become one of the world's most popular painters.

Without a single art lesson, this remarkable woman developed a fresh and telling style that led to her fame. Until 1939 her vivid primitive-style paintings could be bought at the drug store "over in town" for $3 to $5 each. Then a noted art collector discovered her and her work immediately went up to as much as $3,000 for each picture. Now the average price is $4,500.

Grandma Moses produced about 2,000 pictures in her farmhouse studio. Twenty-five of these she painted in the last year of her life.

A daughter-in-law wrote Mrs. Lee of Grandma's failing health. When the final news came out that the artist's busy brushes were shelved forever, Mrs. Lee felt a genuine sadness over the loss of a friend as well as a greatly admired artist—a thoughtful little lady who took time out from being a celebrity to keep in touch with a far-away birthday sharer.

High Noon

more spectacular gaspers but fortunately for Henry, the outlaw sheriff, a fool proof hanging harness keeps him healthy for repeat performances.

Top-billed singer is Elaine DuPont, television sweetie of Rickie Nelson. She is Mrs. Ray Corrigan. "Alibi" Terhune, an old pardner when Corrigan was top cowpoke in the "Three Mesquiteers," and "Range Busters" movies, is another regular. Nick Adams of "The Rebel" and Peter Brown, the deputy of "Lawman," also give autographs and greet kids on occasion.

Visitors can have their pictures taken with Corrigan and his horse; tour the ranch in open-air buses; eat cafe or chuck-wagon grub; ride saddle horses; see rodeos or motorcycle races; or use the picnic areas.

Novelties, prizes and camera fare are available, as at most amusement parks. But only Corriganville has high noon every day, on the half hour.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for orign, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give brief genealogy on HALSTEAD.—R. H., Long Beach; W. H., Lakewood.

R. H., W. H.: HALSTEAD, an English lineage, took their name from their home location "at the manorial Hall-place," or "Hall-stead." Large manorial homes were formerly called "Halls." Records list Adam Halle-stede, a "webster" or "weaver" by occupation, who resided in Yorkshire in 1379. The Halstead coat-of-arms has an ermine-covered eagle with outspread wings centered below a gold and blue checkered stripe on a bright red armorial shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give the origin of McCULLY.—Mrs. A.A., Torrance; D.L., Buena Park.

A.A., D.L.: McCULLEY and McCULLY are respelled from MacCauley, an Irish name that originates in County Westmeath. The early Gaelic source name was MacAmalgada meaning "Sons of the industrious spearmen." The family coat-of-arms has two crossed silver arrows on a red shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you print data on GERRARD.—L.G., Long Beach.

L.G.: GERRARD, a famous English surname, is from a 10th century warrior title, "Gar-hard" meaning "Brave with a spear." Fourteenth century Yorkshire tax lists mention John and Thomas Gerard. The Gerrard coat-of arms from Somerset has a silver, gold-crowned rampant lion on an ermine bordered blue shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Could I have genealogy on BIRD.—G.B., Long Beach.

G.B.: BIRD represents a professional "Byrder" or bird-catcher in early Britain. The nursery rhyme about the "Four and twenty blackbirds" illustrates this occupation, since wild birds were a staple food in the Middle Ages. The Birds were residents of Oxford, Suffolk and Shropshire in the 1200s. In the mid-1300s they had an estate at Broxton, Cheshire. The family coat-of-arms has a red cross between four red heraldic birds on a silver shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Could you explain KEEHAN.—Mrs. J.P.K., J.K., Long Beach.

J.P.K., J.K.: KEEHAN is based on the Gaelic Irish clan name MacCaochain, which was modernized to MacKeaghane and Keehan in the 16th century. Keehan translates as "Son of the blind or dim-sighted man," an unusual de-

Hair Styles

The local guild is official hair-styling body for Long Beach's Miss International Beauty Congress.

"COLOR HAS gone to our heads," said Moran, who noted that more than $250 million is being spent annually by Miss and Mrs. America for hair coloring.

"The modern woman has accepted hair coloring as a boon to personal improvement—just as lipstick, nail polish and eye makeup were accepted 20 years ago.

"In fact, color is advancing so rapidly that in the past five years some 10 new companies have entered the field," he said.

AND WHAT'S new in hue for '62?

Tone-on-tone, said Moran. Also, more natural shades for blondes, with different shades of brown as accents. Brunettes, especially two-toned varieties, will come into their own during the coming seasons.

Hair styles for next spring and summer, he noted, will get away from the oversize "watermelon" effect and present a smaller silhouette "of saucy, dancing curls."

Some have described the new look as resembling "an upside-down nasturtium with petals and spur cupping the head, framing the face or sitting pertly at an angle."

About teen-age styles: "Simplicity is the keynote," said Moran, "with short flip curls to frame the face and bring out the unbelievable beauty of youth."

Pointers in Choosing a Cat

By Eleanor Avery Price

Kittens should be bright-eyed, responsive, playful, healthy if they are going to be satisfactory pets.

CATS OF MANY kinds are on display today in Long Beach Municipal Auditorium as the Cal Coast Cat Club conducts its show, and many a kit will be assigned to new owners by selling itself as just the fellow for a new home. For those who just might come home with a new member of the family, here are a few tips on buying and caring for a cat:

Whether you buy at the show, from a cattery or a pet shop or adopt a cat from an animal shelter, be sure the place is clean, well ventilated, and well lighted. Watch how the proprietor or assistant acts around cats. There should be an air of friendliness and goodwill.

Pick a cat with an appearance that pleases you and one that likes your appearance. You want a responsive kitty, playful, sociable, mischievous, but not wild, one that should react to call, proof that of good hearing.

THE CAT'S eyes should be clear and alert, ears clean, tongue pink, nose soft and damp but not running. The coat should be glossy, the skin surface smooth and with no signs of sores of any kind.

Whether you get a male or female is up to you, but do consider that a female should probably be spayed and a male neutered if you want to avoid a lot of headaches and have a congenial, affectionate, stay-at-home pet. (If you are going to breed purebred cats, then the above does not apply to you.)

Take the cat home in a comfortable conveyor. Also arm yourself with a good cat book, registration papers, if any, and a diet sheet describing the cat's present food. Be certain there is a soft indoor bed awaiting the pet and a litter box.

FEED KITTY often in small quantities. As the cat matures, fewer meals in larger proportions will be needed. A balanced but varied diet is in order. The pet will need raw or cooked beef, some lamb, horsemeat, and boned poultry or rabbit. Save liver for an occasional treat. Do not feed pork, it is too fatty. Be certain fish is boned and cooked. There are some fine tinned foods at your market or pet shop, and the pet shop can also supply correct vitamins and fish oils. Small amounts of greens are appreciated, and so is an egg yolk now and then. Warm milk for kittens, grass to nibble on, and drinking water are needed. If the cat has a particular odd food he enjoys, indulge him only as a treat.

Cats are normally clean, but they need help with grooming. A round-toothed comb and a bristle brush are suggested. Brush and comb a long hair twice daily, a shorthair once daily.

KEEP KITTY free of irritating parasites. See that he has fresh air, exercise, a scratching block, and simple unpainted toys such as a ping pong ball, catnip mouse, wads of paper, scraps of felt.

Never strike a cat. Use firm, gentle verbal rebukes to correct, and don't expect perfect compliance. Love your pet but don't over do it. Never permit children to tease and pull the cat around.

If the cat shows any sign of ailing—lack of luster, disinterest in life, foul breath, no appetite, continued vomiting, diarrhea, sores, itching—take it promptly to your veterinarian.

New Way to Say 'Thank You'

By the Shutterbug

NEW, distinctive, and personal are photographic cards that say "thank you" and "here's our new baby." Made from a customer's own color or black-and-white negative and attractive Kodak designs, the cards are now available from camera stores and photofinishers.

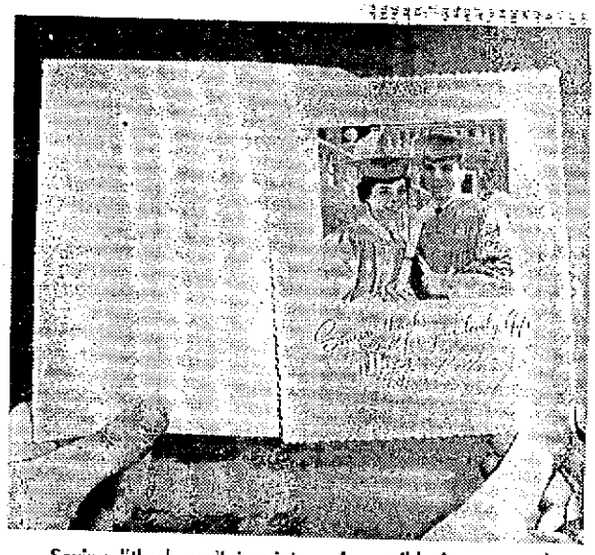

With their photographic make-up, "thank-you" cards express an extra measure of appreciation and accord special recognition. They are suitable for acknowledging gifts received at birthday, going-away and retirement parties, weddings, anniversary celebrations, graduations and numerous other special occasions.

Birth announcements featuring a picture of the baby are not only attractive but practical, especially for friends and relatives who may not have an early opportunity to see personally the newest addition to the family.

Kodak has two designs for "thank-you" cards, and two designs for birth-announcements.

One "thank-you" design carries the message, "Many Thanks for Your Gift." The other says, "Sincere Thanks for Your Lovely Gift." Designs for birth-announcements declare, "Hi! I'm a New Arrival," or "Just Arrived." Space is provided for imprinting data on the new arrival.

The design can be printed as standard size photo-greeting cards (4¼x4½ inches) or in the popular Slim-Line size (3½x7 inches) from horizontal, square, or vertical negatives.

Saying "thank you" in pictures is possible in new card designs found in photo shops. Other designs available.

Book Reviews

spired the uprising of the peasants; Owen Glendower, "the Welsh magician" who disappeared off the face of the earth; Henry V, the hero of Agincourt who died too soon; Henry VI, too meek and gentle for a harsh world; Margaret of Anjou, a king in petticoats; Warwick the Kingmaker, who changed sides once too often; Edward IV, father of the Princess in the Tower; Henry VII, the man with the devious mind, who defeated Richard III and rewrote history.

If you read only one historical volume this season, "Plantagenets" is IT.

PERHAPS no other editor in the country purchases as much prose and verse as Peter Henniker-Heaton, editor of the Home Forum of the international newspaper, The Christian Science Monitor. The editor who makes these selections six times each week himself now offers a book of his own, "JUBILEE AND OTHER POEMS," published by the E. D. Abbot Co., and distributed by Jubilees Books, Box 211, Astor Station, Boston, $3.

The author-editor's tone is lyrical, many poems having been published originally in England's unique Punch, and others printed by the periodical which Mr. Henniker-Heaton serves. Throughout this volume of highly enjoyable verse, there are little touches of humor. "Reception Royal" was inspired by a notice at the Toronto Airport: "This airport is operated by Her Majesty in right of Canada." A bouncy wit opens the poem: "The Queen of Canada lives in a palace,/ The Queen of Canada wears a crown;/But she operates, too, Toronto Airport/Where the Buffalo planes touch down."

Ascent is the poet's word: the pieces sing and leap and soar. Not always, however, in the same way; "Jubilee" is a book of refreshing variety. Mr. Henniker-Heaton can turn from the purely classical to every day speech idiom, one delightful poem finding its inspiration in a comment overheard by the author on the south rim of the Grand Canyon: "This canyon is quite a deal." And so is the generous editor's Jubilee!

YOUR GARDEN

Wise Gardeners Sing 'Tra-La!'

By Joe Littlefield

Pansies find many garden situations to their liking and gardeners who grow them reap rich color harvests.

"FLOWERS that bloom in the spring, tra la . . ." don't just get that way by themselves; at least, not the domesticated varieties. They require attention, which is an old thought to the experienced gardener but may come as a surprise to the careless homeowner who thinks sticking a plant in the ground and putting a little water on it is the alpha and omega of flower culture.

The wise gardener is one who learns from his nurseryman, his "green thumb" neighbor or by experience. He tends his garden, and that's what all of us must do almost the year around in the Long Beach area because of the often-mentioned mild climate. He'll be the one to sing "Tra-La" when his flowers bloom to reward him.

So, choose sturdy plants, plant them correctly and keep them properly watered, sprayed and tended.

For instance, when planting pansies for the rich beauty these little specimens provide, be sure the crowns are not planted too deeply. They may sicken and die if you don't. The same is true of violas, in spite of the hardiness of these profuse little bloomers. Pick off matured and faded blossoms regularly to encourage continued blooming. And that goes for all spring and summer flowers.

HERE ARE some other hints for happy gardening:

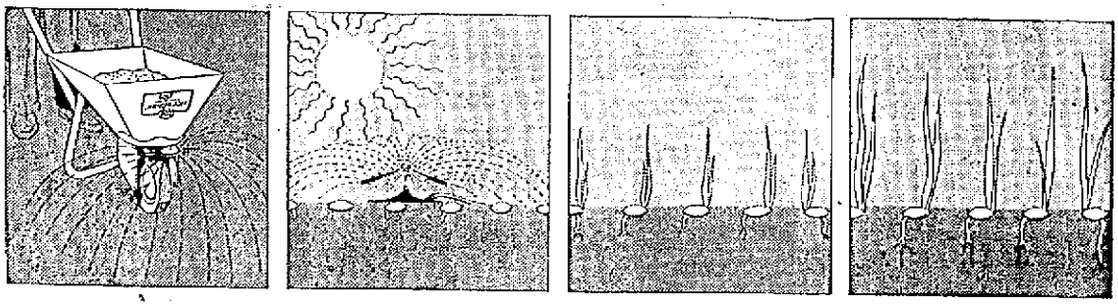

Plant larkspur with their tall stately flowering branches of rich pink, lavender, rose, purple, and white, to produce needed color at back part of sunny flower bed. They form a backdrop of color for the lower growing plants.

Snapdragons and stocks planted now grow almost twice as fast as those set out last fall. That's because the sun is slowly traveling northward, the days a little warmer.

Set these plants in groups by themselves, but with the groups connected, for an effective mass planting. Plant no fewer than a dozen or so of each type.

Golf Brand Park Kentucky Bluegrass gives you permanent grass in 7 days!

1st DAY—Park Kentucky Bluegrass is planted in good soil and thoroughly watered.

3rd DAY—Combined effects of water and soil warmth start germination process.

5th DAY—Tiny sprouts are already large enough to become visible in the seedbed.

7th DAY—Grass has sprouted and is ready to form permanent, durable turf.

Besides sprouting faster than any other bluegrass, new Golf Brand Park Kentucky Bluegrass sinks roots that are deeper and stronger than other bluegrasses . . . is less affected by dry spells and mid-summer lawn problems.

Park has produced a dense, high-quality turf in many cases where poor soil or disease have prevented healthy growth of bluegrass plantings. It is especially resistant to rust invasion.

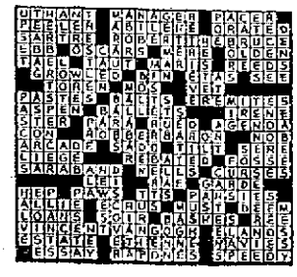

Plant Park Kentucky Bluegrass in your lawn and watch how fast it produces a fine stand of sturdy seedlings. Ideal for bare spots, overseeding and new lawns.

1 lb. package covers an area of up to 400 sq. ft. $1.35

Tips on Gardening

New bush ice plant.

New Ice Plant

NEW TO Long Beach area gardens and a development originated from plants native to South Africa, a bush-type mesembryanthemum or ice plant has been made available through Southland nurseries. It is known as Lampranthus Amoenus and grows in a compact bush to a height of four feet, requiring little trimming and little water or other attention. Brilliant flowers up to two inches in diameter cover the bushes from four to six weeks twice a year, in late March and early October. Hues may be judged from the variety names: Orchid Snow, Lavender Ice, Pink Frost and Raspberry Sherbet. Foliage is bright and evergreen. Plants are hardy in coastal or inland areas.

Fuchsia Society

Color slides will be shown and explained by Irene Personne, slide librarian of the California National Fuchsia Society, at a meeting of North Long Beach Fuchsia Society at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Houghton Park clubhouse, 6301 Myrtle Ave.

GARDEN TIPS for the week—All bare-root fruit and nut trees should be planted this month while they are still available.

Ranunculus may still be planted—either the bulbs or the seedlings from nursery flats.

Fuchsias should be pruned this month. Cut them back hard to promote new flowering wood.

Lawn renovation can start this month. The seedbed should be prepared now if you plan to plant a new lawn in March or early April.

Bare-root roses should be planted no later than the next two or three weeks, if you expect any early bloom. Roses should be pruned by now, so hurry if yours have not been done.

Spray peaches and nectarines with a control for leaf curl. Spray roses when you've finished pruning.

Flowering quinces will be blooming in nurseries this month. Best choose them in bloom.

Perennials still top the list of bedding plants to be set out now.

By Dorothy Jonson

If you notice your camellia blossoms turning brown and decaying on the outer edges, don't become alarmed. This is not camellia petal blight but is usually due to inclement weather conditions, improper watering (overhead), or to a lack of minerals in the soil.

However, if you examine your camellia blossoms and find that the breakdown in the structure in the flower comes from the inside, a decaying around the stamen and pistil and progressing to the outer edges of the petals; this is no doubt camellia petal blight and I advise you to obtain expert advice immediately.

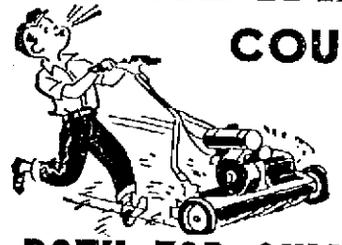

It will help to forestall this dreaded disease if you will rake up and destroy camellia or azalea blossoms as soon as they drop to the ground. Fallen blossoms of such delicate texture, lying on the moist soil, will be infected with fungus very quickly and insects will carry the disease to the plants.

As soon as your camellias finish blooming, give them a clean-up spray with an oil emulsion containing nicotine.

What Your Name Means

scription of a family founder. This clan were natives of the town of Limerick in the early Middle Ages.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please discuss BINGHAM.—Mrs. L. B., Norwalk; Mrs. C.R., Long Beach.

L.B., C.R.: BINGHAM is from the old Saxon English phrase "Bene-ham" descriptive of the ancestors's "beanfield estate." Bingham ancestry is traced to Sir John de Bingham of the manor called Sutton Bingham in Somerset in the time of King Henry I, A.D. 1100-1135. The Bingham coat-of arms has a diagonal golden stripe between six gold crosses on a blue shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give brief history on NOLIN. —Mrs. K.N., Torrance; E.J., Long Beach.

K.N., E.J.: NOLIN was spelled Knolling ten centuries ago in Devonshire, England, where this family originated. "Knolling" translates as "Son of the dweller at the round-hilltop." A coat-of-arms granted this family has three red diagonal stripes across an ermine covered shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like genealogy on McCLEARY. — J. M., Long Beach.

J. M.: McCLEARY is an Irish lineage descended from the Clan Mac-An-Clerigh (Sons of the Clerk or Scholar). In Ireland they were natives of County Cavan; in Scotland their home was at Gardin. The clerical McCleary forebear was a distinguished and honored person since educated men were rare in the early Middle Ages when this clan was first formed. The beautiful clan coat-of-arms has a blue chevron between three red roses on a gold shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain GREEN.—B. G., Mrs. S., Long Beach.

B. G., Mrs. S.: GREEN is a name for the square in the center of most English villages. Usually the family who owned the largest house facing on this park assumed the surname "Atte Green" (At the Green). Yorkshire records of 1379 list Peter, Adam and William "Of the Green." The coat-of-arms of the Yorkshire Greens has a chevron between three black fleurs-de-lis on a silver shield. Henry Green was one of the founders of Suffield, Connecticut, shortly after 1620.

GABRIEL DOVALIS
Key Man

CHECK INTO the operation of a really popular restaurant—an establishment which pleases its patrons year after year—and you'll inevitably discover that one key man is responsible for its success.

Such a restaurant is Currie's Santa Fe, a large, elegant, recently re-designed place at 1735 W. Pacific Coast Hwy. And the key man in its operation is Gabriel Dovalis, who is co-owner with his wife Goldie.

Dovalis is a dark-eyed, impeccably-dressed gentleman who was born near Sparta, Greece. He does not speak flawless English, but he is an expert's expert when it comes to running a big organization like Currie's Santa Fe. He is perhaps one of the most experienced restaurateurs in this area, having worked in the field nearly 40 years. He came to the United States in 1918, worked for a few years in Tulsa, Okla., and arrived in Long Beach in 1923. For many years he and his brother Nick operated the Golden Rule Cafe on Pine Avenue.

For a number of years after that Dovalis operated restaurants in Los Angeles and Rochester, N. Y. Returning to Long Beach in 1936, he operated the downtown Olympic Restaurant until taking over Currie's in 1947. Enlarged several times, the restaurant now has seating for 250. Its spacious banquet rooms are in constant use by the city's finest fraternal and social groups for luncheon and dinner.

Featured on the menu are fine wines, marvelous steaks and delectable sea foods, roasts and poultry. The generous dinners include appetizers, soup du jour, large salad, entree, potato, hot garlic toast and beverage. Among the entrees: the famed special sirloin steak, $2.85; stuffed lobster (terrific), $3; loin pork chops, $2.60; broiled chicken, $2.35, and whole cracked crab, $2.95.

SOUPY SALES A SMASH WITH PIES

Bert's Eye View

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

The Indian, dressed in a loin-cloth and a headband with a feather, rode his horse up to the cavalry captain.

"White Man speak with forked tongue," said the Indian. "There are many Indians as leaves on trees. We hungry. I come for food."

Pow! Splosh!

The Indian got a pie in the face.

As the Indian wiped egg-white topping from his face, he rejoiced. He rejoiced because everyone involved in shooting the TV scene was laughing.

In fact, as Soupy Sales, the Indian, recalls:

"They all broke up."

Today, some 16,000 pies-in-the-face later, they are still breaking up.

When the first pie was tossed in Cleveland in 1951, Soupy launched the revival of what he considered a "dead art." It has become so lively that ABC-TV executives five weeks ago decided to share with the rest of the nation what Southland fans had been daily offered at 5:30 p. m. on channel 7.

As a network show at 7:30 p. m. Friday, the "Soupy Sales Show" already has doubled the ratings of its time-slot predecessor, "Straightaway."

WHILE THE RATINGS don't particularly surprise Soupy, one development does.

It started with Frank Sinatra who contacted Soupy and said he was a fan of the pie-faced comedian. Sinatra said he'd be agreeable to appearing on the first network show on one condition.

The condition: Sinatra wanted to get hit in the face with a pie.

The condition was fulfilled and Sinatra, who usually draws about $50,000 for a TV appearance, walked away with $150 and pie-in-the-puss.

Four other top-salaried stars, Tony Curtis, Mickey Rooney, Burt Lancaster and Edd "Kookie" Byrnes have voluntarily earned the same stipends.

They're all Soupy fans.

Not all television viewers are Soupy fans.

In fact, there is a definite group that believe his brand of comedy—and they dislike even using the word—is not mature enough to be juvenile.

On the other hand, a true Soupy fan would defend with his last breath and pie the merits of the show's humor.

SOUPY, HIMSELF, doesn't get quite so analytical.

"The show is not a down-the-line thing," he said. "You either love it or you hate it—no in-between.

"I like it that way because those that hate it argue violently with those that love it and all the talk has made the show."

Those that love it are not confined to any particular age group. Although there currently are more than 300 Soupy Sales Clubs on high school and college campuses, fan mail indicates that doctors and lawyers are just as apt to be among the devoted viewers as teenagers.

"I don't know why they like it and I don't want to try and find out why they like it," said Soupy.

"All I can say is that people want to laugh and there's no other comedy shows on except Red Skelton and Bob Newhart.

"People are looking to laugh. They're sick of westerns and detectives. My show has spread like fungus. To the people who see it, it's either the biggest thing or the biggest bomb."

A FEW THINGS have changed since Soupy was bombed with his first pie in 1951.

The egg-white topping of that year was initially replaced with whip-cream—"but it went sour under the hot TV lights"—then with shaving cream from push-button cans.

The Indian's loin-cloth has been replaced with a regular pair of pants and the headband with the feather has given way to a battered top-hat and an oversized, floppy bow-tie.

The comedian, who was born 35 years ago as Milton Hines, has legally taken the name of Soupy Sales.

Soupy Sales Not All Broth

The Soupy part of his name was born when, as a youngster, he and two other friends in Huntington, West Va., gave each other minstrel-show nicknames.

They were "Ham Bone" and "Chicken Bone." His original "Soup Bone" came quite naturally since his last name was Hines.

AND EVERYONE KNEW that Hines sounded just like the name of a company that made soup and 56 other varieties of canned products.

The everyone who knew included the manager of a television station in Detroit. The manager said Soupy would have to use another last name other than Hines because prospective sponsors might feel the monicker was advertising competition.

The manager remembered that Chic Sales used to be one of his favorite comedians. So Hines became Sales.

No matter how you spell it, Soupy is not all broth.

Currently, he's engaged in the meaty project of appearing in a short film on the subject of high-school drop-outs.

"I think, when I tell the students why they shouldn't quit high school, that they'll listen to me as a friend," he said.

The film will be shown throughout high schools in Los Angeles and probably will be made available for other school districts afterwards.

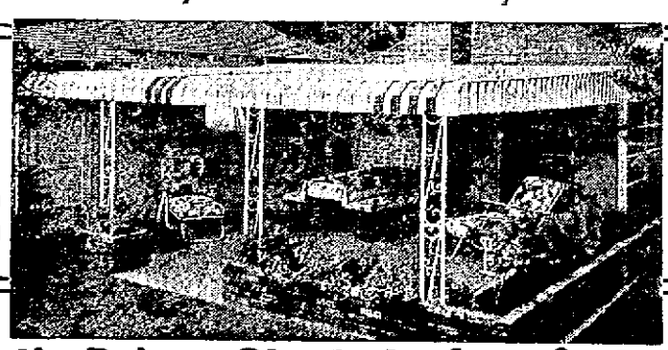

He's also actively interested in a campaign to get an educational television channel for Southern California.

"I think it's a crime, with as many people as we have, that we don't presently have an educational channel," he said.

Soupy grinned.

"I mean one without pies," he added.

Girl who loves another is forced into political marriage to son of blind king. Latter sets triple tragedy in action when he discovers his daughter-in-law's infidelity.

JUDY GARLAND SHOW—Hour-long musical special is at 9 p.m. on channel 2 as long-time friends Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin appear with her professionally for the first time. The taped show, marking Miss Garland's first TV appearance in 6 years, reportedly cost the sponsor $300,000.

GOLDEN SHOWCASE—Cliff Robertson, Inger Stevens and Ralph Bellamy star in an adaptation of Maxwell Anderson's "Saturday's Children" at 10 p.m. on channel 2. Doro Merande and Lee Grant are featured in the hour-long comedy-drama of the marital problems of a young couple and their life on a shoestring in a big city.

NBC WHITE PAPER NO. 10—First films of Red China made since 1960 by a cameraman from any country but a Communist-bloc nation are narrated by Chet Huntley at 10 p.m. on channel 4. Experts from Japan, China, France, Canada, England and the U. S. will report on the progress the Chinese are making in science, agriculture and industry.

Judy Garland Returns to Television Tonight

JUDY GARLAND is joined by Dean Martin (left) and Frank Sinatra for an hour-long special at 9 p.m. Sunday (tonight) on channel 2. It's her first TV appearance in six years.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Judy Garland returns to television tonight (Sunday) after a six-year absence.

She's giving it everything she's got except "Over the Rainbow."

The "Judy Garland Show" airs from 9 to 10 p.m. on CBS (channel 2). Unlike her previous appearances on TV, it won't be all Judy Garland. She'll be joined by two old pals, Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin.

That's all, just the three of them. Garland doesn't like crowds.

* * * *

"THE WAY to insure success in show business is to surround yourself with talented people and stop worrying," Judy has said.

She has done it in this show. Producer-director is Norman Jewison, noted for the "Fabulous Fifties" and Harry Belafonte specials.

Kay Thompson, who harks back to Judy's MGM days, acts as creative consultant. Mort Lindsey, conductor for the star's concerts, is handling the music.

The show was taped last month in three days of shooting before audiences.

* * * *

JUDY DOESN'T look as slim as in the movies on the late, late show, but she has trimmed down after a heavy period. She will be singing a bushel of her old standards and will join in duets and trios with Sinatra and Martin.

The finale will show her in familiar costume of pants and overblouse and she'll belt a quintette of her oldies: "You Made Me Love You," "San Francisco," "The Trolley Song," "Rockabye My Baby," and "Swanee."

No "Over the Rainbow." She's letting it rest this time out.

TV Surgery

NBC-TV is planning a series of medical specials which will show surgery in progress.

The first, planned for April 23, will include four heart operations on patients in different cities.

SPECIAL

GLENN IN WASHINGTON—Network cameras will follow Col. Glenn as he arrives at Andrews Air Force Base, flies by helicopter to the White House, leads a motorcade to Capitol Hill and addresses a joint session of Congress. Coverage is tentatively set at 8 a.m. on channel 4, and 8:30 a.m. on channels 2 and 7.

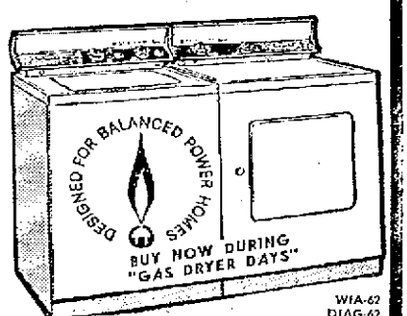

THE CLEAR HORIZON—Return premiere. Soap opera-type series of the personal and professional life of a young Air Force officer and his wife stationed at Cape Canaveral. Ed Kemmer, veteran star of the old "Space Patrol" series, stars with Phyllis Avery and Richard Coogan at 10:30 a.m. on channel 2. Glenn's orbital flight Tuesday was one day too late to be included in opening episode as planned, and his Washington reception may delay show's premiere to Tuesday.

HENNESEY—Portland Mason plays a girl Chick mistakes for Brigitte Bardot in an episode written by James Komack at 10 p.m. on channel 2. Harvey Spencer Blair III (Komack) claims his pills have the power to conjure up stars' likenesses.

NO BENEFITS FOR KOVACS' SURVIVORS

Edie Adams Rejects Financial Aid Plan Originated by Ernie's Friends

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Singer-actress Edie Adams wants and needs no benefits played for her and the three daughters of the late Ernie Kovacs.

Some 39 of the top stars in the business, all friends of Kovacs, had volunteered for a TV anthology project which would have occupied the time and talent of Kovacs' widow and provided income for her and the children.

The project was a spontaneous thing about which Edie was not consulted. Had she been, she said, she would have discouraged it.

"I'm thrilled and happy, awful honored, that Ernie's friends would react this way," she said. "It's a great tribute to Ernie but I am sure it would have embarrassed him."

"And besides, there are so many worthwhile things that really need help. Ernie provided for his family."

* * * *

IN HER FIRST interview since Jan. 13, when the famed cigar-chomping comedian lost his life in an auto crash, the pretty blonde said:

"It's true that Ernie's estate has debts and tax troubles. But all will be paid and, together with my own earning ability, there will be enough for the children's education and upbringing."

Meanwhile, now that time has somewhat eased the grief, Edie has resumed a Hollywood career that had already started to zoom before the fatal crash.

She is filming cigar commercials as part of a lucrative two-year deal that will net her a six-figure annual salary.

And since "Lover, Come Back," her movie stock has soared. Until she scored heavily in the Rock Hudson-Doris Day movie, it seemed Broadway had recognized her talent better than Hollywood.

* * * *

BUT, AS MANY a star has found out, it takes only one good part in one hit movie to make Hollywood clamor. Two big picture deals are cooking now as a result.

"It's funny," said Miss Adams, "I only came out here because Ernie did. It was the only thing we ever argued about. I liked New York. He liked Hollywood. Now I feel it's my home—where all my friends are. The girls all like it. They don't want to move.

"Friends have urged me to sell our house but I don't want to do that. It has too much of Ernie in it. I couldn't part with it just yet.

"No, I think we'll all stay here—in the same house."

* * * *

AS GRATEFUL as she is for her friends' concern, she wants no benefit.

"I have no false pride, but I still make my decisions based on what Ernie would think. And I truly thank everybody.

"If Ernie's friends—and they're mine, too — want to ahead with the TV anthology as a tribute to Ernie's memory, I think it would be great. But the revenues should go to the Motion Picture Relief Fund, or cancer research, or any real need—not to us."

EDIE ADAMS, pictured lighting a cigar for her husband, the late Ernie Kovacs, says she can financially provide for their family without funds from a projected benefit TV anthology.

Pan and Fan Mail

As suggested by Mr. Leroy Collins (president of the National Assn. of Broadcasters), I have written all of the local stations telling them what TV programs we enjoy and vice versa.

Of course, to watch all of the good programs one would need several TV sets tuned in on as many channels and watch from one dawn to another.

I am sure that all TV stations strive to program their shows to please everyone and they all have wonderful coverage of news and sports. And variety is what we want, so no one could ask for more.

So I salute them all and find excellent and outstanding performances on them all to enjoy every day of the week and Sunday too.

Rena B. Ellington, Torrance

Rena, you're my kind of girl. I salute you right back and the crowd at my shoulder doing the same thing consists of every, red-blooded TV station programming manager in the United States.

* * * *

I realize maybe for economics you have to push these reds and pinks but just in case you don't know, here is some rather interesting information that I would like for you to read.

You could do so much good for America if you pushed the loyal Americans instead of people I can't even feel have the right to call themselves as such.

Nancy L. Pierce, Huntington Beach

Miss Pierce enclosed a pamphlet with a list of 200 names of people arbitrarily cataloged as "rabid reds and fellow-travelers." She had underlined the name of Edward R. Murrow of whom occasional mention has been made in the television columns of this newspaper.

Mr. Murrow currently is director of the U. S. Information Agency. Before being placed in this highly responsible position, he was thoroughly checked out by the FBI.

If he's good enough for the FBI, he's good enough for me.

Miss Pierce, you're not my kind of girl.

Many TV performers continue to get fatter and fatter until they have eaten themselves out of an enviable TV slot and one stops looking at their show.

Gary Moore is getting indifferent audiences. He looks like a fat toad.

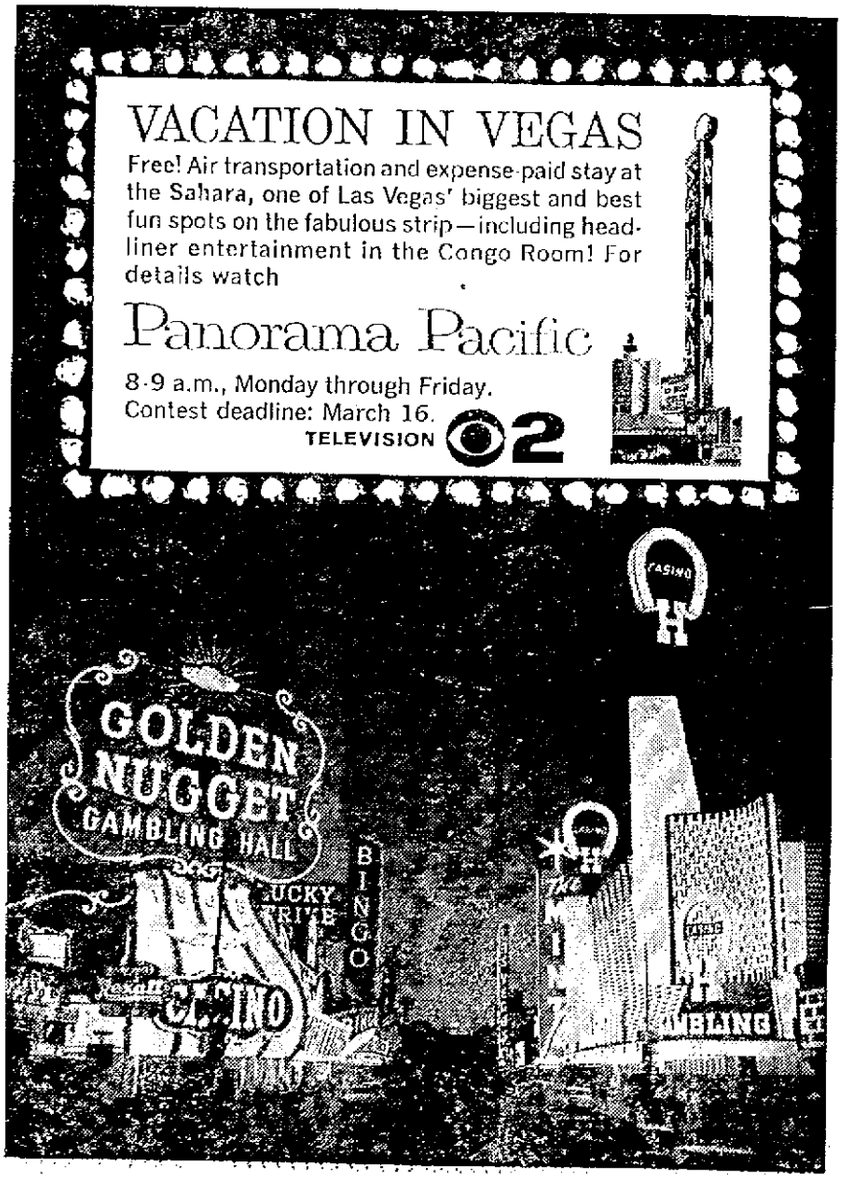

And there is Don Ameche who looks unlike his slender, good-looking animated self.

Many others I could mention but I've done enough down-grading and hop over to the brighter side.

My all-time favorite Raymond Burr of the "Perry Mason" show was a very fat little boy which clung into early manhood but started heroically to reduce and succeeded by taking off over 100 pounds.

Mrs. A. B. Magie, Long Beach

In TV industry circles, Mrs. A. B., it is said that hefty—and I do mean fat—Sebastian Cabot ate his way into an enviable TV slot with "Checkmate." The proof of the pudding is in his weekly pay-check.

Connie Stevens Unhappy With Warners

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Cricket, otherwise known as Connie Stevens, was back at work this week after a two-month absence, but she was chirping an unhappy tune.

Connie and Warner Brothers have been feuding, but she returned to the "Hawaiian Eye" TV series for an amazingly sensible reason:

"I signed the contract with my eyes open and I intend to honor it."

The beautiful blonde from Brooklyn has been in the news lately with her sudden flight to Paris with Glenn Ford and her off-again, on-again relations with the studio.

Concerning the former, she lapsed into Hollywoodese:

"Mr. Ford and I are good friends and that is all. I go out with other men and I don't know if he goes out with other women—I've never asked him.

"I just got over one big romance. I'm not going to start another one right now."

She was engaged last year to actor Gary Clark.

On her studio relations, she was more explicit.

* * * *

"THINGS DON'T always turn out the way you hope they do when you sign a movie contract. You think you are going to be given a chance to grow and develop, but instead you find you're used as a commodity.

"I want to do features. (Sound reminiscent?) But it has been over a year since I made 'Susan Slade' and the studio hasn't had a thing for me.

"It has been established that I am a recording star. Yet I don't know what I am doing. I would like the chance to have some expert coaching and development so I can mature as a singer. I would also like to learn dancing, but the studio has no one to teach it.

"That is the main thing I want to grow. I'm 23 years old and I want to learn everything I can. I'm not interested in the present. I don't even care about money.

* * * *

CONNIE SAID that the blowup with Warners started when she had an illness and the studio thought she was dogging it.

"They even sent their own doctor around to see me," she remarked. "He said all I needed was a couple of days rest. The next day I was in the hospital."

She admitted that she was peeved because the studio wouldn't allow her to do an upcoming TV special in which she would appear opposite Broadway star Robert Goulet. She said she was willing to give her fee to the studio, but it was still no go.

* * * *

"THAT'S THE SORT of thing that would be good for me," she argued. "But the studio doesn't think in those terms. They've got a formula and that's all they're interested in."

Q. Can you tell me if actresses like Donna Reed, Doris Day, Judy Garland, Polly Bergen, and Rosalind Russell whose husbands work for them—do these actresses give their husbands weekly spending allowances? — Wm. Mayberry, San Diego, Calif.

A. These men earn their keep as managers, advisers, business agents, producers, in many cases handle other stars as well as their wives.

Q. On what grounds was Fidel Castro excommunicated by the Catholic church?—L.L.T., Birdsboro, Pa.

A. Says the Vatican's Most Rev. Msgr. Dino Staffa, "... Whoever impedes the functions of a bishop in the carrying out of work incurs, according to canon law, automatic excommunication." Castro's regime expelled from Cuba last year the auxiliary bishop of Havana and 135 priests.

Q. I read that Fabian and his manager-discoverer, Bob Marcucci, have split. What's the reason? — Donald O'Brien, Chicago, Ill.

A. Marcucci wanted Fabian to continue recording. Fabian, knowing that at best he has an adequate voice, preferred to concentrate on acting.

Q. How much has Cutter Laboratories paid out to victims of polio, inoculated with supposedly defective vaccine?—James Hendrick, Los Angeles, Calif.

A. To date, Cutter has agreed to pay $1,727,000 to settle 21 cases and $1,500,000 to compromise 29 others.

Q. How old is Sir Winston Churchill and is he a millionaire?—Ellyn Parker, Jamestown, N.Y.

A. Churchill, 87, is a millionaire from his writings.

Q. I'd like some information about the private lives of TV's new doctors, Ben Casey and James Kildare. — Charlene Hacker, Buffalo, N.Y.

A. Ben Casey is Vince Edwards, born Vincent Edward Zorino in Brooklyn 30 years ago. A husky (6 ft. 2—200 lbs.) sportsman who flies his own plane, Vince is a bachelor, lives with his aunt in an unpretentious Hollywood home. Dr. Kildare is George Richard Chamberlain, 26, of Los Angeles. Also single, Richard lives alone, relaxes with hi-fi, studies voice at the L. A. Conservatory of Music & Art, would like to sing professionally along with his acting career.

Q. What's happened to the Rita Hayworth-Gary Merrill romance?—L.L., Sacramento, Calif.

A. Off-again—on-again.

Q. Did Marlon Brando know Anna Kashfi was a phony Indian when he married her?—E. Sandler, Lumberton, Miss.

A. He thought she was Indian—not Irish which her parents insist she is.

Q. I would like to know if Charlie Chaplin takes hormones since he is now 72 and keeps fathering children. How many has he fathered to date? — Naomi Trask, Newark, N.J.

A. Chaplin does not take hormones. He had two sons, now in their thirties, by his second wife, Lita Grey. He has had seven children by his present and fourth wife, the former Oona O'Neill. An eighth is expected in July when Chaplin will be 73. A child of Joan Berry's, born out of wedlock, is supported by Chaplin, but competent medical authorities insist the child cannot possibly be his because of a blood-type differential. A jury decided it was his.

Q. How many high school football players were killed in 1961?—Allen Kent, Chicago, Ill.

A. 22.

Q. The monstrous statue of Stalin has plagued the Prague skyline for years. Since Stalin is now unacceptable in Moscow, will the Czechs tear his statue down? —J.S., Hyattsville, Md.

A. The Stalin monument in Prague is to be removed.

Q. Is it true that France is now publishing on its postage stamps paintings of its great artists?—Sarah Richardson, Ely, Nev.

A. No, but an exception has been made in the case of Georges Braque, 80, a founder of Cubism. A 50-centime stamp showing a long-necked white bird, the Braque art trademark, has been issued by the postal authorities to honor Braque's 80th birthday.

Q. Who will play President Kennedy in the movie version of his wartime naval exploits?—George Eckhouse, Bangor, Me.

A. Peter Fonda, Henry's son, is being tested for the role in PT-109. Warren Beatty was originally set for the part but, according to Warner Brothers, "he didn't pan out."

Q. David Jones—son of Princess Margaret and her husband—what's the boy's full name?—M. Hartford, Trenton, Mo.

A. David Albert Charles, Viscount Linley.

Now you can be the very first salad maker who ever pleased all of the people all of the time. With one easy recipe, one Jell-O, one muffin tin and one refrigerator, you can make one dozen tempting little salads.

First, find the muffin tin. Now look in the refrigerator for some tasty things to put in. Sliced eggs? Shredded carrots and raisins? Celery? Cauliflower? Mushrooms? Pickles? Olives? Pickled herring? Tuna fish? Take anything you wish and put a different one in each cup, filling about two-thirds full.

Now take a regular size package of Lemon Jell-O. Dissolve it in 1½ cups boiling water along with 1 teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon garlic (or onion) salt. Add 1 teaspoon salad oil, 2 teaspoons vinegar; and 2 dashes each black pepper and oregano.

Now fill each muffin cup with Jell-O and chill until firm. Unmold on a tray or platter. Serve on crisp salad greens. Is everybody happy? (Yes.)

For the pains and fever of Colds and Flu
DOCTORS RECOMMEND ASPIRIN

BAYER®
BRINGS FASTEST RELIEF!

...the fastest, most gentle to the stomach relief you can get from the aches, pains and fever of a cold or flu!

This is a simple fact: in private conversations, in magazine articles, in newspapers and medical journals, doctors and public health officials have repeatedly recommended one thing for painful discomforts and fever of colds and flu. That one thing is aspirin. Specifically, aspirin.

In fact, when we asked thousands of doctors if they themselves took aspirin, better than nine out of ten said, "Yes."

So when any member of your family suffers the painful discomforts and fever of a cold or flu, help him to feel better fast with Bayer Aspirin, preferred by more millions of people than any other brand of pain reliever.

Now children, as well as adults, can feel better fast with Bayer Aspirin. You can give Flavored Bayer Aspirin for Children with your doctor's blessing; it's the 1¼-grain dosage doctors recommend.

My favorite jokes

by DON RICE

EDITOR'S NOTE: Born in Lansing, Iowa, 44 years ago, Don Rice was bitten by the show business bug at 15. At the time he was working as an usher in a local theatre. Soon he was graduated to vaudeville, radio, and TV. Don's humor is generally topical, witty and clean. Recently he appeared at the Playboy Club in Chicago and met with such critical acclaim that he was signed to appear at other Playboy Clubs throughout the country. Here are a few of Don's jokes.

A small-town bank in northern Minnesota was held up a few weeks ago. The bandits scooped up every bit of currency in sight; they even took the change. As they were about to leave, the teller motioned to one of the bandits to come closer. "Do me a favor," he whispered. "Take the books, too. I'm fifty bucks short."

Words of advice: There is nothing like a horseback ride to make you feel better off.

Definition of a bachelor: A man who never finds out how many faults he has.

A woman, short and dumpy, who weighed 190 pounds, scrambled into a taxicab at three in the morning.

"Driver," she ordered, "Take me to the General Maternity Hospital. But don't hurry. I only work there."

My doctor said to me: "What are you taking for your cold?" I replied: "Make me an offer."

Did you hear about the reporter for a Tel Aviv newspaper who got his first scoop? He raced into the press room shouting at the top of his voice, "Hold the back page. Hold the back page."

I ran into a friend of mine the other day. He was down-at-the-mouth, really depressed.

"Clarence," I asked, "why so sad?"

"Well," he explained, "my wife just ran away with my best friend and I miss him."

Speaking of wives, I must confess I've been married twice, and I've had bad luck with both my wives. The first one ran off with another man—and the second one didn't.

Two dress manufacturers were vacationing in Bermuda, discussing life, love, and the pursuit of happiness.

Said one: "I'm here on insurance money. I collected $50,000 for fire damage."

The other dress manufacturer said: "What a coincidence! Me, too. Only I collected $100,000 for flood damage."

The first fellow meditated, then in a most confidential tone, said, "Tell me —how do you start a flood?"

There are millions of laws on the books but they don't mean a thing. Think I'm kiddin'? For example, in every one of our 50 states the husband is the legal head of the household, and the pedestrian has the legal right of way on a crosswalk. Both husband and pedestrian are absolutely safe as long as they don't try to exercise their legal rights.

Anecdote of the week

"Prince" Mike Romanoff, the Hollywood restaurateur and one of the great phonies of all time, supposedly descended from Czar Nicholas II, was being interviewed on radio. "Is it true," his interrogator asked, "that you are in fact no prince at all, that you were born in Brooklyn under the name of Harry Gerguson, that you never in your life set foot on Russian soil, and that you started out in life as a pants presser in a tailor shop?" Prince Mike meditated for a moment, haughtily tightened the Windsor knot of his tie, then replied in his best and most dignified Oxonian accent, "Apparently, old boy, you've mistaken me for Howard Hughes." ■

How Washington's big shots keep fit

They try everything from doing pushups to standing on their heads

by JACK ANDERSON

Parade Washington correspondent

WASHINGTON, D.C.

A NEW FASHION is sweeping the nation's capital even more virulently than the Jackie look. It's called PF, or physical fitness, and it's infected almost everyone from Supreme Court justices to Senate pages. Not since President Teddy Roosevelt, the Rough Rider, led his paunchy, puffing generals and admirals over obstacle courses in Rock Creek Park has Washington seen such a massive assault on swelling waistlines and flabby muscles.

In the wake of the President's call for greater fitness, steam rooms (notably those in the Senate) are packed with reducers. Early morning Georgetown, where most solons and senior government officials live, buzzes with PF activity. There is a whir of cycling and rowing machines, a rattle of punching bags, a creaking of muscle stretchers. Name any form of keep-fit activity and it's going on.

Everybody's Doing It

Believe it or not:

• A distinguished congresswoman, grandmotherly Frances Bolton, Ohio Republican, stands on her head. She says, "This form of exercise clears the brain and sends the blood surging through the body to give you new energy."

• A distinguished Senator, Allen Ellender of Louisiana, combines mental cogitation with physical workouts. He became so engrossed with world problems recently that he left the Senate exercise room clad only in a sheet.

• Half the officials who are entitled to chauffeured limousines walk to work. Among them: Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice Tom Clark, who hoof five miles to their offices each morning.

• President Kennedy and Vice President Johnson have a standing bet on keeping their weights at the correct level. At press time, both being somewhat puffy, there was $10 at stake.

• The latest keeping-fit fad boosted by Senator Russell Long, Louisiana Democrat, is exercising without moving an inch. It's called "isometric contraction" and consists of pushing against immovable objects. The virtue is that you cannot strain yourself and can exercise anytime, anyhow.

• President Kennedy, who started it all, has been restricted in his own exercises—much to his frustration. The doctors have ordered him to avoid vigorous physical activity until his ailing back mends. It took an ultimatum from a famous back specialist, Dr. Preston Wade, to keep Kennedy off the Florida golf links in January. Now he does cautious exercises to strengthen his back muscles and is a regular customer on the White House rubbing table.

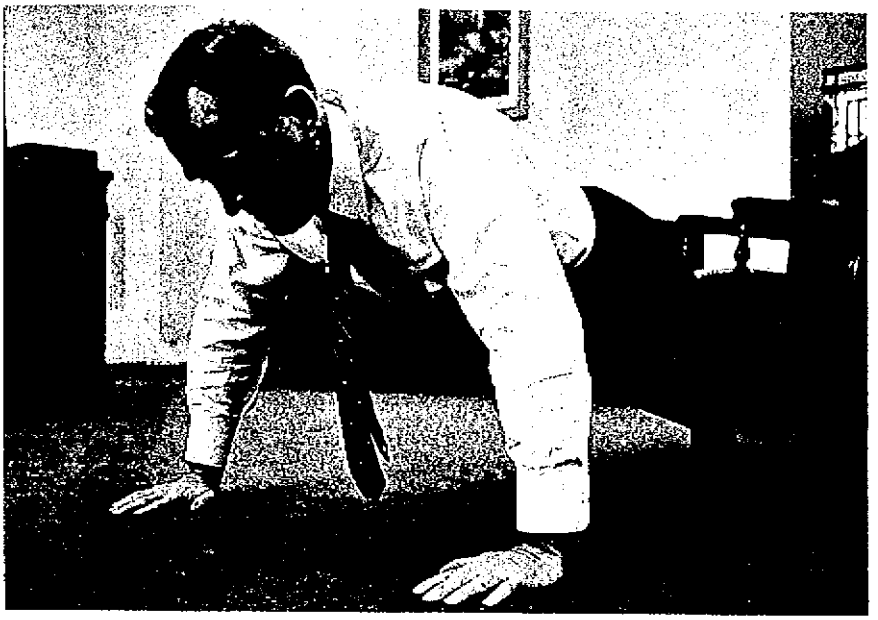

Dr. Janet Travell, the White House physician, encourages him to swim every day. To fit the daily dip into his crowded schedule, he is often obliged to hold conferences at the pool. Senator Hubert Humphrey, for instance, reported on his recent Berlin visit while splashing around the White House pool. Another time, Kennedy called an urgent conference on school aid. The impeccable Abe Ribicoff, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, came well-pressed and natty, conferred with a President in a dripping bathing suit.

Since his forced let-up in activity, the President has picked up a few pounds, mostly in his jowls. He likes to keep to 165 pounds, but is now heavier.

Vice President Johnson starts cutting down on his intake when he passes 195 pounds. Political banquets Broad jumper, Capt. F. M. Lloyd, practices in Pentagon hall. In Navy fitness test he must leap 6'4".

Headstanders, Sen. Strom Thurmond and Rep. Frances Bolton both perform in private. After 1946 photo (r.) Thurmond took so much ribbing that he gave up public headstands.

Exerciser, Under Secretary of the Navy Paul Fay Jr., does push-ups in his Pentagon office. A long-time believer in calisthenics, Fay goads Navy brass to work off their waistlines.

during 1960 boosted his weight 29 pounds. But he took it off quickly on his LBJ ranch. He would crawl out of bed at 4 a.m. to go hunting or wake up his wife, Lady Bird, to go strolling through the countryside. He, too, likes to swim, keeps heated pools both at the ranch and his Washington home.

In the fight against flabbiness, exercise centers have sprung up from the White House to Capitol Hill. Almost every government department now has a health room equipped with exercise devices. And some top officials have set up specific training programs for their staff and underlings.

More Vigor, Men

Under Secretary of the Navy Paul Fay, himself a fitness buff (see photo), has directed his admirals to do daily exercises, and cautioned them to "be more vigorous" as they navigate Pentagon corridors.

Not to be outdone, General Curtis Le May, the Air Force chief, has issued written orders to his generals to toughen up. "I have directed the Surgeon General," the order reads, "to implement and monitor an organized and supervised program of physical condition and weight control." His directive calls for a weekly minimum of four hours of exercise.

The Le May fitness plan, originally prepared by the Royal Canadian Air Force, is called "the 5 BX plan." It offers routine pushup, situp exercises, also urges officers to get the most exercise out of their daily activities. Examples: Balance on one foot while putting on shoes and socks; take stairs two at a time; lift chairs instead of pushing them.

Washington's rubbing tables also have a devoted following. The Senate's two Senator Youngs, Milt of North Dakota and Steve of Ohio, swear to the beneficial effects of massages. The North Dakota Senator received a whiplash injury in an automobile accident that left his right arm useless. The Ohio Senator tore the muscles of his shoulder at tennis, then took a header on his way to a Democratic rally and dislocated the same shoulder. Masseur Olaf Anderson's talented rubbing restored both stiff arms.

Who is Washington's most physically fit official? Most observers agree it would be a contest between Attorney General Robert Kennedy and Interior Secretary Stewart Udall. The 36-year-old Kennedy is 155 pounds of muscles. He walks to appointments, swims every day the weather permits, plays lively tennis and rugged touch football.

Kennedy likes to rib pudgy White House press secretary Pierre Salinger about his weight, once challenged him to run 100 yards up and down a Senate corridor in one minute. Kennedy didn't realize that Salinger was a college quarter-miler. He pulled up and down the hall in a minute flat. Another time the Attorney General bet Salinger he couldn't lose 20 pounds in 30 days. Salinger collected $50, then promptly regained the 20 pounds.

Interior Secretary Udall, five years older than the Attorney General, is still an athletic, muscular 180 pounds. In warm weather he plays tennis every morning, often plays handball and touch football, and enjoys long weekend walks. But most of all he is fond of hunting, fishing and hiking. He made world-wide headlines, for instance, by climbing Japan's Mount Fujiyama last December.

Senators agree that their most fit member is Senator William Proxmire, Wisconsin Democrat. He starts each morning with precisely 215 pushups. Proxmire walks two miles of his daily trip to work, and sometimes even runs part way. He scorns elevators and climbs Capitol steps two at a time.

Here's how other big shots exercise:

WALKING: The most popular athletic equipment in Washington is shank's mare. Many cabinet officers and Supreme Court justices walk every day. Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges, for instance, takes off on a nocturnal stroll every night promptly at 10:30, then goes to bed. Justice Clark is so hipped on walking that he prescribed it for his secretary as a way of recuperating from a virus.

SWIMMING: This is a special favorite with senators, who have two pools—one with warm water, one with cool. Since old backstroker Kennedy left the Senate, Louisiana's Long is conceded to be the best. He holds the informal Senate record for underwater swimming. The Senate's most enthusiastic splasher is Robert Kerr, Oklahoma Democrat.

BOXING: The deceptively meek Internal Revenue director, Mortimer Caplin, was intercollegiate middleweight boxing champ (he won despite a broken hand), and still likes to work out in the gym. The scrappiest big shot, though, is Senator Allen Ellender, 71. His colleagues call him "Little Bull" because, years ago, Vice President Henry Wallace tangled with him and was knocked cold for 30 minutes.

GOLF: Popularized by President Eisenhower, tussling with par remains a favorite Washington exercise. General George Decker, Army chief, is best at it. (He also is a skilled bowler, recently rolled a 706 series.) Other golfers include Senators Stuart Symington and George Smathers, Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon, Space Administrator James Webb, and General Lyman Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs.

CYCLING: Senator John Stennis, Mississippi Democrat, is the biggest of the wheel addicts. He spends 10 minutes a day on an exercise bicycle. Senator Maurine Neuberger, Oregon Democrat, bicycles outdoors.

WEIGHTLIFTING: Senators Clair Engle of California, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Howard Cannon of Nevada spend much of their spare time hoisting weights, as does Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona less frequently.

HANDBALL: Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman are twice-a-week handballers, also play squash (see photo). Handball is also popular with Senators Smathers and Engle and Robert Byrd of West Virginia.

TENNIS: The best tennis player in high government circles is probably Army Secretary Elvis Stahr, who was co-captain of the tennis team at the University of Kentucky. Attorney General Robert Kennedy and Secretary Dillon also play. And one of the best is the President's physician, Dr. Travell.

Although fitness is breaking out all around them, some bigwigs are still holding out against it. Senator Humphrey, for instance, snorts: "Physical fitness is 95 per cent mental, only five per cent exercise. Don't think you're tired and you won't be." Senator Gale McGee, Wyoming Democrat, still wears the same size clothes as the day he married. "I've been meaning to find out where the Senate gym is located," he told PARADE, "but I haven't got around to it."

And one of those who resists most strongly the trend toward exercise is Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg. From the fitness bugs and others, he takes a good deal of ribbing about it. After the Japanese Labor Minister accompanied Secretary Udall up Mount Fuji, Secretary of State Dean Rusk offered to return the hospitality. "When you come to Washington," he graciously promised the minister, "we'll have Arthur Goldberg walk up the Washington Monument."

VEE-FORM
by MODESS

Anatomically Shaped

to echo the lines of your body

Vee-Form by Modess is a totally new concept in napkin shape and comfort. A completely natural concept, thoroughly feminine.
Anatomically shaped to echo the lines of your body . . . reassuringly wider front with neat, tapered back . . . narrower for never-before comfort, deeper for confidence . . . won't fold, shift or twist.
Other thoughtful Vee-Form features: positive shield of protection the length of the napkin; undetectable deodorant; softest cover ever.

THEN & NOW

LOS ANGELES.

BOB HOPE'S PAST has finally caught up with him.

A few weeks ago when okl ski-nose was rehearsing for his February 27 TV special, a sweet, well-groomed, middle-aged lady—she later admitted to 57, which Hope also admits to—showed up backstage. When Bob saw her, he threw down his script, rushed over, enveloped her in the tightest bear hug.

"Mildred Rosequist!" he exclaimed. "I'll be darned! Mildred Rosequist!"

Turns out that Mildred Rosequist was Bob's first fiancée and dancing partner. They went and worked together in Cleveland almost 40 years ago (see photo above).

Today she's Mildred Rosequist Brod, lives in Lemon Grove, near San Diego, has been married 29 years to the same man.

"I first met Bob on a blind date," Mrs. Brod recalls, "in Cleveland at a house party at 105th and Euclid. Even back then his whole life was show business. He was awful skinny—he didn't believe in working, only in dancing. But my! How he could dance!

"He was so good on his feet and so glib with his tongue that before I knew it we were engaged. He talked me into taking tap-dancing lessons with him at Sojack's Dancing School.

"He got up an act for us and wanted us to go out of town. My mother auditioned the act and turned Bob down cold.

"'Mildred,' she warned me, 'never marry that fella. He'll never amount to anything.' But Mom did agree to let us play local engagements—you know, right there in Cleveland."

Mildred and Bob appeared at Cleveland's Cameo Club and at Knights of Columbus benefits.

"Bob always said that these were charity affairs," Mildred fondly recalls, "and that the experience would be good for us. It wasn't until years later that I found out that he received eight dollars a performance—and kept all the money!" ■

NOW...DEFENCIN: A NEW MORE EFFECTIVE ANSWER TO ARTHRITIS AND RHEUMATISM PAIN

New muscle-relaxing tablet works through the muscle fibres... gives more effective relief from pain of minor arthritis, rheumatism, body aches and stiffness in the 8 major areas of pain.

Today there has been a breakthrough against the pain and muscle stiffness of minor arthritis and rheumatism. Scientists have developed a new kind of medicine that you can take frequently, according to directions, for prolonged relief.

This medicine works by a new principle—through the muscle fibres themselves. It has been tested extensively on patients suffering from arthritis, rheumatism, body aches and stiffness in the 8 major areas of pain and has proved dramatically superior in bringing relief.

In case after case, pain and stiffness were relieved. Twice as many patients found relief, compared to those who took the most widely used pain tablets. Many patients found the new medicine acted faster, or relief lasted longer, or was more complete. They could reach, lift, walk, bend and move with greater ease and freedom.

This new medicine is DEFENCIN—a two-layer tablet with prescription-type ingredients—now available without prescription.

Here is an explanation of how DEFENCIN works, what it does, and its three-action relief.

Arthritis and its chain of pain

The pain of arthritis or rheumatism is not a simple matter. It is like a chain with many links. Muscles, joints and nerves make up these links.

When muscles around the painful joint stiffen and "lock" they restrict joint movement. Every time we do move, it hurts. This pain, in turn, irritates nerves, making the pain still worse.

Muscles, joints, nerves—this is the chain of pain of arthritis and rheumatism.

The key that unlocks the chain

Aspirin, common pain tablets and ordinary non-prescription "arthritis" pills are designed essentially to blunt pain. They act primarily in one way... give only part-way relief, do relatively little for muscles, joints or nerves. They don't have the key that unlocks the chain.

DEFENCIN does. It goes to work in minutes, right at the source of the trouble, relaxing tight, tense muscles that aggravate the pain of minor arthritis and rheumatism. DEFENCIN checks pain impulses as well as soothes nervous tension due to pain. It attacks pain and stiffness at its source, unlocks the chain of pain.

And, while there is no known cure for arthritis and rheumatism, you can take DEFENCIN frequently according to directions for continued relief of pain and stiffness.

A unique new three-action formula

Each DEFENCIN tablet contains:

(1) An exclusive muscle relaxant that quickly acts through the muscle fibres—relaxes muscle tension, loosens stiffness, reduces pain at the source, and helps restore movement.

(2) An effective pain reliever that eases pain from the affected joint areas for hours.

(3) A nerve calmative to relieve the nervous tension that accompanies and aggravates painful conditions.

How DEFENCIN has helped others

People with body aches and stiffness in all 8 areas listed below—from arthritis and rheumatism to simple "Charlie Horse"—have taken DEFENCIN under the supervision of doctors in clinical tests.

The results of these tests bear repeating:

Compared to the most widely used pain tablets, DEFENCIN helped twice as many of these people. For many it acted faster, or relief lasted longer, or was more complete. In most cases, people found they could move, walk, stoop, bend with greater freedom. In some cases, all symptoms were completely relieved.

For more effective relief get DEFENCIN.* Sold in drugstores—$1.00 for 24 tablets.

WHICH OF THESE MUSCLE OR JOINT PAINS DO YOU HAVE?

Arthritis, rheumatism and related pains can strike anywhere in your body . . . most often causing painful conditions listed below. New DEFENCIN can relieve pain and stiffness in any of these areas.

1. Stiff back—pain in muscles especially in the small of the back. Over-exertion can cause stiffness here.
2. Stiff shoulder—pain in muscles that raise and lower the arm.
3. Stiff neck—pain in muscles that bend and turn the head.
4. Sore elbow—pain in muscles around the joint that flex the arm. Arthritis often attacks here.
5. Sore hip—pain in muscles of hip often extends down back of thigh.
6. Stiff knee—pain in these muscles may keep whole leg stiff.
7. Stiff wrist—pain in muscles that move the wrist and hand. These muscle areas are quite susceptible to rheumatism.
8. Cramped leg—pain in the leg muscles. When they stiffen, it hurts to move your ankle.

She shares a billionaire's secrets

At 25, Robina Lund has a dream job with oilman J. Paul Getty

LONDON, ENGLAND.

ROBINA LUND is a pretty English girl who has a job that is a career girl's dream—and a billion dollars worth of secrets to go with it.

At 25, she is the legal adviser and Girl Friday to American oilman J. Paul Getty, the world's only private billionaire.

In a typical day Robina may deal with 70 letters; confer with Getty for a total of two hours; lunch with the director of one of Getty's European oil refining companies; hear his difficulties and report on them to Getty; fend off reporters who want interviews with Getty; and listen to Getty's idea for a new tanker building program in England and Japan. No wonder she says of her job: "It's the variety that I enjoy."

In a relatively short time, Getty—long known as a loner in the business world—has come to rely absolutely on Robina's discretion and loyalty and to admire and employ her brains. He told a business associate recently, "She understands the law and she understands business, and that's awfully rare."

Robina is the daughter of Sir Thomas Lund, the Secretary of Britain's Law Society. She became a lawyer when she was only 21, and joined a law firm specializing in company law.

J. Paul Getty was an old friend of Robina's parents. He and Robina met at the Swiss lake resort of Lugano, when the Lunds and Getty found they were staying at the same hotel.

"I remember being fascinated then by the breadth of Mr. Getty's conversation," Robina says. "That first evening, he talked about how to run a railroad, international politics, antique furniture and national characters."

Getty in his turn was interested by Robina's knowledge of British company law, and he telephoned her a couple of times with questions, on a friendly basis.

Buying 'Gettysburg'

This was 1959, and a turning point in Getty's life. He was starting to put down roots in England, and to establish in this country a home for himself and a nerve center for his world-wide operations. For this purpose, he bought Sutton Place, the huge, 400-year-old ancestral home of the Duke of Sutherland, set in 1,000 acres of ground near London (inevitably, it is known now to Getty's friends as Gettysburg).

He was impressed with Robina's ability, and he asked her to handle the legal aspects of this purchase, taxiing down to her law firm's office with the papers. Then he offered her a job as his legal adviser.

"He told me," Robina says, "that he would also expect me to handle press queries and some of his mail. But since then the job has grown into all sorts of things."

Getty is a demanding boss. He thinks nothing of telephoning Robina at home at 8:30 in the morning to discuss a matter that has just occurred to him.

He once telephoned her on Friday and told her to leave with him on Saturday morning on a visit to his oil companies in France and Switzerland. She put her foot down and refused to go at such short notice. They compromised, and Getty left on the Saturday and she followed on the Tuesday. The trip turned into a hard-working, three-month, five-nation tour of Getty's businesses. Robina's chief memory of it is the time they ran out of gas in Germany. Getty had to walk a mile along a muddy road to get help. The idea of the world's biggest oil-owner being out of gas tickled Robina.

A Getty Skull Session

Sometimes, Getty will call Robina in to throw a new idea at her. He tells her about it, and then often fires off questions, starting with her special field of competence: "Is this legally permissible here? Is it legally permissible in Italy? What kind of capital outlay do you think it would need? Whom could I appoint to run it? Would it need a separate office? . . ."

When he pauses for breath, Robina says, "Well, which question do you want me to answer first?"

He grins, then says, "Okay, let's go back to the first one."

Robina is often Getty's companion on social occasions these days, accompanying him to cocktail or dinner parties, or charity film premieres. There was even gossip at one time of romance between Getty and Robina, but Robina squelched it with, "Goodness, there's nothing like that!"

Robina has became something of a celebrity in her own right now. British reporters and gossip writers know her, and her photograph is almost better known than Getty's, since part of her job is to place her attractive self between newspapermen and him.

The British business world knows her now, too, and every now and again some businessman will ask her, "And what's Mr. Paul Getty going to be up to next?"

The question is put jokingly because the man does not expect a reply. He is right; he will not get one. For that is the billion-dollar question, and Robina is not giving away the answer. —NORMAN MOSS

Robina and her boss visit a London art show. They often appear together but squelch any talk of romance.

Take one easy recipe... in 20 minutes make sparkling meals like these!

But only with Minute Rice...Heinz® Condensed Soup...plus meat or fish, fruit or vegetables

Here's all you need

1 can Heinz Condensed Soup, undiluted · ½ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups water · 2 cups cooked or canned meat, poultry, fish or eggs
1 cup cooked or canned vegetables or fruit · 1½ cups Minute Rice

Here's all you do

Combine Heinz Soup, seasoning, water, meat, poultry or seafood—and vegetables or fruit. (Heinz Soups make everything taste better.) Then add Minute Rice according to cooking method. (You use it right from the box so it simmers in savory juices—absorbs flavor as no rice you boil first can.)

Casserole Method: Combine Heinz Soup, seasoning, water, meat and vegetables or fruit. Bring to a boil. Stir in Minute Rice. Then pour into 1½-quart casserole. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 10 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Skillet Method: Combine all ingredients in large skillet. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer 5 minutes. Stir and serve. Enough for 4 to 6 servings.

Heinz is the registered trademark of H. J. Heinz Co. Minute is a registered trade-mark of General Foods Corp.

Cheese Marvel. By the casserole method, use flavorful Heinz Cheese Soup. Add 6 quartered hard-cooked eggs, 1 cup mixed vegetables, ½ teaspoon curry powder and Minute Rice. Or try a combination of tuna and eggs. Marvelous the way all the flavors blend with Minute Rice and Heinz Soups!

Mexicali Casserole. Follow basic casserole recipe using peppy Heinz Chili Soup, cooked onion rings, 1 tablespoon Heinz Vinegar and Minute Rice. It absorbs and mingles the flavors as no other rice can. Just before popping casserole into the oven, top with cheese-stuffed skinless frankfurters.

Ham 'n' Cheese Skillet. Follow basic skillet recipe, combining nippy Heinz Cheese Soup with cubed ham, asparagus and flavor-absorbing Minute Rice. For flavor bonus, add 1 tablespoon prepared mustard. For a delicious variation, substitute diced chicken and green peas.

Italian Tuna Casserole. Basic recipe again, casserole method. This time, the sunny combination is Heinz Tomato Soup, tuna, green beans and fluffy Minute Rice. Add ¼ teaspoon garlic powder and, if desired, sprinkle Parmesan cheese atop your casserole for a special delight.

Company's Coming Chicken. All done by the skillet method. Combine tantalizing Heinz Cream of Chicken Soup with canned fruit cocktail, chicken slices or chunks, and Minute Rice. Substitute juice of fruit cocktail for part of water specified in recipe.

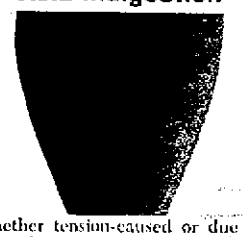

Seafood Supper. Start with basic skillet recipe, combining Heinz satin-smooth Cream of Mushroom Soup, shrimp and/or crabmeat, peas and Minute Rice—right from the box. Minute Rice fluffs up tender, perfect every time. Blends the flavors as no rice you boil first can.

Pork chops with an Oriental flavor

by BETH MERRIMAN
Parade food editor

Pork has always been a favorite meat in Chinese cookery, but scarcity and cost in China made it necessary to cut the meat in slivers or small cubes and use it more for flavor than for substance. Here in the U.S. we can be more lavish and use whole pork chops in a dish with Oriental flavor. The sweet and pungent sauce does the trick. Begin dinner with clear consommé or bouillon. Serve fluffy rice with the pork chops and add a western touch with a green vegetable or salad. Serve tea with the meal. Wind up with vanilla ice cream topped with chopped preserved kumquats.

Sweet and Pungent Pork Chops

6 to 8 loin pork chops
1 can (13½ oz.) pineapple chunks
1 can (11 oz.) mandarin oranges
½ cup light molasses
½ cup vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon soy sauce
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon cold water or pineapple syrup
½ green pepper, diced
6 maraschino cherries

Trim excess fat from chops; place on rack in baking pan. Bake in moderate oven, 325°, about 1 hour or until thoroughly done. Drain pineapple chunks and oranges; reserve ½ cup of the pineapple syrup (reserve remaining fruit syrup for future use in fruit drinks, punches, etc.). Combine molasses, vinegar and ½ cup reserved pineapple syrup in saucepan. Stir in salt, ginger and soy sauce. Blend cornstarch and cold water until smooth; add to molasses mixture. Add green pepper. Place over medium heat. Bring to boil; stir and simmer 5 minutes. Add pineapple chunks, oranges and maraschino cherries. Simmer 2 minutes longer. Serve over pork chops. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

bringing up baby®

Hints collected by
Mrs. Dan Gerber, Mother of 5

When baby "takes a stand"

It's a new kind of independence for baby when he pulls himself to his feet for the first time. However, while getting up is relatively easy, it's a bit harder to catch the knack of sitting down again. If you suddenly find your little daredevil hanging on to playpen bars for dear life, take his hands and let him down gently. After you come to his rescue a few times, he'll plop down on his own. And when he finds a "sit-down strike" doesn't hurt particularly, your baby will move on to new experiments. First step, perhaps?

Muscle builder for standees or sitters. Protein's the thing when it comes to muscle development. And there's protein a-plenty in Gerber Strained and Junior High Meat Dinners . . . because they have 3 times as much meat as regular vegetable-meat combinations. Add to this extra meat, the flavorful goodness of garden vegetables and you get nutritious main dishes calculated to bring coos of approval from any little athlete — boy or girl.

Playpen pointers. As soon as baby begins to creep or stand, the playpen becomes less desirable. But since you'll still want baby to stay put at times, it's wise to keep to some kind of routine . . . and keep the pen a pleasurable place to come to after roaming.

- If you put baby in his pen about the same times each day, he'll come to accept this as part of his routine.
- A busy baby is a contented baby. By providing different do-something toys each day you not only help baby's hand co-ordination but keep his little "homestead" a happy one.

Nutrition notation for on-the-go-babies. A daily serving of any Gerber Cereal will give baby a good supply of these important nutrients: blood-building iron, energy-giving calories, growth-promoting B-vitamins.

Memo from Dan Gerber. The preparation of any Gerber Baby Food is determined by the kind of product it is. Take the case of Gerber Sweet Potatoes. After harvesting they're inspected for perfection. Next, only choice specimens are mellowed under controlled temperature and humidity conditions. Finally, the sweet potatoes undergo a low-heat, slow-cook process, to break down the starches for easy digestibility and to protect precious food values.

Important: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods — cereals, strained and junior — to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

"Babies are our business . . . our only business!"

Ronnie Tegge, at left, displays championship form in getting out of sand trap. Above, he shows trophies to young admirer, Star Burritt.

Practice shots in Tegge home get mixed reaction from Mom. Though proud of her son, she disapproves of his use of her kitchenware.

TIPS FROM A

GOLF CHAMP—AGE 6

CORAL GABLES, FLA.

RONNIE TEGGE is only 6, but already he swings a golf club with more authority than most men five or six times his age, and four times his weight.

The 3'9", 50-pound vest-pocket Arnold Palmer will be gunning for his third straight Pee Wee Golf Championship in Orlando, Fla., this summer. He won the 3-5-year-old division laurels handily in 1960 by firing a 12 for the three-hole layout. His 13 over the same course to retain his championship last year might have been better but for a touch of bad luck.

"I should have done at least one stroke better," he explains, "but I saw Mom watching me just before I hit an important shot and I duffed it."

Not surprisingly, neighborhood kids — and some grownups, too—ask Ronnie for golf tips. Among his satisfied pupils are his dad, Ed Tegge, a commercial airlines jet pilot, and a 5-year-old blonde enchantress named Star Burritt.

These are Ronnie's rules for good golf:

Stand the proper distance from the ball. "Sometimes the ball goes off all crazy like a spinning top. That's because I'm too close to the ball. Sometimes, though, it's because I'm too far away."

Pay attention. "You can't play golf while you're talking."

Keep your head still. "Some people muff shots because they wag their head around like Inky wags his tail." (Inky is a pet dog who kibitzes on Ronnie's practice.)

Swing through smoothly. "If you want to make a yo-yo go 'round-the-world, you don't jerk the string or it gets mixed up. If you hit the ball jerky, it gets mixed up, too."

Don't swing too hard. "Whenever I try to kill the ball, I barely hit it. Sometimes, though, when I'm not even trying to hit it far it goes all the way across the street and nearly breaks a window."

Use the proper grip. "I hold my club like a baseball bat. Dad uses the interlocking grip but I need the power the baseball grip gives me." (Ronnie drives up to 140 yards.)

Practice regularly. "You don't have to play on a course. I practice in the schoolyard or the backyard a lot. I make a game out of it by pretending that trees and fire plugs and things are 'holes.'"

Master one club before adding another. "I use two woods, 5, 7, and 9 irons and a putter. I'll add clubs later, but now I have enough trouble with the ones I use."

Pay attention to your teacher. "The best way to learn how to play golf is to listen to your dad—especially if he can play golf as good as mine can." ■

Calories Don't Count!

News about a revolutionary reducing plan, based on a new biochemical discovery, and now available for the first time in a new book

UNBELIEVABLE — but true! You need to eat fat if you are to be slim. It isn't how many calories you consume that matters — but what kind of calories. The inclusion of polyunsaturated fatty acids in your diet is the essential step toward loosening the body's long-stored fat. It is the key to your losing only excess fat rather than vital body tissue.

In his just-published book, CALORIES DON'T COUNT, Dr. Herman Taller explains the principles behind this new understanding of the body's chemistry — and tells you in full detail:

1. How to eat three full meals a day and lose weight in the safest way possible
2. Why you must never leave the table hungry if you want to be slim
3. How you can eat heartily while those extra inches disappear
4. How this radical new way of losing weight is linked with a low cholesterol count, better skin condition, and resistance to colds
5. Why you may eat fried foods every day and keep slim — what kind of fats to fry them in
6. What foods (this includes the greatest surprise of all to people who have suffered through calorie-counting diets) you should avoid
7. Why large portions of meat, fowl, or sea food are essential to your slimming program
8. Sample recipes including pot roast, fried chicken, cheese cake and mayonnaise

"There have been no failures."

The story back of Dr. Taller's radical new method for losing inches without starvation

Dr. Herman Taller is a gynecologist and obstetrician who became interested in theories of obesity for personal reasons when he himself weighed 265 pounds. After hungry years of unsuccessful experimenting with standard calorie-counting diets he happened to take part in an anti-cholesterol experiment which involved adding a specific kind of fat to his diet. To the astonishment of Dr. Taller and the researchers involved, he found himself fastening his belt on a tighter notch, discovered that his clothes were becoming too big. He found himself adding calories and losing weight. Was this some fluke? Would it work for others?

With mounting excitement Dr. Taller began spending all his spare time in the medical libraries, reading everything that existed on obesity and metabolism. He discovered no clues, until one day he came upon an article by the late Dr. Alfred W. Pennington which contained the first glimmer, the first specific evidence to explain what was happening to him. He determined to proceed from Dr. Pennington's beginnings to work out a program that would solve the "diet problem" once and for all.

After painstaking research he put his program into practice on a group of 93 problem dieters with extraordinary success. Today patients from all over the country come to Dr. Taller for treatment. And his principles have won ever widening interest in the medical field. In the preface to his book he writes:

> "The concept this book advances is revolutionary. Perhaps all I need say in support of my new nutrition principle is that it works. It has been tested in medical laboratories and among large numbers of patients. There have been no failures, nor can there be any when the principle is properly applied. For it is based on new knowledge — a medical breakthrough. I think it is wise to warn you that this breakthrough is so dramatic that it will probably invalidate all you know, or think you know, about the causes of obesity."

Eat steak, french fried potatoes, and lose weight safely

Revolutionary indeed. Following Dr. Taller's 14-point plan, you will be free from the discouragement — to say nothing of the danger — of the endless chain of diet-gain-diet-gain. And you will be free from the crash diets that more often than not result in a gaunt face (easier for the calorie-starved body to break down vital tissue than hard long-stored excess fat) while unaesthetic bulges remain.

With Dr. Taller's new plan — specifically directed at breaking down and burning excess fat, you eat well (even piecrust and french fried potatoes) — never know the pangs of hunger, and lose not just pounds but, specifically, the bulges you want to lose in order to be pleased with your image in the mirror and the fit of your clothes. And you stay slim.

It is a simple plan. But its rules, though easy to follow, are specific. They are clearly outlined in Dr. Taller's book, CALORIES DON'T COUNT. Read it and liberate yourself, once and for all, from both starvation and overweight.

DR. HERMAN TALLER

Dr. Taller is a noted New York gynecologist and obstetrician. His patients — many of them famous names in the entertainment world — come from all over the country, and even South America for his treatment. He became interested in reducing for personal reasons. After years of unsuccessful experimentation with standard diets he prescribed one of his own — and lost 65 pounds in eight months. His nutrition principles have since gained medical recognition and national attention.

SPECIAL REPORT: Russians and Chinese fight each other for power

CHINESE REDS IN LATIN AMERICA

CARACAS, VENEZUELA.

CHINESE COMMUNIST STRATEGY, according to reliable intelligence, calls for taking over South America in 1963 and using it as a base to attack the United States. An Oriental pipe dream? Perhaps. But already Mao's version of Marxism has taken deep root here, as the photos on these pages show.

Nowhere else in the world—with the possible exception of Africa—does the Russian-Chinese struggle for ideological leadership seem so apparent. Nowhere else do the giants of communism seem so obviously headed for conflict.

Mao's blazing creed that war between communism and capitalism is inevitable is capturing the hearts and minds of the young Latin revolutionaries. To them, the Russian revolution has been dimmed by time. Russia with her new industrial power has become a "have" nation—out of gear with the fierce hopes and dreams of the "have nots" like the poor and non-industrial Latin lands. But the Chinese revolution is still fresh and fiery. At the last Communist congress the delegates from Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Venezuela brashly sided with the Chinese in the outcry against coexistence.

Although Mao's tentacles reach into every country below the border, his prime target is Brazil's vast northeast, where 20 million peasants slave to earn two pounds of wretched manioc flour a day.

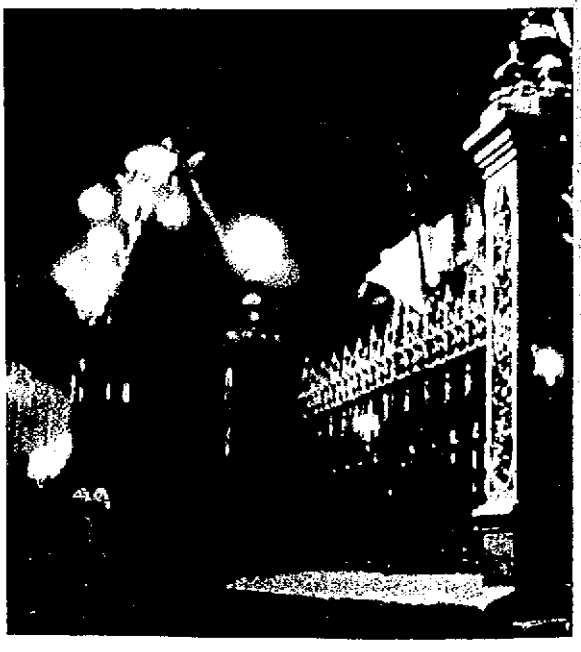

Mao's agents believe they have found there a peasant leader to carry their banner. He is Congressman Francisco Juliao, a blazing fanatic who has visited China twice and reveres Mao as the Messiah of all peasants. Already Juliao's Peasant Leagues, as he calls his village unions, have over 100,000 members and countless sympathizers. All through Brazil, Mao's pamphlets on guerrilla warfare and his calls for revolution are being passed from hand to hand.

Mao sees Latin America not as 20 countries but as another China where peasant people can be exploited and whose vast terrain is ideally suited for his style of guerrilla warfare. Moreover, the Chinese claim a racial link with the Latins—especially those of Indian background.

Chinese magazines dominate many newsstands in Latin America—as in Montevideo, Uruguay, street display here—sharing best positions with those of Castro's Cuba. Soviet and U.S. publications get less play. Chinese print six Latin magazines, use Havana plants once owned by Americans. They also peddle cheap books, show free propaganda movies, offer study courses and broadcast 31 hours a day. Lately they have distributed children's comics.

In 1959, a Cuban press agency, Prensa Latina, set up bureaus throughout Latin America. Hired to run the Rio de Janeiro office was Paulo de Castro, an honest leftist Brazilian journalist. By mistake, he happened to see some confidential cables which revealed that the press service's top man in Brazil wasn't a newsman at all but a political spy. "Prensa Latina is a Chinese-Cuban spy network," de Castro wrote disgustedly.

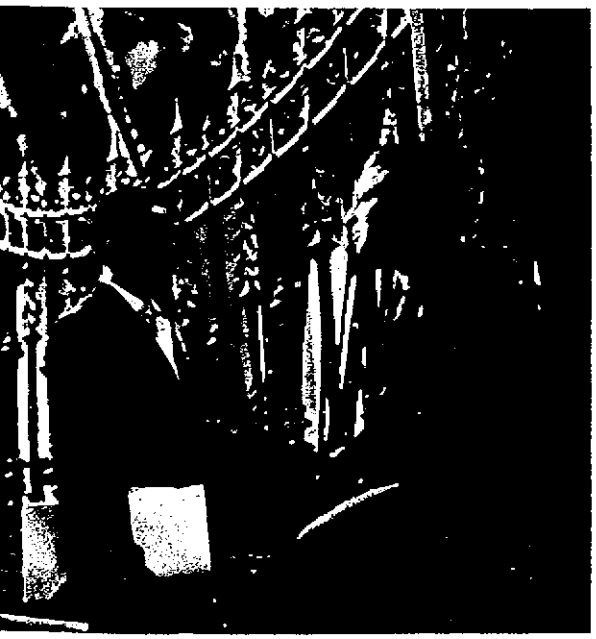

This is typical of how Mao's agents are infiltrating Latin America. They pose as writers, artists, agricultural and technical advisers. They also work through the large Chinese communities which exist in many Latin American countries.

How successful they have been can be measured by a recent incident in Uruguay. Kuo Mao An, a top Peking union leader, arrived at the Montevideo airport with two underlings. They carried 12 pieces of luggage. Customs agents ignored their diplomatic credentials, opened the suitcases and found them stuffed with propaganda.

Enraged, the Uruguayan Interior Minister issued a summary order for their deportation. But before it could be carried out next morning, a stormy meeting of the Uruguayan Parliament suddenly disclosed that Comrade Kuo had a lot of friends nobody suspected. There were such violent protests over the Minister's "high-handed action" that he had to cancel it.

Just as Kuo and company were being shepherded aboard their plane, a police car, sirens screaming, sped up to tell them they could stay. "Ah," said Comrade Kuo with a knowing smile, "that's good news. We have a lot of work to do here."

He was speaking of Uruguay, but his words sounded ominous for this whole continent—and for the rest of the world as well. ■ on street with student. Ojeda recently visited Red China. Although Venezuela bars Chinese political literature, it is brought in a copy at a time, then mimeographed or copied.

Chinese propaganda is spread by Luis Serafim of Brazilian Peasant League, holding streetcorner "Solidarity with China" rally at Recife, in Brazil's impoverished northeast. Chinese concentrate on peasants around Recife, often point out their revolution began in northeast China.

Chinese visitors—shown leaving Havana's Presidential palace after audience with Fidel Castro—are swarming over Latin American countries. Besides technicians, Reds send trade experts, union leaders, students, journalists. Recent touring groups also included Peking Opera and Peking Circus, both hits.

Huddle in Havana shows Castro, Economics Minister Guevara, President Dorticos, who are believed swinging closer to Peking. Castro once said: "Latin America (is) . . . a mass of starving shoeless peasants, 150 million of them, divided by artificial borders. Does that sound like China? It is like China."

He whips the stars

by LLOYD SHEARER

HOLLYWOOD.

FOR 40 YEARS Dave Kashner, a stocky, well-muscled little man (5 ft. 7—150 lbs.) with bright-brown beady eyes and smooth-shaven head, has been beating the screen stars.

Think of any movie celebrity from Douglas Fairbanks to Jane Russell to Doris Day. Chances are that mild-mannered, soft-voiced Dave has put the whip to your favorite.

Kashner is the screen colony's recognized whip expert. In four decades he has wielded everything from a two-foot riding crop to a 20-foot bull whip, and not once has he so much as raised a welt on any player.

Whenever the movies or television need someone to administer a savage lashing to a character, the call goes out for Kashner. He gets $150 per day for his work.

Recently, for example, Lee Thompson, director of Guns of Navarone, wanted a Russian Cossack to whip a girl in his latest film, Taras Bulba, starring Tony Curtis and Yul Brynner. He called for Kashner, dressed him as a Cossack, let him crack his bull whip for a week. A few days later David Dortort, producer of Bonanza, read a script which demanded an expert to whiplash a gun out of a desperado's hand. He phoned for Dave.

Dave Kashner plays a Russian Cossack in forthcoming film Taras Bulba.

Kashner is hired not only to inflict harmless floggings on the stars, but to teach them the whipping art. To date his most talented pupil has been actress Maureen O'Hara.

"She has nerves of steel," Dave says, "excellent control and a high degree of confidence. She also likes to practice. These are the qualities that make a good whipper."

The bravest star Kashner has ever worked with is Jane Russell.

"Several years ago," he recalls, "we were doing a film over at RKO. I think it was called Hot Blood or Wild Flower, some such name. The script called for me to flick a flower from Jane Russell's ear, face-on, with a crack of a bull whip.

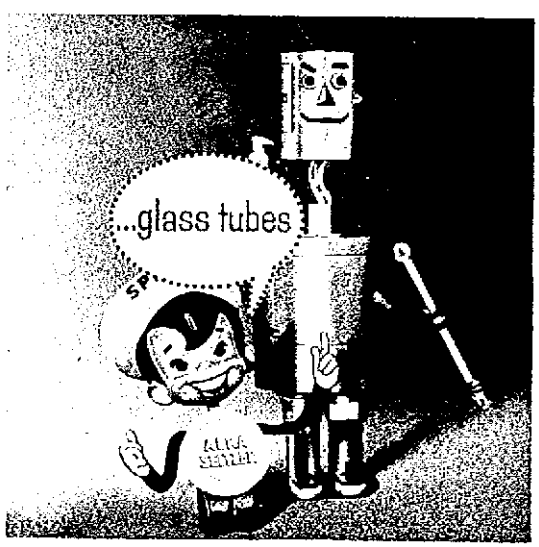

"It was a very dangerous piece of business. If I missed by half an inch, the whip-tip might catch her eye and put it out, or if I missed her eye, there was a good chance I might catch her face and scar her for life.

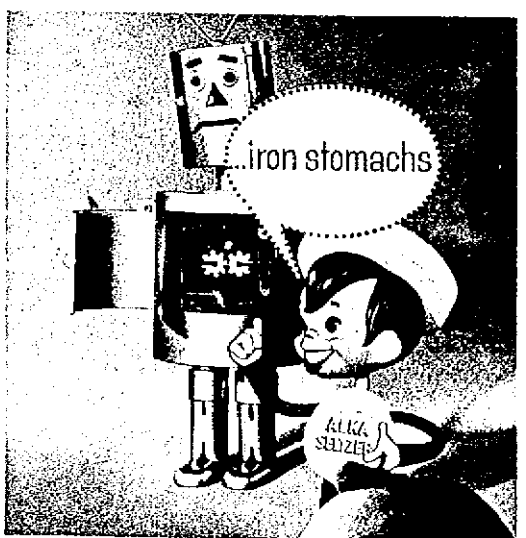

"In all this film work," Kashner explains, "it's the studio that carries the insurance. I couldn't possibly carry enough liability, since who could afford to pay such astronomical premiums?

"Anyway, the director, Nick Ray, came to me and said, 'Listen, Dave, is there any chance that you could miss with Jane and disfigure her? Is there any chance of that?'

THERE ARE PILLS FOR...

When you have an upset stomach or a headache, you want fast relief. Pills can take time to break up in the stomach. People want the speedy relief Alka-Seltzer® gives. Alka-Seltzer is already a liquid when you take it, so it works quickly, effectively. When people take Alka-Seltzer, that feel-better feeling is just a swallow away. Make Alka-Seltzer your relief for upset stomach, headache pain.

MILES PRODUCTS

Showing skill, Kashner gently wraps whip around starlet Coral Christensen.

"I told him I was only human, that sure I could miss but that in my whole career I'd never yet hurt anyone. He finally decided to let Jane make the decision. On the day we were scheduled to shoot, Jane walked up to me and said matter-of-factly, 'Dave, you think you can do it?' I nodded. 'Okay,' she said. 'That's good enough for me.' And we did it. I whipped the flower from her ear on the first take. She wasn't at all scared. But you should've seen the studio executives. They were on the set, trembling."

Kashner learned to use a whip as a little boy in Poland where his father owned large sheep ranches. The shepherds taught him when he was 11, and he perfected the art as he grew older, practicing as much as five hours per day.

In 1922 he migrated to Hollywood where Douglas Fairbanks, Sr. hired him as a trainer and whip expert. Since then he's worked on more than 500 films.

Braid and Dental Floss

Ordinarily Kashner uses a braided whip of pliable kangaroo hide, tipped with a hank of dental floss. Some of the more fearful stars have demanded he use whips of camouflaged cotton, but these have no body, he points out, and he refuses.

"When I'm flogging a man," he explains, "I'm exceedingly gentle. I make the whip crack just before it reaches the man's back, then it curls around the body."

How does the whip appear to raise fresh, photogenic welts on a star's body each time it lands? "That's easy," Kashner answers. "I simply soak the whip in a pot of red ink so that it works like a rubber stamp."

The tip of a bull whip attains the speed of a bullet when it cracks, and in the hands of a novice can prove a lethal weapon.

Many years ago when Eddie Cantor was filming for Sam Goldwyn, there was a dream sequence in the script which called for Eddie to imagine himself a dashing Argentine gaucho. In one scene he was supposed to whiplash a rose which a girl clenched tightly in her teeth. Kashner was hired to instruct the comedian. Impatient and anxious, Cantor insisted that handling a whip was easy. He grabbed the one Kashner held, snapped it, almost lost an eye.

He's Always Nervous

Dave confesses that each time he uses the whip he's as nervous as a newborn pup.

"Over the years," he claims, "I've learned to have tremendous respect for the whip because it can cut a man's flesh to the bone and ruin his acting career for all time. That's why I find myself so emotionally exhausted after each job. It's a strain, and even more of a strain when the actor or actress involved is afraid. It's darn difficult to wrap a whip around a woman's neck when she's scared to death. It's much easier when she takes it in stride. I find an air of confidence, such as Jane Russell generates, very contagious. It makes it easier for me. It's like a dentist who has a patient who isn't afraid."

Kashner has never been married. "Twenty years ago," he confesses, "I was very much in love with one particular actress. She wanted to marry me. But her mother was against it. 'That Dave Kashner,' she said. 'He'll make you a rotten husband. He's too accustomed to cracking the whip.' " ■

DO YOU TAKE VITAMINS AND STILL FEEL TIRED?

If you take vitamins, get enough rest, yet still feel tired —you may need more than ordinary vitamins to restore your normal strength and energy. Your worn-out feeling may be due to iron-poor, Tired Blood.

Vitamins alone can't build up iron-poor blood. But GERITOL can! Because GERITOL contains 7 important vitamins and, in addition, supplies the therapeutic amount of iron needed to build iron-rich red blood. Just 2 GERITOL tablets, or 2 tablespoons of GERITOL liquid, contain twice the iron in a pound of calves' liver! It is this rich source of iron, combined with high-potency vitamins, including essential B vitamins in 3 to 5 times the minimum daily requirements, that make GERITOL such an effective strength-building tonic. In only one day, GERITOL-iron is working in your bloodstream, carrying strength and energy to every part of your body!

Proved By Medical Tests!

Patients diagnosed with iron-deficiency anemia frequently were pale, nervous, irritable and easily tired. After patients took GERITOL daily, doctors reported definite clinical improvement—further confirmed by laboratory tests. Remember, ordinary maintenance vitamins can't do it! But the high-potency combination of vitamins plus iron in GERITOL can help you regain your strength and energy.

So when you feel tired, check with your doctor and if this is your problem, take fast-acting GERITOL every day. You must feel a noticeable difference in the first seven days . . . or your money back from the maker.
